KRECKECK! KRECKECK!

Hyla Regilla Jumping In

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Marvelous Marin, land of Redwood forests and sparkling waters — and frogs.

Pacific tree frogs, or Hyla regilla, to be exact. The countryside is jumping with them at this time of year. Motorists, traveling country roads in the dark of night, have reported seeing the tiny creatures crossing by the hundreds in front of their headlights, carpeting the road with hopping green bodies.

They are largely nocturnal creatures.

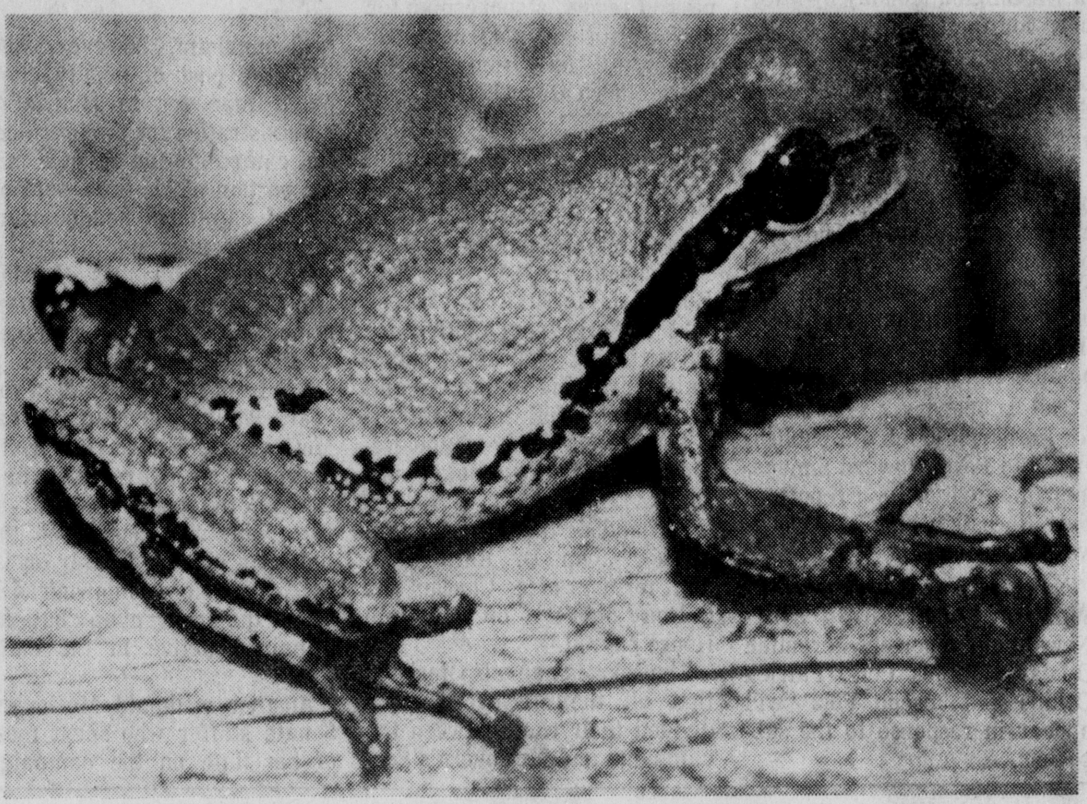
After hibernating in the hot summer months and through the winter, they traverse the countryside during the spring in search of a pond to lay eggs.

"They have to be choosy as to the pond they decide to breed in," explained Karl H. Switak, herpetologist for the Steinhart Aquarium in San Francisco. "Sometimes that takes some hopping around."

They must be choosy, Switak went on, because they have to be sure the pond they pick won't dry up before their eggs hatch, usually within a few weeks. The entire process, from egg, to tadpole, to froglet, is accomplished in about two months. Adults grow to a maximum two inches in length.

Although the smallest of frogs in the Pacific region, they are the loudest. "A chorus of them can be so loud that little else can be heard," said Russell Ridge, acting chairman of the biology department at College of Marin, quoting a handbook on tree frogs.

Males make all the noise, and can easily be distinguished from bull frogs, another common species, by their high-pitched voice, as opposed to the bull's low-register "baaroom, baaroom."



NOISY NEIGHBOR — A tree frog displays his long, sucker-tipped toes and bright eye as he perches on a piece of wood. The frogs now are swarming in Marin. This illustration, more than twice life size, was borrowed from the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science in San Rafael.

"Tree frogs say kreckeck, kreckeck," said Ridge, his voice taking on the tree frogs subtle lilt on the second eck.

"They would make good ventriloquists," added Switak. "They can throw their voices. You can stand within a foot of them and not be able to pinpoint them."

Another distinguishing characteristic is their color, more precisely their ability to vary their color at will. "They can change from black to bright green in 10 minutes," Ridge explained. They vary from green to gray, tan, yellowish brown, black — but they are all the same frog.

They are often confused with toads, but have smooth skins, while toads' skins are rough and covered with warts.

"Their name is misleading," said Ridge. "They are seldom seen in trees." They do have suction cup-type toes that permit them to cling to smooth surfaces, however, even glass.

There are an abundance of them visible in the county now because of the heavy rains during the mating season, between January and May. They are around, of course, all year, but adults are hard to find because they go into a dry weather dormancy called aestivation.

"This has been a good wet year," said Ridge. "A good year for frogs."

Gardeners can be grateful that there will be an assured population of frogs next year to gobble up pesky insects. But for those who happen to live next to one of Marin's idyllic streams or ponds when the croakers begin their midnight sonata, remember, they may not be frogs at all, but handsome princes waiting to be kissed.

106 POWs Due Release On Sunday

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam said today 106 American prisoners of war will be released at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport Sunday and that another 30 American POWs held by the Viet Cong will be released in Hanoi the next day. (See lists of prisoners, page 37.)

(A spokesman at Clark Air Base in the Philippines said the first returning POWs should arrive there about 5 a.m. EST.)

The release of the Americans appeared to be proceeding without any serious hitch despite a deadlock between the South Vietnamese and the Communists over exchange of Vietnamese prisoners.

"The American prisoner release will take place in Hanoi Sunday morning," North Vietnamese Lt. Col. Bui Tin said. "It will either be between 9 and 10 in the morning or 3 and 4 in the afternoon. We think there are going to be at least three or four flights and they are going to have to go in one at a time.

"As far as we know, it appears that the prisoners held by the Provisional Revolutionary Government (Viet Cong) will be released the following day, also at Gia Lam."

(At Clark Air Base, a spokesman for Operation Homecoming said a C141 troop transport will fly to Hanoi at 3 p.m. Sunday (2 a.m. EST). He said an 18-man advance team would

Release Of Two Envoys Sought

KHARTOUM (UPI) — President Nixon dispatched a troubleshooting State Department official to this Sudanese capital today to try to win freedom for two American diplomats held hostage under a death threat with three other envoys by Black September Arab guerrillas.

The band of six to eight guerrillas shot their way into the Saudi Arabian Embassy Thursday night, seized the five diplomats and threatened to execute them unless authorities released scores of Arab prisoners, including Sirhan B. Sirhan, the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Sirhan was already being held in maximum lockup at San Quentin, but that "we are being extra watchful around the perimeter" of the prison.

"This is way beyond our realm of authority," Park added, saying any negotiations would have to be at a federal or state level.

"We will be a little bit on edge until this thing is finally resolved, though," he said.

The guerrillas set a 7 a.m. EST deadline but it passed without incident and they began scaling down their demands. At one point, the Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported, they demanded a plane to fly them to the United States with the hostages and two Sudanese cabinet officials.

Sudan offered the plane but declined to let the cabinet officials leave. Negotiations continued in the heavily guarded Embassy where the guerrillas said they had planted bombs to blow it up if their demands were not met. Large numbers of security forces surrounded the building

North Vietnam Aid In Security Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said today U.S. aid for reconstruction of North Vietnam would be drawn from the national security budget rather than from funds for domestic programs.

He expressed confidence that Congress would appropriate the money, although he conceded there is strong opposition from some congressmen.

The President also told a wide-ranging White House news conference that he would meet with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu April 2-3. The meeting, as he said previously, will be at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., to discuss postwar developments.

Nixon declined to cite any figure for possible U.S. assistance to North Vietnam, saying "that's something to be negotiated."

Recognizing opposition in Congress to the plan, he observed that "the cost of peace is great, but the cost of war is even greater." Providing financial aid to Hanoi would serve "the interests of peace," he said.

Speculation on the amount of aid has ranged as high as $2.5 billion and triggered protests among some members of Congress — Democrats and Republicans —at a time when the President is locked in a fight with the House and Senate over his refusal to spend billions of dollars appropriated for domestic programs.

Nixon said he realized that there was "considerable opposition" to the aid idea and added: "We will have to have congressional support of it."

Noting that questions had been raised on whether such aid would require cutting back on domestic programs, he said:

"The answer is no. As far as any assistance program is concerned, it will be covered by the existing levels for the budget which we have in for national

Controlled Truce At Reservation

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern said today that militant Indians still controlled the community of Wounded Knee and an "armed truce" existed, even though they had freed 11 hostages.

He expressed concern over the possible effects on negotiations between federal officials and the Indians, members of the American Indian Movement, of the reported fire bombing of an AIM leader's home and the serious injury of the Indian's wife.

McGovern and South Dakota's junior senator, James Abourezk, met for about three hours late Thursday night with AIM leaders in a "demilitarized" zone outside of the settlement itself. On one side of the area were Indian barricades; on the other, the road blocks and the posts of federal marshals who have ringed the settlement since shortly after it was seized by the Indians Tuesday.

Both senators said they made no concession of consequence, and McGovern said that tension appeared to be easing until just toward the end of the meeting, when word came of the fire-bombing.

The AIM leaders at Wounded Knee got word by telephone from Pine Ridge that the home of Aaron DeSerca, an AIM leader, had been severely damaged by a fire bomb and that his wife had been taken to a hospital with severe burns.

"There was not a happy response," McGovern said. "It was a very jarring note."

The senator said Department of Justice officials led by a special assistant to the Attorney General would be getting in touch with the Indians today to work out what conditions might be made for a surrender of Wounded Knee.

Thus far, the Indians did not seem inclined to move.

Abourezk said that Sen. J. William Fulbright had committed himself to launch a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which he heads, into the question of treaties between the U.S. and the Indian nations.

Test Hit By School Hopefuls

By NELS JOHNSON

A freshmen English examination at Sir Francis Drake High School that included a scene of adolescent sexual activity "is an example of the deterioration of local school systems," San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini declared yesterday.

"The whole thing shows a lack of control in our schools," said Bettini, a former chairman of the San Rafael Board of Education.

Bettini's comments came after he and fellow members of the San Rafael Kiwanis Club heard four candidates for election to the Tamalpais High School District board air varying views on the test, which some parents have claimed is pornographic.

"The attitude of school boards and administrators has changed tremendously in the last 10 years," Bettini said. "School systems locally have deteriorated."

Bettini, who linked the examination to "weak administration," said the test is not unique. "Visit our schools," he urged club colleagues. "You might be appalled."

Appearing before the club to discuss the examination were district board chairman Robert W. Corlett, H. Maurine Ballard, Fred C. Hannahs and Lotte Schiller, who, along with five other candidates, are vying for three seats on the Tamalpais High School District board. Other candidates invited were unable to attend.

Three of the candidates found the examination, in varying degree, an example of poor taste.

"It's trash," Hannahs, a Tiburon stockbroker, said flatly, adding the matter points out a lack of coordination in curriculum. "Each teacher is left to his own devices as to how he is to teach," he said. "Many other examples could have been used," he said, in lieu of the letter exercise which mentions adolescent fornication and a striptease.

"The examination is a mistake, it is in very bad taste," declared incumbent Corlett, saying the test had brought to light a deep parental concern about district curriculum. Corlett pledged to meet with Drake officials to "find out what has happened, get the facts, and see what steps to take.

"The buck stops at the board," he said, adding trustees will discuss the examination at 8 p.m. Monday in Redwood High School "and come up with a solution." Teacher Elaine Johnson, who gave the exam to two classes of freshmen, will "probably be reprimanded" and Drake's English program reviewed, he said.

"The test is in poor taste. . .it's an incident of human error," said Mrs. Schiller. "But board members can't look into every item a teacher teaches," she said. "We have to trust teachers as professionals," she said, adding instructors should not be controlled through censorship.

Miss Ballard, who recently retired after teaching English for 18 years in the Tam district, said the exam is "not an example of good writing" but nevertheless provides "a skillful method of analyzing reading and writing."

She said that "the people should decide what goes on in our schools," but expressed concern that the uproar might further polarize factions in the district.

Kiwanis Club members, who reviewed a copy of the examination, appeared shocked that the test had been issued. All seemed to back Bettini's comments.

The exam appears "far afield from the moral mainstream," said club member Richard W. Williams.

"The teacher goofed and must be held accountable," declared Frank Tallarida.

"We've got to replace school board members who don't act, attend board meetings and go to the schools," Bettini declared.

Dollar Sinks Second Time

European Banks Dip Value By 9 Per Cent

BONN (UPI) — The American dollar was in effect devalued another 9 per cent by European banks in free market trading today. The official Paris currency exchange, the only one to open, closed after an hour during which the Bank of France was forced to buy $350 million worth of American money to support the fixed price of the dollar.

Speculators quickly moved into metals, forcing up the price of gold and copper.

The unofficial devaluation meant the dollar was worth 19 per cent less than it was on Feb. 13, the day before the United States officially devalued the dollar by 10 per cent.

The closing of Europe's currency exchanges meant, in effect, that all nine central banks of the European Common Market refused to buy the millions of American dollars offered for sale by monetary speculators.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt urged British Prime Minister Edward Heath to join the Common Market in a "common float" of European currencies against the dollar. So far Heath has resisted the move.

This would mean that European currencies would maintain a fixed price in relation to one another, but would "float" in relation to the dollar. Such an action probably would result in even further devaluation of the dollar, according to most financial observers.

In Washington, the Treasury Department official who negotiated the Feb. 14 devaluation and the simultaneous float of the Japanese yen said he saw no reason for another official devaluation.

"We'll live through it," said Paul A. Volcker, undersecretary of the treasury.

American tourists in Germany suddenly found their travelers checks worth less when exchanging dollars for marks. The Dresdner Bank, for example, offered only 2.65 German marks to the dollar for travelers checks, about nine per cent below the devalued rate of 2.9 marks. Three weeks ago, Americans in Frankfurt shook their heads over the audacity of taxi drivers who offered 2.7 marks to the dollar.

The Paris exchange was the only one to open today, but it closed after an hour as speculators lunged for French francs in exchange for dollars. In order to maintain the official price for the dollar, the Bank of France bought between $300 million and $350 million of unwanted dollars in the hour the exchange stayed open, according to banking sources.

The German and English exchanges never opened today. They were closed after the Ger-

Nixon Claims Additional Dollar Devaluation Out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said today there will be no additional devaluation of the American dollar despite continuing pressure in international currency markets.

"We will survive it," Nixon told a news conference. "There will not be another devaluation."

The President said speculators were responsible for the dollar's drop to new lows on world money markets, and he insisted that the dollar still is a sound currency.

"I would say that the dollar is a good bet in the world markets today," Nixon said.

On other economic matters, Nixon told his second news conference of the year:

—Rent controls will not be revived despite anguished complaints of increases in rents. He said such restrictions only would cause a shortage of housing and encourage landlords not to maintain their buildings.

—Wage guidelines in his Phase III program will be administered with "enough flexibility" to permit a diversity of contract settlements consistent with his overall goal of reducing the rate of increase of the overall cost of living to 2.5 per cent by the end of this year.

—He has asked former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally to "study the problem of energy from the private sector" and report to the White House. Connally, a former Texas governor, has close contact with the oil industry.

—The administration is striving to devise a welfare reform

Orinda Firm Slaps North Marin Water District With Big Claim

By FRANK FARRARA

U.S. Development Corp. of Orinda yesterday filed an $8 million claim against the North Marin County Water District for "inverse condemnation" of its 519-acre Pacheco Ranch property, west of Highway 101, near Ignacio.

The firm, which has plans to build 700 housing units on 138 acres at the site, claims the district has failed to live up to its commitment to grant a pipeline extension and 120 service connections for the project.

Attorney Samuel W. Gardiner, representing the firm, filed the claim at the district office five days before the water board is to determine if a "threatened water shortage" exists and if so, what controls might be applied.

The firm asserted the property as an approved subdivision with a domestic water supply would be worth $9 million, but without a water supply would be worth $1 million as "good park land or grazing land." The difference between these two figures represents a present or potential loss."

U.S. Development Corp. said it filed a formal application for a pipeline extension and 120 service connections Jan. 16, and for a couple of weeks "seemed to have smooth sailing."

Early last month "we were advised by you that neither the connections nor the pipeline extension could be given at this time and that it might be four or five years before we could obtain this kind of service," the firm reported.

The firm described "this February directive as a repudiation and refusal to serve," and claimed it has vested rights and demanded the extension and connections be granted, regard-

Two Gunmen Release Hostages In Sonoma

SEBASTOPOL (AP) — Two gunmen suspected of shooting two sheriff's deputies released three hostages unharmed today after holding them several hours at gunpoint in a house, the sheriff's office said.

Hostages Michaela Madden, who lived at the house with five children, Santa Rosa Press Democrat reporter Boniface (Bony) Saludes and Sheriff's Lt. James Caulfield were released shortly before 11 a.m. and the two gunmen taken into custody, the sheriff said.

Sheriff Don Striepeke negotiated the release from a telephone next door to the house.

Officers said the incident began when a Sonoma County sheriff's deputy stopped a "suspicious looking" car on Highway 12 at 2 a.m. When another deputy came to his aid, the three men inside began firing guns.

The deputies were wounded, ran back to their car and radioed for help, then ran to hide in nearby underbrush as the gunmen continued firing.

The suspects then sped off and holed up in a nearby house where they took Michaela Madden and five children hostage, officers said. Another suspect was at-large, officers said.

The five children were allowed to leave just before dawn.

Then Lt. Caulfield offered to trade himself for Mrs. Madden and the gunmen agreed. But when Caulfield went inside just before dawn he was held with her. Saludes, who came to cover the story, also was lured inside the house and held.

Release Of Two Envoys Sought

KHARTOUM (UPI) — President Nixon dispatched a troubleshooting State Department official to this Sudanese capital today to try to win freedom for two American diplomats held hostage under a death threat with three other envoys by Black September Arab guerrillas.

The band of six to eight guerrillas shot their way into the Saudi Arabian Embassy Thursday night, seized the five diplomats and threatened to execute them unless authorities released scores of Arab prisoners, including Sirhan B. Sirhan, the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Sirhan was already being held in maximum lockup at San Quentin, but that "we are being extra watchful around the perimeter" of the prison.

"This is way beyond our realm of authority," Park added, saying any negotiations would have to be at a federal or state level.

"We will be a little bit on edge until this thing is finally resolved, though," he said.

The guerrillas set a 7 a.m. EST deadline but it passed without incident and they began scaling down their demands. At one point, the Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported, they demanded a plane to fly them to the United States with the hostages and two Sudanese cabinet officials.

Sudan offered the plane but declined to let the cabinet officials leave. Negotiations continued in the heavily guarded Embassy where the guerrillas said they had planted bombs to blow it up if their demands were not met. Large numbers of security forces surrounded the building

North Vietnam Aid In Security Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said today U.S. aid for reconstruction of North Vietnam would be drawn from the national security budget rather than from funds for domestic programs.

He expressed confidence that Congress would appropriate the money, although he conceded there is strong opposition from some congressmen.

The President also told a wide-ranging White House news conference that he would meet with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu April 2-3. The meeting, as he said previously, will be at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., to discuss postwar developments.

Nixon declined to cite any figure for possible U.S. assistance to North Vietnam, saying "that's something to be negotiated."

Recognizing opposition in Congress to the plan, he observed that "the cost of peace is great, but the cost of war is even greater." Providing financial aid to Hanoi would serve "the interests of peace," he said.

Speculation on the amount of aid has ranged as high as $2.5 billion and triggered protests among some members of Congress — Democrats and Republicans —at a time when the President is locked in a fight with the House and Senate over his refusal to spend billions of dollars appropriated for domestic programs.

Nixon said he realized that there was "considerable opposition" to the aid idea and added: "We will have to have congressional support of it."

Noting that questions had been raised on whether such aid would require cutting back on domestic programs, he said:

"The answer is no. As far as any assistance program is concerned, it will be covered by the existing levels for the budget which we have in for national

Controlled Truce At Reservation

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern said today that militant Indians still controlled the community of Wounded Knee and an "armed truce" existed, even though they had freed 11 hostages.

He expressed concern over the possible effects on negotiations between federal officials and the Indians, members of the American Indian Movement, of the reported fire bombing of an AIM leader's home and the serious injury of the Indian's wife.

McGovern and South Dakota's junior senator, James Abourezk, met for about three hours late Thursday night with AIM leaders in a "demilitarized" zone outside of the settlement itself. On one side of the area were Indian barricades; on the other, the road blocks and the posts of federal marshals who have ringed the settlement since shortly after it was seized by the Indians Tuesday.

Both senators said they made no concession of consequence, and McGovern said that tension appeared to be easing until just toward the end of the meeting, when word came of the firebombing.

The AIM leaders at Wounded Knee got word by telephone from Pine Ridge that the home of Aaron DeSerca, an AIM leader, had been severely damaged by a fire bomb and that his wife had been taken to a hospital with severe burns.

"There was not a happy response," McGovern said. "It was a very jarring note."

The senator said Department of Justice officials led by a special assistant to the Attorney General would be getting in touch with the Indians today to work out what conditions might be made for a surrender of Wounded Knee.

Thus far, the Indians did not seem inclined to move.

Abourezk said that Sen. J. William Fulbright had committed himself to launch a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which he heads, into the question of treaties between the U.S. and the Indian nations.

Orinda Firm Slaps North Marin Water District With Big Claim

By FRANK FARRARA

U.S. Development Corp. of Orinda yesterday filed an $8 million claim against the North Marin County Water District for "inverse condemnation" of its 519-acre Pacheco Ranch property, west of Highway 101, near Ignacio.

The firm, which has plans to build 700 housing units on 138 acres at the site, claims the district has failed to live up to its commitment to grant a pipeline extension and 120 service connections for the project.

Attorney Samuel W. Gardiner, representing the firm, filed the claim at the district office five days before the water board is to determine if a "threatened water shortage" exists and if so, what controls might be applied.

The firm asserted the property as an approved subdivision with a domestic water supply would be worth $9 million, but without a water supply would be worth $1 million as "good park land or grazing land." The difference between these two figures represents a present or potential loss."

U.S. Development Corp. said it filed a formal application for a pipeline extension and 120 service connections Jan. 16, and for a couple of weeks "seemed to have smooth sailing."

Early last month "we were advised by you that neither the connections nor the pipeline extension could be given at this time and that it might be four or five years before we could obtain this kind of service," the firm reported.

The firm described "this February directive as a repudiation and refusal to serve," and claimed it has vested rights and demanded the extension and connections be granted, regard-

Two Gunmen Release Hostages In Sonoma

SEBASTOPOL (AP) — Two gunmen suspected of shooting two sheriff's deputies released three hostages unharmed today after holding them several hours at gunpoint in a house, the sheriff's office said.

Hostages Michaela Madden, who lived at the house with five children, Santa Rosa Press Democrat reporter Boniface (Bony) Saludes and Sheriff's Lt. James Caulfield were released shortly before 11 a.m. and the two gunmen taken into custody, the sheriff said.

Sheriff Don Striepeke negotiated the release from a telephone next door to the house.

Officers said the incident began when a Sonoma County sheriff's deputy stopped a "suspicious looking" car on Highway 12 at 2 a.m. When another deputy came to his aid, the three men inside began firing guns.

The deputies were wounded, ran back to their car and radioed for help, then ran to hide in nearby underbrush as the gunmen continued firing.

The suspects then sped off and holed up in a nearby house where they took Michaela Madden and five children hostage, officers said. Another suspect was at-large, officers said.

The five children were allowed to leave just before dawn.

Then Lt. Caulfield offered to trade himself for Mrs. Madden and the gunmen agreed. But when Caulfield went inside just before dawn he was held with her. Saludes, who came to cover the story, also was lured inside the house and held.

About six hours later the long-

Equal Rights Law Seems Doomed For This Year

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Despite a strong plea for passage by President Nixon, approval of the equal rights for women amendment appeared doubtful today with rejection by only three more states needed to kill its chances this year.

The President urged approval of the amendment Thursday, one day after Nevada and North Carolina raised to 10 the total number of states to reject it so far. And in a dozen states that have not yet acted, the amendment was buried in legislative committees or faced with tough floor fights.

In a State of the Union message, President Nixon told Congress, "We will continue to support ratification of the equal rights amendment to the Constitution so that American women need never again be denied an equal opportunity."

While 28 states have approved the amendment so far, 10 more are needed for ratification, and rejection by just three others would block it, at least for this year. States voting to reject constitutional amendments have up to seven years to change their votes.

A UPI survey Thursday showed the amendment was considered hoplessly buried in committees in Virginia, Georgia, Arizona and Oklahoma.

In Florida and Connecticut, it faced heated floor battles and is expected to pass by slim margins. A similar battle was expected in Indiana, with the decision expected to go against it.

In Illinois, where the measure has been killed twice, supporters introduced it again, and Rep. Thomas Hanahan, who opposes it, said "We've lined up our opposition forces and we're ready for them." Hanahan has in the past referred to supporters of the amendment as "bra-less, brainless broads."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

FBI Director

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland predicts L. Patrick Gray will win Senate approval as FBI director despite complaints of Democrats that Gray has politicized the FBI.

The Mississippi Democrat told reporters yesterday, during the second day of hearings on Gray's nomination, that "I'm for him 100 per cent and we've got the votes."

Eastland shrugged off suggestions made in the hearings that Gray had allowed partisan politics to influence the FBI's probe of the June 17 break-in and bugging of Democratic offices in the Watergate building.

Lynch Loses

DUBLIN (UPI) — A coalition of opponents toppled Prime Minister Jack Lynch and his Fianna Fail party from power today after 16 years of uninterrupted rule in the closest election in Irish history.

Fianna Fail gained only 64 of the 144 seats in the Dail (parliment) and with 13 results left outstanding, the combined opposition of the Fine Gael and Labor parties held 65 seats.

Civilian Shot

BEFLAST (UPI) — Cruising killers hot another Belfast civilian dead yesterday and brought an army warning that it could touch off another round of murder by political and religious fanatics.

A second man was found shot dead in a car in Belfast at almost the same time gunmen firing from an automobile killed the second victim.

Police also said they found two youths shot in the legs in a Roman Catholic area and rushed them to a hospital. Shooting in the legs is frequently used by the Irish Republican Army as a form of punishment.

Food Shortages

MOSCOW (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said yesterday that a disastrous harvest last ear is causing food shortages in some parts of the Soviet Union, with meat and potatoes in short supply in rural areas outside Moscow and elsewhere.

The sources said they have not been able to assess fully how serious the problem is.

Hospital Strike

LONDON (UPI) — Hospitals struck by non-medical hospital workers turned away or sent home all but emergency cases today and resorted to feeding patients frozen television dinners.

One maternity hospital asked husbands to bring food from home for their wives.

Hospitals improvised to feed patients and huge mounds of soiled and bloodstained linen piled up in hospital corridors because laundry workers also were on strike.

Cambodia Is Still Major Battle Front

SAIGON (UPI) — Fighting slackened across South Vietnam and Laos today but despite more U.S. warplane raids, military sources said Communist Khmer Rouge guerrillas battered Cambodia troops near Phnom Penh.

The South Vietnamese command reported 104 violations of the cease-fire in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, 30 fewer than the previous day. There were no reports of any heavy fighting anywhere in South Vietnam.

In Cambodia, the only country in Southeast Asia without an official cease-fire agreement, military sources said hundreds of Cambodian government troops fled along Highway 2 in the face of a drive by Communist guerrillas 13 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Field reports said nearly 300 Cambodian troops reached the Phnom Penh suburb of Takh Mau with stories of hardship and suffering on the battlefield.

Watergate Subpoenas Fight Set

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Washington Post, the New York Times and Time Magazine say they will fight subpoenas served on reporters and executives in connection with the Watergate bugging case.

The Washington Evening Star-News, the fourth news organization involved in the controversy, says its subpoenaed reporters would appear in court but would not reveal "any privileged information."

The subpoenas were obtained in Washington Monday by attorneys for the Committee for the Re-election of the President and other Republicans involved in civil suits arising from the Watergate bugging.

In announcing the Post's opposition, Benjamin C. Bradlee, executive editor of the newspaper, said Thursday the subpoenas "blatantly disregard the First Amendment rights of freedom of the press and the public's right to know."

The subpoenas were issued for Katharine Graham, publisher of the Post; Howard Simons, managing editor, and reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward.

Newbold Noyes, editor of the Washington Evening Star-News, said reporters Jeremiah O'Leary, James Polk, Patrick Collins and Joseph Volz "will appear in response to the subpoenas.

McGovern Aides Got Senate Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of Sen. George S. McGovern's top aides drew tax-paid Senate salaries last year while they spent much of their time on the South Dakota senator's presidential campaign.

Seven members of McGovern's campaign team were paid $118,627 out of government funds, according to payroll records released by the secretary of the Senate.

Some were paid their full salaries while others drew only nominal amounts.

Asked to comment on the payroll report, a spokesman for McGovern said "it's true in our case as it has been true in every other cases where a senator ran."

He cited the presidential campaigns of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., and the primary campaigns of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in 1968.

"There's not much difference between that and Nixon surrogates drawing salaries and campaigning full time and writing speeches for them (the Republicans)" the spokesman said.

He added that presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman and former aide Charles W. Colson "didn't go off the White House payroll."

The spokesman also insisted that all the McGovern aides divided their time between the campaign and McGovern's Senate office with the possible exception of Gary Hart.

He said that Hart, comanager of the campaign, was on a different footing but added "I suppose at various times he was in the Senate office." The spokesman added that Hart "didn't get paid much proportionality."

Hart, listed in the payroll records as clerk, received $3,388.51 last year in Senate salary.

The top paid man on McGovern's staff was George V. Cunningham, the administrative assistant, who earned $31,080.

Cunningham, however, also held the post of deputy campaign manager in charge of administration for the presidential campaign and spent a major portion of his time working out of campaign headquarters after the convention.

Next in line was Gordon Weill, listed as legislative and press secretary, who received $22,000 and resigned Dec. 13.

But from the beginning of the year, Weill was constantly at McGovern's side as the South Dakota senator marched through the primaries and at that point was considered the senator's closest adviser on issues. His role was downgraded after the convention but he remained active in the campaign.

Another well-paid McGovern Senate staffer who spent most of his time on the campaign was Richard G. "Rick" Stearnes, the premier delegate counter in the months before the convention and who then took charge of the Western states during the campaign.

Stearns, listed as legislative assistant, drew $14,036.

John D. Holum, also named as a legislative assistant, drew $21,560 from the Senate although he spent a good deal of his time writing campaign speeches for McGovern.

Others who led double lives were Yancey F. Martin, a constant campaigner, who earned $12,061 and left his job as clerk Nov. 30, and Jeffrey M. Smith, also listed as clerk but McGovern's top personal aide on the campaign. He earned $14,502.

The spokesman said there were no double payments and the seven, with the exception of Hart, apparently did not get any salaries from the campaign committee.

24 Are Facing Welfare Fraud

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Welfare fraud complaints involving some $20,000 have been filed in municipal court against 24 persons.

The Sonoma County District Attorney's office said Wednesday complaints involved 13 felonies and 11 misdemeanors.

Chief investigator Thomas Kassovich said one couple was charged with receiving $5,100 illegally. He said they failed to report income for 1971, 1972 and 1973.

The complaints brought to 48 the number of individuals charged with welfare fraud in the county since Jan. 1.

DONALD McPHERSON
Becomes Eagle Scout

Youth Gains Rank Of Eagle Scout

A Corte Madera Boy Scout, who built a retaining wall and patio at a hospitality center for visitors to San Quentin inmates, will be promoted to Eagle Scout during court of honor at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Donald McPherson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McPherson of 169 Birch Avenue, built the 20-foot retaining wall and eight-by-16-foot patio at the House, a hospitality center outside San Quentin operated by Catholic Social Service of Marin, which provides a variety of services to visiting family and friends of prisoners.

Donald, a member of Corte Madera Troop 24, obtained materials for the project, part of his Eagle Scout requirements, by soliciting donations from San Rafael merchants.

Active in scouting for five years, Donald attended the Boy Scout World Jamboree in Japan in 1971. He is a sophomore at Redwood High School and is interested in outdoor activities, including hiking and cross-country skiing.

He also is drum major for the Prince Charles Bagpipe Band, a local group that plans a trip to Scotland in August to perform.

DONALD McPHERSON
Becomes Eagle Scout

Youth Gains Rank Of Eagle Scout

A Corte Madera Boy Scout, who built a retaining wall and patio at a hospitality center for visitors to San Quentin inmates, will be promoted to Eagle Scout during court of honor at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Donald McPherson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McPherson of 169 Birch Avenue, built the 20-foot retaining wall and eight-by-16-foot patio at the House, a hospitality center outside San Quentin operated by Catholic Social Service of Marin, which provides a variety of services to visiting family and friends of prisoners.

Donald, a member of Corte Madera Troop 24, obtained materials for the project, part of his Eagle Scout requirements, by soliciting donations from San Rafael merchants.

Active in scouting for five years, Donald attended the Boy Scout World Jamboree in Japan in 1971. He is a sophomore at Redwood High School and is interested in outdoor activities, including hiking and cross-country skiing.

He also is drum major for the Prince Charles Bagpipe Band, a local group that plans a trip to Scotland in August to perform.

CLAIM

less of any action taken by the board Tuesday on the question of a water shortage.

Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson has reported that the district faces a problem of water delivery during peak use periods, usually July and the board is to consider what steps to take to meet this problem.

U.S. Development Corp. has proposed constructing a separate "irrigation system with storage so that in critical dry periods our system would not be a drain on the rest of your district," according to the claim.

"We do not share the view of some that there is a real water shortage, and we think that we can prove that there is an adequate supply, particularly if it is engineered and developed with the dual system which we have proposed," the firm said.

Gardiner said while the claim is filed directly against the district and names the board, Nelson and chief engineer James D. Fritz, it could be applied to other persons "who may also have induced the breach of duty." Third persons can be liable, he said.

U.S. Development Corp. said it had relied upon a letter from Fritz in March 1972, which said the district "will provide the water service," to the Pacheco Ranch development.

Since, it has kept in touch with the district staff and "until early February 1973, understood that as soon as we got our project ready to go, the water connections would be available," the firm said.

Thus far, the firm has spent about $4.5 million on the project including engineering, legal costs, carrying costs and purchase price, it reported.

security purposes. It will not come out of the domestic side of the budget."

By national security, Nixon said he was referring to spending for military defense and foreign assistance.

On domestic economic matters, he reaffirmed his commitment to the largely voluntary wage and price guidelines contained in Phase II of his stabilization program.

Asked about the outlook for wage settlements, he said "some will go a little higher, some will go a little lower" than the 5.5 per cent standard for increases laid down by the administration.

Nixon also said there would be no revival of rent controls used in the earliest stages of his anti-inflation campaign. He claimed such restrictions only would cause housing shortage and encourage landlords to let their property deteriorate.

"The answer to the problem is to increase the supply of housing," he said.

The President did not specify any of the subjects he will be discussing with Thieu during their meeting, which until now had been scheduled only for some time this spring.

But he said he was hopeful that the Vietnam cease-fire agreement would lead to lasting peace in Southeast Asia.

Rabid Bat Is Found Outside Office Of Bales

A rabid bat was discovered Wednesday outside the Civic Center office of Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, county health officials reported yesterday.

The rabid bat was the latest case reported to officials, who are concerned by a sharp increase in the number of rabid animals found in Marin recently.

During the last five months, 13 rabid animals have been found in widely scattered areas of the county — five in the month of February.

Dead animals or animals observed acting strangely should not be approached, according to health officials.

Hard-Core Sex Film Is Banned

NEW YORK (UPI) — A judge ruled Thursday that "Deep Throat," a movie that shows 17 explicit sex acts within the 62 minutes it runs, has no redeeming social value and "is one throat that deserves to be cut."

In banning the low-budget, high-profit sex film—tickets sell at $5 — Manhattan Criminal Court Judge Joel J. Tyler called it, "this feast of carrion and squalor." He also said it was "a Sodom and Gomorrah gone wild before the fire" and "a sheer negligee through which clearly shines the producer's and the defendant's true and only purpose—the presentation of unmistakably hard-core pornography."

Underground Utility Plan Is Approved

The Cotati City Council last night approved a $35,000 plan to underground a maze of utility lines in the downtown plaza area.

The council voted formation of an underground utility district in the area after no objections were heard at a public hearing.

City Clerk Donna Olson said Leslie Offutt, the only private property owner involved, had no objections. He was told his costs will be minimal since he must pay only for trench digging on his land.

Most of the funds for the project have been provided since 1960 by Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

In addition, City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen said $1,900 will come from county funds.

The Cotati City Council also:

WATER LINES — Awarded a contract for repair of leaky water lines on Arthur and George streets to Paul T. Hawkins of Santa Rosa, who submitted the lowest bid of $15,000. The project had been estimated to cost $22,000.

PARKING FUNDS — Agreed with the suggestion of City Atty. Jay Cantor to amend the zoning ordinance to permit downtown landowners who cannot provide required parking spaces to pay instead into a parking fund. He said the city could develop parking lots when enough money is collected. The amendment will be introduced at the March 15 meeting.

ZONING — Set a joint meeting with the planning commission for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to review proposed zoning changes on East Cotati Avenue.

haired gunmen allowed the hostages to run free and the two men were arrested. They were not identified by sheriff's deputies but the Press Democrat said they identified themselves by telephone as Dave Ferguson and Doug Sabory.

Saludes had reported by telephone from inside the house that one gunman was shot in the leg. He said the pair did not want to release hostages unless the sheriff called off the dozens of officers who had surrounded the house.

Saludes said the gunmen also wanted the reporter to drive them to a hospital where negotiations for Saludes' release could continue.

The sheriff refused, saying the suspects showed when they lured Caulfield and Saludes inside the house that "their word is no good."

Striepeke said he would not allow the gunmen at a hospital where they could take patient hostages.

Driver Receives Minor Injuries

Mrs. Timothy S. Korzon, 27, of Lagunitas, suffered only for scrapes and bruises for which she was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital to San Rafael yesterday, hospital spokesmen reported yesterday.

She was injured in a head-on accident at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday on White's Hill. Neither her husband, driver of one car nor the other driver, Glen Thompson, 22, of 20 Meadow Drive, San Rafael, was injured.

DOLLAR

man central bank was forced to buy a record $2.7 billion Thursday.

The price of gold spurted to $88.50 an ounce—more than double the official price of $42.22. The price of copper leaped by $108 a metric ton on the London market.

The finance ministers of the nine Common Market countries scheduled an emergency meeting for Sunday to discuss the new crisis. They are expected to discuss Brandt's proposal for a common float of European currencies.

Financial experts said the latest crisis was fueled by persistent distrust of all paper value of such major currencies as the dollar, mark, yen, pound and franc. This distrust also led last week to feverish gold buying that sent the metal's price to a record $95 an ounce at one point.

The West German state bank alone bought an unprecedented $2.7 billion Friday in unwanted dollars. Eight other state banks in Europe also intervened to keep the dollar from losing too much in value and imperiling the value of their own currencies.

After the last crisis, President Nixon devalued the dollar by 10 per cent and other governments revalued, devalued or allowed their currencies to float free of fixed prices in financial dealings.

ECONOMY

formula which would "stop the unconscionable situation where it is more profitable for some people to go on welfare than to go to work." He said his family assistance program would have achieved that objective, but was abandoned because "we were up against an impossible legislative problem."

Nixon said the American economy generally is in good condition, with the lowest rate of inflation of any industrial nation.

Beyond that, "we have a very tight budget —I should say, a very responsible budget," Nixon said.

He indicated he is convinced that budget austerity will bank the fires of inflation and take the profit out of speculating against the dollar.

In the face of a run on the dollar which pushed the rate in Frankfurt down to 2.82 marks —below the official floor of 2.835 marks —currency markets were closed today in Frankfurt, London, Brussels and Tokyo.

Nixon said his views on the dollar's current problems had caused some Treasury Department technicians to cringe. But in this case, he said, speculation seems to be the only explanation to the problems.

New Muir Woods Park Boss Named

Richard B. Hardin, a 14-year veteran of the National Park Service, has been named superintendent of Muir Woods National Monument near Mill Valley.

Hardin, a native of Iowa who has served as superintendent of Chaco Canyon National Monument in New Mexico, replaces Leonard Frank, who transferred in early January to Grand Canyon National Park as a staff specialist.

OBITUARIES

J. K. (Slim) Westerterp, 77, owner of the Westerterp Brothers auto and truck dealership in Petaluma, died yesterday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

He opened Westerterp Brothers in 1922 with his brother, U. K. (Westy) Westerterp. He had been active in the business until just recently.

fly to Hanoi at 11 a.m. (10 p.m. Saturday EST) to make final arrangements for the release.

(The Operation Homecoming spokesman said three C141s will fly in at one-hour intervals to pick up the 106 Americans to be released by North Vietnam.)

The release of two West Germans — including a 30-year-old female nurse — and two Filipinos also was expected to be made at the same time.

"The matter of the release of prisoners on both sides (Saigon and the Viet Cong) in South Vietnam has run into difficulties," the Viet Cong spokesman explained. "Thursday we prepared a list and number of prisoners in South Vietnam that we were going to release.

"But at the same time, the RVN (Republic of Vietnam) refused to give us their number of prisoners. First, they gave us the figure 6,500, but later that that became 10,000 and then later 13,000. But later they went back to the figure 3,000.

"That means the RVN has gone back on its word and they are not releasing the number of prisners they say they hold."

The Viet Cong spokesman said both sides earlier had agreed to release one-fourth of the captured soldiers they held in this phase of the prisoner swap.

but the Sudan said it would not storm the embassy.

The Americans seized were Ambassador Cleo A. Noel and U.S. Charge d'Affaires Curtis Moore. They and Belgian Ambassador Guy Eid were reported slightly wounded in the shooting. Others held were the Saudi Arabian ambassador and his wife and a diplomat from Jordan.

President Nixon told a news conference in Washington that the United States will do all it can to secure the release of Noel and Moore but that "we will not get into blackmail demands. We cannot and will not do so."

Omdurman Radio broke into its broadcasts to announce that a high-ranking U.S. State Department official had been dispatched to Khartoum to try to win the release of the Americans. It said the guerrillas had been informed of his arrival.

The official was identified as Deputy Undersecretary of State William Macomber, who left Washington Thursday night. Omdurman Radio said he was scheduled to arrive in Khartoum at 5 p.m. EST.

JOHN WADDELL

Private inurnment has been held at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery for former Marin resident John S. Waddell, who died Feb. 17 in Fairfield after a long illness.

Waddell was living in Vacaville at the time of his death. He was a retired civil service employee, who had worked at Mare Island Naval Station.

He is survived by his wife, Madeline; a son, John Jr. and a daughter, Mrs. Frank R. Vadney, both of New York; a brother, Arch M. Waddell of Tucson, and a sister, Eleanor Lee Waddell.

Private funeral was in Fairfield.

ELIZABETH MITCHELL

Elizabeth M. Mitchell, a 13-year resident of Marin, died yesterday in a local hospital, where she had been a patient five weeks. She was 79.

Mrs. Mitchell had made her home with a son, Thomas F. Mitchell, at 6 Bryn Mawr Drive, San Rafael, since moving from the East.

Born in Uniontown, Pa., she had lived most of her life in Virginia. Mrs. Mitchell was the widow of Charles H. Mitchell, a U.S. Steel Corp. employee who died in 1970.

Also surviving is another son, Charles H. Mitchell Jr., of Orlando, Fla.

Funeral will be held in Orlando. The Fairchild Funeral Home in that city is in charge of arrangements.

FLOY B. KING

Memorial service for Floy B. King, longtime Marinite who took active part in church and school work, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo.

Mrs. King, 93, died Feb. 21 in a Marin convalescent hospital.

ALPHONSE HERICOURT JR.

Twenty-five-year-old Alphonse Jacques Hericourt Jr. was found dead last night at his Greenbrae home.

Hericourt was found by his father at about 8:15 p.m. in the rumpus room of the residence at 299 North Almenar Drive, Greenbrae, according to the coroner's office. He had a shotgun wound in his chest, which apparently was self-inflicted, and nearby was a shotgun, the coroner said.

Young Hericourt, known to his friends as Jack, was the son of Alphonse J. and Alice Hericourt.

Born in New York, young Hericourt had lived in California most of his life. He was a graduate of Redwood High School, attended College of Marin and graduated in 1969 with honors in history from the University of California at Davis.

He had been working as a self-employed gardener.

In addition to his parents, Hericourt is survived by two brothers, Randall of San Rafael, and Robert, who is attending California Polytechnic Institute at San Louise Obispo, and Randall's wife, Mary.

Private funeral will be Monday in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Legal Aid Society of Marin County.

Trumpet Stolen From Gymnasium

A trumpet valued at $205 was stolen from the girls' locker room of the San Rafael High School gymnasium while its owner was playing basketball, San Rafael police reported today.

The theft occurred between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, the trumpet owner, student Sharon Louise Payn, 15, of 30 Brentwood Drive, San Rafael, told officers.

FRED FINLEY

Fred Louis Finley, 64, a retired Coast Guard lieutenant, collapsed yesterday while working as a security guard at Northgate Shopping Center and died about 90 minutes later at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael, according to coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig.

Finley, who collapsed in the restroom of the manager's office, died apparently of a heart attack, Craig reported.

Finley and his wife, Anna Marie, lived at 20 Crescent Lane, Novato. Funeral arrangements are pending at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato.

CLAIM

less of any action taken by the board Tuesday on the question of a water shortage.

Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson has reported that the district faces a problem of water delivery during peak use periods, usually July and the board is to consider what steps to take to meet this problem.

U.S. Development Corp. has proposed constructing a separate "irrigation system with storage so that in critical dry periods our system would not be a drain on the rest of your district," according to the claim.

"We do not share the view of some that there is a real water shortage, and we think that we can prove that there is an adequate supply, particularly if it is engineered and developed with the dual system which we have proposed," the firm said.

Gardiner said while the claim is filed directly against the district and names the board, Nelson and chief engineer James D. Fritz, it could be applied to other persons "who may also have induced the breach of duty." Third persons can be liable, he said.

U.S. Development Corp. said it had relied upon a letter from Fritz in March 1972, which said the district "will provide the water service," to the Pacheco Ranch development.

Since, it has kept in touch with the district staff and "until early February 1973, understood that as soon as we got our project ready to go, the water connections would be available," the firm said.

Thus far, the firm has spent about $4.5 million on the project including engineering, legal costs, carrying costs and purchase price, it reported.

security purposes. It will not come out of the domestic side of the budget."

By national security, Nixon said he was referring to spending for military defense and foreign assistance.

On domestic economic matters, he reaffirmed his commitment to the largely voluntary wage and price guidelines contained in Phase II of his stabilization program.

Asked about the outlook for wage settlements, he said "some will go a little higher, some will go a little lower" than the 5.5 per cent standard for increases laid down by the administration.

Nixon also said there would be no revival of rent controls used in the earliest stages of his anti-inflation campaign. He claimed such restrictions only would cause housing shortage and encourage landlords to let their property deteriorate.

"The answer to the problem is to increase the supply of housing," he said.

The President did not specify any of the subjects he will be discussing with Thieu during their meeting, which until now had been scheduled only for some time this spring.

But he said he was hopeful that the Vietnam cease-fire agreement would lead to lasting peace in Southeast Asia.

Rabid Bat Is Found Outside Office Of Bales

A rabid bat was discovered Wednesday outside the Civic Center office of Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, county health officials reported yesterday.

The rabid bat was the latest case reported to officials, who are concerned by a sharp increase in the number of rabid animals found in Marin recently.

During the last five months, 13 rabid animals have been found in widely scattered areas of the county — five in the month of February.

Dead animals or animals observed acting strangely should not be approached, according to health officials.

Hard-Core Sex Film Is Banned

NEW YORK (UPI) — A judge ruled Thursday that "Deep Throat," a movie that shows 17 explicit sex acts within the 62 minutes it runs, has no redeeming social value and "is one throat that deserves to be cut."

In banning the low-budget, high-profit sex film—tickets sell at $5 — Manhattan Criminal Court Judge Joel J. Tyler called it, "this feast of carrion and squalor." He also said it was "a Sodom and Gomorrah gone wild before the fire" and "a sheer negligee through which clearly shines the producer's and the defendant's true and only purpose—the presentation of unmistakably hard-core pornography."

Underground Utility Plan Is Approved

The Cotati City Council last night approved a $35,000 plan to underground a maze of utility lines in the downtown plaza area.

The council voted formation of an underground utility district in the area after no objections were heard at a public hearing.

City Clerk Donna Olson said Leslie Offutt, the only private property owner involved, had no objections. He was told his costs will be minimal since he must pay only for trench digging on his land.

Most of the funds for the project have been provided since 1960 by Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

In addition, City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen said $1,900 will come from county funds.

The Cotati City Council also:

WATER LINES — Awarded a contract for repair of leaky water lines on Arthur and George streets to Paul T. Hawkins of Santa Rosa, who submitted the lowest bid of $15,000. The project had been estimated to cost $22,000.

PARKING FUNDS — Agreed with the suggestion of City Atty. Jay Cantor to amend the zoning ordinance to permit downtown landowners who cannot provide required parking spaces to pay instead into a parking fund. He said the city could develop parking lots when enough money is collected. The amendment will be introduced at the March 15 meeting.

ZONING — Set a joint meeting with the planning commission for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to review proposed zoning changes on East Cotati Avenue.

haired gunmen allowed the hostages to run free and the two men were arrested. They were not identified by sheriff's deputies but the Press Democrat said they identified themselves by telephone as Dave Ferguson and Doug Sabory.

Saludes had reported by telephone from inside the house that one gunman was shot in the leg. He said the pair did not want to release hostages unless the sheriff called off the dozens of officers who had surrounded the house.

Saludes said the gunmen also wanted the reporter to drive them to a hospital where negotiations for Saludes' release could continue.

The sheriff refused, saying the suspects showed when they lured Caulfield and Saludes inside the house that "their word is no good."

Striepeke said he would not allow the gunmen at a hospital where they could take patient hostages.

Driver Receives Minor Injuries

Mrs. Timothy S. Korzon, 27, of Lagunitas, suffered only for scrapes and bruises for which she was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital to San Rafael yesterday, hospital spokesmen reported yesterday.

She was injured in a head-on accident at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday on White's Hill. Neither her husband, driver of one car nor the other driver, Glen Thompson, 22, of 20 Meadow Drive, San Rafael, was injured.

man central bank was forced to buy a record $2.7 billion Thursday.

The price of gold spurted to $88.50 an ounce—more than double the official price of $42.22. The price of copper leaped by $108 a metric ton on the London market.

The finance ministers of the nine Common Market countries scheduled an emergency meeting for Sunday to discuss the new crisis. They are expected to discuss Brandt's proposal for a common float of European currencies.

Financial experts said the latest crisis was fueled by persistent distrust of all paper value of such major currencies as the dollar, mark, yen, pound and franc. This distrust also led last week to feverish gold buying that sent the metal's price to a record $95 an ounce at one point.

The West German state bank alone bought an unprecedented $2.7 billion Friday in unwanted dollars. Eight other state banks in Europe also intervened to keep the dollar from losing too much in value and imperiling the value of their own currencies.

After the last crisis, President Nixon devalued the dollar by 10 per cent and other governments revalued, devalued or allowed their currencies to float free of fixed prices in financial dealings.

ECONOMY

formula which would "stop the unconscionable situation where it is more profitable for some people to go on welfare than to go to work." He said his family assistance program would have achieved that objective, but was abandoned because "we were up against an impossible legislative problem."

Nixon said the American economy generally is in good condition, with the lowest rate of inflation of any industrial nation.

Beyond that, "we have a very tight budget —I should say, a very responsible budget," Nixon said.

He indicated he is convinced that budget austerity will bank the fires of inflation and take the profit out of speculating against the dollar.

In the face of a run on the dollar which pushed the rate in Frankfurt down to 2.82 marks —below the official floor of 2.835 marks —currency markets were closed today in Frankfurt, London, Brussels and Tokyo.

Nixon said his views on the dollar's current problems had caused some Treasury Department technicians to cringe. But in this case, he said, speculation seems to be the only explanation to the problems.

fly to Hanoi at 11 a.m. (10 p.m. Saturday EST) to make final arrangements for the release.

(The Operation Homecoming spokesman said three C141s will fly in at one-hour intervals to pick up the 106 Americans to be released by North Vietnam.)

The release of two West Germans — including a 30-year-old female nurse — and two Filipinos also was expected to be made at the same time.

"The matter of the release of prisoners on both sides (Saigon and the Viet Cong) in South Vietnam has run into difficulties," the Viet Cong spokesman explained. "Thursday we prepared a list and number of prisoners in South Vietnam that we were going to release.

"But at the same time, the RVN (Republic of Vietnam) refused to give us their number of prisoners. First, they gave us the figure 6,500, but later that that became 10,000 and then later 13,000. But later they went back to the figure 3,000.

"That means the RVN has gone back on its word and they are not releasing the number of prisners they say they hold."

The Viet Cong spokesman said both sides earlier had agreed to release one-fourth of the captured soldiers they held in this phase of the prisoner swap.

but the Sudan said it would not storm the embassy.

The Americans seized were Ambassador Cleo A. Noel and U.S. Charge d'Affaires Curtis Moore. They and Belgian Ambassador Guy Eid were reported slightly wounded in the shooting. Others held were the Saudi Arabian ambassador and his wife and a diplomat from Jordan.

President Nixon told a news conference in Washington that the United States will do all it can to secure the release of Noel and Moore but that "we will not get into blackmail demands. We cannot and will not do so."

Omdurman Radio broke into its broadcasts to announce that a high-ranking U.S. State Department official had been dispatched to Khartoum to try to win the release of the Americans. It said the guerrillas had been informed of his arrival.

The official was identified as Deputy Undersecretary of State William Macomber, who left Washington Thursday night. Omdurman Radio said he was scheduled to arrive in Khartoum at 5 p.m. EST.

Hericourt was found by his father at about 8:15 p.m. in the rumpus room of the residence at 299 North Almenar Drive, Greenbrae, according to the coroner's office. He had a shotgun wound in his chest, which apparently was self-inflicted, and nearby was a shotgun, the coroner said.

LADYBUG, LADYBUG . . .

San Anselmo parks foreman Carson Floyd clutches a mass of 4,000 ladybugs while the bustling critters — among 250,000 released Wednesday in San Anselmo parks — crawl onto a city tree. The ladybugs, which cost $12 per 75,000, are expected to feed on aphids and other park pests, Floyd said, adding the city has turned to biological warfare since pesticides used in the past have had little effect. Later this month, the city parks department expects to release 1,600 praying mantis eggs to deal with insects like beetles, grasshoppers and caterpillars.

Marin Trying Out New Act On Decriminalizing Drug Offenders

By LARRY MOWELL

While legislators in Sacramento are debating legalization of marijuana, court officials in Marin County are struggling with an existing law that borders for some defendants on decriminalizing not only pot, but also heroin and other narcotics and dangerous drugs.

Called the Campbell-Moretti-Deukmejian Drug Abuse Act, the 1972 legislation provides for the "diversion" of first time drug offernders in carefully defined circumstances from criminal prosecution to educational, treatment and rehabilitation programs.

The charge is dismissed if the offender avoids further arrests for two years.

Although the diversion is being practiced, judges, prosecutors, defense attorneys and probation officers told the Independent-Journal they are still puzzled over what to do.

No figures are yet available, but court attaches estimated that between 10 and 20 cases in the past six weeks have been referred to the probation department for reports on the suitability of defendants for diversion.

Of those, most are misdemeanor marijuana possession cases and marijuana users need neither treatment nor rehabilitation, according to Chief Deputy Probation Officer James B. Soetaert.

The only alternative is an educational program, but, although one is in the works, none yet exists, he said.

Others involved in the process also expressed uncertainty about its future. "It may be good. It may be bad. I have mixed feelings about it," Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said. He is required by the law to determine which cases qualify for diversion.

Although favoring stiffer criminal punishment, Bales said education and treatment may be more effective than the light fines now being imposed.

But Deputy Public Defender Glenn Becker says the law may not require any more than an admonition from the judge. "I don't think this act requires treatment," he said.

He wondered if any program will benefit one defendant, a client of his arrested for having a marijuana cigarette. The man no longer smokes marijuana, Becker said.

Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman has no answers, only questions. He wondered if everyone who qualifies must be considered for diversion and what kinds of programs they will be funnelled into.

The only thing almost everyone seems certain of is that the act may be unconstitutional because it allows only the district attorney to initiate diversion. "It empowers what is essentially a judicial decision to the prosecution," Becker said.

To qualify for diversion, a defendant must be charged with possession of marijuana or a drug, having narcotics paraphernalia or being in a place whre narcotics were used. Furthermore, the prospect cannot have a prior drug or violence record or any probation violation.

If the district attorney recommends diversion, and if the judge and defense attorney agree, the case is referred to the probation department for a report on whether the defendant would benefit from educational, treatment and rehabilitation programs.

But what will happen if the probation department finds the defendant doesn't need help or, at the other extreme, is beyond help remains to be worked out?

"The thing is so new we are still trying to work out some of the kinks," Soetaert said.

Plight Of The Little Taxpayer Found In Error

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters of the IRS agrees his taxmen should assure little taxpayers summoned for audits that their chances of going to jail for the errors of their tax returns are slight indeed.

Walters agreed wholeheartedly with that suggestion Thursday even though a tax expert asserts such a policy probably would reduce the government's revenue.

At the conclusion of his Senate appropriations subcommittee hearings into taxpayer grievances, Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., said many taxpayers are so terrorized they would pay any assessment —just or unjust—simply to get a bewildering experience behind them.

"He comes into the IRS office thinking he's going to be thrown in jail if he doesn't sign the dotted line," Montoya said. "That's why you have so many signing."

"The revenue agent says, 'I see you owe $100. You can either sign or go to a conference.'

"The taxpayer is still quivering. He signs. He's glad to give up the $100. He leaves grateful to have it all behind him."

COLLEGE OF MARIN LIBRARIES, OLD AND NEW

The $4 million new library at College of Marin (right) is nearly completed, and students will start using it in the fall, leaving the 30-year-old Spanish style library (left) for offices and classes for the behavioral science department. The new structure is all-concrete, with a coppery colored roof made from weathered steel. The first floor houses data processing and the duplicating center, and the student store, while the second floor includes open book stacks and study halls.

Golda Meir Said Pleased With Nixon's Assurances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir winds up her Washington visit today, apparently having received promises of most of the military and economic aid she sought.

Mrs. Meir came here with a long shopping list for military hardware and economic aid. According to Israeli sources, she appeared to have obtained most of it.

"She could not be happier," said one source close to her.

Neither Mrs. Meir nor the administration would divulge details.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters after a 95-minute meeting between President Nixon and Mrs. Meir: "The President assured Mrs. Meir of continuing U.S. support. As you know, we provide Israel with economic and military assistance. This will continue."

Administration sources said privately that Mrs. Meir asked for $300 million in military credits to buy 30 F4 Phantom fighter-bombers, 30 A4 Skyhawk tactical bombers, an unspecified number of Cobra helicopter gunships, laser-guided "smart" bombs and Lance surface-to-surface ballistic missiles.

They said she also asked for $215 million in non-military grants and credits.

In a National Press Club speech Thursday Mrs. Meir spelled out some concessions Israel is prepared to make to obtain Middle East peace. These were:

—A negotiated border between Israel and Syria on the Golon Heights. But she said Israel could never entirely retreat from the heights, from which Israeli homes and agricultural settlements in the valley below have been shelled.

—She appeared to offer Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai Desert in return for Egyptian agreement to continued Israeli occupation of Sarm el Sheik, the former Egyptian fortress at the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba overlooking the narrow Strait of Tiran.

—She said Israel would be willing "to pull back a bit" from the Suez Canal to permit Egypt to reopen it, but that a final border in that area would have to be negotiated in a peace treaty.

Maxwell House Hikes Price For All Coffee

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maxwell House, the nation's largest coffee processor, announced wholesale price increases Thursday, two days after the Cost of Living Council lifted controls on coffee.

The division of General Foods Corp. will raise prices approximately four cents a pound on ground coffees and approximately one cent an ounce on most sizes of instant and freeze dried coffees. The company packages coffee under the Maxwell House, Yuban, Sanka, Maxim and Max-Pax labels.

Maxwell House said the cost increases are needed because green coffee prices have risen since October, when the company last boosted coffee prices.

On Tuesday, the Cost of Living Council decided to allow coffee prices adjustments under the volatile commodity provision.

Since coffee supplies have been tight this year, some experts had forecast higher prices. The world's coffee producers recently decided to withhold coffee from the market. In additon, the Brazilian crop was damaged by frost and rains last year.

Coffee futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange have risen about 20 cents a pound since the beginning of the year.

Park Boss To Discuss Private Land Purchases

The superintendent of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area will discuss private land acquisition policies and other effects on coastal communities during a meeting of the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p.m., next Thursday at the Stinson Beach Community Center.

Supt. William J. Whalen is expected to field questions regarding private land acquisition plans, policies and management, kinds of recreation to be offered, physical conformation of the park, and others, according to Emma Benevenga, chamber secretary.

Also expected to attend are recreation area staff members John E. Ritchie, chief of lands for the western region; Douglas Cornell, architect and planner, and Albin Reynolds, chief of land appraisal.

The meeting is open to the public. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Benevenga, P.O. Box 94, Olema, through Tuesday.

Former Political Figure Released

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — John V. Kenny, once a leading political figure in New Jersey, was freed Thursday from the U.S. medical center where he had been under treatment for a severe heart condition.

Authorities at the penal medical facility said they had been notified by letter that a court had received the $30,000 fine Kenny, 79, owed on an income tax offense. Payment of the fine was a requirement of his release on parole, granted Feb. 7.

Viet Peace Document Is Signed

PARIS (UPI) — World powers led by the United States, China and the Soviet Union today signed a nine-point plan aimed at guaranteeing a lasting peace in Vietnam.

Foreign ministers from 12 nations, put their signatures to the six-page document at 3:25 p.m. (9:25 a.m. EST), conference spokesmen said.

Canada and South Vietnam said earlier they were signing with reservations.

Each minister, using his own pen, signed five copies of the agreement. It was produced in English, French, Russian, Vietnamese and Chinese.

The agreement binds signatories scrupulously to respect the Paris peac accord of Jan.27, urges other countries to do the same, provides for reconvening of the conference if peace in Vietnam is threatened in future, and sets out details of machinery for reporting ceasefire violations.

Highway To Open

BIG SUR (UPI) — Highway 1 was open to through traffic today for the first time since heavy rains caused a 500-foot stretch to wash out seven miles south of here Feb. 11.

Las Gallinas Sanitary Board To Further Explore Sewage Planning

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board, again wrestling with what effect expansion of district sewage facilities will have on community growth, last night decided to hold another public hearing on the matter.

The public hearing on an environmental impact report concerning plant expansion will be reopened at 7:30 p.m. March 22 in the county Civic Center to allow more public comment on the matter, according to Lelia O'Kane, district secretary.

The report holds that the only adverse effect on increasing plant capacity from 2.25 million gallons a day to 3 million gallons will be from ultimately adding 13,000 persons to the present 27,000 residents, requiring development of 2,200 acres and the addition of cars, roads and services for the new population.

As in the past, the board took no action on the dilemma of whether a sanitary district has the right or duty to limit population growth in the area it serves, Mrs. O'Kane said.

The board did, however, declare that it will proceed with plant expansion on the basis of county predictions of a sewage producing population in the district equivalent to 34,100 residents by 1978, she said.

The board also said it expects the city of San Rafael and the County of Marin to limit building permits to allocations of connections by the board.

In addition, all connection requests will be referred to the county and city for "consideration," she said.

Mrs. O'Kane said the board last night asked the City of San Rafael to appoint board member Calvin B. Colt to the city's general plan advisory committee. The board appointed Constance M. Johnstone of 12 Clover Hill, San Rafael, to its own citizens' committee on plant expansion, she added.

In a related matter, the board expressed concern about environmental impact reports for the 292-unit Foothills Oaks project and the office, restaurant, service station and car wash project known as Northgate East, both of which are proposed for the sites near the county Civic Center.

The board said it wanted to review the Foothill Oaks soils report and wondered whether the project provided for adequate drainage as well as what effect it would have on plant capacity, she said.

The board declared it was concerned with the car wash proposed in the Northgate East project, saying that wet weather flow at the Terra Linda pump station is already over capacity, and noted that an industrial waste ordinance pending before the district might affect the types of industrial sewage permitted in the district, she said.

Jazz Trumpeter Fined For Weapon

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jazz trumpeter Miles Davis was fined $1,000 Thursday for possessing a dangerous weapon. He pleaded guilty to having a .25 caliber revolver in the luxury apartment building he owned.

However, a charge that Davis had cocaine in his apartment was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Maxwell House Hikes Price For All Coffee

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maxwell House, the nation's largest coffee processor, announced wholesale price increases Thursday, two days after the Cost of Living Council lifted controls on coffee.

The division of General Foods Corp. will raise prices approximately four cents a pound on ground coffees and approximately one cent an ounce on most sizes of instant and freeze dried coffees. The company packages coffee under the Maxwell House, Yuban, Sanka, Maxim and Max-Pax labels.

Maxwell House said the cost increases are needed because green coffee prices have risen since October, when the company last boosted coffee prices.

On Tuesday, the Cost of Living Council decided to allow coffee prices adjustments under the volatile commodity provision.

Since coffee supplies have been tight this year, some experts had forecast higher prices. The world's coffee producers recently decided to withhold coffee from the market. In additon, the Brazilian crop was damaged by frost and rains last year.

Coffee futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange have risen about 20 cents a pound since the beginning of the year.

Park Boss To Discuss Private Land Purchases

The superintendent of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area will discuss private land acquisition policies and other effects on coastal communities during a meeting of the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p.m., next Thursday at the Stinson Beach Community Center.

Supt. William J. Whalen is expected to field questions regarding private land acquisition plans, policies and management, kinds of recreation to be offered, physical conformation of the park, and others, according to Emma Benevenga, chamber secretary.

Also expected to attend are recreation area staff members John E. Ritchie, chief of lands for the western region; Douglas Cornell, architect and planner, and Albin Reynolds, chief of land appraisal.

The meeting is open to the public. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Benevenga, P.O. Box 94, Olema, through Tuesday.

Former Political Figure Released

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — John V. Kenny, once a leading political figure in New Jersey, was freed Thursday from the U.S. medical center where he had been under treatment for a severe heart condition.

Authorities at the penal medical facility said they had been notified by letter that a court had received the $30,000 fine Kenny, 79, owed on an income tax offense. Payment of the fine was a requirement of his release on parole, granted Feb. 7.

Viet Peace Document Is Signed

PARIS (UPI) — World powers led by the United States, China and the Soviet Union today signed a nine-point plan aimed at guaranteeing a lasting peace in Vietnam.

Foreign ministers from 12 nations, put their signatures to the six-page document at 3:25 p.m. (9:25 a.m. EST), conference spokesmen said.

Canada and South Vietnam said earlier they were signing with reservations.

Each minister, using his own pen, signed five copies of the agreement. It was produced in English, French, Russian, Vietnamese and Chinese.

The agreement binds signatories scrupulously to respect the Paris peac accord of Jan.27, urges other countries to do the same, provides for reconvening of the conference if peace in Vietnam is threatened in future, and sets out details of machinery for reporting cease-fire violations.

Las Gallinas Sanitary Board To Further Explore Sewage Planning

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board, again wrestling with what effect expansion of district sewage facilities will have on community growth, last night decided to hold another public hearing on the matter.

The public hearing on an environmental impact report concerning plant expansion will be reopened at 7:30 p.m. March 22 in the county Civic Center to allow more public comment on the matter, according to Lelia O'Kane, district secretary.

The report holds that the only adverse effect on increasing plant capacity from 2.25 million gallons a day to 3 million gallons will be from ultimately adding 13,000 persons to the present 27,000 residents, requiring development of 2,200 acres and the addition of cars, roads and services for the new population.

As in the past, the board took no action on the dilemma of whether a sanitary district has the right or duty to limit population growth in the area it serves, Mrs. O'Kane said.

The board did, however, declare that it will proceed with plant expansion on the basis of county predictions of a sewage producing population in the district equivalent to 34,100 residents by 1978, she said.

The board also said it expects the city of San Rafael and the County of Marin to limit building permits to allocations of connections by the board.

In addition, all connection requests will be referred to the county and city for "consideration," she said.

Mrs. O'Kane said the board last night asked the City of San Rafael to appoint board member Calvin B. Colt to the city's general plan advisory committee. The board appointed Constance M. Johnstone of 12 Clover Hill, San Rafael, to its own citizens' committee on plant expansion, she added.

In a related matter, the board expressed concern about environmental impact reports for the 292-unit Foothills Oaks project and the office, restaurant, service station and car wash project known as Northgate East, both of which are proposed for the sites near the county Civic Center.

The board said it wanted to review the Foothill Oaks soils report and wondered whether the project provided for adequate drainage as well as what effect it would have on plant capacity, she said.

The board declared it was concerned with the car wash proposed in the Northgate East project, saying that wet weather flow at the Terra Linda pump station is already over capacity, and noted that an industrial waste ordinance pending before the district might affect the types of industrial sewage permitted in the district, she said.

SLAYING SUSPECT — Herbert Mullin, 26, was returned to jail yesterday after Municipal Judge Donald May refused to accept his plea of guilty to ten murders in the Santa Cruz area last month. The case was continued to March 15 after the judge entered an innocent plea on behalf of the suspect.

Kidnaped Mayor Escapes

GALLUP, N.M. (UPI) — Mayor Emmett Garcia crashed through a glass window in a blaze of bullets to escape from two militant Indians who kidnaped him Thursday.

Then police opened fire on the sporting goods store where the two Indians, both 20, had holed up. One surrendered and the other was found inside, shot to death. Police said they think he committed suicide.

Garcia was hospitalized in good condition. His abductors had shot him once in the side as he escaped and he suffered cuts from broken glass when he dived through the window.

The dead Indian, Larry Casuse, was a former president of the Kiva Indian Club at the University of New Mexico. District Attorney Ed Depauli said Casuse was bitterly opposed to the recent appointment of Garcia as a University of New Mexico regent.

The club charged Garcia exploited Indians.

The other Indian, Robert Nakaidinae, Fort Defiance, Ariz., was charged with kidnaping, attempted murder, and lesser offenses.

Depauli said the two Indians walked into the mayor's office "and then some shots were fired," but no one was hit. He said they handcuffed Garcia and disarmed Police Chief Manuel Gonzalez Jr.

"They walked the mayor down, handcuffed, to Sterns Sporting Goods Store about a block and a half away," Depauli said. Once inside, "the mayor saw a chance to escape and dived through a glass window.

"They took a shot at him and then the firing started between them and police," he said.

The Indians were armed with a pistol and a shotgun and had a large amount of ammunition, police said.

Coroner Charles Kettel said Casuse was killed by a bullet in the face "fired at close range," because there were powder burns on the wound.

The coroner said he was withholding a ruling in the death until after an autopsy, but Depauli said it was the general opinion of policemen at the scene that Casuse killed himself.

Bawdy House Charge Brings Fine Of $100

A madam was fined $100 yesterday after pleading no contest to a charge of running a house of ill repute in the Northgate area of San Rafael, but the charges against three codefendants were dismissed.

Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court imposed the fine on 37-year-old Carolyn Duvale as part of a negotiated sentence that included dismissal of charges of soliciting for prostitution.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Girard R. Courteau then asked for dismissal of the charges against Richard Leonard O'Leary, 32, of Larkspur, co-owner of the now closed Executive Sauna, and two of its former employees, Samaki Zuri, 21, and Marlene Langston, 23.

Courteau said he didn't have enough evidence to prosecute in view of the acquittal of O'Leary's partner, Max Joseph Oncina, 50, of San Rafael in a jury trial in December.

However, Courteau refused to dismiss the misdemeanor soliciting count against Mandy Cranston, 25, and Judge Baty continued that case to March 30 to decide whether it also should be dismissed.

Miss Cranston allegedly offered more than a massage to San Rafael Inspector Bart Stinson when he went to the Sauna at 4140 Redwood Highway Dec. 16, 1971.

Police raided the short-lived establishment immediately afterward and arrested the four women. The sauna had been open slightly more than a month when police closed it.

Corteau said Miss Duvale was allowed to plead no contest because a guilty plea would have made her vulnerable to perjury charges. She testified during Oncina's trial that no illicit activities were conducted.

Oncina was tried separately because he allegedly confessed to Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, but a jury of nine men and three women apparently felt Oncina's denial and backup testimony from a third man cast doubt on Bale's recollection.

Judge Refuses Guilty Plea Of Slay Suspect

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Clutching two lawbooks and a copy of the U.S. Constitution in his hand, drug dropout Herbert W. Mullin tried repeatedly Thursday to plead guilty to 10 murders.

Municipal Judge Donald R. May wouldn't let him, entering an innocent plea instead on behalf of the 25-year-old suspect in the series of slayings in the Santa Cruz area in the past six weeks.

The baby-faced Mullin, who dropped out of college and became a heavy LSD user, stood before the judge in an orange jail jumpsuit and attempted to plead both "no contest" and guilty.

Mullin said he had discharged his defense attorney because his father was paying his fee and that he wanted to be represented by the public defender. The judge appointed James Jackson to represent him and then declined to accept Mullin's pleas on grounds he hadn't had time to consult with the public defender.

Mullin was charged with slaying a young mother and her two small sons at a remote cabin, a Santa Cruz man and his wife at their home, an elderly fisherman working in a garden, and four teen-age youths camping on a mountainside near Felton. All 10 were shot to death between Jan. 24 and Feb. 13.

He also has been listed as the "prime suspect" in last November's beating and stomping death of a Roman Catholic priest in a confessional at Los Gatos, about 20 miles away across the Santa Cruz Mountains. But no charges have been filed.

After Judge May read an amended complaint — adding four more murder charges than the six he was previously arraigned on—Mullin asked if he could make his plea in writing. The judge agreed and Mullin wrote it out at a lectern.

May read the plea, "Nolo contendre (no contest) to the offenses charged," and said, "I don't feel I should accept this."

Mullin persisted in trying to enter a plea, saying he would plead guilty instead of nolo contendre. But the judge refused, entered the innocent plea and set a preliminary hearing for March 15.

District Attorney Peter Chang said he would bypass the preliminary hearing by going to the Santa Cruz County Grand Jury next Wednesday and asking it to indict Mullin.

Four In Manson Family Found Guilty By Jury

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four more members of the infamous Charles Manson family are headed for prison, bringing the total number behind bars to at least 12, with three still facing trial.

A jury ruled Wednesday that four Manson followers, two men and two women, were legally sane and responsible for their actions when they robbed a beer distributing firm in Covina and tried to steal 143 rifles, pistols and shotguns from a Hawthorne surplus store.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated one hour 45 minutes before bringing in the verdicts against Kenneth Como, 30, Catherine "Gypsy" Share, 30, Mary Brunner, 29 and Lawrence Bailey, 23.

They are scheduled to be sentenced March 20-23.

Poverty Fund Protest Set

ATLANTA (UPI) — Rev. Ralph Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, announced Wednesday a "spring offensive" in protest of cutbacks by the Nixon administration in anti poverty funds.

Abernathy called for the first demonstration to fall on April 4, the fifth anniversary of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It is scheduled for Atlanta.

Abernathy said he was hopeful that the path of protest "through a warm spring and a hot summer will take us to many stae capitols and cities across the nation."

Such Products As Turtle Soup Under Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Turtle soap, python skin boots and other products from endangered species protected by state law are openly sold in California stores, the Environmental Defense Fund said yesterday.

". . . I. Magnin is carrying a line of 'Polly Bergen' sea turtle cosmetics, Sears Roebuck will take orders of kangaroo shoes, and Brooks Brothers sells alligator belts," the letter said.

Housing Element Of Plan Adopted

The City-County Planning Council of Marin adopted the housing element to the proposed countywide general plan last night and fired off a letter to President Nixon urging him to maintain funding for federally subsidized housing programs.

Adoption of the housing policies completes the council's in-depth review of the countywide plan, which it helped draft. Sol Silver, chief of the county's advanced planning section, said the council will consider adopting the plan in its entirety at the next meeting, April 5.

The element proposes that the current mix of housing — 20 per cent low income, 45 per cent middle income and 35 per cent higher income — be maintained through 1990.

To do so, it recommends a number of programs for not only new housing construction but retention of existing low and moderate income housing.

Without the programs, some of which require changes to state law, planners fear market pressures will force housing cost to soar.

A sampling of recommended programs for retaining existing low and medium income housing include:

Voluntary agreement by landlords to hold price and rent down in return for tax relief; rehabilitation of dwellings without tax increase, increased numbers of federal leased-housing units8and greater tax relief to the elderly.

A sampling of recommended programs for building new low and medium-income housing includes:

Federally financed public housing projects, federally subsidized housing projects by nonprofit sponsors, new units from a development fund created by taxing new construction, mobile homes and houseboats and local incentives such as density bonuses giving developers more homes per acre in return for some low income housing.

The housing element also recommends the number of such dwellings that would be placed in each area of the county by 1990. And it suggests ways for cities to achieve the allotments.

Overall, 12,740 low-income housing units are recommended for the eastern urbanized corridor by 1990. About 15,600 medium-income units are recommended for the same period.

A 1990 breakdown by area shows: About 3,550 low and 3,730 medium-income units in the Novato area; about 1,530 low and 1,720 medium in the Las Gallinas Valley; about 2,360 low and 2,220 medium in the San Rafael Basin; about 980 low and 700 medium in the Upper Ross Valley; about 1,880 low and 2,610 medium in the Lower Ross Valley, and about 2,780 low and 5,240 medium in the Richardson Bay communities.

The council, made up of representatives from the county and its 11 cities, voted unanimously to write President Nixon urging him to end the freeze imposed on funding of some Department of Housing and Urban Development programs.

The cities of Belvedere and Ross were not represented last night.

Marin City Street Light Flap Caused By Vandals

The question of who shall provide maintenance and repairs for street lights in Marin City has triggered a dispute between the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and the Marin City Community Services District.

The utility company, which stopped repairing broken lights last November, says it can no longer afford to keep them operative because of extensive vandalism. The company has suggested the services district purchase the lights and poles and maintain them.

But the services district board indicated last night it has no desire to take over street light maintenance and accused PG&E of discrimination in the matter.

"The board recognized that vandalism is a problem, but said it is no worse in Marin City than in other outlying areas of the county," secretary Lillian Lee reported.

PG&E's customer services supervisor, Robert E. Canziani does not agree and said today that vandalism in the Southern Marin community is indeed worse. "As fast as we repair the lights, they are shot out," he told the Independent-Journal. "We are losing our shirts there."

Although he could give no estimate of the amount of the damage to lights over the past year, Canziani said it added up to "a lot of money."

He also noted that shots have been fired in the vicinity of PG&E linemen repairing the lights on several occasions. "I don't think there was any attempt to kill or harm the men, but only to scare them," he said.

The customer services supervisor said the utility really doesn't know what can be done to solve the problem. "We'd like to keep the lights in there — it's money for us and lighting for the streets — but we can't keep on this way," he said.

Last night the services district board agreed to meet with PG&E officials to discuss the matter further on March 8.

'Tango' Director Plenty Popular

ROME (AP) — Bernardo Bertolucci, the director of "Last Tango in Paris," says ladies in both Italy and the United States are pressing for his company since his movie made him famous.

American women, he says, "have courted me with embarassing insistence, with ferociousness," and in Rome "ladies I never met" want to spend an evening with him.

The 32-year-old Roman, in an interview Thursday in Turin's newspaper, La Stampa, said there will be little sex in his next movie, which he said will be something like "Gone with the Wind."

Several Cartons Of Smokes Stolen

A sneak thief grabbed a cardboard box containing 40 to 50 cartons of cigarettes from Thrifty Drug Store at 471 Third Street and outran pursuit, San Rafael police reported today.

A clerk saw a tall youth take the cigarettes from a storeroom at 1:15 p.m. yesterday but was unable to catch him as he fled from the Montecito Shopping Center area on foot, officers said.

Playground Injury Suits Are Filed

The parents of three Novato children, who suffered broken bones in tumbles from a playground toy in Novato's Pioneer Park, have filed suit in Marin Superior Court for more than $240,000 in damages.

The suits claim Novato, its park and recreation director, Edward Adams, and the Miracle Equipment Co., failed to make an eight-foot high roller drum safe for children, then refused to take it out after the parents of the first two injured children complained.

Asking the highest award is Martin Mueller of 28 Harding Drive for his 13-year-old son, Eric. The boy was flung from the device Oct. 7 and suffered broken bones in his right arm and leg which required two operations.

The suit on his behalf asks $100,000 general damages and $100,000 punitive damages plus more than $2,000 in medical expenses. San Rafael attorney Vernon L. Bradley, who filed all three suits, said the city and Adams were especially negligent in Mueller's case because claims by the parents of the other two children were already on file with the city when he was hurt.

The suits on behalf of Michael Weems, 10, and Tami Atkins, also 10, ask about $20,000 damages for each plus medical expenses and other costs.

Michael broke an arm Aug. 12 and Tami broke an arm three days later when hurled from the playground device, according to the suits.

Adams told the Independent-Journal today that the barrel was removed several months ago.

Tam Group Will Make Road Study

Disappointed with county engineering plans for realignment and improvement of Tennessee Valley Road, the Tamalpais Task Force has decided to prepare its own plans, then submit them to the county.

According to Jo Julin, chairman of the group, the task force on Wednesday also complained that bike paths and pedestrian trails requested in the engineering designs were not included.

The task force appointed its transportation committee to prepare the revised plans within a month. The proposal should be ready for presentation to the county about the same time an environmental impact report on the Tennessee Valley Road project is completed.

The task force also agreed that a 10-unit single-family subdivision to be built on Homestead Boulevard in Homestead Valley should be a cluster development.

Developers of the Alpine Meadows project have presented two more plans for the seven-acre subdivision. One calls for houses spread over individual lots, while the other envisions clusters of dwellings, with about two-acres of open space.

At the meeting the task force also accepted Mrs. Julin's resignation as chairman, a post she has held since the organization's founding about 15 months ago.

Curry Eckelhoff of Tamalpais Valley and Joan Panek of Almonte were appointed to serve as cochairmen for the organization.

Novatan Is Convicted In Robbery Of Invalid

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday convicted 24-year-old Danny Ray Pyles of Novato of robbing a 79-year-old invalid in San Rafael last year.

The jury in the court of Judge Henry J. Broderick decided Pyles wasn't armed with a dangerous weapon and set the degree at second.

Sentencing was set for March 28 to allow time for a probation report.

Originally arrested July 11 on suspicion of the June 28 robbery, Pyles fled on the verge of his scheduled trial in January and was arrested Jan. 23 in Maryland.

He now faces an additional charge of stealing a car from Pacific Car Rental in San Rafael Jan. 6 to make the cross-country flight with three juveniles.

Still missing is his brother, Leonard Franklin Pyles, 20, of Pittsburg, who was last seen in Georgia, according to San Rafael police inspector Bart Stinson.

The brothers were to have stood trial with 25-year-old Paul Brent Caldwell of Sonoma. Caldwell was acquitted of the robbery.

Ralph D. Hoy, an elderly television repairman, was robbed of $300 by four men who entered his home on the pretext of needing a television set fixed.

They took Hoy's wallet after aiming a toy pistol at his head, police said. They then knocked him from his wheelchair and fled in a 1964 car.

Police traced the car to a San Anselmo address where Danny Pyles, Caldwell and a 13-year-old boy were arrested July 12. Leonard Pyles was arrested by Petaluma police Sept. 10.

Nobel Winner Is Case Loser

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schoff, owners of a boatworks, have won a $4,500 civil court judgment against Prof. William Shockley, Nobel Prize winning physicist.

A Municipal Court judge ruled Wednesday that Shockley must pay a boat-repair bill which he challenged, along with court costs.

The Stanford scientist contended the boat shop took too long to repair his 33-foot sailboat and that the charges were too high. He introduced in evidence tape recordings of telephone conversations with the Schoffs.

Reservist Sues Over Wig Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An Air Force reservist who was expelled from monthly drill meetings because he wore a wig has filed suit against the U.S. Air Force and the California Air National Guard.

John Budd Wentz had long hair so he wore the short-styled wig to conceal the long locks and thus comply with military regulations.

He said it went unnoticed and unchallenged until one day when he was fulfilling his duties as a clerk-typist in the Air National Guard unit at Hayward.

"A lieutenant stared at me about five minutes from a number of different angles," he said, "until finally he asked me point blank, 'Wentz, is that a wig?' and when I said yes, he sent me home."

Housing Element Of Plan Adopted

The City-County Planning Council of Marin adopted the housing element to the proposed countywide general plan last night and fired off a letter to President Nixon urging him to maintain funding for federally subsidized housing programs.

Adoption of the housing policies completes the council's indepth review of the countywide plan, which it helped draft. Sol Silver, chief of the county's advanced planning section, said the council will consider adopting the plan in its entirety at the next meeting, April 5.

The element proposes that the current mix of housing — 20 per cent low income, 45 per cent middle income and 35 per cent higher income — be maintained through 1990.

To do so, it recommends a number of programs for not only new housing construction but retention of existing low and moderate income housing.

Without the programs, some of which require changes to state law, planners fear market pressures will force housing cost to soar.

A sampling of recommended programs for retaining existing low and medium income housing include:

Voluntary agreement by landlords to hold price and rent down in return for tax relief; rehabilitation of dwellings without tax increase, increased numbers of federal leased-housing units8and greater tax relief to the elderly.

A sampling of recommended programs for building new low and medium-income housing includes:

Federally financed public housing projects, federally subsidized housing projects by non-profit sponsors, new units from a development fund created by taxing new construction, mobile homes and houseboats and local incentives such as density bonuses giving developers more homes per acre in return for some low income housing.

The housing element also recommends the number of such dwellings that would be placed in each area of the county by 1990. And it suggests ways for cities to achieve the allotments.

Overall, 12,740 low-income housing units are recommended for the eastern urbanized corridor by 1990. About 15,600 medium-income units are recommended for the same period.

A 1990 breakdown by area shows: About 3,550 low and 3,730 medium-income units in the Novato area; about 1,530 low and 1,720 medium in the Las Gallinas Valley; about 2,360 low and 2,220 medium in the San Rafael Basin; about 980 low and 700 medium in the Upper Ross Valley; about 1,880 low and 2,610 medium in the Lower Ross Valley, and about 2,780 low and 5,240 medium in the Richardson Bay communities.

The council, made up of representatives from the county and its 11 cities, voted unanimously to write President Nixon urging him to end the freeze imposed on funding of some Department of Housing and Urban Development programs.

The cities of Belvedere and Ross were not represented last night.

Marin City Street Light Flap Caused By Vandals

The question of who shall provide maintenance and repairs for street lights in Marin City has triggered a dispute between the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and the Marin City Community Services District.

The utility company, which stopped repairing broken lights last November, says it can no longer afford to keep them operative because of extensive vandalism. The company has suggested the services district purchase the lights and poles and maintain them.

But the services district board indicated last night it has no desire to take over street light maintenance and accused PG&E of discrimination in the matter.

"The board recognized that vandalism is a problem, but said it is no worse in Marin City than in other outlying areas of the county," secretary Lillian Lee reported.

PG&E's customer services supervisor, Robert E. Canziani does not agree and said today that vandalism in the Southern Marin community is indeed worse. "As fast as we repair the lights, they are shot out," he told the Independent-Journal. "We are losing our shirts there."

Although he could give no estimate of the amount of the damage to lights over the past year, Canziani said it added up to "a lot of money."

He also noted that shots have been fired in the vicinity of PG&E linemen repairing the lights on several occasions. "I don't think there was any attempt to kill or harm the men, but only to scare them," he said.

The customer services supervisor said the utility really doesn't know what can be done to solve the problem. "We'd like to keep the lights in there — it's money for us and lighting for the streets — but we can't keep on this way," he said.

DRIVER SURVIVES ROLL-OVER

Motorist Nick Daniel Predovic Sr., 53, of 108 Upham Street, Petaluma, sits against a tree alongside the flattened wreckage of his auto which rolled over on Highway 101 just south of the Sonoma County line. California Highway Patrol officers said Predovic suffered only minor injuries in the one-car accident at 10:30 p.m. yesterday. After treatment at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital, Predovic was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of drunken driving.

New Chief For Drug Agency

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Veteran narcotics agent Matthew M. O'Connor has been named to the $23,612-a-year position as state director of Narcotics and Drug Abuse.

O'Connor, 47, has been a law enforcement officer for the past 24 years and currently is a supervising special agent with the state Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement.

O'Connor, whose appointment was announced Thursday by Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, replaces William B. Skelton who headed the agency since its inception in 1971. Skelton resigned in January to become inspector of the new state police force.

State Board Adopts Tough Waste Plan

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Tough statewide controls on water pollution from animal wastes were adopted yesterday despite objections from Marin dairy ranchers that the high cost of meeting them may drive them out of business.

The unanimous action by the State Water Resources Control board also brushed aside objections from the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control board that local conditions warrant special consideration.

Board member Jean Auer tried to reassure a delegation from Marin that regional boards can give ranchers extra time to comply if needed because of the cost.

The five-man delegation from Marin raised the only objections at the hour-long hearing, although ranchers from other parts of the state previously had protested the board's proposal.

Protesting were supervisors Gary T. Giacomini and Robert A. Roumiguiere, Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino and ranchers Robert Parks and Donald McIsaac.

They objected especially to a new requirement that costly ponds be built to hold a 24-hour storm such as might occur once in a decade, without allowing animal waste to flow into streams and bays.

Trash Separator Machine Shown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Garbage scavengers showed off their newest piece of equipment Thursday —a $700,000 machine that separates ferrous metal from the rest of San Francisco's trash.

The separator system was built by the Los Angeles By Products Co., which is paying the scavengers $2 per ton for tin cans and other metal refuse.

The company sells the metal to mining companies for use in copper mining in Nevada.

Burglar Makes Escape On BART

OAKLAND (UPI) — A burglar could thank the Bay Area Rapid Transit system for his freedom today.

Police said that the thief led police on a high-speed chase Wednesday and fired several shots at officers.

The man fled his automobile and took a BART train to make good his escape.

The chase started when the man was found burglarizing a home, Polie said.

DRIVER SURVIVES ROLL-OVER

Motorist Nick Daniel Predovic Sr., 53, of 108 Upham Street, Petaluma, sits against a tree alongside the flattened wreckage of his auto which rolled over on Highway 101 just south of the Sonoma County line. California Highway Patrol officers said Predovic suffered only minor injuries in the one-car accident at 10:30 p.m. yesterday. After treatment at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital, Predovic was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of drunken driving.

New Chief For Drug Agency

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Veteran narcotics agent Matthew M. O'Connor has been named to the $23,612-a-year position as state director of Narcotics and Drug Abuse.

O'Connor, 47, has been a law enforcement officer for the past 24 years and currently is a supervising special agent with the state Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement.

O'Connor, whose appointment was announced Thursday by Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, replaces William B. Skelton who headed the agency since its inception in 1971. Skelton resigned in January to become inspector of the new state police force.

State Board Adopts Tough Waste Plan

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Tough statewide controls on water pollution from animal wastes were adopted yesterday despite objections from Marin dairy ranchers that the high cost of meeting them may drive them out of business.

The unanimous action by the State Water Resources Control board also brushed aside objections from the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control board that local conditions warrant special consideration.

Board member Jean Auer tried to reassure a delegation from Marin that regional boards can give ranchers extra time to comply if needed because of the cost.

The five-man delegation from Marin raised the only objections at the hour-long hearing, although ranchers from other parts of the state previously had protested the board's proposal.

Protesting were supervisors Gary T. Giacomini and Robert A. Roumiguiere, Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino and ranchers Robert Parks and Donald McIsaac.

They objected especially to a new requirement that costly ponds be built to hold a 24-hour storm such as might occur once in a decade, without allowing animal waste to flow into streams and bays.

Candidate Coffee

A coffee for Eileen Bach-Y-Rita, candidate for the Mill Valley School District board, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the William Obata home, 380 Richardson Way, Tamalpais Valley.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

1:51 p.m., Forest Knolls — Structure fire did $1,500 damage to the Mary Mathers residence, 55 Forest Avenue, and $200 damage to personal property. Cause under investigation, possibly started by floor furnace. Marin County Fire Department responded.

2:15 p.m., San Anselmo — False alarm at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Trash Separator Machine Shown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Garbage scavengers showed off their newest piece of equipment Thursday —a $700,000 machine that separates ferrous metal from the rest of San Francisco's trash.

The separator system was built by the Los Angeles By Products Co., which is paying the scavengers $2 per ton for tin cans and other metal refuse.

The company sells the metal to mining companies for use in copper mining in Nevada.

Burglar Makes Escape On BART

OAKLAND (UPI) — A burglar could thank the Bay Area Rapid Transit system for his freedom today.

Police said that the thief led police on a high-speed chase Wednesday and fired several shots at officers.

The man fled his automobile and took a BART train to make good his escape.

The chase started when the man was found burglarizing a home, Polie said.

Diplomats Eyed For China Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two veteran diplomats with long experience in Asian affairs are believed to be the chief candidates to become America's first diplomatic representative in China.

The men are identified by knowledgeable diplomatic sources as John H. Holderidge, the Asian expert of the National Security Council, and Alfred S. Jenkins, the director of the State Department's Communist China desk.

China and the United States announced last month they would open "liaison" offices in each other's capitals.

The director of the liaison office will supervise a staff of about 10 officials in handling consular, trade and cultural affairs.

Holderidge, 48, and Jenkins, 57, have both travelled on various occasions with Kissinger to Peking. White the State Department has forwarded to the White House a list of other well-qualified candidates, Holderidge and Jenkins are believed in diplomatic quarters to have an inside track for the assignment because of their close working ties with Kissinger.

Holderidge speaks Mandarin Chinese and has spent the major part of his career in the foreign service in Far East posts, including Hong Kong, Bangkok and Singapore.

Jenkins studied Chinese in Peking in 1946 and served as a political officer in China before the Communists came to power in 1949. He has also worked in the American diplomatic posts in Hong Kong and Taipei.

The sources said they expect that a U.S. advance party will travel to Peking to discuss a variety of technical questions, including the obtaining of suitable offices and housing, before the mission opens.

U.S. Population

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Census Bureau estimates the U.S. population on Jan. 1 was 209,712,000.

Diplomats Eyed For China Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two veteran diplomats with long experience in Asian affairs are believed to be the chief candidates to become America's first diplomatic representative in China.

The men are identified by knowledgeable diplomatic sources as John H. Holderidge, the Asian expert of the National Security Council, and Alfred S. Jenkins, the director of the State Department's Communist China desk.

China and the United States announced last month they would open "liaison" offices in each other's capitals.

The director of the liaison office will supervise a staff of about 10 officials in handling consular, trade and cultural affairs.

Holderidge, 48, and Jenkins, 57, have both travelled on various occasions with Kissinger to Peking. White the State Department has forwarded to the White House a list of other well-qualified candidates, Holderidge and Jenkins are believed in diplomatic quarters to have an inside track for the assignment because of their close working ties with Kissinger.

Holderidge speaks Mandarin Chinese and has spent the major part of his career in the foreign service in Far East posts, including Hong Kong, Bangkok and Singapore.

Jenkins studied Chinese in Peking in 1946 and served as a political officer in China before the Communists came to power in 1949. He has also worked in the American diplomatic posts in Hong Kong and Taipei.

The sources said they expect that a U.S. advance party will travel to Peking to discuss a variety of technical questions, including the obtaining of suitable offices and housing, before the mission opens.

Board Takes No Stand In Sonoma State Tiff

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Neither landowners nor open space advocates won any ground in open quarreling between the Rohnert Park representatives and county supervisors at last night's meeting of the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Faced with a squabble over future development of the Sonoma State College area on Rohnert Park's outskirts, the commission took no stand until a public hearing can be held. No date was set.

At issue is the Sonoma County Planning Commission recommendation that one dwelling be allowed for every three-quarters of an acre while Rohnert Park representatives want density limited to one unit per 10 acres.

Although no annexation was involved last night, the commission was studying the plan since it is in the "sphere of influence" of Rohnert Park and the commission is responsible for planning such areas adjacent to cities.

The commission did hold last night, that a prior commitment must be honored by the county to allow development of 500 acres south of Sonoma State.

Members of the public, forewarned that no public testimony would be heard, did not attend.

The meeting ran smoothly until commissioner Ignazio A. Vella of Sonoma, also a county supervisor, urged support of the planning commission recommendation.

Rohnert Park City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan quickly rose to protest the move. 'If any plan makes sense, it's the one adopted by the city council after many hearings and endorsed by everyone but the county supervisors.'

Callinan argued that the planning commission decision served only to undo everything the city had accomplished in zoning.

Vella countered that the plan proposed by Rohnert Park is so restrictive that property owners would have to look for loopholes and variances to develop their land. He predicted the plan would never be approved by the supervisors.

'We'll cross that bridge when we come to it,' Callinan said. 'You can't anticipate how lucky we'll be.'

Callinan said that since the city council has no present plan to provide utilities for the present farmland west of the city, it would do no good to zone the land for high density living units.

"The land can't be developed so let's recognize that," commissioner Vernon P. Smith, a Rohnert Park city councilman, said. 'There's no water, no sewer or septic tank service. I don't see how we can do anything with it.'

Smith said Rohnert Park residents were astonished to see the original Sonoma State College area master plan which projected population of 118,000 persons.

County planning director George Kovatch said most residents were especially upset with traffic projections in the original plan. Based on an average of 10 trips per day per family, he said 37,000 cars would travel daily on Petaluma Hill Road. That would be near the amount on Highway 101.

Rohnert Park Vice Mayor Armando Flores told the commission it isn't fair to tax people for land that cannot be developed. He said land should be reassessed at more reasonable rates if it is unsuitable for development.

The commission agreed that the county board of equalization should study the tax matter.

In other business, the commission endorsed the Cotati general plan amendment, subject to an evaluation by the board of supervisors on transportation linkage in the central core.

The Cotati plan designated 155 acres within the city limits as agricultural and routes traffic around the outer central hub to open the main plaza area for parks and bicycle traffic.

Defector Death Ruled Accidental

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — A coroner's jury ruled Thursday that the death of young Russian defector Sergei Kourdakov was accidental, after learning that "new information" about the death from an Indiana congressman was "no information at all."

The inquest jury ruled that Kourdakov, 21, shot himself in the head accidentally with a borrowed .38-caliber pistol at a rented mountain cabin last New Year's Day.

Hearing In Hash Case March 12

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Three persons, arrested in San Rafael Wednesday in connection with an alleged plot to smuggle 80 pounds of hashish hidden in marble bric-a-brac into this country from Pakistan, were arraigned yesterday before a U.S. magistrate.

Charged with smuggling drugs and possessing them for sale were Phyllis Sue Nuremburg, 22, of San Rafael, and James E. Mellors, 34, and Joel Anderson, 22, both of San Francisco.

The three were arrested at Miss Nuremburg's home at 33 Bayview Street by San Rafael police and customs agents, who said they seized eight packing cartons weighing 800 pounds.

In the cartons, according to John Brockman, special agent in charge of customs, was some 80 pounds of suspected hashish with a wholesale value of $125,000. He said the heavy shipment had come by air from Karachi.

The three were arraigned before Magistrate Owen E. Woodruff Jr. Miss Nuremburg's bail was set at $5,000; Mellors's, $50,000, and Anderson, $10,000.

They are to return to court March 12 for a preliminary hearing.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Juvenile Crime 'Solution' Doubtful

The handling of juvenile offenders in California (as in most, if not all, other states) certainly needs improvement. But the reorganization proposed this week by Earl Brian, California secretary of health and welfare, and state Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, may not be a solution.

The Brian-Biddle proposal would do away with separate Youth Authority and Adult Authority, creating a single California Parole Authority. So far, so good.

It would merge the separate agencies now dealing with criminals and their care into a new Department of Correctional Services. Again, this makes sense.

BUT IT ALSO would turn over the handling of juvenile offenders entirely to the counties. The Youth Authority would be out of the picture. This would mean each county would have to provide its own facilities for incarcerating juvenile offenders now put in state custody — or turn them loose on the streets.

Obviously, this would put a tremendous new burden on the counties. To make it palatable to county officials, the Brian-Biddle reorganization plan includes a "revenue sharing" arrangement under which the state would subsidize county juvenile facilities.

THIS IS THE SAME approach that was taken several years ago with adult offenders. Counties agreeing to provide more supervised probation services and to handle more felons at the county level are given state subsidies.

The subsidies cost the state less than keeping felons in prison. The state saves a great deal of money. Prison populations have been decreased to where the state is busy closing its penal institutions.

Crime, however, has not decreased. Quite the contrary! We just have more criminals on probation and fewer behind bars.

As to whether these probationers are sufficiently supervised to keep them from further crime, to "rehabilitate" them — well, the number of repeaters indicates otherwise.

THE SAME THING, it seems to us, is likely to happen with juvenile offenders under the Brian-Biddle proposal.

In promoting the plan, its authors cited a study which showed that in 15 months after release, only 32 per cent of juvenile offenders handled locally were in trouble again, compared to 52 per cent of those who had been sent to the Youth Authority.

Such a comparison is ridiculous. Only those juveniles with long records of misbehavior or who commit capital crimes are sent to the Youth Authority. It gets the worst of the 32 per cent of local repeaters. Those who just made one or two missteps never reach CYA — and they are, of course, the least likely to get in trouble again.

THE HANDLING of juvenile offenders needs reform. It does not need to be swept under the rug.

The adult crime problem was swept under the rug by the state's persuading the counties to take on the problem in return for a subsidy handout. Let's not do the same with the juvenile crime problem.

California Student Vote Was Solidly Democratic

By RUS WALTON

Just about one million college students voted for the first time in the presidential election of 1972, here in California. And, if there ever were any doubt, it is now clear that they voted liberal and Democraic.

In a recent article in California Journal, Mike Freed reported on a survey of the campus vote made by the University of California Student Lobby.

The lobby made its study on 28 four-year campuses throughout the state: all nine UC campuses, 12 of the 19 California State universities and colleges, and seven private institutions. The report was based on surveys in 94 precincts wherein students comprised 95 to 100 per cent of registered voters.

HERE ARE SOME highlights:

-72 per cent of the registered student voters in California went to the polls (nationally, the 18-24 vote turnout was 48 per cent).

-statewide, the students registered Democratic three-to-one.

-Students voted overwhelmingly for Sen. George McGovern (UC students voted McGovern - 75 per cent, Nixon - 23 per cent; CSUC students went McGovern — 62 per cent to 35 per cent.)

-with few exceptions, students also voted Democratic in congressional and legislative races (on most surveyed campuses, Nixon fred better than other Republican candidates).

-the "Declined to State" registration among students was almost twice as high as it was among all registered voters.

Party registration in the campus precincts divided about the same at the UC, CSUC and private schools;

UC: Dem. — 67 per cent; Rep. — 18 per cent; Dec.-to-State — 12 per cent.

CSUC: D — 61 per cent; R — 25; DtS — 10.

Pvt: D — 63 per cent; R — 22; DtS — 13.

THE STUDENT VOTE had little impact on California's presidential election but it did have significant impact on several legislative races.

Three freshmen Democratic assemblymen probably owe their victories to the student vote.

Barry Keene, Santa Rosa, won in the north coastal Second District. Keene got 78 per cent of the vote at Humboldt State College, just about enough to give him his 3,000-vote margin over Republican Lawrence G. Antolini.

Lawrence Kapiloff, San Diego, defeated long-time Assemblyman Dick Barnes by fewer than 3,000 votes. Kapiloff got 77 per cent of the student vote at San Diego State.

Walter Ingalls, Riverside, won the Assembly seat vacated by Republican State Sen. Craig Biddle. Ingalls received a district-wide total of 53 per cent, but 85 per cent of the students at UC Riverside voted for him.

THREE OTHER Republican legislators narrowly won re-election despite the strong student vote in their districts.

Sen. Robert Stevens, Santa Monica, defeated Katherine O'Neill by 3,000 votes even though Miss O'Neill took 82 per cent of the vote at UCLA.

Assemblyman Ray Johnson, Chico, squeezed through by 700 votes; 70 per cent of the students at Chico State and 80 per cent of the students at UC Davis voted against him.

In Santa Barbara, young Democrat Gary Hart almost defeated Assemblyman Don MacGillivray. Hart received 96 per cent of the student vote at UC Santa Barbara. In Isla Vista, the student community for UCSB, Democrats outregistered Republicans 8-1.

All nine UC campuses went for legalized marijuana (Proposition 19) by at least 70 per cent. Nine of the 12 CSUC schools surveyed voted 70 per cent or more for pot.

Proposed New Center Has Little Backing

My company, owner of the Corte Madera Shopping Center, opposes the Hahn shopping center proposal. In addition to damaging the businesses of long-time merchants, we believe that suburbia and shoreline will be desecrated and thievery and accidents will be invited.

Better Center Markings Needed On Roads

This letter is written on behalf of the thousands of drivers in Marin County.

The recent stormy weather has been extremely hazardous for the driver due to poor visibility and center markings on the roads/highways being almost obliterated due to the heavy rains. In some areas it is almost impossible to see the painted lines when the roads are wet and dark.

I know of areas in the East Bay and in other states where orange center markings are displayed, either paint or reflectors, and these have proven effective in cutting down the number of accidents due to inclement weather.

I suggest a flood of letters to the Marin County Board of Supervisors and the traffic department complaining about the poor markings on our roads.

Marin County is one of the most advanced in this country and we should certaintly be better equipped on our roads in order to prevent some of the accidents that do occur under poor weather conditions.

Single Ambulance Contract Unsatifactory

In regards to your article on the front page of Friday's (Feb. 23) Independent-Journal, regarding the burn victim who had to be taken into the hospital by a police car because lack of United Ambulance availability, I'd like to make the following comments:

Why was United's Alto office ambulance called in to respond?

Why wasn't the other ambulance company, Bay Cities Ambulance Co. from San Rafael's Miracle Mile, called in to back up United? . . .

I and Tom Larke Jr. of Fairfax have proposed for years that both companies should be on the county's emergency contract, so as to put more ambulances and crews on the line, to better serve the county. Are we going back to more ambulance delays like it was five years ago?

The one ambulance company contract simply doesn't work. We need both companies on the line. Marin County is too big in population now.

I suggest the county administrator review the present contract and concept.

Hilarita Opposition Called Small But Loud

Not as any surprise to me, the Tiburon City Council gave the Hilarita Housing Project the green light . . .

Ellis Kaplan (Kaplan and McLaughlin), architect for the project, has during the last several months provided the council and city staff with a most excellently prepared study of plans and revisions of the Hilarita Project. Kaplan, as well as the Tiburon Ecumenical Association, have showed perseverance and intelligent foresight in maintaining their fight for this particular low-income housing project . . .

. . .The project has been constantly plagued by small but loud opposition, mainly in the form of Rolling Hills residents. (Rolling Hills Drive is directly bordering Hilarita, above the project, looking down.) These few residents stubbornly refuse to accept what the greater part of the Tiburon population decided they need — a modern low-income housing project where ailing World War II houses now stand.

As a result of this petty bickering and flagrant ignorance, the Hilarita Project is being held up. Aside from the obvious result, the project having to lay dormant, the people of Tiburon suffer tax losses . . .

Besides this, every day the project is held up it suffers the extras of the rising costs of construction, etc. This could be as much as seven per cent per year, or $240,000 annually.

Why don't these irate Rolling Hills residents consider this, among other things? I think a good part of their opposition is based on their personal predjudices . . .

Pitfalls May Lurk Within 'Shield Laws'

I cannot help but feel apprehensive about the news media and their insistence upon immunity from court action regarding news sources. This is an attempt to use legislative means to qualify the First Amendment and may eventually be cause for regret.

For one, great possibility exists that the media's demands will result in high court determination of a contradiction: the rights of a free press as opposed to the rights of the people to have a free press. Trouble could lie in the difference. The catch-phrase "the people have a right to know" is not stated, but merely implied, and a danger is real in any legal rulings upon if and what the people have a right to know.

A qualification in the Bill of Rights for media protection is a singular exception for a special commercialized group. Undoubtedly, it will be challenged for the similar protection of other groups. For the protection of all, it could cause a broadening of the laws of libel to include violations of the rights of privacy and the use of names without specific permission. . .

There are many pitfalls in this Pandora's box. The media should reason carefully before opening.

"How can I communicate with him? The shape our budget is in, I can't afford to hire an interperter."

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

These days we hear a lot about the "work ethic," which is a fancy term dreamed up to make us feel better about having to participate in it.

Hard work is what made this country great. Too bad it turned out to be so habit-forming.

Folks used to work harder in the old days because most of 'em lived on a farm, where there wasn't anything else to do.

When people moved to the city, hard work meant wrapping farm products in cellophane and selling them to each other at inflated prices.

THAT ENGLISH EXAM

Complete Test Gives More Accurate Picture

Parents of several Sir Francis Drake High School students have complained to the Tamalpais High School District board about a final term examination in freshman English given at the school.

The complaints arose principally over the first of six sections of the examination. This consisted of a purported letter to someone named John from a girl named Rachel (signed "peace, love, and organic crap, Rachel"). It described what happened at a teen-age party after John left, the "high point" being "fornication in the nine-year-old's room" beneath "a picture of Bobby Sherman with lip prints on it."

Students were asked to answer three questions: "Why is the speaker (sic) writing this letter?" "What kind of person is Rachel?" "How much do you know about John?"

THE EXAMINATION consisted of six parts. To give a truer picture of the type of examination, and indication of the type of English instruction, we devote this space today to a resume of the succeeding five parts.

Part Two consisted of a list of 10 statements, with instructions: "Underline the statements given below which are NOT controversial statements. Explain why you think they are not."

The statements, as printed on the examination paper, were:

"1. Rick Demott (sic) is the real winner of the race he competed in, no matter what drug he took.

"2. The sky is blue today.

"3. The U.S. should never have gotten into the war in Vietnam.

"4. No one has the right to tell anyone else what to drink or smoke.

"5. Buddhism is the only true faith.

"6. I think school stinks!

"7. Television is a waste of time.

"8. Some girls don't get along with girls as well as others do.

"9. Three is my lucky number.

"10. 'We are on the threshold of a new era of peace.' "

PART THREE was as follows:

"Choose one scene from either of the films you saw in the theater this term (Gunga Din, The African Queen) which you think had really important non-verbal langage — aids to communication — in it. Describe that scene, describing the gestures or facial expressions or body movement which made it so memorable. Make it clear why the non-verbal language was important to the scene."

PART FOUR consisted of a dialogue entitled "Love Story." Instructions to the students read:

"Add information to the following dialogue after reading it carefully. Add information so that the nature of the two speakers is clear. Include movement, facial expression, voice expression."

The dialogue opens as follows:

"Alan: Sarah, is that really you?

"Sarah: Alan darling, how have you been? I haven't seen you in ages.

"Alan: Oh, Sarah. I have been living so long without you. Why didn't you come back?

"Sarah: I'm sorry Alan. We moved from the country into that big mucky city.

"Alan: Sarah, I have missed you (sic) tender lips, your soothing eyes. The touch of you just sends chills up my spine. Oh, Sarah, tell me that you love me."

She tells him that she loves him, and the dialogue proceeds through a few more exchanges to a proposal of marriage, which Sarah accepts. It winds up as follows:

"Alan: Sarah, you are so sexy. I can't believe it. Walk with me to the ocean where we can breathe fresh air.

"Sarah: No Alan.

"Alan: What?

"Sarah: Not in Los Angeles. You don't breathe fresh air. You breathe smog, Alan.

"Alan: That's right. Listen, we can go to Reno and get a quicky marriage and live together forever. Waiter, may I have the check, please? Thank you."

PART FIVE instructs the reader to fill in dialogue "so that the scene becomes understandable and believable" following an introductory paragraph which reads:

"The sun streams into the window, showing the dusty floor and shabby upholstery of the small, cluttered, cheerful room. ——— walks slowly in, looks around, sits down. After picking up a magazine, (s)he leafs through it, and tosses it aside. ——— enters quietly, closing the door behind him/her softly. A minute passes."

This is followed by blanks to be filled in with names of those participating in the dialogue, after each of which is a parenthetical explanation of how the person is supposed to be speaking:

"——— (quietly):

"(putting hands on hips, walking to piano bench and sitting down)

"——— (louder):

"(standing up and facing the other speaker)

"——— (reasonably and calmly, extending hands to sides, palms up)!"

There are 13 of these, of which the last reads:

"——— opens door and walks out, leaving the door open. ——— looks after her/him, an expression of pain on his/her face. He/She stands there for a minute, then sits, resting his/her head on both hands."

PART SIX consisted of a selection called "The Apostate," by George Milburn, a monologue in which one man is telling another why he is quitting the Rotary Club. The selection, slightly over 400 words long, winds up as follows:

"Now, Harry, I always felt like a father has got certain responsibilities to his son. That's just good Rotary. That's all there is to it. You know that that's just good Rotary yourself, Harry. Well, I always wanted Hubert to think about me just like I was a pal to him, or say an older brother maybe. Hubert always knew that all he had to do was come to me, and I would act like a big buddy to him, irregardless.

"Well, like I was telling you, Harry, I started Hubert in to the university two years ago, and after he had been there about two months, I thought I would run down and see how he was getting along and go to a football game. So I and Mrs. T. drove over one Friday. We didn't know the town very well, so we stopped at a filling station, and I give Hubert a ring, and he come right on down to where we was to show us the way. Just as soon as he come up, I could see right then he had something on his mind bothering him.

"He called me aside and took me into the filling station restroom, and says: 'For the love of God, Dad, take that Rotary button out of your coat lapel,' he says to me."

A FOOTNOTE explains that an apostate is "one who has forsakes his faith, or party, a renegade," and that Rotary is "local club affiliated with the International association of Rotary Clubs, composed of business and professional men meeting regularly to promote good fellowship, and improve business and civic conditions."

The student is asked to answer the following questions about the selection:

"1. Where do you think the speaker, Hubert T., and Harry are?

"2. Why is Mr. T. saying all this to Harry? Would he say it to anyone else? Why or why not?

"3. What might Harry have said in the course of the story?

"4. What kind of person is the speaker? How can you tell?

"5. What kind of person is Harry, the listener? How can you tell?

"6. What kind of writing is this? (What is it called?)"

THE COPY of the examination we obtained was one turned in by a student and returned to him, with the teacher's markings.

The student had made numerous grammatical and spelling errors. None of these was corrected or marked in any way by the teacher.

Juvenile Crime 'Solution' Doubtful

The handling of juvenile offenders in California (as in most, if not all, other states) certainly needs improvement. But the reorganization proposed this week by Earl Brian, California secretary of health and welfare, and state Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, may not be a solution.

The Brian-Biddle proposal would do away with separate Youth Authority and Adult Authority, creating a single California Parole Authority. So far, so good.

It would merge the separate agencies now dealing with criminals and their care into a new Department of Correctional Services. Again, this makes sense.

BUT IT ALSO would turn over the handling of juvenile offenders entirely to the counties. The Youth Authority would be out of the picture. This would mean each county would have to provide its own facilities for incarcerating juvenile offenders now put in state custody — or turn them loose on the streets.

Obviously, this would put a tremendous new burden on the counties. To make it palatable to county officials, the Brian-Biddle reorganization plan includes a "revenue sharing" arrangement under which the state would subsidize county juvenile facilities.

THIS IS THE SAME approach that was taken several years ago with adult offenders. Counties agreeing to provide more supervised probation services and to handle more felons at the county level are given state subsidies.

The subsidies cost the state less than keeping felons in prison. The state saves a great deal of money. Prison populations have been decreased to where the state is busy closing its penal institutions.

Crime, however, has not decreased. Quite the contrary! We just have more criminals on probation and fewer behind bars.

As to whether these probationers are sufficiently supervised to keep them from further crime, to "rehabilitate" them — well, the number of repeaters indicates otherwise.

THE SAME THING, it seems to us, is likely to happen with juvenile offenders under the Brian-Biddle proposal.

In promoting the plan, its authors cited a study which showed that in 15 months after release, only 32 per cent of juvenile offenders handled locally were in trouble again, compared to 52 per cent of those who had been sent to the Youth Authority.

Such a comparison is ridiculous. Only those juveniles with long records of misbehavior or who commit capital crimes are sent to the Youth Authority. It gets the worst of the 32 per cent of local repeaters. Those who just made one or two missteps never reach CYA — and they are, of course, the least likely to get in trouble again.

THE HANDLING of juvenile offenders needs reform. It does not need to be swept under the rug.

The adult crime problem was swept under the rug by the state's persuading the counties to take on the problem in return for a subsidy handout. Let's not do the same with the juvenile crime problem.

HERE ARE SOME highlights:

-72 per cent of the registered student voters in California went to the polls (nationally, the 18-24 vote turnout was 48 per cent).

-statewide, the students registered Democratic three-to-one.

-with few exceptions, students also voted Democratic in congressional and legislative races (on most surveyed campuses, Nixon fred better than other Republican candidates).

-the "Declined to State" registration among students was almost twice as high as it was among all registered voters.

Party registration in the campus precincts divided about the same at the UC, CSUC and private schools;

UC: Dem. — 67 per cent; Rep. — 18 per cent; Dec.-to-State — 12 per cent.

CSUC: D — 61 per cent; R — 25; DtS — 10.

Pvt: D — 63 per cent; R — 22; DtS — 13.

THE STUDENT VOTE had little impact on California's presidential election but it did have significant impact on several legislative races.

Three freshmen Democratic assemblymen probably owe their victories to the student vote.

Barry Keene, Santa Rosa, won in the north coastal Second District. Keene got 78 per cent of the vote at Humboldt State College, just about enough to give him his 3,000-vote margin over Republican Lawrence G. Antolini.

Lawrence Kapiloff, San Diego, defeated long-time Assemblyman Dick Barnes by fewer than 3,000 votes. Kapiloff got 77 per cent of the student vote at San Diego State.

Walter Ingalls, Riverside, won the Assembly seat vacated by Republican State Sen. Craig Biddle. Ingalls received a district-wide total of 53 per cent, but 85 per cent of the students at UC Riverside voted for him.

THREE OTHER Republican legislators narrowly won re-election despite the strong student vote in their districts.

Sen. Robert Stevens, Santa Monica, defeated Katherine O'Neill by 3,000 votes even though Miss O'Neill took 82 per cent of the vote at UCLA.

Assemblyman Ray Johnson, Chico, squeezed through by 700 votes; 70 per cent of the students at Chico State and 80 per cent of the students at UC Davis voted against him.

In Santa Barbara, young Democrat Gary Hart almost defeated Assemblyman Don MacGillivray. Hart received 96 per cent of the student vote at UC Santa Barbara. In Isla Vista, the student community for UCSB, Democrats outregistered Republicans 8-1.

All nine UC campuses went for legalized marijuana (Proposition 19) by at least 70 per cent. Nine of the 12 CSUC schools surveyed voted 70 per cent or more for pot.

THE EXAMINATION consisted of six parts. To give a truer picture of the type of examination, and indication of the type of English instruction, we devote this space today to a resume of the succeeding five parts.

"Alan: Oh, Sarah. I have been living so long without you. Why didn't you come back?

"Sarah: I'm sorry Alan. We moved from the country into that big mucky city.

"Alan: Sarah, I have missed you (sic) tender lips, your soothing eyes. The touch of you just sends chills up my spine. Oh, Sarah, tell me that you love me."

She tells him that she loves him, and the dialogue proceeds through a few more exchanges to a proposal of marriage, which Sarah accepts. It winds up as follows:

"Alan: Sarah, you are so sexy. I can't believe it. Walk with me to the ocean where we can breathe fresh air.

"Sarah: No Alan.

"Alan: What?

"Sarah: Not in Los Angeles. You don't breathe fresh air. You breathe smog, Alan.

"Alan: That's right. Listen, we can go to Reno and get a quicky marriage and live together forever. Waiter, may I have the check, please? Thank you."

PART FIVE instructs the reader to fill in dialogue "so that the scene becomes understandable and believable" following an introductory paragraph which reads:

"The sun streams into the window, showing the dusty floor and shabby upholstery of the small, cluttered, cheerful room. —— walks slowly in, looks around, sits down. After picking up a magazine, (s)he leafs through it, and tosses it aside. —— enters quietly, closing the door behind him/her softly. A minute passes."

This is followed by blanks to be filled in with names of those participating in the dialogue, after each of which is a parenthetical explanation of how the person is supposed to be speaking:

"—— (quietly):

"(putting hands on hips, walking to piano bench and sitting down)

"—— (louder):

"(standing up and facing the other speaker)

"—— (reasonably and calmly, extending hands to sides, palms up)!"

There are 13 of these, of which the last reads:

"—— opens door and walks out, leaving the door open. —— looks after her/him, an expression of pain on his/her face. He/She stands there for a minute, then sits, resting his/her head on both hands."

PART SIX consisted of a selection called "The Apostate," by George Milburn, a monologue in which one man is telling another why he is quitting the Rotary Club. The selection, slightly over 400 words long, winds up as follows:

"Now, Harry, I always felt like a father has got certain responsibilities to his son. That's just good Rotary. That's all there is to it. You know that that's just good Rotary yourself, Harry. Well, I always wanted Hubert to think about me just like I was a pal to him, or say an older brother maybe. Hubert always knew that all he had to do was come to me, and I would act like a big buddy to him, irregardless.

"Well, like I was telling you, Harry, I started Hubert in to the university two years ago, and after he had been there about two months, I thought I would run down and see how he was getting along and go to a football game. So I and Mrs. T. drove over one Friday. We didn't know the town very well, so we stopped at a filling station, and I give Hubert a ring, and he come right on down to where we was to show us the way. Just as soon as he come up, I could see right then he had something on his mind bothering him.

"He called me aside and took me into the filling station restroom, and says: 'For the love of God, Dad, take that Rotary button out of your coat lapel,' he says to me."

A FOOTNOTE explains that an apostate is "one who has forsakes his faith, or party, a renegade," and that Rotary is "local club affiliated with the International association of Rotary Clubs, composed of business and professional men meeting regularly to promote good fellowship, and improve business and civic conditions."

The student is asked to answer the following questions about the selection:

"1. Where do you think the speaker, Hubert T., and Harry are?

"2. Why is Mr. T. saying all this to Harry? Would he say it to anyone else? Why or why not?

"3. What might Harry have said in the course of the story?

"4. What kind of person is the speaker? How can you tell?

"5. What kind of person is Harry, the listener? How can you tell?

"6. What kind of writing is this? (What is it called?)"

THE COPY of the examination we obtained was one turned in by a student and returned to him, with the teacher's markings.

The student had made numerous grammatical and spelling errors. None of these was corrected or marked in any way by the teacher.

Answer To Parent's Question About Grammar Pretty Obvious

That controversial English test at Sir Francis Drake High School has drawn fire from another quarter.

A mother who said she's no bluenose, but is concerned that her teen-agers learn proper use of English, called the other day. She declared that regardless of whether the test is pornographic, it's full of grammatical errors.

THE TEST is in several sections. The much-criticized, earthy letter is followed by a section asking the student to declare whether each of a series of statements is controversial.

One example she cited from her son's copy of the test:

"Rick DeMont is the real winner of the races he competed in."

Her comment: "I'm constantly correcting my children when they end a sentence with a preposition. Aren't they teaching grammar any more?"

Obviously not, ma'am. They're much more worried about the emotional content of the communication than whether it's passable English.

THE POLITICAL PLUMAGE of John Q. Citizen is certainly the strangest set of feathers you'll ever see. It burst into full brilliance in February and March, when it's time for school district, city and some local district elections.

It's fairly easy to understand why there's a crowded field of nine candidates for the three seats opening up in the Tamalpais High School District. Every citizen's attention of late has been focused on the great Hawkins Flap, although most of the candidates claim they sort of wish it wouldn't become a campaign issue.

And in Novato, where the district finances are still tighter than Aunt Minnie's corset, it's possible to conceive why the three outgoing incumbents decided not to run, and eight newcomers clamored to take their places.

Even in Dixie, where one incumbent and six newcomers are competing, there's some pressure from the fact that much of Dixie's territory was annexed to the city of San Rafael this year.

But what about Bolinas-Stinson School District, where one incumbent and six newcomers filed for three seats, and three others filed for a short term? Few echoes of any political strife in the school have crept around the soggy flanks of Mount Tamalpais. Apparently, the race there reflects a surge of old-fashioned civic mindedness.

THAT WAS A MIGHTY little bat in the Petaluma Library Monday night. Everybody ran for home. An omen for the baseball season?

Only One Park Site Given Nod

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission has decided that two potential park sites in the town have limited merit, but recommends the town's planning commission seriously consider a third, next to the town dock on Lucky Drive.

Commission secretary Nancy Urbani said the 1.3-acre site near the dock was considered to have "great potential for recreational use because it could have good boating access."

Commissioners recommended at Wednesday's meeting that the planning commission consider leasing the land, which is up for sale.

The two other sites on the east side of town found less favor.

A parcel at 5604 Paradise Drive, slated for high density development, had been suggested as a mini-park by the Marin Estates Homeowners Association. Mrs. Urbani said the commission agreed it was suitable for park use, but considered it should have a low priority due to limitations of size, location, and limited water access.

A much larger parcel of land, east of Mariner Cove and north of Paradise Drive, bounded on the east by the Marin Country Day School, had been suggested by the community services subcommittee of the general plan study committee.

Mrs. Urbani said the commission thinks only a certain percentage of the parcel could be adapted for park use since much of it's marshland.

In addition, said Mrs. Urbani, commissioners said water access would be restricted through tidal conditions, and the Bay Conservation and Development Council has stated that one of the last remaining marshes in the community ought to be kept as open space.

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission also:

TREES — Decided to tell the community appearance subcommittee than an experimental program to plant trees on the graded hillsides east of 101 would be a good idea, but the individual trees should each be surrounded by soil-retaining bushes too.

BASEBALL — Agreed to help the Twin Cities Little League upgrade the baseball diamond in town park by providing top soil; refused to lower insurance requirements for Little League use, although Charles Newman and Donald Fillpot said it will cost $61 more in insurance premiums to meet town standards.

DOG SHOW — Refused an application from the St. Francis Animal Protection Society for permission to use the town park once a month to display dogs that need homes.

College To Seek Redevelopment Pact With City

The Marin Community College District Board has voted unanimously to ask the City of San Rafael to negotiate a return of district revenues which could be lost under that city's redevelopment project.

District President John A. Grasham said trustees directed him Wednesday to write to San Rafael, reiterating the district's opposition to redevelopment, which would freeze the district tax rate until redevelopment bonds were paid off.

The college district hasn't withdrawn its suit against redevelopment, said Grasham, although yesterday county supervisors tentatively agreed to withdraw county suits.

'Agreement' On Redevelopment Might Inhibit Sale Of Bonds

The supervisors' agreement to drop redevelopment court suits occupied the place of prominence on the front page of the I-J Wednesday, so let's muse a bit over the picture presented.

First there was an old law, that I haven't heard has been repealed, that one board of supervisors may not bind any future board with agreements or similar action. I imagine the same reasoning applies to city councils as well. Therefore I wonder just how much weight this shadow boxing really has?

With this in mind it would appear that any purchaser of bonds that might be offered by San Rafael for redevelopment would want all possible clouds removed before he would lay the coin on the line. It would be interesting to have some research performed at this point.

I have been wondering whether or not the people on Fourth Street who were around during 1952 and the years immediately after, and who were so determined to get the courthouse out of its historic spot on the main drag (the only reason San Rafael became the main shopping center) ever squirm in their sleep and kick the covers off? They were big "narsty talkin' guys" them days.

ONE OF THE FRONT page lead stories in last Friday's I-J was loaded chock-a-block with examples of Brasilia bureaucracy. I hope I can sort them out; for they sure show up results of throne room abdication.

"Continued development of. . .the fair site at Civic Center again looms as a major. . .contentionin the. . .capital projects for 1973-74." The fair officials want rapid development —$960,000; the administrator only wants to spend $250,000 a year. The annual capital improvements proram will be reviewed by the planning commission, then on March 13 by the supervisors.

There's your old Parkinson Law at work. And excuse the pun: making work. The parks and recreation folks were assigned ground maintenance a year or so ago. They are the ones, next to the fair management, most concerned.

The grand manner, you know, requires plenty of fanfare. So it takes the fair people — the administrator —the planning commission and the supes. It would never be fancy enough for the supes to set up a committee to sit in with the fair crowd and the parks staff. That might tarnish the throne.

THIS SEEMS TO BE lost sight of: If it hadn't been for the annual fair we started and carried on for those many years, there would have been no state money piling up to buy some 85 acres out there in the first place. They should be taken care of now, or all that thrust which has been built up will be lost.

You probably noticed that the planning commission is so very, very happy that it is to be the court of last resort on the major appeals from the staff rulings. And is the staff happy? The commission eats right out of its hand. I think le Baptiste will be sorry he pushed that little deal through like he did. For those who came in late, he is the chairman of the board of supervisors.

Mail Probe Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the House postal service subcommittee will open hearings March 14 to try to find out why mail service appears to be deteriorating in spite of reorganization of the Postal Service.

Antirabies Shots Being Given To Three Persons

Three unidentified persons are undergoing painful antirabies treatment as a result of Marin County's latest rabid animal incident — part of a countywide upsurge of the dreaded disease.

Names of the persons undergoing the treatment were withheld by the public health department on advice of the county counsel's office, which said to release them could violate doctor-patient confidentiality.

According to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, the three persons came into contact last week with the saliva and excrement of a rabid cow at the W. V. Lafranchi ranch north of Nicasio.

While rabies is usually transmitted through a bite from the infected animal, Dr. Albrecht said it can be contacted through cuts and scratches if in contact with the animal's saliva or excrement.

In the latest case, she said, the three persons were not actually bitten by the cow but are undergoing antirabies injections as a safeguard against having picked up the disease through cuts and scratches on the hands and arms.

The names were withheld, Dr. Albrecht said, because she is acting as a consultant to doctors treating the three.

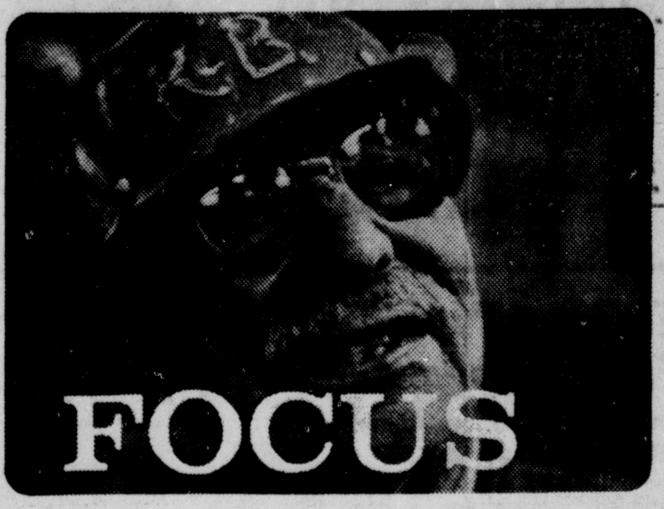
So far this month, four rabid animals have been identified in widely separated sections of the county. Only one had been previously reported, however.

In that case, a skunk was seen staggering out of a barn in the Hicks Valley area of northern Marin. It was killed and later determined to have been rabid. No threat to a human was reported.

On Feb. 7, a skunk was killed in the upper Fawn Drive area of Sleepy Hollow and following laboratory tests was listed as rabid. Its only contact was with a previously vaccinated dog.

On Feb. 11, another skunk was killed in the Point Reyes Station area and was later determined to be carrying rabies. It possibly had contact with a previously vaccinated dog, Dr. Albrecht said.

During the last five months, she said, 12 rabid animals have been found in Marin. Prior to that, no rabid animal was reported for a two-year period — the last being a rabid skunk found in Novato on July 21, 1970.



Newsword Adventure

"Hard hats" are worn as a safety precaution by members of many occupations. The hard hat dates back many years. In 1586, Roman workers who were erecting the Egyptian obelisk in front of St. Peter's Cathedral were ordered to wear battle helmets to protect themselves from falling objects. Welsh miners devised their own protective head covering in the 19th Century by stiffening derbies with shellac. Today escaping death or injury by wearing a hard hat entitles a worker to become a member of the honorary "Turtle Club." In recent years, the word "hard hat" has become a nickname for a construction worker.

"Hard hats" are worn as a safety precaution by members of many occupations. The hard hat dates back many years. In 1586, Roman workers who were erecting the Egyptian obelisk in front of St. Peter's Cathedral were ordered to wear battle helmets to protect themselves from falling objects. Welsh miners devised their own protective head covering in the 19th Century by stiffening derbies with shellac. Today escaping death or injury by wearing a hard hat entitles a worker to become a member of the honorary "Turtle Club." In recent years, the word "hard hat" has become a nickname for a construction worker.

DO YOU KNOW — What are "white collar" workers?

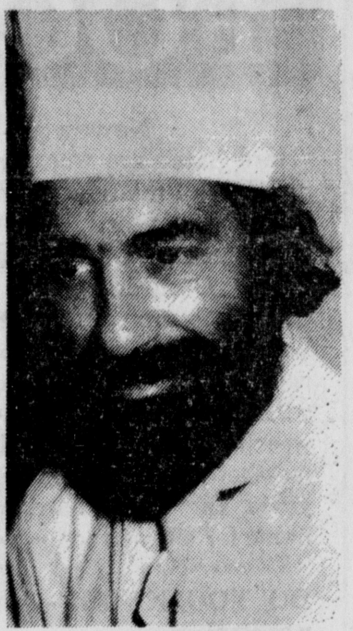
DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

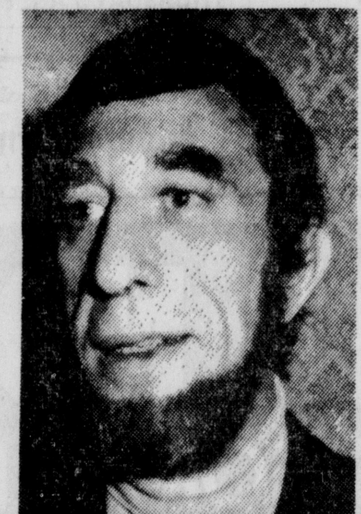
El Greco Is Attracting Diners From Throughout The Bay Area

In the fresh bloom of a successful opening, there's a strong inclination to predict continued success for a new restaurant — even though such an optimistic outlook may not always be supported by all the facts.

It does seem to me, however, that there is one new Marin dinery which should definitely make the grade. If for any reason it should not, then I have misread all the signs. And in this case it may not be the Marinites themselves who can take all the credit for making it go. They will have to share it with diners-out from various other areas, for this is a specialty house, and quite a good one — and that makes it common property.



JOSE ANTONIO PONS
At new El Greco



JAIME DIEZ-PICHARDO

I have reference to the recently opened Spanish restaurant known as El Greco at 85 Red Hill Avenue in San Anselmo.

In some respects it is almost too good to be true. It is only natural that Spanish speaking people would be among the first to become aware of its attractions, for owners Jaime Diez-Pichardo and Jose Antonio Pons definitely have many friends in the Bay Area who would certainly want to discover just what their countrymen are up to.

After almost a month of this preliminary inspection it appears they have given their stamp of approval, for they are still coming in and bringing others along with them. You'll find them from the East Bay and as far south as San Jose.

In recent years, Spain has been a target location in many a traveler's European itinerary, and not a few have come back with a strong liking for the country, its people and food. If this applies to you, there is every good reason for you to visit El Greco and refresh your memories right here at home. If it doesn't, then it's certainly a splendid spot for a trial run before you make the trip.

Don't misunderstand — you don't need a knowledge of Spanish to appreciate Jose's excellent chilled gazpacho soup of southern Spain, the tantalizing sauce of his sauteed prawns (gambas al ajillo), the paella marinera or zarzuela mariscos or the fine Marques de Rescal wine, any more than you must be a Frenchman to do justice to say Alfred Roblin's grenadin de veau gentilhomme at Ondine. Truly a talented chef is Jose, and good food is the same in any language.

Take your time eating it — this is a place to dine leisurely, listen to the flamenco guitar playing in the background — and enjoy the surroundings in a relaxed frame of mind.

AMENDING OUR RECENT Dining and Wining Guide write-up on the Boat Dock in Sausalito, this establishment is now serving both lunches and dinners seven days a week.

Lunch specials, roast beef, stuffed bell peppers and calarmari at $1.95. A la carte dinner entrees served from 5:30 to 9 p.m. include seafoods and steaks and are priced in the $2.95-$6.95 range.

Considerable remodeling has been undertaken and the lower deck patio will be open for lunches and brunches by the end of this month — weather permitting.

CHEF ERIC BENSON, whose culinary talents for several years have been a credit to many a Marin restaurant, is leaving the county for the Mendocino coast.

He owns two acres near Anchor Bay and plans to open a delicatessen in that community, to be known as Eric's Delicatessen. With him in the operation will be his wife Viola and sons Lars and Leif. The date set for his opening is March 10.

This won't be a restaurant, so there are no tables — but you can count on getting good food and taking it with you. There will be some hot dishes, I believe.

DID I MENTION BEFORE that Ethel Barrie now has stocked that Wan Fu wine at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate? It's specially blended to go with Chinese food. You should like it.

IN GERMANY, Rhine wines traditionally come in brown bottles and the Moselles in dark green bottles. But here in California our Rhine-type wines may or may not (usually not) be in brown bottles.

CORRECTIONAL WORK on the kitchen recently damaged by fire at El Rebozo, the popular Mexican restaurant at the Fireside Motel on Highway 1 in Southern Marin, has been completed and a reopening of the restaurant has been planned for tomorrow. While they were at it, Francisca Uanua and Maria Vasquez also had the cocina enlarged.

As before, El Rebozo will serve lunches and dinners daily except on Wednesdays from noon to 11 p.m.

A GREAT PLACE for lunch is Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia. You'll find people from the Civic Center eating there all the time. If the weather is right, eat outside on the terrace. On the menu are some excellent omelets, hot and cold sandwiches and also everday chef Pierre Giavina prepares two specials.

Or make it there some Sunday for brunch and order one of Raymond Coscarat's special gin fizzes.

Speaking of successful restaurant operations, this is one place that definitely has made good — no question. Raymond and wife Eugenie will celebrate their 11th year in business here tomorrow.

HANGTOWN FRY is a famous old California dish. You'll find it on the menu at San Rafael Joe's. I remember ordering it there once and it was terrific — and filling.

It is reported to have originated with a cook known as Hangtown Nick, who lived for a time in the Mother Lode during the gold rush days. (Hangtown is now known as Placerville). He cooked up a combination of fried oysters, with scrambled eggs on top and bacon on the side. Eventually he migrated to San Francisco and took his recipe along with him and it was there the dish got the name of Hangtown Fry.

Order it with a bottle of chablis (or champagne) and you've got yourself a meal.

MARCH 1 IS THE TIME for many seasonal openings in Sonoma County.

In the Valley of the Moon, Golden Bear Lodge at Kenwood has opened and will serve dinners from now through Thanksgiving. (Usually closed on Thursdays).

In the Russian River area, Angelo's Resort and Restaurant at Monte Rio is now serving dinners on Saturdays and Sundays. Starting in May, Fridays will be added and on June 1 add Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Cazanoma Lodge at Cazadero is now serving dinners Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays and will boost that to five days a week on May 1, closing on Mondays and Tuesdays. Lunches will also be served on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays through the summer.

Mark West Lodge in Santa Rosa opened its season this week and is now serving dinners daily except Wednesdays.

The 4-H Club originated in Holmes County, Miss., in 1907 as a series of "corn clubs" for boys.

Protest Planned On Poverty Cuts

Marin Alternative members have voted unanimously to protest the Nixon administration's cuts in poverty programs.

An appeal will be sent to the President urging him to reconsider cuts in programs that benefit Marin, especially Head Start, Legal Aid Society of Marin, Neighborhood Youth Corps and Community Action Marin (EOC).

The organization's publicity chairman, William E. Rowen of San Rafael, also reported a special meeting will be held in about two weeks to adopt a position on whether any future growth should be encouraged in the county. The time and place will be announced.

TV Pros Wild About Prisoner Ad Spots

By PAT ANGLE

In the next several months, Bay Area television viewers will be seeing an unusual series of public service announcements aimed at discouraging drug abuse and finding jobs for paroled prisoners.

What makes the TV spots unusual is the fact the speakers are all convicts at San Quentin Prison, reaching the public airwaves from behind the walls.

"As far as I know, this is the first time this kind of thing has ever been done in any state institution," said Lee De Bord, prison information officer. "We were skeptical at first," he admitted, "but I like the results."

About 40 different announcements were recorded last month at the prison as part of an inmate class in radio and television broadcasting. The course's teacher, Dr. Stuart Hyde, chairman of the broadcast communication arts department at California State University in San Francisco, conceived the project several months ago and obtained official approval.

Last week, representatives of area television stations gathered at the university to view the spots and were unanimously enthusiastic. All the broadcast representatives who attended the sessions indicated they would use some of the announcements on their stations.

"They're beautiful; they have to be a lot more effective than anything that's ever been on television," said Sonny L. Buxton, community affairs director for San Francisco's KGO-TV.

"The honesty of the people comes across and, let's face it, that's what's going to sell, said Ian Zellick, assistant to the general manager of KTVU-TV in Oakland. "They're very good; I think we'll want to use abut seven of them.

The announcements were prepared, written and presented by convicts in the class. Some are pleas for jobs for ex-cons and others are warnings to young people to stay away from the dope scene.

Some are serious. "Once you get the ex-con jacket, you don't shake it because neither the law or society is going to forgive or forget," one inmate said while talking about the dangers of drug use.

"Don't ask me if the high was worth my stay here — hell, no, it wasn't!" said another young convict bitterly.

' 'This is where my trip took me, behind the walls of San Quentin," warned a third. "While you're dropping your pills and smoking your weed, trip on that!" he added feelingly.

Others are humorous, like the spot in which two convicts are smoking what is supposed to be a marijuana cigarette. They inhale noisily, cough appropriately and chat while passing the reefer back and forth.

"This is a cool trip were on now," one man says dreamily, "where are we tripping at?" "San Quentin," hs companion replies. "San Quentin?" the first man screams in agonized fashion.

"These spots are not only worthwhile in showing the inmates in a different light than usual — as concerned human beings, but I think the men come across as real people giving real messages," De Bord said after viewing the announcements. "They're not some officious individuals sitting up there trying to tell people what to do about drugs. These guys know what they are talking about and it comes across."

Dr. Hyde, who convinced prison authorities to let him bring in remote sound trucks, cameras, cables and other equipment into the prison for the taping in mid-January, is elated at the apparent success of the venture.

"This is going to do a lot of good for the men, because they have a real need to feel they're helping people, that their lives aren't completely wasted," he said.

Hyde went on to say the taping provided excellent practical experience for his students who are accustomed to working solely with a hand-held video taping machine. For many in the class, it was their first chance to operate professional equipment, the sophisticated apparatus used in television work today.

Hyde first approached Warden Louis S. Nelson about the project several months ago. The warden approved the plan, with the proviso that all tapes be approved by him before they were made public.

De Bord said only two of the public service announcements were eliminated as unsuitable. One was a convict warning that 'If there's a pusher selling dope to my sister, the police better catch him before I do.' Another convict began his speech by "berating society for the way men are treated in prison," according to the information officer. "Those are the only two we took exception with."

Although none of the convict announcers was present when their work was shown to the television pros, one man who was there was Robert Fennelly, who had been a member of Hyde's broadcasting class until he was paroled last October.

"These spots weren't made with any delusions of grandeur," said Fennelly, who participated in planning for the project. "The convicts didn't think they were going to reach many people. But they were hoping that a few — particularly the younger kids — might listen to them and decide not to get involved in drugs. If a few will listen, that's very good."

Fire District's Personnel Commission Is Sworn In

The Novato Fire Protection District's newly appointed personnel commission was sworn into office Wednesday night at a meeting of the district board.

Board members and their terms are: Frank Perachiotti, chairman, December, 1975; Ed V. Grundstrom and Paul F. Poling, December, 1972; and M. E. (Babe) Silva and Agnes Kelly, December, 1974.

After the initial rotation, all terms will be for four years.

Silva was absent from the swearing in because of other commitments, according to Fire Chief Jack W. Kidder.

The board set next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. for a budget committee meeting to work on the 1973-74 budget and instructed Chief Kidder, who serves as personnel officer, to meet with the Novato Professional Firemen's Association on expected budget demands by firemen.

The board also authorized paying for fire science books and tuition at the College of Marin for nine firemen at a cost of $133.

Plan To Tighten Political Funds

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — People's Lobby disclosed details today of a sweeping ballot initiative for tighter controls on spending, collecting and accounting of money in state politics.

The measure would limit the amount a candidate could spend in seeking elective office and force him to disclose nearly all campaign contributions.

One provision would prohibit candidates from seeking or accepting contributions except durig a specified campaign period. And it would require elected officials to file annual reports of all their financial dealings.

The measure also aims at drawing the financial activities of lobbyists more into the open. It would assure public access to all campaign and lobbyist reporting records.

To enforce tte far-ranging law, a five-member appointed commission would be established.

"Our representative form of government is founded on a belief that those entrusted with the offices of government have nothing to fear from full public disclosure of their financial and business holdings," an introduction to the initiative declares, "provided those officials deal honestly and fairly with the people."

People's Lobby, which has been active in support of environmental initiatives including sponsoring the unsuccessful Prop. 9 last June, said they will attempt to collect enough signatures to qualify the measure for the June 1974 ballot.

The 10-page proposal, now being circulated around the Capitol in hopes of picking up legislative endorsements, is patterned closely after an initiative approved last year by the voters of Washington state.

People's Lobby said its measure will be as strong or stronger than any campaign law in the country.

Some provisions:

Anonymous donations would be limited to a total of $300 per campaign. Anymore than that would be turned over to the state general fund.

All contributions over five dollars would have to be reported, giving the donor's name and address. Currently, only sums of more than $500 have to be reported.

After each election, commercial advertisers would have to detail how much was paid for political ads and by whom.

The total amount a candidate could spend per election would be limited to $5,000, one year's salary of the office or 10 cents for every vote cast in the last election—whichever is largest.

That would mean a statewide candidate in the 1974 primary could spend $870,000. Presently, it is not uncommon for a major primary campaign to cost more than $1 million.

During legislative sessions, lobbyists would be required to submit weekly reports on their expenditures. Longer reports from lobbyists and their employers would be due every four months.

Lobbyists also would have to disclose if they are working for any type of bonus or commission that hinges upon their success at influencing legislation.

All legislators would be required to submit with any bill the names of persons who suggested or help draft it.

A five-member commission would be appointed by the governor to administer, investigate violations and enforce the law. At least two of the members would have to be women.

Also, the incumbents name would lose its automatic spot at the top of the ballot. Places would be determined by lottery.

The pay of petition circulators would be limited to 10 cents per signature on initiatives. Opponents could spend no more than five cents per voter to defeat a ballot proposition.

The measure additionally outlines what type of documents, in addition to campaign records, to be made available by law to the public.

Wallace Feels Vote Confidence

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George Wallace said Thursday he is well on the way to coping fully with his partial paralysis and feels that he could win "any election I run in."

Wallace made the comments shortly before he left Washington and the National Governors' Conference to return to the state capital.

"I feel like that any election I run in, I'll be able to win," said Wallace, 53, who was left confined to a wheelchair as a result of a shooting at Laurel, Md., last May 15.

Democrats Ready Fight For Robbins

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke could cast the tie-breaking vote in favor of a Republican effort to unseat Senator-elect Alan Robbins of North Hollywood, but Democrats predict the possibility is unlikely.

Robbins, a Democrat who won a special election Tuesday in the San Fernando Valley, is being challenged by the GOP on the grounds he has not lived in the district for the constitutionally required one year.

The seating of Robbins would give the Democrats a 20-19 margin with one vacancy. Currently, the Senate is split evenly, 19-19.

Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally of Los Angeles, Democratic caucus chairman, said Thursday that Reinecke, the GOP presiding officer of the Senate, could cast the tie-breaking vote if the Senate is deadlocked 19-19 on the question of seating Robbins.

But Dymally indicated he had received assurances from at least one Republican senator that he would not be present for the expected challenge of Robbins Monday. That would prevent a tie vote and insure that the 30-year-old attorney is seated, Dymally said.

Dymally and other Democratic leaders have warned that the challenge to Robbins could create a "dangerous precedent" which, if carried to its logical extreme could lead to the majority party refusilng to si members of the minority party.

Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco, Democratic floor leader, said the Republican challenge should be referred to "the committee on sour grapes."

Robbins defeated Republican Phillip Johnson, a San Fernando city councilman, in the heavily-financed special election to fill the seat of the late Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando.

County Plan Influence Limit Asked

The San Rafael Planning Commission has recommended that the city's general plan be used as a guideline for all planning within the city's "sphere of influence."

The proposed countywide general plan, according to the commission, "should pertain only to areas outside of the City of San Rafael's sphere of influence."

The resolution, passed unanimously Tuesday, adds fuel to the squabble between city and county over what areas properly lie within the planning functions of each entity.

"The city's plan will be much more detailed than the county's," according to Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner, who identified the city's sphere of influence as Upper Lucas Valley, Marinwood, Santa Venetia, Los Ranchitos and Bayside Acres.

The city council will consider the recommendation at 8 p.m. Monday.

Hotchner said he will also propose that citizens within the city's sphere of influence be included on the citizens advisory committee, which is currently studying the city's general plan.

Plan To Tighten Political Funds

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — People's Lobby disclosed details today of a sweeping ballot initiative for tighter controls on spending, collecting and accounting of money in state politics.

The measure would limit the amount a candidate could spend in seeking elective office and force him to disclose nearly all campaign contributions.

One provision would prohibit candidates from seeking or accepting contributions except durig a specified campaign period. And it would require elected officials to file annual reports of all their financial dealings.

The measure also aims at drawing the financial activities of lobbyists more into the open. It would assure public access to all campaign and lobbyist reporting records.

To enforce tte far-ranging law, a five-member appointed commission would be established.

"Our representative form of government is founded on a belief that those entrusted with the offices of government have nothing to fear from full public disclosure of their financial and business holdings," an introduction to the initiative declares, "provided those officials deal honestly and fairly with the people."

People's Lobby, which has been active in support of environmental initiatives including sponsoring the unsuccessful Prop. 9 last June, said they will attempt to collect enough signatures to qualify the measure for the June 1974 ballot.

The 10-page proposal, now being circulated around the Capitol in hopes of picking up legislative endorsements, is patterned closely after an initiative approved last year by the voters of Washington state.

People's Lobby said its measure will be as strong or stronger than any campaign law in the country.

Some provisions:

Anonymous donations would be limited to a total of $300 per campaign. Anymore than that would be turned over to the state general fund.

All contributions over five dollars would have to be reported, giving the donor's name and address. Currently, only sums of more than $500 have to be reported.

After each election, commercial advertisers would have to detail how much was paid for political ads and by whom.

The total amount a candidate could spend per election would be limited to $5,000, one year's salary of the office or 10 cents for every vote cast in the last election—whichever is largest.

That would mean a statewide candidate in the 1974 primary could spend $870,000. Presently, it is not uncommon for a major primary campaign to cost more than $1 million.

During legislative sessions, lobbyists would be required to submit weekly reports on their expenditures. Longer reports from lobbyists and their employers would be due every four months.

Lobbyists also would have to disclose if they are working for any type of bonus or commission that hinges upon their success at influencing legislation.

All legislators would be required to submit with any bill the names of persons who suggested or help draft it.

A five-member commission would be appointed by the governor to administer, investigate violations and enforce the law. At least two of the members would have to be women.

Also, the incumbents name would lose its automatic spot at the top of the ballot. Places would be determined by lottery.

The pay of petition circulators would be limited to 10 cents per signature on initiatives. Opponents could spend no more than five cents per voter to defeat a ballot proposition.

The measure additionally outlines what type of documents, in addition to campaign records, to be made available by law to the public.

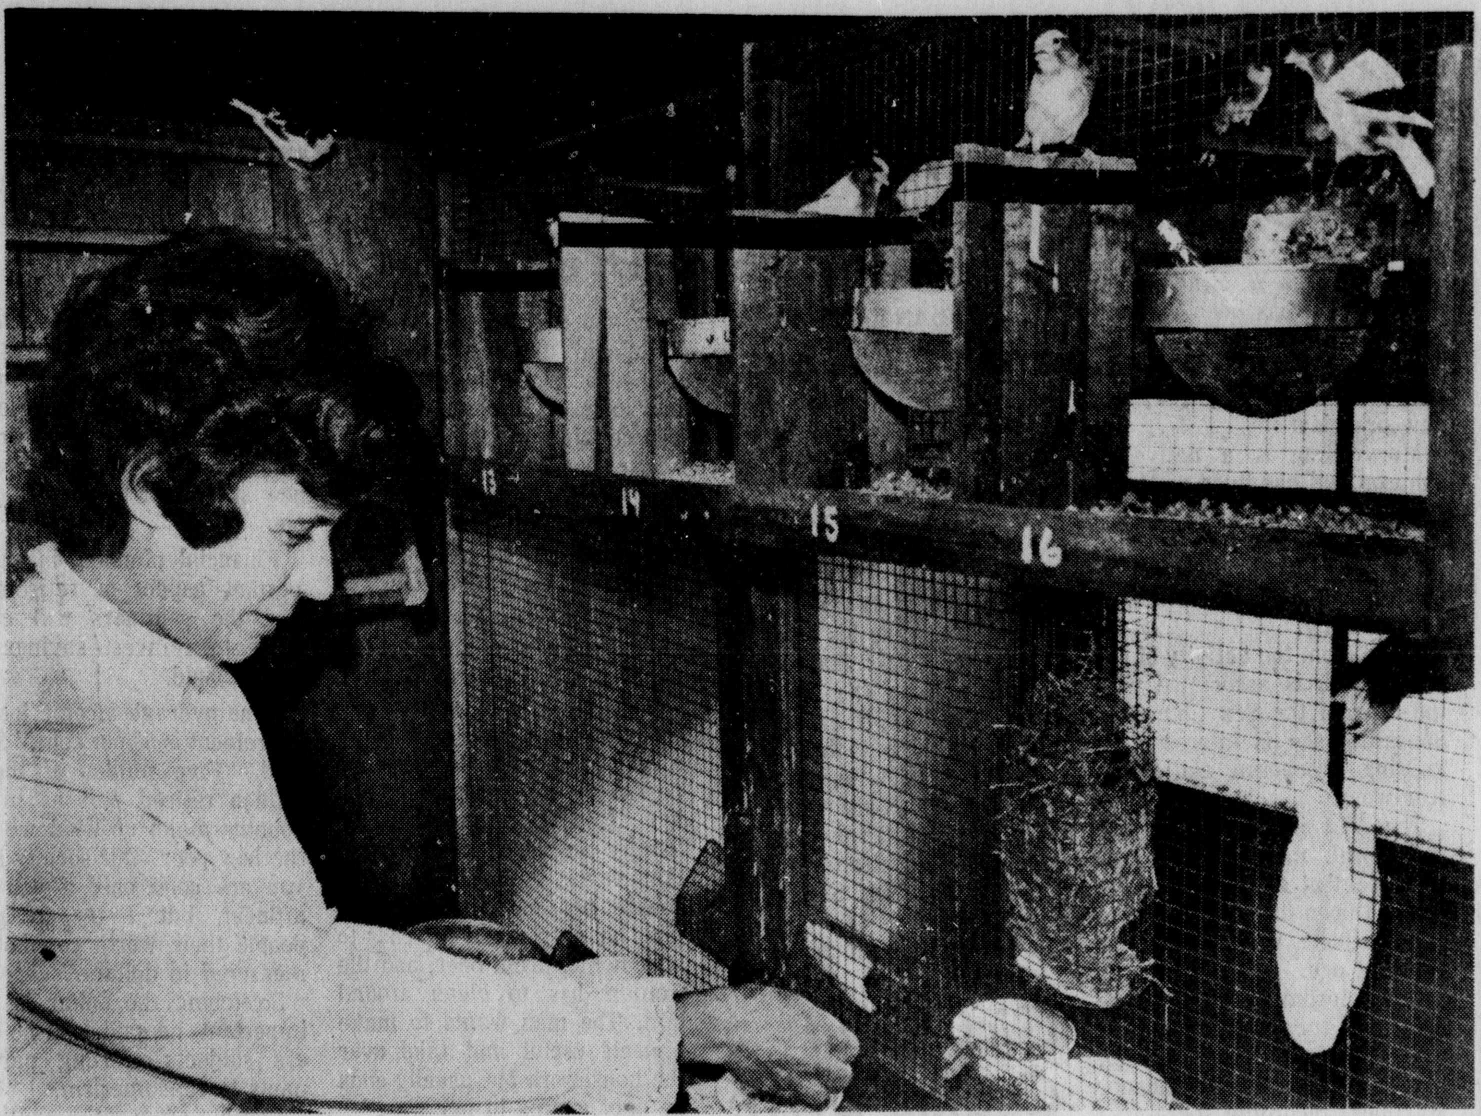
Marin Women



THREE AVIARIES house the canaries at the Patrick Dollard home in Novato, where Mrs. Dollard raises the rollers. The birds, which sing with their beaks closed, were brought to this country many years ago from Germany before canaries were banned from import. Here Mrs. Dollard feeds some of the birds.

TO NOVATO WOMAN

Canaries Sing A Lovely Song

By DOROTHY NEWELL

A Novato woman with a love and interest in roller canaries might aptly be termed the "Bird Woman of North Marin."

According to Mrs. Patrick Dollard, a demand for the canaries raised in the United States has increased as the birds cannot be imported from other countries because of fear of disease.

Marion Dollard has been fond of canaries since she was a teen-ager in her native San Francisco. Now in Novato she has had the rollers for the past five years.

"There is as much difference between the song of the roller and the ordinary chopper canary as between opera and jazz," Mrs. Dollard said.

In giving the history of the roller canaries she said that during the 1870s after canaries were first introduced into Europe by sailors returning from the Canary Islands, some of the brownish-green birds arrived in the Hartz Mountain district of Germany.

MRS. DOLLARD said she has been told they were first bred there solely for their song.

"Their great gift of mimicry was exploited to the full by the invention and use of ingenious contraptions operated by hand, using water and air to produce rolling, bell-like and water sounds which the birds quickly mimicked," she said. "The nightingale was also used as a tutor to impart its tender, plaintive notes."

The birds sing with beaks closed, causing the rolling way they sing. The males are the singers, she said.

Many of the roller canaries are still brownish-green, some are solid green, yellow, white or variegated. But they are prized mostly for their song.

At shows rollers sing individually and in quartets. For present judging such sounds are created as the hollow bell, hollow roll, bass, glucke roll, flutes and deep bubbling roll, said Mrs. Dollard, who belongs to the Oakland International Roller Club.

Mrs. Dollard feeds her birds roller mix seed, song and moulting food, depending on the needs of the birds; some greens such as romaine, slices of apple or orange and grits, given in a cup.

MANY HOURS are spent keeping records of the birds, their mating habits and the incubation period of the eggs. The birds hatch in two weeks. She said the canaries should always be kept out of drafts, and if proper care is given, rollers can live to be 15 years old.

Mrs. Dollard also has a parrot named Sebastian, who perches in the living room, and if he is approached properly and quietly, he will hold out his claw to shake hands.

A former Novato Garden Club member, who still enjoys gardening, Marion Dollard and her husband have two children. Sue, 16, enjoys horseback riding through the Novato hills with her mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Dollard and Sue also enjoy skiing. Their son Eric will return home in April from the Philippines where he has been serving in the Navy.

SEATED IN the living room with one of the caged, young canary rollers, Mrs. Dollard checks over some of the facts that must be posted to keep records on all the canaries she is raising. This canary, one-year-old, is a brilliant yellow, but the birds may also be green, white and the brownish green, which was their original color when the first birds were brought to Germany and bred solely for their singing.

Teaching A Child The Attack Skills

By DOLORES COOPER
(Fourth of five articles)

A child has to be taught the basic word attack skills. Yesterday we talked about how to structure test sheets for home use that follow the first important steps in the process of learning that a printed symbol on the paper represents a sound, and then, that combinations of these printed symbols make words.

To teach the alphabet letters your child does not know on Sheet 1: Print the alphabet, capitals and small letters, in order on a large piece of cardboard. Make the letters with a black felt tip pen, pressing down on it, so that your letters are not skinny or shaky. Say the alphabet with your child while pointing to the letters. Don't say A a, B b, — just say A, B, C, while pointing to the combination of capital and small letter.

FOR THE LETTERS your child missed: Have him first trace over the letters you made with his finger, then write the letter in the air, and finally, trace the letter on your hand with his finger while saying the letter name.

Try to start at the top when printing, not at the bottom at any time. If the youngster really has a block against learning some letters, use my touching exercises, making the letters from sandpaper or yarn, and gluing them on smooth cards so he can feel the shape on a textured surface.

Sing the alphabet song often to help your child remember the order of the letters. If you go to your public library, you can borrow a record with the song on it. It is valuable to show the letters while you sing the song.

FOR SHEETS 2 through 6, you can use the same basic games, changing the letters or words to fit your error sheet. For instance, if we want to play Bingo to correct errors on Sheet 4, which teaches blends and digraphs, we'd take a piece of cardboard about 6 inches by 8 inches and draw five squares going across and five squares going down.

Leave the center square for the "free" space and in the other spaces print the blends your child missed, plus enough blends to fill in all the other spaces. Then you call a word for each blend.

When you say "glass" your child should cover the "gl" blend. If your youngster is old enough, let him be the "teacher" sometimes, but you will have to supply him with the list of words to call.

You can play Bingo with the letters on Sheets 2 and 3, too. Just tell your child to listen for the beginning sound of the words or the end sounds of the words you are going to call. On the card, print simple words to fit your needs. Do one skill at a time, though, and see that one gap is filled in before you move on to the next one.

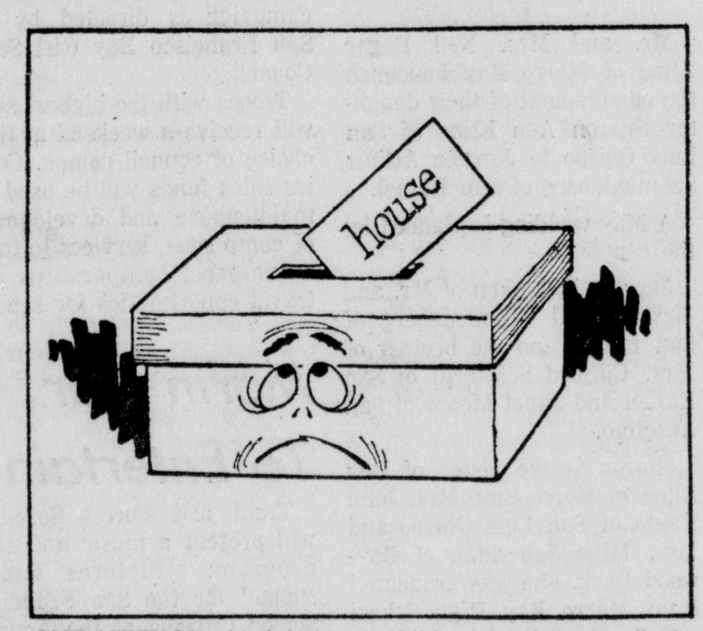
ANOTHER ONE of the basic games we use to help children learn is Lotto, a matching game. If your youngster is having lots of trouble connecting the beginning sound of words to the actual word, cut up 26 cards about 2 inches square and print one letter of the alphabet on each card. Set them out in alphabetical order on a table, face up, and have your child print another set of 26 cards which he will keep. Shuffle his cards and pick one at random.

While you make the sound of the letter and say a word beginning with that sound, let him find and match his card to the alphabet you put out before. He is learning the letters' shapes, the meaning of "same" and "different," and the sound of the letters, all at the same time.

A Picture Dictionary is one of the very best ways of teaching the alphabet, the sounds of the letters, sight words. . . all in one. Using old magazines again, find a picture for each letter of the alphabet. Paste your picture on the page and next to it, in very bold printing, make the letter the word begins with, both in capital and small print. At the bottom of the page, write the name of the object in the picture. If you say the sound of the beginning letter, it will help your child to recall the sound of that alphabet letter when he sees it elsewhere.

LET'S GO BACK to Bingo for vowels. Using words like mat, met, mit, mop, mut, pat, pet, pit, pot, pup, bat, bet, bit, bop, but, sat, set, sit, hot, hut, construct your Bingo cards. Tell the child he is to listen for the middle sound and that he will be learning the short sound of vowels with this game.

TOMORROW: The visual approach.



ONE METHOD of helping your child read is by using flash cards and the Big Bad Box game.

ā
a-mate
ai-rain
ay-day
ey-they

ANOTHER EASY game using vowel sound cards is to make a list of words which can be changed to sound the long vowel just by adding letters to the word.

Playing Bingo Turns Reading Into A Game

Here are some suggested words to use when playing Bingo to teach blends and digraphs:

blank
branch chicken
chip
dress fling
fresh glass grass
grand

play press stop swim think thirty
ship
whip
whale

You can also play Bingo with short vowel sounds. Here are some words to use when testing your child. Use words like these to construct the vowel Bingo card, and tell the child he is listening for the middle sound:

mat
met mit mop mut
pat pet pit pot

pup bat
bet bit bop but sat
set sit

Depressed Need Help Of Doctor

Suicide prevention is a job for the doctor, says Dr. Thomas G. Webster of the George Washington University School of Medicine, noting that a large proportion of suicide victims see their doctors within a week before their deaths.

Warning signs of the potential suicide are depression, a previous attempt, suicide threats, isolation and alcoholism, Dr. Webster said. Look for the patient who expresses hopelessness and anxiety, and who wants something done immediately about his situation.

Medical care of potential suicides begins with eliciting suicidal thoughts and "sharing the burden with the patient," he said. Concrete plans for solving problems should be discussed by patient and doctor, and family and friends should become involved.

Marin Women

TO NOVATO WOMAN

Canaries Sing A Lovely Song

By DOROTHY NEWELL

THREE AVIARIES house the canaries at the Patrick Dollard home in Novato, where Mrs. Dollard raises the rollers. The birds, which sing with their beaks closed, were brought to this country many years ago from Germany before canaries were banned from import. Here Mrs. Dollard feeds some of the birds.

A Novato woman with a love and interest in roller canaries might aptly be termed the "Bird Woman of North Marin."

According to Mrs. Patrick Dollard, a demand for the canaries raised in the United States has increased as the birds cannot be imported from other countries because of fear of disease.

Marion Dollard has been fond of canaries since she was a teen-ager in her native San Francisco. Now in Novato she has had the rollers for the past five years.

"There is as much difference between the song of the roller and the ordinary chopper canary as between opera and jazz," Mrs. Dollard said.

In giving the history of the roller canaries she said that during the 1870s after canaries were first introduced into Europe by sailors returning from the Canary Islands, some of the brownish-green birds arrived in the Hartz Mountain district of Germany.

MRS. DOLLARD said she has been told they were first bred there solely for their song.

"Their great gift of mimicry was exploited to the full by the invention and use of ingenious contraptions operated by hand, using water and air to produce rolling, bell-like and water sounds which the birds quickly mimicked," she said. "The nightingale was also used as a tutor to impart its tender, plaintive notes."

The birds sing with beaks closed, causing the rolling way they sing. The males are the singers, she said.

Many of the roller canaries are still brownish-green, some are solid green, yellow, white or variegated. But they are prized mostly for their song.

At shows rollers sing individually and in quartets. For present judging such sounds are created as the hollow bell, hollow roll, bass, glucke roll, flutes and deep bubbling roll, said Mrs. Dollard, who belongs to the Oakland International Roller Club.

Mrs. Dollard feeds her birds roller mix seed, song and moulting food, depending on the needs of the birds; some greens such as romaine, slices of apple or orange and grits, given in a cup.

MANY HOURS are spent keeping records of the birds, their mating habits and the incubation period of the eggs. The birds hatch in two weeks. She said the canaries should always be kept out of drafts, and if proper care is given, rollers can live to be 15 years old.

Mrs. Dollard also has a parrot named Sebastian, who perches in the living room, and if he is approached properly and quietly, he will hold out his claw to shake hands.

A former Novato Garden Club member, who still enjoys gardening, Marion Dollard and her husband have two children. Sue, 16, enjoys horseback riding through the Novato hills with her mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Dollard and Sue also enjoy skiing. Their son Eric will return home in April from the Philippines where he has been serving in the Navy.

SEATED IN the living room with one of the caged, young canary rollers, Mrs. Dollard checks over some of the facts that must be posted to keep records on all the canaries she is raising. This canary, one-year-old, is a brilliant yellow, but the birds may also be green, white and the brownish green, which was their original color when the first birds were brought to Germany and bred solely for their singing.

Teaching A Child The Attack Skills

By DOLORES COOPER
(Fourth of five articles)

A child has to be taught the basic word attack skills. Yesterday we talked about how to structure test sheets for home use that follow the first important steps in the process of learning that a printed symbol on the paper represents a sound, and then, that combinations of these printed symbols make words.

To teach the alphabet letters your child does not know on Sheet 1: Print the alphabet, capitals and small letters, in order on a large piece of cardboard. Make the letters with a black felt tip pen, pressing down on it, so that your letters are not skinny or shaky. Say the alphabet with your child while pointing to the letters. Don't say A a, B b, — just say A, B, C, while pointing to the combination of capital and small letter.

FOR THE LETTERS your child missed: Have him first trace over the letters you made with his finger, then write the letter in the air, and finally, trace the letter on your hand with his finger while saying the letter name.

Try to start at the top when printing, not at the bottom at any time. If the youngster really has a block against learning some letters, use my touching exercises, making the letters from sandpaper or yarn, and gluing them on smooth cards so he can feel the shape on a textured surface.

Sing the alphabet song often to help your child remember the order of the letters. If you go to your public library, you can borrow a record with the song on it. It is valuable to show the letters while you sing the song.

FOR SHEETS 2 through 6, you can use the same basic games, changing the letters or words to fit your error sheet. For instance, if we want to play Bingo to correct errors on Sheet 4, which teaches blends and digraphs, we'd take a piece of cardboard about 6 inches by 8 inches and draw five squares going across and five squares going down.

Leave the center square for the "free" space and in the other spaces print the blends your child missed, plus enough blends to fill in all the other spaces. Then you call a word for each blend.

When you say "glass" your child should cover the "gl" blend. If your youngster is old enough, let him be the "teacher" sometimes, but you will have to supply him with the list of words to call.

You can play Bingo with the letters on Sheets 2 and 3, too. Just tell your child to listen for the beginning sound of the words or the end sounds of the words you are going to call. On the card, print simple words to fit your needs. Do one skill at a time, though, and see that one gap is filled in before you move on to the next one.

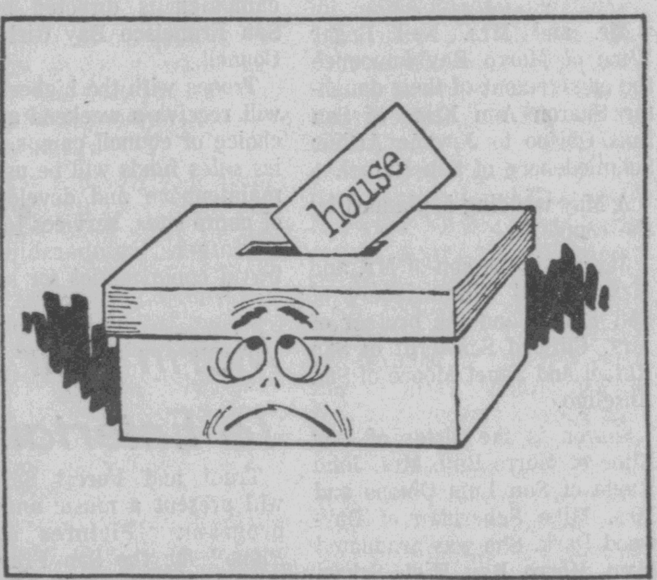
ANOTHER ONE of the basic games we use to help children learn is Lotto, a matching game. If your youngster is having lots of trouble connecting the beginning sound of words to the actual word, cut up 26 cards about 2 inches square and print one letter of the alphabet on each card. Set them out in alphabetical order on a table, face up, and have your child print another set of 26 cards which he will keep. Shuffle his cards and pick one at random.

While you make the sound of the letter and say a word beginning with that sound, let him find and match his card to the alphabet you put out before. He is learning the letters' shapes, the meaning of "same" and "different," and the sound of the letters, all at the same time.

A Picture Dictionary is one of the very best ways of teaching the alphabet, the sounds of the letters, sight words... all in one. Using old magazines again, find a picture for each letter of the alphabet. Paste your picture on the page and next to it, in very bold printing, make the letter the word begins with, both in capital and small print. At the bottom of the page, write the name of the object in the picture. If you say the sound of the beginning letter, it will help your child to recall the sound of that alphabet letter when he sees it elsewhere.

LET'S GO BACK to Bingo for vowels. Using words like mat, met, mit, mop, mut, pat, pet, pit, pot, pup, bat, bet, bit, bop, but, sat, set, sit, hot, hut, construct your Bingo cards. Tell the child he is to listen for the middle sound and that he will be learning the short sound of vowels with this game.

TOMORROW: The visual approach.



ONE METHOD of helping your child read is by using flash cards and the Big Bad Box game.

ā
a-mate
ai-rain
ay-day
ey-they

ANOTHER EASY game using vowel sound cards is to make a list of words which can be changed to sound the long vowel just by adding letters to the word.

Playing Bingo Turns Reading Into A Game

Here are some suggested words to use when playing Bingo to teach blends and digraphs:

branch
dress
glass
grand

play press
think
whale

You can also play Bingo with short vowel sounds. Here are some words to use when testing your child. Use words like these to construct the vowel Bingo card, and tell the child he is listening for the middle sound:

mop
pat
pet pit

pup
bet bit bop
but sat
set sit

Depressed Need Help Of Doctor

Suicide prevention is a job for the doctor, says Dr. Thomas G. Webster of the George Washington University School of Medicine, noting that a large proportion of suicide victims see their doctors within a week before their deaths.

Warning signs of the potential suicide are depression, a previous attempt, suicide threats, isolation and alcoholism, Dr. Webster said. Look for the patient who expresses hopelessness and anxiety, and who wants something done immediately about his situation.

Medical care of potential suicides begins with eliciting suicidal thoughts and "sharing the burden with the patient," he said. Concrete plans for solving problems should be discussed by patient and doctor, and family and friends should become involved.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Peace-Loving Man Driving Her Mad; She'd Like Him To Argue

DEAR HELEN:

I have been married for 25 years to a peace-loving man — and it isn't the great thing people assume!

In all that time, he never lost his temper except twice, but on those two occasions he was almost violent. He's the ulcer prone type who "holds it in."

What bothers me most is that he cannot talk things over, hence misunderstandings are never aired, feelings just buried under. He simply listens as I do all the talking, says nothing, gets up and walks away, but in the future tries to do all I have asked. He never says what he thinks or feels. He is made almost ill at the slightest hint of argument and, if I should get upset, he walks out, then comes back later as though nothing has happened.

Also, he never gives a verbal word of help or encouragement, though he helps in many nonverbal ways. However, I have assumed most of the decisions and family management, as he won't take a stand. He works long hours, but it's like being married to a shadow.

I'm reaching the point where I want someone to lean on, but how, when I'm just a — SHADOW BOXER

DEAR S.B.:

Perhaps the following letter will help more than anything I could say:

DEAR HELEN:

I have a strong, extrovert personality and enjoy a fight, am disappointed when I don't get one. When I married a "nice guy" who just wouldn't fight back I began to feel sorry for myself. I privately downgraded him as a "coward" and yearned for a man who wouldn't knuckle under.

My family doctor happened on to my true feeling about married life, and through his wise insight, I learned why I'd chosen this special "nice" guy: I had gravitated to my "opposite," a man who didn't talk a lot, so that I wouldn't need to "compete" with him. He was drawn to me because he needed my outgoingness to counteract his quietness. Imagine two "lives of the party" in one family! Or two very quiet people! It would be horrible. Then I remembered why I loved my husband so much — it was because he loved me (and loves me) as I am, feisty temper and all. He knows how to calm it down.

Amd I'm learning to appreciate his lack of words. When he holds my hand as we watch television, or does a kind little favor for me, he doesn't have to tell me he loves me — I know. I understand now. We complement each other. — ONE WHO MADE IT

P.S. I once thought my man's silence was a sign of not caring but later found out it takes more character to remain silent than to throw things.

DEAR HELEN:

I read about the woman who had a craving for starch and that it might cause a deficiency in folic acid which could cause miscarriages or bring on anemia. No one every mentioned why the craving came.

Maybe it was like me during my pregnancy years ago. I couldn't get enough charcoal! My crusty appetite demanded it. Don't know whether it was the charcoal or luck, but my son has always had a beautiful complexion, nary a pimple — even in his teens. I won't recommend charcoal for expectant mothers, however. — ESSIE

DEAR ESSIE:

Dill pickles are safer, I think. Besides, they wouldn't turn your tongue black. But thanks anyway, for your interesting letter. — H.

Note to readers: Essie, who has written to me before, always adds a postscript that brightens my day: "May the Lord take a likin' to you!" — You guessed it: Essie is from Texas!

A Retirement Consultant Will Present Lectures At Dominican

By JOAN LISETOR

"Retirement is a bad word because it means withdrawal when actually it is an opportunity," explained retirement consultant Norman Satir, who will lead a seminar on life style after retirement the next three Saturdays at Dominican College.

Satir, who at 65 leads a productive life, calls his seminars "Life After Work: Planning for a Full Life in the Postwork Years." He has presented them 35 times in the past three years for the U.S. Civil Service Commission and at California State University, San Francisco, and College of San Mateo and for San Francisco nd San Mateo city employees.

Although the seminars are for men and women 45 and over, Satir said, the majority of participants are women who fall into one of three categories: nonworking married women whose husbands will soon retire, working women looking forward to both their own and their husbands' retirement, and unmarried working women.

"It is the non-working married women who have special problems," Satir explained. "They have been apart from their husbands nine or 10 hours a day and have to learn to adjust to being together. She has already been through the 'empty nest crisis.' The situation varies enormously if the couple has made plans. If a man hasn't planned he tends to stay home, drink beer, and the woman has to clean around him. The man wants to make himself useful and take over the housework but usually ends up only getting in her way."

A common misconception, according to Satir, is that if you have enough money everything will be all right in your retirement years.

What is important is starting activities in the middle years, he said, warning against stereotyped retirement hobbies.

"Some people don't care for hobbies. Recreational activities are fine, but the problem faced by most people in retirement is not having a sense of being useful or of having a purpose. A purpose in life doesn't usually come from a hobby," he said. "I caution people not to take on an activity because someone tells them to and to choose one they will like well enough to stay with."

In the years when most workers are looking forward to leisure Satir quit a well paying, secure job as a lithographer to study at the Institute of Gerontology at the University of Michigan and then start a new career as an instructor and counselor. For him retirement meant a new career.

He counsels many retirement age persons to take courses in whatever interests them for the pleasure of learning, to learn new skills and to be with people.

Financial planning is an important aspect of retirement, and the seminars will cover ways to reinvest savings for higher yield.

"The average income loss at retirement is 50 per cent," Satir said. "Five million of the 20 million retired persons in the country make up what we call the new poor. Our society says you are good only if you are affluent, but I try to show people their worth can not be measured in dollars."

Stretching the dollar is also important, he said, and he covers subjects alerting participants to consumerism.

Housing after retirement is a great consideration, Satir said. "Size and cost of housing have to be considered. Do you want to leave friends for a nicer climate? When people consider retirement villages, moving to another area or retiring to Mexico I suggest spending a few weeks there exploring the area," he said.

A factor often overlooked in retirement is the importance of privacy, Satir said. A couple should find a set of activities satisfying to each individually and then a combination of interests and activities they can share.

"It is the vacuum of not doing anything that people bring to one another that can be deadly," he said.

As general ideas for involvement he suggests travel, school, social contacts, community work and religious activities.

"What I see as most important is creating goals that cause tension. Tension is what gives a sense of future," he said.

Girl Scout Cookie Drive Under Way

The girl scouts have begun the annual cookie sale today throughout Marin, and Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Seniors will be selling boxes of cookies door-to-door.

Mrs. Edwin J. Ezekiel of Fairfax is cookie sales manager for the area, and the overall campaign is directed by the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council.

Troops with the highest sales will receive a weekend at their choice of council camps. Cookies sales funds will be used for maintenance and development of camp sites, services to troop volunteers, camperships and travel opportunities for scouts.

Marin Pair To Entertain

Trudi and Forest Sorensen will present a music and slide program, "Pictures and a Piano" for the San Francisco Senior Citizens at the Aquatic Park Center in San Francisco Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The Greenbrae couple's program will include selections from Schumann's "Forest Scenes" and "Scenes from Childhood" and works by Mendelssohn, Debussy, Couperin, Bartok, Chopin and Paul Creston played by Mrs. Sorenson on the piano, while her husband shows slides related to the titles.

A Retirement Consultant Will Present Lectures At Dominican

By JOAN LISETOR

"Retirement is a bad word because it means withdrawal when actually it is an opportunity," explained retirement consultant Norman Satir, who will lead a seminar on life style after retirement the next three Saturdays at Dominican College.

Satir, who at 65 leads a productive life, calls his seminars "Life After Work: Planning for a Full Life in the Postwork Years." He has presented them 35 times in the past three years for the U.S. Civil Service Commission and at California State University, San Francisco, and College of San Mateo and for San Francisco nd San Mateo city employees.

Although the seminars are for men and women 45 and over, Satir said, the majority of participants are women who fall into one of three categories: nonworking married women whose husbands will soon retire, working women looking forward to both their own and their husbands' retirement, and unmarried working women.

"It is the non-working married women who have special problems," Satir explained. "They have been apart from their husbands nine or 10 hours a day and have to learn to adjust to being together. She has already been through the 'empty nest crisis.' The situation varies enormously if the couple has made plans. If a man hasn't planned he tends to stay home, drink beer, and the woman has to clean around him. The man wants to make himself useful and take over the housework but usually ends up only getting in her way."

A common misconception, according to Satir, is that if you have enough money everything will be all right in your retirement years.

What is important is starting activities in the middle years, he said, warning against stereotyped retirement hobbies.

"Some people don't care for hobbies. Recreational activities are fine, but the problem faced by most people in retirement is not having a sense of being useful or of having a purpose. A purpose in life doesn't usually come from a hobby," he said. "I caution people not to take on an activity because someone tells them to and to choose one they will like well enough to stay with."

In the years when most workers are looking forward to leisure Satir quit a well paying, secure job as a lithographer to study at the Institute of Gerontology at the University of Michigan and then start a new career as an instructor and counselor. For him retirement meant a new career.

He counsels many retirement age persons to take courses in whatever interests them for the pleasure of learning, to learn new skills and to be with people.

Financial planning is an important aspect of retirement, and the seminars will cover ways to reinvest savings for higher yield.

"The average income loss at retirement is 50 per cent," Satir said. "Five million of the 20 million retired persons in the country make up what we call the new poor. Our society says you are good only if you are affluent, but I try to show people their worth can not be measured in dollars."

Stretching the dollar is also important, he said, and he covers subjects alerting participants to consumerism.

Housing after retirement is a great consideration, Satir said. "Size and cost of housing have to be considered. Do you want to leave friends for a nicer climate? When people consider retirement villages, moving to another area or retiring to Mexico I suggest spending a few weeks there exploring the area," he said.

A factor often overlooked in retirement is the importance of privacy, Satir said. A couple should find a set of activities satisfying to each individually and then a combination of interests and activities they can share.

"It is the vacuum of not doing anything that people bring to one another that can be deadly," he said.

As general ideas for involvement he suggests travel, school, social contacts, community work and religious activities.

"What I see as most important is creating goals that cause tension. Tension is what gives a sense of future," he said.

Girl Scout Cookie Drive Under Way

The girl scouts have begun the annual cookie sale today throughout Marin, and Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Seniors will be selling boxes of cookies door-to-door.

Mrs. Edwin J. Ezekiel of Fairfax is cookie sales manager for the area, and the overall campaign is directed by the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council.

Troops with the highest sales will receive a weekend at their choice of council camps. Cookies sales funds will be used for maintenance and development of camp sites, services to troop volunteers, camperships and travel opportunities for scouts.

Marin Pair To Entertain

Trudi and Forest Sorensen will present a music and slide program, "Pictures and a Piano" for the San Francisco Senior Citizens at the Aquatic Park Center in San Francisco Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The Greenbrae couple's program will include selections from Schumann's "Forest Scenes" and "Scenes from Childhood" and works by Mendelssohn, Debussy, Couperin, Bartok, Chopin and Paul Creston played by Mrs. Sorenson on the piano, while her husband shows slides related to the titles.

ON BEING BLACK

Reader Response Gives Clue To Their Column Interpretation

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

Reader response is always fascinating There is what the columnist says and what the readers (based on personal experiences) think he has said. There is the Vote of Confidence arriving simultaneously with the Heavy Put-Down in response to the exact same column.

Mostly, there is the opportunity for an intimate sharing of attitudes, ideas and feelings with people you somehow feel you know.

From Charlotte, N.C., A purse-size New Testament inscribed "A gift of friendship through Christ our Lord and Saviour."

From Seattle, Wash., "You have misnamed your column! Shouldn't it be called "On Being Ex-Black"? Or maybe: 'On Being a House Nigger Type Tattletale to Whitey About All You Can Overhear in the Slave Quarters'? That's what you are — a modern-day reporter to the white-majority newspaper-reading public on the pulse of the black community."

From Pennsylvania, "If today is upon us are — a modern-day reporter believe I should tell you. It was a love story ' Black women have borne enough pain to make white women proud to be called women and, yet, you can really love. Your love for me is so Christian, it blows my mind.

"IN TALKING of vasectomies, you protect men's ego, while perhaps black women would profit the most by family planning. Another quality which makes me see black with admiration: Undeniably, black men have been reared in all too many cases by mothers. Yet in a time when whites have made motherhood look so dirty and unnatural, when boys come to manhood, your menfolk, often on television, speak of gratitude or love of their mothers with such a marvelous lack of self-consciousness. To me, that seems very 'male' indeed, and very human."

From Indianapolis, "Just seeing your picture and myself being a barber and hairstylist, I think I could do a little lifting to you. I think anything in the world that you can put on a black person to make him look better should be done and get him out of some of these pitiful colors like red, white, purple and orange."

From Texas, "Missed your column today. You are the best-looking and smartest lady columnist on the press. Where did you go to school? How about an autobiographical column? Signed: Whitey."

From Ohio, Re: vasectomy: "The real reason the niggers keep having 'littlers' is our welfare program. The more they have, the more money they can collect. It's a racket with niggers. . . a way of life."

From Ventura, "A newspaperman for 34 years and a columnist for more than 25 of those, I have come to appreciate what has to be inside a writer before it is possible to put it on paper. I've admired your work for some time."

From Washington, ". . . the reason I don't trust black people (generalization) at my door or walking past me on an uncrowded street is that I can't read clues in their physiognomy. I know it is stupid to say they all look the same because they don't, but I don't know what to look for in their faces.

"IF THEY look too slicked up in attire, I think they must be pimps; and if they look ratty, I think they must be thieves — neither judgment is fair. When I look at a white person, I can usually find visual clues that lead me to trust or fear him. This is really an injustice, and I bet a lot of other white people do this very same thing. I do appreciate your column. It is especially good for the middle-of-the-road pacifists who really want to help race relations on a quiet and individual level."

From Indianapolis, "There were millions of fat people long before we ever had food stamps. Shame on you. For the past five years, doctors over the world are getting off the obesity kick. In a few cases it is glands, but all in all, metabolism is the culprit. And besides, you don't have to be on welfare to get food stamps. I get $36 in stamps for $26 cash, so that gives me a $10 bonus. I spend the $10 on staples and the $26 anyway I darn well please. It is my money, so there, you nosey person!"

From Sherwood Ross Associates Inc., informative press releases and current copies of such magazines as Psychology Today and Intellectual Digest.

From Milwaukee, (In response to prison mail and organizations) "Why should a person expect the red carpet-treatment when he, in his act that sent him to prison, had no consideration of the person or the property he harmed? After he killed my mother, molested my little girl, smashed my windows and took my treasures, I am supposed to serve him sirloin steak on a silver platter? No, a million times No."

From Texas,' An I Love You post card.

From Milwaukee, "Sometime ago there was an article in Glamour magazine by a young black girl called 'On Being Black.' I thought I would do one called 'On Being White.'

"WHITE IS discovering that mothers of your white girlfriends won't let you see their daughters any more if you even talk to blacks.

"White is having your history teacher tell you that your ancestors were slave dealers, torturers, selfish and ignorant.

"White is having a black man approach you to tell you how much he likes white girls.

"White is being told you're better by other whites while your black girlfriend finds an excellent job and you are still unemployed.

"White is having your white girlfriends making their debut and you don't, but you're just as proud.

"White is driving down the street with your black boyfriend and getting stopped by a policeman who tells you you're out after curfew and it's only 10:30 and you're both 17.

"White is walking down the hall at school and your old white friends call you a nigger lover and you tell them that the only niggers you know are them.

"White is being proud, even though you wonder what you should be proud of — maybe because you're not like the rest?

"I think the articles you write are terrific and hope you continue the work you do."

From the White Socialist Party, another simulated Back-to-Africa ticket. (Wish they would send the real thing. A trip to Africa is number one on my travel list.)

New Child Center Opens On Campus

Adult officials stood around tot-sized tables and chairs at the new College of Marin Child Center and spoke about the efforts that made the center a reality at the offical ribbon-cutting ceremony yesterday morning in the former chemistry auditorium on the Kentfield campus.

Outside children circled the fenced play yard on tricycles under staff supervision.

Jubilation at the opening of the child center, a center used by parents attending the college, was marred by the doubt that present funding could continue past June. The college child center faces the same questionable future as the children's centers and preschool children's care programs that rely heavily on federal funds as guidelines for these funds are currently under consideration.

Dr. John A. Grasham, college president and superintendent of the Marin Community Colleges District, welcomed those who were instrumental in creating the center, then added that he hoped the center wouldn't soon have to close.

Although the center has been operating since October, at Greenbrae School until the college faciity was ready Feb. 12, the snipping of the red ribbon marked its official opening on campus.

Ceremonies included introduction by Dr. Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, of representatives of the Marin Community Colleges District board and Marilyn Crowell, chairman of the Marin County Board of Education, the two governing boards for the center. College of Marin students Greg Fearon and Olga Nichols, who led the two and a half year student drive for the center, signed the official center plaque listing the founders.

The rooms are windowed onto Kentfield corners intersection and painted a cheerful variation of green shades. Off the two larger rooms housing paint easels, small tables, chairs, toys and cooking facilities, are a smaller quiet room in which a single child sat exploring books on his own, and two enclosed play yards.

The center is set up for a capacity of 25 children per hour, and has averaged almost capacity, according to college officials.

Funded through June, total center expenses for the fiscal year are calculated at $43,302. Revenue is derived from $21,928 in federal funds; $6,709 from the College of Marin Community Services; $5,000 from the Associated Students of the College of Marin, $4,496 from the Marin County Schools, $3,055 from the college adult education program, and $2,214 from parent fees.

The children may be enrolled from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. school days, although the center closes at 4:30 p.m. on Fridays. They are aged two to five years and nine months.

First priority goes to children of low income students. Anne Degenhardt is the full time instructor, assisted by part time paraprofessionals which include students enrolled in child-related courses.

New Child Center Opens On Campus

Adult officials stood around tot-sized tables and chairs at the new College of Marin Child Center and spoke about the efforts that made the center a reality at the offical ribbon-cutting ceremony yesterday morning in the former chemistry auditorium on the Kentfield campus.

Outside children circled the fenced play yard on tricycles under staff supervision.

Jubilation at the opening of the child center, a center used by parents attending the college, was marred by the doubt that present funding could continue past June. The college child center faces the same questionable future as the children's centers and preschool children's care programs that rely heavily on federal funds as guidelines for these funds are currently under consideration.

Dr. John A. Grasham, college president and superintendent of the Marin Community Colleges District, welcomed those who were instrumental in creating the center, then added that he hoped the center wouldn't soon have to close.

Although the center has been operating since October, at Greenbrae School until the college faciity was ready Feb. 12, the snipping of the red ribbon marked its official opening on campus.

Ceremonies included introduction by Dr. Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, of representatives of the Marin Community Colleges District board and Marilyn Crowell, chairman of the Marin County Board of Education, the two governing boards for the center. College of Marin students Greg Fearon and Olga Nichols, who led the two and a half year student drive for the center, signed the official center plaque listing the founders.

The rooms are windowed onto Kentfield corners intersection and painted a cheerful variation of green shades. Off the two larger rooms housing paint easels, small tables, chairs, toys and cooking facilities, are a smaller quiet room in which a single child sat exploring books on his own, and two enclosed play yards.

The center is set up for a capacity of 25 children per hour, and has averaged almost capacity, according to college officials.

Funded through June, total center expenses for the fiscal year are calculated at $43,302. Revenue is derived from $21,928 in federal funds; $6,709 from the College of Marin Community Services; $5,000 from the Associated Students of the College of Marin, $4,496 from the Marin County Schools, $3,055 from the college adult education program, and $2,214 from parent fees.

The children may be enrolled from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. school days, although the center closes at 4:30 p.m. on Fridays. They are aged two to five years and nine months.

First priority goes to children of low income students. Anne Degenhardt is the full time instructor, assisted by part time paraprofessionals which include students enrolled in child-related courses.

New Chemical Removes Decay

Under the heading of "Less Pain in Dentistry," a national magazine reports on a chemical substance that removes large amounts of tooth decay. The substance, known as GK-101, developed by Dr. Melvin Goldman and Dr. Joseph Kronman of Tufts University School of Dental Medicine, may eventually eliminate much (but not all) of the need for drilling.

The article also reports on a special toothpaste that with daily brushing can cut down on pain from tender teeth and help brush away the hypersensitivity that many people experience sometimes during a routine tooth cleaning or while sipping a frigid drink. The dentifrice, called Sensodyne, desensitizes teeth that are overly-sensitive to cold, heat, sweets and dental treatments — while it cleans and polishes.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Big Jake" — Violent western tale of kidnaping of a child and the pursuit by the grandfather to rescue him and the revenge he takes on the gang of raiders.

"Emigrants" — Historical melodrama of the misfortunes, rigorous life and endless poverty of Swedish peasants of 1844 and their journey to the New World. Film overly long but with distinguished acting, scenery and photography that is hauntingly beautiful.

"Fat City" — A poignant, depressing drama about hapless victims of circumstances in the prizefighting profession. An ex-boxer trying for a comeback befriends a newcomer to the game who will inevitably parallel his own defeat. Acting excellent.

"Life and Times of Judge Roy Bean — This western is loosely based on the life of legendary "hanging judge." Roy Bean, an outlaw, gathers a gang of cutthroats to act as marshals, takes over a Texas town in the 1880's and creates his own brand of law and order. Film has loose episodic structure, a series of vignettes with clever twists throughout.

"Poseidon Adventure" — Escape melodrama in the best Hollywood tradition. A ship filled with passengers is overturned by a tidal wave. Their frantic efforts to seek safety keeps suspense very high.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Butterflies Are Free" — A blind young man tries the experiment of living on his own for two months in a swinging neighborhood in San Francisco. His encounter with a zany "hippie" type girl and their sexual involvement really has his domineering mother making as many adjustments as he does.

"Cabaret" — A sophisticated and bawdy tale of a kinky English girl who works in a cabaret in Germany in the 1930's. Her love affairs and subsequent abortion of her baby are interwoven with music and scenes at the cabaret. Sex — cursing.

"The Getaway" — Fast-paced action film about an ex-con who masterminds a bank robbery but is surrounded by folks whose greed is matched only by their cold-bloodedness. Director depicts all violence in explicit detail. Women are presented as so much sexual currency. In this instance crime pays very well.

"Lady Sings The Blues" — A fictionalized biography of the late Billy Holliday. Her early life and later as a prostitute, success as a singer and her addiction to heroin is laced with music throughout the action. Strong language.

"Play It Again, Sam" — Woody Allen playing a vulnerable, painfully self-critical kook bumbling his way through a series of misadventures in trying to handle his sexual problems. Explicit sexual references.

"Save The Tiger" —Film is a bitter look at a disillusioned businessman and his unscrupulous tactics in keeping his world from collapsing. Jack Lemmon in a non-comedy role. Strong language and some nudity.

"Steelyard Blues" — Lightweight adolescent fantasy about being free in today's restrictive society. Three stars who are supposed to be losers romp aimlessly as a demolition derby driver, a hard-luck call girl and a demented circus "human fly." Just ignore the "message" and try to enjoy the laughs. (Catholic Film Newsletter).

"Up The Sandbox" — A seriocomic story of a somewhat mad upper West Side housewife who experiences an acute identity crisis. She has a hyper-active imagination that leads her into all sorts of weird fantasies which makes those of Walter Mitty pale. Nudity.

"Valdez Is Coming" — A reformed Mexican gunfighter works as a town constable. He is tricked into killing an innocent black man and uses overpowering methods to get at the man responsible. Excessive violence, sex scenes and language makes it unsuitable for youth.

ADULTS ONLY

"Deliverance" — Four men go for a canoe cruise along a mountain river in Georgia. They encounter two sadistic hillbillies who rape one of them and murders ensue. Gripping suspense very extreme. Cursing.

"Heat" — From the Andy Warhol "factory" of underground type fare this tale is about the entanglements of a semi-retired movie star and her young lover. Stars make characters funny and interesting but perversions make them grotesque rather than amusing. Excessive sex, nudity and cursing.

'74 Date Seen For Drive Work

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Widening of the San Francisco approach to the Golden Gate Bridge cannot start at least until a year from April, 1974, according to the state Public Works Department.

Even if funds become available to finance this project immediately it said, "under the Environmental Quality Act it is illegal for the California Highway Commission to budget this project until an Environmental Impact Statement is approved."

James A. Moe, director of the department, estimated in his letter to the state Business and Transportation Agency that because of time needed by other agencies to review the statement "the earliest probable date that a contract can be awarded is April 1974."

The $14 million job, scheduled now to start in 1976, will take up to three years, according to the state.

Martha On Telephone Again—Women's Lib

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Feminist Jill Ruckelshaus has made a mild response to Martha Mitchell's statement she was "disgusted" Mrs. Ruckelshaus was added to the White House staff as a consultant.

Mrs. Mitchell, the wife of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, said in a telephone interview from her New York City home Thursday that "I resent it like hell" that Mrs. Ruckelshaus had been given the $50-a-day job.

"I just resent this women's lib business," Mrs. Mitchell said. "Equal rights—we don't need that. It's silly."

Mrs. Ruckelshaus, the wife of William D. Ruckelshaus, the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, replied through a spokesman.

"She always had the greatest affection for Mrs. Mitchell and still does," the spokesman said, adding that Mrs. Ruckelshaus did not understand why Mrs. Mitchell was upset.

Mrs. Ruckelshaus sometimes is called the "Gloria Steinem of the Republican Party." She was a leading Republican convention advocate of the equal rights amendment to the Constitution, and last week started a part-time job as assistant to White House counselor Ann Armstrong, performing liaison with women's groups.

Mrs. Mitchell described Mrs. Ruckelshaus' appointment as "totally disagreeable."

Martha On Telephone Again—Women's Lib

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Feminist Jill Ruckelshaus has made a mild response to Martha Mitchell's statement she was "disgusted" Mrs. Ruckelshaus was added to the White House staff as a consultant.

Mrs. Mitchell, the wife of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, said in a telephone interview from her New York City home Thursday that "I resent it like hell" that Mrs. Ruckelshaus had been given the $50-a-day job.

"I just resent this women's lib business," Mrs. Mitchell said. "Equal rights—we don't need that. It's silly."

Mrs. Ruckelshaus, the wife of William D. Ruckelshaus, the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, replied through a spokesman.

"She always had the greatest affection for Mrs. Mitchell and still does," the spokesman said, adding that Mrs. Ruckelshaus did not understand why Mrs. Mitchell was upset.

Mrs. Ruckelshaus sometimes is called the "Gloria Steinem of the Republican Party." She was a leading Republican convention advocate of the equal rights amendment to the Constitution, and last week started a part-time job as assistant to White House counselor Ann Armstrong, performing liaison with women's groups.

Mrs. Mitchell described Mrs. Ruckelshaus' appointment as "totally disagreeable."

"BUT GOLDE. . ." — Dakin Matthews plays Tevye and Bette Besuner his wife Golde in the College of Marin's production of "Fiddler on the Roof" which starts a 12-show run at the college's fine arts theater on March 30. The cast of 46 local actors, singers and dancers is the largest ever assembled for a college show.

'Fiddler' Scheduled For 12 Performances

"Fiddler on the Roof" will be staged by the College of Marin's music and drama departments in the fine arts theater for 12 performances starting March 30.

The 8 o'clock shows will run through April 15.

The cast of 46 actors, singers and dancers is one of the largest ever assembled for a College of Marin production, and includes students and community members.

The lead role of Tevye, the impoverished Ukrainian Jewish dairyman forever chatting with God, will be played by Dakin Matthews, a professional actor.

Harvey J. Susser will stage the musical, and musical direction is by Scott Merrick and Phyllis Murphy and choreography by Lou Nardi.

Tevye's wife Golde will be played by Bette Besuner of San Rafael. His three older daughters are Nancy Paris of Novato, Tzeitel; Kathleen Quinlan of Mill Valley, Hodel, and Karyn Nikas of San Rafael, Chava.

Their husbands will be portrayed by Robin Williams of Tiburon, Perchik; Mark Schwarz of Ross, Motel; and Marc Hildebrand of Mill Valley, Fyedka.

"Fiddler on the Roof" has become a show business phenomenon since its opening in 1964. It has been performed in 23 countries and it is estimated that more than 37.5 million people have seen the stage production. It ran on Broadway for eight years.

Based on Sholom Aleichem's folk hero, Tevye, the musical's story concerns his efforts to marry off his five daughters in the Jewish Shtetle community of Anatevka in Czarist Russia in 1905.

In a larger sense, however, the story deals with tradition, infringing change and the progressive dissolution of valued tradition, together with social conditions at the beginning of the Russian revolutionary period.

Members of the College of Marin Community Band and Orchestra will form the orchestra for the show.

Discussion Set On Purchase Of Water Company

Directors of the Stinson Beach Fire Protection and County Water districts will meet with officials of the Marin Municipal Water District to discuss possible purchase of the Stinson Beach Water Company at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Stinson Community Center.

Wednesday night the fire district board tentatively accepted a feasibility study by the water district which proposed that the water district not purchase the water company.

The Marin Municipal staff, which prepared the study, believes the community agencies should buy the privately owned company, but that the Marin Water District may wish to operate and maintain the system.

Sausalito Picks Aide In Planning

Jerry Cormack, former employee of a regional planning agency in Minnesota, has been hired to fill the City of Sausalito's newly created post of assistant planner.

Cormack, 24, was chosen from about 70 applicants for the job, according to City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr.

Since Sausalito currently has no planning director, the assistant will have charge of the city's planning activities until a new planner is chosen to succeed H. Eric Borgwardt, who resigned in November.

St. Cyr said more than 100 persons have applied for the top planning spot and interviewing has already begun. He did not know when the position will be filled.

Cormack's regular duties will include zoning administration, special projects and studies and assisting the director in reviewing projects.

The new assistant planner, to receive $895 a month, is a graduate of Iowa State University. For the past two-and-one-half years he worked in the open space department of the Minnesota Metropolitan Council.

Disaster Loan Office To Close

The federal Small Business Administration disaster loan office that has been operating in the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia will close next Friday, officials said yesterday.

Marin County flood and mudslide victims must get applications for loans in by April 10, Gus Anselmo, acting public information officer for the SBA, said.

He advised Marin residents who seek such loans to obtain application forms before Friday at the armory so they can meet the April deadline.

Money Lack Hamstrings New Coast Commissions

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The new coastal commissions by Proposition 20 have too little money to do their job despite a $5 million allocation supposed to last through 1976.

The only alternative will be to ask the Legislature for more money, which will take two-thirds approval by both houses.

The fiscal squeeze was evident last night when the North Central Coast Regional Conservation Commission, one of six regional commissions, asked the statewide commission for $798,000 through 1976. If the other regional commissions made similar requests, the parent state commission would be virtually penniless.

The local regional commission, in business only one month, covers Marin, Sonoma and San Francisco. It is regarded as having the least complicated jurisdiction because so much of its area either is developed or earmarked for government preservation.

The statewide commission has the final budget voice, so the regional commissions are the ones likely to face fiscal pressure first.

The staff of the state commission, for example, has proposed the regional commission here get $567,000, or $231,000 below what it wants. The main difference was both the regional and state commissions assume they will do the bulk of the planning — but there is not enough money.

San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn said he already had suggested to the state commission's staff that it seek legislation appropriating more money. Proposition 20 allocated $5 million from the Bagley Conservation Fund, and the state commission's staff estimated it also will raise about $250,000 from fees.

No one suggested how much more money will be needed.

Commissioner Melville Owen of Kentfield joined the push for the $798,000, saying "let's play the bureaucratic game and go for the big budget — and hope we spend only half."

The commission, meeting for five hours in the Marin Civic Center, also learned it faces a mounting pile of applications for construction permits and a mountain of more than 150 applications for executive director. The job pays up to $24,000 a year.

Four of the other six regional commissions already have hired staff, but the local commission is stuck with its previous decision to accept applications until March 10.

As put by Commissioner Wanda Zankich of Bodega Bay, "We have opened a store and we have no goods or personnel. I get a lot of comment from the public that we don't know what we are doing, and sometimes I think they are right."

Commissioners agreed to interview finalists for the job at 7:30 p.m. on March 22. Applications will be screened by the Marin County personnel office and a committee of commissioners.

The most pressing problem, a claim that the pending 1,600-unit Bodega Harbour development in Bodega Bay is exempt from commission jurisdiction, was set for a hearing on May 3 in Santa Rosa.

Asst. Marin County Administrator Thomas Campanella, acting executive director for the commission, was authorized to hire a consultant to investigate the development's claim.

Commissioners agreed to consider at their March 15 meeting a request that the developer cease work until the hearing. Their only power to halt work, however, would be through the courts. This would shift the entire exemption claim to the courts, as well, something most commissioners objected to doing.

Commissioners also granted an "emergency" permit to allow completion of a $75,000 project to haul road dump base granite on roads and 98 trailer pads within Bodega Bay State Park. The Sierra Club argued the park development should be reviewed first, but commissioners agreed such public access to the coast was the aim of Proposition 20.

They also voted unanimously to require environmental impact reports on all major projects.

Marinite Is Indicted On Theft

I-J Special Report

REDWOOD CITY — Three San Mateo County coroner's investigators, including one living in Marin County, were indicted yesterday on charges arising from the theft of a $500 cashier's check from the body of a dead man.

The three — Ronald Kindred, 39, of Tiburon; William Scott, 44, of San Mateo, and Robert Cawley, 44, of Redwood City — were accused by the county grand jury of grand theft, forgery, conspiracy to forge and fraudulently passing a cashier's check.

The men, fired last month by Coroner Paul B. Jensen, say they are being framed for past criticism of the operation of the coroner's office.

Free on their own recognizance, the three are scheduled to appear March 12 in Marin Superior Court.

The Orders Barked By A Woman Airman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — The voice calling the Lackland Air Force Base Honor Guard to order Wednesday belonged to 19-year-old Airman Nancy Morrison. Nonetheless, the guard snapped to attention as stiffly as if ordered by a seasoned drill sergeant.

Miss Morrison, of Honolulu, became the first woman to call orders to the Lackland guard. Her boss, S. Sgt. Jesse Paschal, said she earned the job by being a crack member of the elite seven-man squad. "She also served as a standard bearer and a rifleperson," Paschal said.

Novato Park Board To Consider Adoption Of $293,715 Budget

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission will consider a proposed $293,715 operating budget for 1973-74, up $36,990 from the current budget, at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the parks and recreation office, 917 Sherman Avenue.

Recreation director Edward W. Adams said commissioners reviewed the proposed budget Wednesday and postponed action pending further review.

The proposed spending breakdown is: parks, $92,465, up $8,870; recreation, $171,250, up $25,265; swimming pool, $14,130; up $1,260; and community house, $15,870, up $2,100.

Adams said the increases are due to an expanded recreation program, additional park land and the hiring of an additional full-time recreation supervisor.

The proposed capital improvements budget is $127,000, down $27,255 from the current budget, with $72,085 to go toward purchase of the O'Hair property in West Novato and the Heifetz land in South Novato. Other proposed expenditures are $30,000 for Olive School Park and $14,000 for Miwok Park.

The commission's budget ultimately must be approved by the city council.

Names Dropped In School Story

The Independent-Journal in an article in Wednesday's issue, omitted the names of the three candidates for the Lagunitas School District board to attend a gathering at 8 p.m. today at the James Boyd residence, 46 Conifer Way, Woodacre.

Three candidates, Richard C. Sloan, Harry R. Smith and Marilyn Mauroni, will speak.

Also running for the school board, but not invited to attend, are Lee Dininzenzo, Allan J. Kirchem and Patricia White.

Marinite Is Indicted On Theft

I-J Special Report

REDWOOD CITY — Three San Mateo County coroner's investigators, including one living in Marin County, were indicted yesterday on charges arising from the theft of a $500 cashier's check from the body of a dead man.

The three — Ronald Kindred, 39, of Tiburon; William Scott, 44, of San Mateo, and Robert Cawley, 44, of Redwood City — were accused by the county grand jury of grand theft, forgery, conspiracy to forge and fraudulently passing a cashier's check.

The men, fired last month by Coroner Paul B. Jensen, say they are being framed for past criticism of the operation of the coroner's office.

Free on their own recognizance, the three are scheduled to appear March 12 in Marin Superior Court.

The Orders Barked By A Woman Airman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — The voice calling the Lackland Air Force Base Honor Guard to order Wednesday belonged to 19-year-old Airman Nancy Morrison. Nonetheless, the guard snapped to attention as stiffly as if ordered by a seasoned drill sergeant.

Miss Morrison, of Honolulu, became the first woman to call orders to the Lackland guard. Her boss, S. Sgt. Jesse Paschal, said she earned the job by being a crack member of the elite seven-man squad. "She also served as a standard bearer and a rifleperson," Paschal said.

Novato Park Board To Consider Adoption Of $293,715 Budget

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission will consider a proposed $293,715 operating budget for 1973-74, up $36,990 from the current budget, at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the parks and recreation office, 917 Sherman Avenue.

Recreation director Edward W. Adams said commissioners reviewed the proposed budget Wednesday and postponed action pending further review.

The proposed spending breakdown is: parks, $92,465, up $8,870; recreation, $171,250, up $25,265; swimming pool, $14,130; up $1,260; and community house, $15,870, up $2,100.

Adams said the increases are due to an expanded recreation program, additional park land and the hiring of an additional full-time recreation supervisor.

The proposed capital improvements budget is $127,000, down $27,255 from the current budget, with $72,085 to go toward purchase of the O'Hair property in West Novato and the Heifetz land in South Novato. Other proposed expenditures are $30,000 for Olive School Park and $14,000 for Miwok Park.

The commission's budget ultimately must be approved by the city council.

Names Dropped In School Story

The Independent-Journal in an article in Wednesday's issue, omitted the names of the three candidates for the Lagunitas School District board to attend a gathering at 8 p.m. today at the James Boyd residence, 46 Conifer Way, Woodacre.

Three candidates, Richard C. Sloan, Harry R. Smith and Marilyn Mauroni, will speak.

Also running for the school board, but not invited to attend, are Lee Dininzenzo, Allan J. Kirchem and Patricia White.

U.S. Government Says. . . ALFA ROMEO IS BEST!

The national highway traffic safety administration has just released a report confirming the Alfa Romeo as the car with the best brakes sold in America.

The comparisons were based on test figures reported on the number of feet it took to stop a fully loaded car traveling at 60 m.p.h.

"The best performance - 146 feet - was registered by the Alfa Romeo 2000 Berlina (sedan) followed by the Alfa Romeo GT Veloce and Spider Veloce which stopped in 148 feet."

U.S. Government Says. . . ALFA ROMEO IS BEST!

The national highway traffic safety administration has just released a report confirming the Alfa Romeo as the car with the best brakes sold in America.

The comparisons were based on test figures reported on the number of feet it took to stop a fully loaded car traveling at 60 m.p.h.

"The best performance - 146 feet - was registered by the Alfa Romeo 2000 Berlina (sedan) followed by the Alfa Romeo GT Veloce and Spider Veloce which stopped in 148 feet."

REDEMPTION: Bonds maturing by their terms on or prior to May 1, 1988 are not subject to call and redemption prior to their fixed maturity dates. Bonds maturing by their terms on or after May 1, 1989 are subject to call and redemption prior to their fixed maturity dates, at the option of the District, on May 1, 1988, but not prior thereto, and on any interest payment date thereafter prior to maturity, as a whole or in part in inverse order of maturity (and by lot within any one maturity), at the principal amount thereof and accrued interest to date of redemption plus a redemption premium of one-quarter of one per cent (¼ of 1%) of the principal amount of each bond so redeemed for each whole year and for any remaining fraction of a year from the date of redemption to the date of maturity of such bond.

INTEREST RATE: Maximum seven per cent (7%) per annum, payable annually the first year on May 1, 1974 and semi-annually thereafter on May 1 and November 1 in each year. Bidders must specify the rates of interest which the bonds hereby offered for sale shall bear. Bidders may specify any number of separate interest rates irrespective of the maturities of the bonds, and the same rate or rates may be repeated as often as desired; provided, however, that (i) the difference between the highest and lowest coupon rates specified in any bid shall not exceed two per cent; (ii) each interest rate specified must be in a multiple of 1/20 of one per cent and a zero rate of interest cannot be specified; (iii) no bond shall bear more than one rate of interest, no interest payment shall be evidenced by more than one coupon and supplemental coupons will not be permitted; (iv) each bond shall bear interest from its date to its stated maturity date at the interest rate specified in the bid; (v) all bonds of the same maturity shall bear the same rate of interest; and (vi) any premium must be paid in bank funds as part of the purchase price, and no bid will be accepted which provides for the cancellation and surrender of any interest coupons or for the waiver of interest or other concession by the bidder as a substitute for payment in full of the purchase price in immediately available bank funds. Bids which do not conform to the terms of this paragraph wil be rejected.

PAYMENT: Both principal and interest on the bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America, at the office of the County Treasurer of Marin County, in San Rafael, California, or at the option of the holder at the principal office of Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association in San Francisco, California.

EXECUTION AND REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by the District. The bonds will be executed by the manual signature of at least one officer authorized to execute the bonds. The bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest, and are subject to deregistration and reregistration.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The bonds are authorized by a vote of two-thirds of the qualified voters of the District voting at a special bond election for the purpose of raising money for the construction of a lock at the entrance to the Bel Marin Keys Lagoons so as to maintain a constant navigable water level in said lagoons.

SECURITY: The bonds are general obligations of the District and the District has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of the bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within the District subject to taxation by the District, without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds (i) the income received by any private holder from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable (either at the time of such declaration or at any future date) under any federal income tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a federal income tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service, or by decision of any federal court, or (ii) any federal income tax law is adopted which will have a substantial adverse tax effect on holders of the bonds as such, the successful bidder may, at his option, prior to the tender of the bonds by the District, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinion of Messrs. Orrick, Herrington, Rowley & Sutcliffe, of San Francisco, California, approving the validity of the bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge. A copy of the legal opinion, certified by the official in whose office the original is filed, will be printed on each bond without charge to the successful bidder.

TERMS OF SALE

Highest Bid: The bonds will be awarded to the highest bidder, considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of the bonds to the respective maturity dates of the bonds at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid, and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the District. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. All interest will be computed on a 360-day year basis. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the District.

Right of Rejection: The Board of Directors of the District reserves the right, in its discretion, to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

Prompt Award: The Board of Directors of the District will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than twenty-four (24) hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of proposals unless such time of award is waived by the successful bidder.

Prompt Delivery: Delivery of the bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of Marin County in San Rafael, California as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within forty-five (45) days from the date of sale, but not prior to the date of the bonds. Payment for the bonds must be made in immediately available bank funds

Right of Cancellation: The successful bidder shall have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the District shall fail to execute the bonds and tender the same for delivery within sixty (60) days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

Form of Bid: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Each bid, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Secretary of the Board of Directors of Bel Marin Keys Community Services District and delivered to said officer at the office of Messrs. Orrick, Herrington, Rowley & Sutcliffe, Eleventh Floor, 600 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California in time to be recieved by 10:00 o'clock A.M. on March 15, 1973, and endorsed "Proposal for Bel Marin Keys Community Services District 1973 Bonds."

Bid Check: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $10,000 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer of Marin County to secure the District from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the District by mail upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon the deposit made by the successful bidder.

Estimate of Net Interest Cost: Bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the District on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the District.

Official Statement: The District has prepared an official statement relating to the bonds, a copy of which, along with related legal documents, will be furnished upon request mailed to the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association, Financial Consulting Service (No. 3298), P.O. Box 37004, San Francisco, California 94137 or telephoned to said bank at (415) 622-2465, or upon request made to the Financial Consulting Service office, 9th Floor, Bank of America World Headquarters Building, Bank of America Center, San Francisco, California, which bank is the financing consultant to the District for the bonds.

There is no controversy or litigation pending concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of the District or the title of the officers thereof to their respective offices, and the District will furnish to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

NOTICE OF JOINT PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Town Council of Corte Madera and the Corte Madera Redevelopment Agency will hold a joint public hearing on Monday, March 19, 1973, at 7:30 o'clock P.M. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center, 490 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California, which hearing may be continued from time to time until completed. Any person or organization desiring to be heard will be afforded an opportunity to do so.

The purpose of said hearing is to consider the proposed redevelopment plan for the Corte Madera Redevelopment Project Area No. 1, hereinafter called "Plan." The Plan, also known as a "Redevelopment Plan", authorizes the undertaking of a redevelopment project pursuant to the California Community Redevelopment Law.

The general objective of said proposed Plan is to improve the environment of and access to the coastal shoreline of the Town of Corte Madera by preserving and maintaining important marine and wildlife habitation, while at the same time providing for proper utilization of the land within the project area. The scope of said project includes the acquisition of land, demolition or removal of buildings and certain improvements, installation, construction and reconstruction of streets, utilities, parks or other project improvements, and making land available for redevelopment by private enterprise or public agencies as authorized by law. Said proposed project will be an undertaking of the Corte Madera Redevelopment Agency.

The Corte Madera Redevelopment Project Area No. 1 is situated in the Town of Corte Madera, County of Marin, State of California, and is more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at the most Southerly corner of the S & L Subdivision, as said Subdivision is shown on that certain map entitled "Map of S & L Subdivision, Corte Madera, Marin County, California" recorded September 7, 1947, in Book 6 at Page 37, Marin County Records, thence along the Southerly boundary of said Subdivision on a course North 63° 52′ West 485.94 feet to the Easterly boundary of US Highway 101 R/W; OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE
$700,000 BEL MARIN KEYS COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT
1973 BONDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed proposals will be received and opened by the Secretary of the Board of Directors of Bel Marin Keys Community Services District of Marin County, State of California, at the office of Messrs. Orrick, Herrington, Rowley & Sutcliffe, Eleventh Floor, 600 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California, on at 10:00 o'clock A.M. for the purchase of $700,000 principal amount of bonds of the District, designated "Bel Marin Keys Community Services District 1973 Bonds," more particularly described below. The bonds are the entire principal amount of an issue authorized at an election held in the District on January 11, 1972.

ISSUE AND DENOMINATION: $700,000 principal amount of coupon bonds, numbered from 1 to 140, both inclusive, all of the denomination of $5,000.

DATE: All of the bonds are dated May 1, 1973.

MATURITIES: The bonds mature serially in consecutive numerical order, from lower to higher, as follows:

Principal Amount	Maturity Date (both years inclusive) (May 1)
$ 10,000	1974 - 1976
15,000	1977 - 1978
25,000	1979 - 1981
35,000	1982 - 1984
40,000	1985 - 1986
50,000	1987 - 1990
55,000	1991

REDEMPTION: Bonds maturing by their terms on or prior to May 1, 1988 are not subject to call and redemption prior to their fixed maturity dates. Bonds maturing by their terms on or after May 1, 1989 are subject to call and redemption prior to their fixed maturity dates, at the option of the District, on May 1, 1988, but not prior thereto, and on any interest payment date thereafter prior to maturity, as a whole or in part in inverse order of maturity (and by lot within any one maturity), at the principal amount thereof and accrued interest to date of redemption plus a redemption premium of one-quarter of one per cent (¼ of 1%) of the principal amount of each bond so redeemed for each whole year and for any remaining fraction of a year from the date of redemption to the date of maturity of such bond.

INTEREST RATE: Maximum seven per cent (7%) per annum, payable annually the first year on May 1, 1974 and semi-annually thereafter on May 1 and November 1 in each year. Bidders must specify the rates of interest which the bonds hereby offered for sale shall bear. Bidders may specify any number of separate interest rates irrespective of the maturities of the bonds, and the same rate or rates may be repeated as often as desired; provided, however, that (i) the difference between the highest and lowest coupon rates specified in any bid shall not exceed two per cent; (ii) each interest rate specified must be in a multiple of 1/20 of one per cent and a zero rate of interest cannot be specified; (iii) no bond shall bear more than one rate of interest, no interest payment shall be evidenced by more than one coupon and supplemental coupons will not be permitted; (iv) each bond shall bear interest from its date to its stated maturity date at the interest rate specified in the bid; (v) all bonds of the same maturity shall bear the same rate of interest; and (vi) any premium must be paid in bank funds as part of the purchase price, and no bid will be accepted which provides for the cancellation and surrender of any interest coupons or for the waiver of interest or other concession by the bidder as a substitute for payment in full of the purchase price in immediately available bank funds. Bids which do not conform to the terms of this paragraph wil be rejected.

PAYMENT: Both principal and interest on the bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America, at the office of the County Treasurer of Marin County, in San Rafael, California, or at the option of the holder at the principal office of Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association in San Francisco, California.

EXECUTION AND REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by the District. The bonds will be executed by the manual signature of at least one officer authorized to execute the bonds. The bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest, and are subject to deregistration and reregistration.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The bonds are authorized by a vote of two-thirds of the qualified voters of the District voting at a special bond election for the purpose of raising money for the construction of a lock at the entrance to the Bel Marin Keys Lagoons so as to maintain a constant navigable water level in said lagoons.

SECURITY: The bonds are general obligations of the District and the District has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of the bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within the District subject to taxation by the District, without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds (i) the income received by any private holder from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable (either at the time of such declaration or at any future date) under any federal income tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a federal income tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service, or by decision of any federal court, or (ii) any federal income tax law is adopted which will have a substantial adverse tax effect on holders of the bonds as such, the successful bidder may, at his option, prior to the tender of the bonds by the District, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinion of Messrs. Orrick, Herrington, Rowley & Sutcliffe, of San Francisco, California, approving the validity of the bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge. A copy of the legal opinion, certified by the official in whose office the original is filed, will be printed on each bond without charge to the successful bidder.

TERMS OF SALE

Highest Bid: The bonds will be awarded to the highest bidder, considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of the bonds to the respective maturity dates of the bonds at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid, and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the District. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. All interest will be computed on a 360-day year basis. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the District.

Right of Rejection: The Board of Directors of the District reserves the right, in its discretion, to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

Prompt Award: The Board of Directors of the District will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than twenty-four (24) hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of proposals unless such time of award is waived by the successful bidder.

Prompt Delivery: Delivery of the bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of Marin County in San Rafael, California as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within forty-five (45) days from the date of sale, but not prior to the date of the bonds. Payment for the bonds must be made in immediately available bank funds

Right of Cancellation: The successful bidder shall have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the District shall fail to execute the bonds and tender the same for delivery within sixty (60) days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

Form of Bid: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Each bid, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Secretary of the Board of Directors of Bel Marin Keys Community Services District and delivered to said officer at the office of Messrs. Orrick, Herrington, Rowley & Sutcliffe, Eleventh Floor, 600 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California in time to be recieved by 10:00 o'clock A.M. on March 15, 1973, and endorsed "Proposal for Bel Marin Keys Community Services District 1973 Bonds."

Bid Check: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $10,000 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer of Marin County to secure the District from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the District by mail upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon the deposit made by the successful bidder.

Estimate of Net Interest Cost: Bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the District on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the District.

Official Statement: The District has prepared an official statement relating to the bonds, a copy of which, along with related legal documents, will be furnished upon request mailed to the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association, Financial Consulting Service (No. 3298), P.O. Box 37004, San Francisco, California 94137 or telephoned to said bank at (415) 622-2465, or upon request made to the Financial Consulting Service office, 9th Floor, Bank of America World Headquarters Building, Bank of America Center, San Francisco, California, which bank is the financing consultant to the District for the bonds.

There is no controversy or litigation pending concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of the District or the title of the officers thereof to their respective offices, and the District will furnish to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Varicose Leg Ulcers Reopen Unless The Cause Corrected

Varicose leg ulcers tend to heal, but they reopen unless the causative varicose vein is corrected. All too often, the lesion is the end result of a neglected, greatly enlarged vein, surrounded by spongy, pigmented unhealthy skin. Ulceration follows in the wake of phlebitis or mechanical injury. Temporary healing may take place after remaining in bed with the leg elevated during which time the infection and congestion are brought under control.

Permanent results occur when the varicosities are removed by ligation or stripping. A skin graft often is used to cover the open ulcer followed by the use of a firm compression bandage.

ANOTHER WAY to obliterate the vein involves injections of a sclerosis solution. The substance irritates the inner lining of the veins. A compression bandage then is applied to keep the vessel collapsed until it is blocked by a firm clot. Many persons with varicose ulcers also have a deficiency of zinc in the blood.

Two Swedish surgeons ran a double-blind trial on 27 individuals with venous leg ulcers. They found that healing was enhanced when zinc sulfate was taken orally. Healing occurred most rapidly among those who had low levels of zinc in the blood.

The rationale of this form of treatment is open to question except that after surgery or injury there is loss of zinc via the kidneys which may lead to a deficiency of this metal. Certain tissues, such as muscle, require zinc for wound healing.

MANY VICTIMS of varicose leg ulcers are obese and the lesions almost invariably are located in the lower third of the leg. A favorite site is just above the ankle bone on the inside. Ulcers vary in size from one-half inch to the entire circumference of the lower leg. The surrounding tissue usually is pigmented and the skin is scaly.

The involved area may be swollen. As a rule, the venous ulcer is only painful when a person is up and about, but rarely troublesome when the person is off his feet.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

YELLOWISH SPOTS

T. K. writes: What is the treatment for a lump on the eyeball, known as a pinguecula?

REPLY

These slightly yellowish elevations at the edge of the clear cornea of the eye need no treatment. They look like tumors but stem from an increase in the number of elastic fibers in this area.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

K. W. writes: Does pernicious anemia get worse in each generation?

REPLY

Not to my knowlege. This generation's victims are able to keep the disease under control with injections of liver or vitamin B. In the past, this was not possible.

ALWAYS ASLEEP

L. Y. writes: If a baby sleeps all the time and never cries, is he likely to be mentally retarded?

REPLY

Possibly, but there is more than this to the diagnosis of mental retardation. Most babies sleep most of the time. If you are in doubt, consult your physician about the child's mental status.

TOO MUCH SALIVA

A. Y. writes: Can anything be done about too much saliva?

REPLY

Spit or swallow. In many instances relief is possible especially if there is something in the mouth that is irritating the gums or tongue. Our leaflet on the saliva problem gives a list of causes. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, March 2, the 61st day of 1973 with 304 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Texas frontier hero Sam Houston was born March 2, 1783.

On this day in history: In 1899, Congress established Mt. Rainier National Park in Washington state.

In 1927, Babe Ruth signed a contract with the New York Yankees for $70,000, making him the highest paid baseball player at that time.

In 1943, American airmen destroyed a Japanese convoy of 21 ships in the World War II Battle of the Bismarck Sea.

In 1945, units of the U.S. 9th Army reached the Rhine River opposite Dusseldorf, Germany.

A thought for the day: British statesman John Viscount Morley said, "In my creed, waste of public money is like the sin against the Holy Ghost."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Varicose Leg Ulcers Reopen Unless The Cause Corrected

Varicose leg ulcers tend to heal, but they reopen unless the causative varicose vein is corrected. All too often, the lesion is the end result of a neglected, greatly enlarged vein, surrounded by spongy, pigmented unhealthy skin. Ulceration follows in the wake of phlebitis or mechanical injury. Temporary healing may take place after remaining in bed with the leg elevated during which time the infection and congestion are brought under control.

Permanent results occur when the varicosities are removed by ligation or stripping. A skin graft often is used to cover the open ulcer followed by the use of a firm compression bandage.

ANOTHER WAY to obliterate the vein involves injections of a sclerosis solution. The substance irritates the inner lining of the veins. A compression bandage then is applied to keep the vessel collapsed until it is blocked by a firm clot. Many persons with varicose ulcers also have a deficiency of zinc in the blood.

Two Swedish surgeons ran a double-blind trial on 27 individuals with venous leg ulcers. They found that healing was enhanced when zinc sulfate was taken orally. Healing occurred most rapidly among those who had low levels of zinc in the blood.

The rationale of this form of treatment is open to question except that after surgery or injury there is loss of zinc via the kidneys which may lead to a deficiency of this metal. Certain tissues, such as muscle, require zinc for wound healing.

MANY VICTIMS of varicose leg ulcers are obese and the lesions almost invariably are located in the lower third of the leg. A favorite site is just above the ankie bone on the inside. Ulcers vary in size from one-half inch to the entire circumference of the lower leg. The surrounding tissue usually is pigmented and the skin is scaly.

The involved area may be swollen. As a rule, the venous ulcer is only painful when a person is up and about, but rarely troublesome when the person is off his feet.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

YELLOWISH SPOTS

T. K. writes: What is the treatment for a lump on the eyeball, known as a pinguecula?

REPLY

These slightly yellowish elevations at the edge of the clear cornea of the eye need no treatment. They look like tumors but stem from an increase in the number of elastic fibers in this area.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

K. W. writes: Does pernicious anemia get worse in each generation?

REPLY

Not to my knowlege. This generation's victims are able to keep the disease under control with injections of liver or vitamin B. In the past, this was not possible.

ALWAYS ASLEEP

L. Y. writes: If a baby sleeps all the time and never cries, is he likely to be mentally retarded?

REPLY

Possibly, but there is more than this to the diagnosis of mental retardation. Most babies sleep most of the time. If you are in doubt, consult your physician about the child's mental status.

TOO MUCH SALIVA

A. Y. writes: Can anything be done about too much saliva?

REPLY

Spit or swallow. In many instances relief is possible especially if there is something in the mouth that is irritating the gums or tongue. Our leaflet on the saliva problem gives a list of causes. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, March 2, the 61st day of 1973 with 304 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Texas frontier hero Sam Houston was born March 2, 1783.

On this day in history: In 1899, Congress established Mt. Rainier National Park in Washington state.

In 1927, Babe Ruth signed a contract with the New York Yankees for $70,000, making him the highest paid baseball player at that time.

In 1943, American airmen destroyed a Japanese convoy of 21 ships in the World War II Battle of the Bismarck Sea.

In 1945, units of the U.S. 9th Army reached the Rhine River opposite Dusseldorf, Germany.

A thought for the day: British statesman John Viscount Morley said, "In my creed, waste of public money is like the sin against the Holy Ghost."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Linemen Killed; Pole Collapses

SAN JOSE (AP) — Two Pacific Gas & Electric Co. linemen were crushed to death when a utility pole they were working on collapsed, smashing them to the pavement, authorities say.

Paul Gomez, 40, and Larry Kilmer, 27, both of San Jose, were pronounced dead on arrival at San Jose Hospital yesterday.

A central fire district spokesman said the men were on an old pole stringing wire to a new one when the older pole snapped and fell to the pavemen. Both men, strapped to the pole, were pinned beneath it.

Trobbe Might Start Against Mean Bruins

John Boro got his chance to play against mighty UCLA's basketball team Jan. 19, and this weekend Scott Trobbe will get his turn. It's not a job one should particularly relish.

Both cagers are Redwood High School alums, Boro now playing guard at University of San Francisco and Trobbe a reserve forward at Stanford. Boro, who scored 10 points and was credited with eight assists last night in USF's 104-77 mauling of Loyola in L.A., is a junior considered one of the best "sixth" men in college basketball.

Trobbe, 6-foot-6 sophomore, might get his chance to start this weekend, tonight at USC and then tomorrow night against the Bruins in Pauley Pavilion, no place for visitors if those visitors persist in trying to throw a ball through a hoop.

Said Stanford coach Howie Dallmar: "Dave Frost twisted his ankle on Monday while shooting all by himself, and he definitely won't be able to start this weekend. This means that Trobbe or Bob Buell will start in that forward position, and we will have to rely more on Steve Shupe and Tim Patterson. If Trobbe starts, it will mean four sophomores in the lineup, and we haven't seen that at Stanford for a long time."

Another former Redwood cager who is making himself known is Tim Hennessey, forward-guard for Oregon State University's junior varsity team. At the 20-game mark, Hennessey is averaging 17.2 points and nearly six rebounds per game.

MUSH! No, not to eat, shout it at the dogs. Marin County will have its share of competitors in this weekend's Sierra Nevada Dog Drivers races, sanctioned by the International Sled Dog Racing Association, at Hobart Mills, outside of Truckee.

President of the association is Bob Levorsen of Novato who will be there along with wife Bella and daughter Daphne. Also in the competition will be Tom Ainsworth of Novato, Laurie Leach of San Rafael and Joel Fruchtman of Sausalito. The Yukon comes to the Sierra.

KSFO'S GENE NELSON, a Sausalito commuter, will do just about anything for a laugh. Nelson, who does an evening show for that station, is flying to Arizona tomorrow to get in shape for his major league debut. That will be Friday, March 9, when he is allowed to swing a bat in the Giants-Cubs exhibition game in Scottsdale. That will be the Giants' first exhibition game of the year and KSFO will broadcast it back to the Bay Area. For Gene's sake, I hope Ferguson Jenkins doesn't bounce one of his hummers off Nelson's head.

IF SONOMA STATE beats Sacramento State tonight in Rohnert Park's biggest basketball game it will mean undisputed championship for the Cossacks. If you can't get to the Far Western Conference biggie, you can catch it on television tomorrow night, 24-hour delay, 8 p.m. on Santa Rosa's KFTY, Channel 50. That station will also carry a delayed telecast of the Sonoma-Stanislaus game, played tomorrow but shown Sunday, 7:30 p.m. KFTY can be seen on Cable Channel 11 in San Rafael and Cable Channel 12 in Novato.

IN SKATING

Karen Magnussen Is Unsure About Plans

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (UPI) — Karen Magnussen said today she was not certain whether she will defend the women's world figure skating title she brought back to Canada for the first time since Petra Burka won it in 1965.

"I have not thought about it yet," she said. "I will be pretty busy with exhibitions in Canada and Japan until May and only after that will I have time to think it over."

The 20-year-old student of psychology from Vancouver won the world title Thursday night with all nine judges awarding her the first place.

Her main rival, Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., beaten already after two falls in the compulsory free skating, came in second and Christine Errath, the European champion from East Germany, third.

Meanwhile, July McKinstry of Colorado Springs, Colo., formerly of San Rafael, continued her steady rise in the standings. She finished ninth after starting yesterday's competition in 10th. She was 12th after the first day of competition.

"I did not think about cutting my program to avoid risks," Miss Magnussen said. "I just wanted to skate the best I could."

Linda Brauckmann, her coach, said Karen left out only one tricky jump, a double loop, "but only because she got too near to the edge of the rink."

Miss Lynn was more direct about her future skating plans. "I am going to skate as long as I love it," she said.

There was some indication, however, that the 19-year-old five times U.S. champion was rather depressed by her unexpected poor showing in the compulsory free skating. She made up for it by a splendid final free skating routine that earned her two top marks of six—the only ones in the women's competition—but could not escape defeat.

MARIN PREP RELAYS SET TOMORROW

The 1973 high school track and field season will come slogging and skidding into the spotlight tomorrow with the Marin County Athletic League Relays at College of Marin.

Field events will begin at 11 a.m. and track events at noon, according to meet director Clyde Krusinski, head coach of host Tamalpais High School.

Practices have been hampered by heavy rains this winter, so times and distances probably will not be as good as could be expected, the league's coaches agreed.

Redwood High is defending champion in the Relays as well as in the league dual meet season, which this year will begin March 16.

Central Marin Ruth Signups Tomorrow

Central Marin Babe Ruth Baseball League will have its make-up signups tomorrow in the Redwood High School gymnasium between 9 a.m. and noon.

The Central Marin district covers Larkspur, Corte Madera, Kentfield, Ross and Greenbrae. Boys unable to attend should contact player agent Harry Del Grande or Augie Zunino no later than tomorrow night.

IT'S A GOAL!

George Salladin of the Marin Peewees hockey team was all joy after scoring a goal against Santa Rosa in a junior hockey match Wednesday in the Redwood Empire Ice Arena. Robert Cooperstein (down on the ice) and Jeff Southern scored the other Marin goals in the 3-2 victory. Watching the action was Santa Rosa's Tony Bassignani (right). The Marin team, champion of the Western Division, will take on Eastridge of San Jose, champ of the Eastern Division, for the Northern California championships this weekend in a two-game series. Tomorrow the teams will meet at 6:30 p.m. at Raydine's rink in Corte Madera and Sunday will clash in San Jose at 7:30 p.m.

FOR CROWNS

Two Marin Wrestlers Make Bids

Jon Loberg and Ron Losk, the two star wrestlers from Terra Linda High School, will have an opportunity to make history today and tomorrow.

Loberg a heavyweight, and Losk, a 194-pounder, will be competing in the state tournament at Hayward State University, and if they win, they will be the first Marinites ever to capture the state title.

Of course, that's because there hasn't been a state title available before this year. But who's going to worry abut technicalities like that?

Had there been a state championship held in 1969, it very well might have gone to the Donaldson twins of Novato High. As it was, Kirt won the 115-pound title and Ken the 123-pound crown in the Northern California Invitational, then the highest honor in existence.

Since then, no local wrestlers have advanced as far as the two Trojans. Each qualified for the state tournament by finishing a close second in the North Coast Section meet last Saturday at Tennyson High in Hayward.

The road to the state title is arduous, requiring five matches in two days to pare the 24 wrestlers in each class down to the champion. Weigh-ins were to be held from 9-11 a.m. today, with wrestling to begin at noon and run until 8 or 8:30 p.m. Action will resume tomorrow around 9 a.m., and finals are scheduled for 8 p.m.

Loberg and Losk have been working out against each other this week, as they have since the beginning of the year, so it might be said that each faces state tournament-caliber competition every day. The arrangement does wonders for Losk's strength and Loberg's quickness.

Loberg has been hampered by sore ribs, "but an opponent has to grab him just right to hurt him," said coach Bob Hetherington. Because of the injury, the workouts have been light this week.

Marin Sets Twin Bill

College of Marin's baseball team will play a doubleheader against Napa College tomorrow beginning at noon at the Tars' diamond in Kentfield, coach Vic Petreshene announced today.

Rodriguez Diet Beefs Up Game

The 126-Pound Golfer Is Tied For Citrus Lead

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Chi Chi Rodriguez, already the smallest golfer on the tour, has gone on a diet and it looks like the weight he's losing has beefed up his golf game.

Chi Chi only weighs 126 now. But he insists he's sticking to "steak and lobster" until he gets down to 120, "because I figure a man who is overweight dies young —and I want to live until I am 140."

You'd think that Rodriguez would be having trouble getting any distance with his golf shots. But the little Puerto Rican, long marveled at for being able to hit the ball as far as he does considering his size, says he's "feeling stronger than ever."

He certainly looked it Thursday when he shot an 8-underpar 64 in the opening round of the $150,000 Florida Citrus Open.

Chi Chi went into today's second round tied with Gibby Gilbert, a Tennessean who, at 5-foot-9, is only 1 ½ inches taller than Rodriguez —but outweighs him by 50 pounds.

Rodriguez, whose last victory was 10 months ago in the Byron Nelson Classic, and Gilbert, whose only victory was in the 1970 Houston Champions, shared a two-stroke lead over Floridian Bob Murphy, war hero Brian Allin and last year's college champ Tom Kite.

Right on their heels, after opening 67s, were Dave Hill, Ed Sneed and Bob Payne, who got a last-minute tournament berth as an alternate qualifier when Babe Hiskey withdrew.

Despite those brilliant 64s, Rodriguez and Gilbert still have plenty of competition as 27 golfers in the 147-man field shot in the 60s Thursday.

"I figured there'd be some good scores because that's the way this course plays," said Muprhy. "But, I was surprised the scores were as low as they were. The greens are excellent, but they are so much thicker than those we played on last week (in the Gleason Classic), I figured more people would be leaving their putts short."

Speaking of last week's play, Gleason winner Lee Trevino went into today's round seven strokes off the lead. And Forrest Fezler, the youngster who was worried about how blowing a three-stroke lead to Trevino this past Sunday might affect his play, is 10 strokes back after an opening 74. Napa's Ron Cerrudo carded a 72.

CHI CHI RODRIGUEZ
Tourney co-leader

As for the old standby, Arnold Palmer, who does his practicing on his own course near the site of the Citrus, had a 70 Thursday and so did remarkable Sam Snead who will be 61 in May. Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Billy Casper aren't playing here this week.

Rodriguez opened and closed with 20-foot birdie putts Thursday, the latter from off the fringe and sent him into an arms upstretched victory pose, for a 32-32 that included all 3s and 4s and only 27 putts.

Blue Holding Out; Giants Sign Bradley

Six Other A's Remain Unsigned

Combined AP & UPI

MESA, Ariz. — March 1 is considered the traditional date which establishes a holdout, so Vida Blue qualifies again.

Blue was making under $15,000 when he compiled a sensational 24-8 mark in 1971. This resulted in a lengthy holdout in 1972 that wasn't settled until the baseball commissioner entered the negotiations. Blue joined the team late and had a dismal 6-10 season.

This year's dispute reportedly rages over the question of whether Blue's base salary was $50,000 or $63,000, the latter figure including $13,000 in bonus money.

A source close to the situation Thursday called it "serious. There could be another holdout as long as last year."

Six other members of Oakland's world series champs are seeking raises, including Ken Holtzman, Rollie Fingers, Dave Duncan, Joe Rudi, Sal Bando and Don Shaw.

Holtzman, who is renting an apartment about a mile from the training camp but hasn't joined in the workouts, said Thursday he hadn't heard from owner Charles O. Finley since Jan. 16.

"We're only $5,000 apart," said Holtzman who is believed to be asking $65,000, or a raise of $10,000, on his 19-11 record with the world champions last season.

Fingers is said to be seeking about $50,000 and has been offered $42,000. The American League's top right-hand reliever last season, Fingers appeared in 75 games.

"Another season like that and I could be burned out," Fingers said.

Finley says he will do some serious negotiating with the dissatisfied athletes —including Blue —this weekend.

Reggie Jackson hoped to join today's practice session after visiting with team physician Dr. Harry Walker in Oakland for a checkup on his knees. Jackson injured his left knee in last season's American League playoff and has been bothered somewhat with his right knee this spring.

Basketball: Sonoma In Title Try

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Sonoma State College Cossacks can clinch their first Far-Western Conference basketball title tonight with a victory at Sacramento State.

A Sonoma letdown and two victories by second place Chico State over the weekend would result in a tie and force the teams into a playoff at University of California at Davis next week to see who goes to the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division tournament.

Steve Tiedeman of Sonoma will try to wrap up the FWC individual scoring title also. He carries a 21.1 point conference average into tonight's game. Walter Lewis of Hayward State and Rick Diregolo of Sacramento are tied for second with 20.3.

Sonoma, 9-2 in the FWC, finishes its regular season Saturday night at home against nonconference Stanislaus State. Chico, 7-3, hosts Hayward tonight and San Francisco State Saturday night.

In other games tonight, San Francisco is at Davis and Stanislaus at Humboldt.

Kent Cagers Capture Redwood Tournament

A. E. Kent School defeated Neil Cummins School last night, 54-46, to win the championship of the 15th annual Redwood Invitational Basketball Tournament for eight-grade schools in the attendance area of the Larkspur high school.

Del Mar defeated Ross for third place, 29-17, and Reedland Woods topped Hall for fifth. The all-tournament team consisted of Jim Connor, Gary Zunino and Dave Tuffli of Kent; Ed Ugarde and Dave De Martini of Cummins; Jeff Stewart and Pete Cooper of Del Mar; James Guerin of Ross; Dick Linvill of Reedland Woods and Lenny Tallerico of Hall.

Tars To Host Loop Stars Tonight At 8

Representatives of seven Camino Norte Conference teams will try to do collectively what they couldn't do individually — beat College of Marin — in a benefit basketball game tonight at 8 o'clock at the Tars' gym in Kentfield.

Even if the All-Stars extract their belated form of revenge, Marin still will come out ahead, as proceeds from the game will be used to defray the expenses the Tars will incur when they travel to Ventura March 8-10 to play for the state championship tourney.

Admission charge tonight will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and for children under 12. No passes will be honored.

Two standout sophomores from each of the other seven teams in the league will be coached by El Brown, coach of West Valley College, which tied for second in the conference and handed Marin its only defeat.

Brown will call on two of his standouts, Rick Hile and Paul Boskovich, but doubtlessly will divide up the playing time so all the Stars will get into the lineup, Marin coach John Panagakis said.

Also on hand will be the league's leading scorer according to the most recently available statistics, Floyd Harris of Contra Costa, and his teammate Tom Tatro. Others will be Bill Lewis and Steve Kircher of Canada, Dave Rathbun and Gary Hoffman of De Anza, Dave Thomas and Dave Long of Santa Rosa, Herlest Eastman and Jeff Wellemeyer of Skyline and Bob Grapes and Jim Hicks of Solano.

Final basketball standings in the Camino Norte Conference:

	W	L	Pct.	GB
Marin	13	1	.929	—
West Valley	9	5	.643	4
DeAnza	9	5	.643	4
Canada	7	7	.500	6

Fox Uses 4 Diamonds In Camp

Combined AP & UPI

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — To make up for time lost to player-management negotiations, manager Charlie Fox has his San Francisco Giants using four diamonds for their spring workouts here.

All but seven members of the club were on hand for the official opening of training camp Thursday, and the first intrasquad game already is set for Sunday.

Pitcher Tom Bradley is en route from Chicago by automobile and expected to sign a contract for around $35,000 on his arrival. Bradley was acquired in a trade with the Chicago White Sox.

Mike Sadek, a catcher up from the Phoenix farm club, has sent word his arrival is delayed by illness of an infant son.

The other five absent players, all unsigned, are second baseman Tito Fuentes, pitchers Jerry Johnson and Don Carrithers, catcher Fran Healey and outfielder Garry Matthews.

Checking in for the first time Thursday were shortstop Chris Speier, outfielder Garry Maddox and young catcher Jerry Brown.

Maddox showed up with a full beard, neatly trimmed, but was given the word to remove it.

"Some of the heads still are pretty wild with overgrowth too," said Fox. "We'll tend to that in the very near future."

Drake Visits Vallejo '5' Tonight

Drake High School's Marin County Athletic League championshi basketball team will be looking for its third victory in two years over the North Bay League champs Vallejo, tonight at 7:30 in the Apaches' gym.

The game will benefit the memorial fund for the late official Hal Nelson, who died earlier this year while officiating a non-league game in Santa Rosa.

Drake-Vallejo games have been exciting matchups in the last few years, creating a strong rivalry between the two schools. Last year, the Pirates scored a 66-61 upset of the eventual NBL champs, and this year edged the Apaches, 78-77, in one of the pre-season's thrillers.

That victory, however, came in the season's fourth game, and things have doubtlessly changed since then. Vallejo, which topped its league with a 13-1 slate (one game ahead of Ukiah) finished 23-4 overall, while Drake was 23-5 (12-2 in the MCAL).

Pirate coach Pete Hayward expects another classic battle tonight. "They have height,

Trobbe Might Start Against Mean Bruins

John Boro got his chance to play against mighty UCLA's basketball team Jan. 19, and this weekend Scott Trobbe will get his turn. It's not a job one should particularly relish.

Both cagers are Redwood High School alums, Boro now playing guard at University of San Francisco and Trobbe a reserve forward at Stanford. Boro, who scored 10 points and was credited with eight assists last night in USF's 104-77 mauling of Loyola in L.A., is a junior considered one of the best "sixth" men in college basketball.

Trobbe, 6-foot-6 sophomore, might get his chance to start this weekend, tonight at USC and then tomorrow night against the Bruins in Pauley Pavilion, no place for visitors if those visitors persist in trying to throw a ball through a hoop.

Said Stanford coach Howie Dallmar: "Dave Frost twisted his ankle on Monday while shooting all by himself, and he definitely won't be able to start this weekend. This means that Trobbe or Bob Buell will start in that forward position, and we will have to rely more on Steve Shupe and Tim Patterson. If Trobbe starts, it will mean four sophomores in the lineup, and we haven't seen that at Stanford for a long time."

Another former Redwood cager who is making himself known is Tim Hennessey, forward-guard for Oregon State University's junior varsity team. At the 20-game mark, Hennessey is averaging 17.2 points and nearly six rebounds per game.

MUSH! No, not to eat, shout it at the dogs. Marin County will have its share of competitors in this weekend's Sierra Nevada Dog Drivers races, sanctioned by the International Sled Dog Racing Association, at Hobart Mills, outside of Truckee.

President of the association is Bob Levorsen of Novato who will be there along with wife Bella and daughter Daphne. Also in the competition will be Tom Ainsworth of Novato, Laurie Leach of San Rafael and Joel Fruchtman of Sausalito. The Yukon comes to the Sierra.

KSFO'S GENE NELSON, a Sausalito commuter, will do just about anything for a laugh. Nelson, who does an evening show for that station, is flying to Arizona tomorrow to get in shape for his major league debut. That will be Friday, March 9, when he is allowed to swing a bat in the Giants-Cubs exhibition game in Scottsdale. That will be the Giants' first exhibition game of the year and KSFO will broadcast it back to the Bay Area. For Gene's sake, I hope Ferguson Jenkins doesn't bounce one of his hummers off Nelson's head.

IF SONOMA STATE beats Sacramento State tonight in Rohnert Park's biggest basketball game it will mean undisputed championship for the Cossacks. If you can't get to the Far Western Conference biggie, you can catch it on television tomorrow night, 24-hour delay, 8 p.m. on Santa Rosa's KFTY, Channel 50. That station will also carry a delayed telecast of the Sonoma-Stanislaus game, played tomorrow but shown Sunday, 7:30 p.m. KFTY can be seen on Cable Channel 11 in San Rafael and Cable Channel 12 in Novato.

IN SKATING

Karen Magnussen Is Unsure About Plans

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (UPI) — Karen Magnussen said today she was not certain whether she will defend the women's world figure skating title she brought back to Canada for the first time since Petra Burka won it in 1965.

"I have not thought about it yet," she said. "I will be pretty busy with exhibitions in Canada and Japan until May and only after that will I have time to think it over."

The 20-year-old student of psychology from Vancouver won the world title Thursday night with all nine judges awarding her the first place.

Her main rival, Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., beaten already after two falls in the compulsory free skating, came in second and Christine Errath, the European champion from East Germany, third.

Meanwhile, July McKinstry of Colorado Springs, Colo., formerly of San Rafael, continued her steady rise in the standings. She finished ninth after starting yesterday's competition in 10th. She was 12th after the first day of competition.

"I did not think about cutting my program to avoid risks," Miss Magnussen said. "I just wanted to skate the best I could."

Linda Brauckmann, her coach, said Karen left out only one tricky jump, a double loop, "but only because she got too near to the edge of the rink."

Miss Lynn was more direct about her future skating plans. "I am going to skate as long as I love it," she said.

There was some indication, however, that the 19-year-old five times U.S. champion was rather depressed by her unexpected poor showing in the compulsory free skating. She made up for it by a splendid final free skating routine that earned her two top marks of six—the only ones in the women's competition—but could not escape defeat.

MARIN PREP RELAYS SET TOMORROW

The 1973 high school track and field season will come slogging and skidding into the spotlight tomorrow with the Marin County Athletic League Relays at College of Marin.

Field events will begin at 11 a.m. and track events at noon, according to meet director Clyde Krusinski, head coach of host Tamalpais High School.

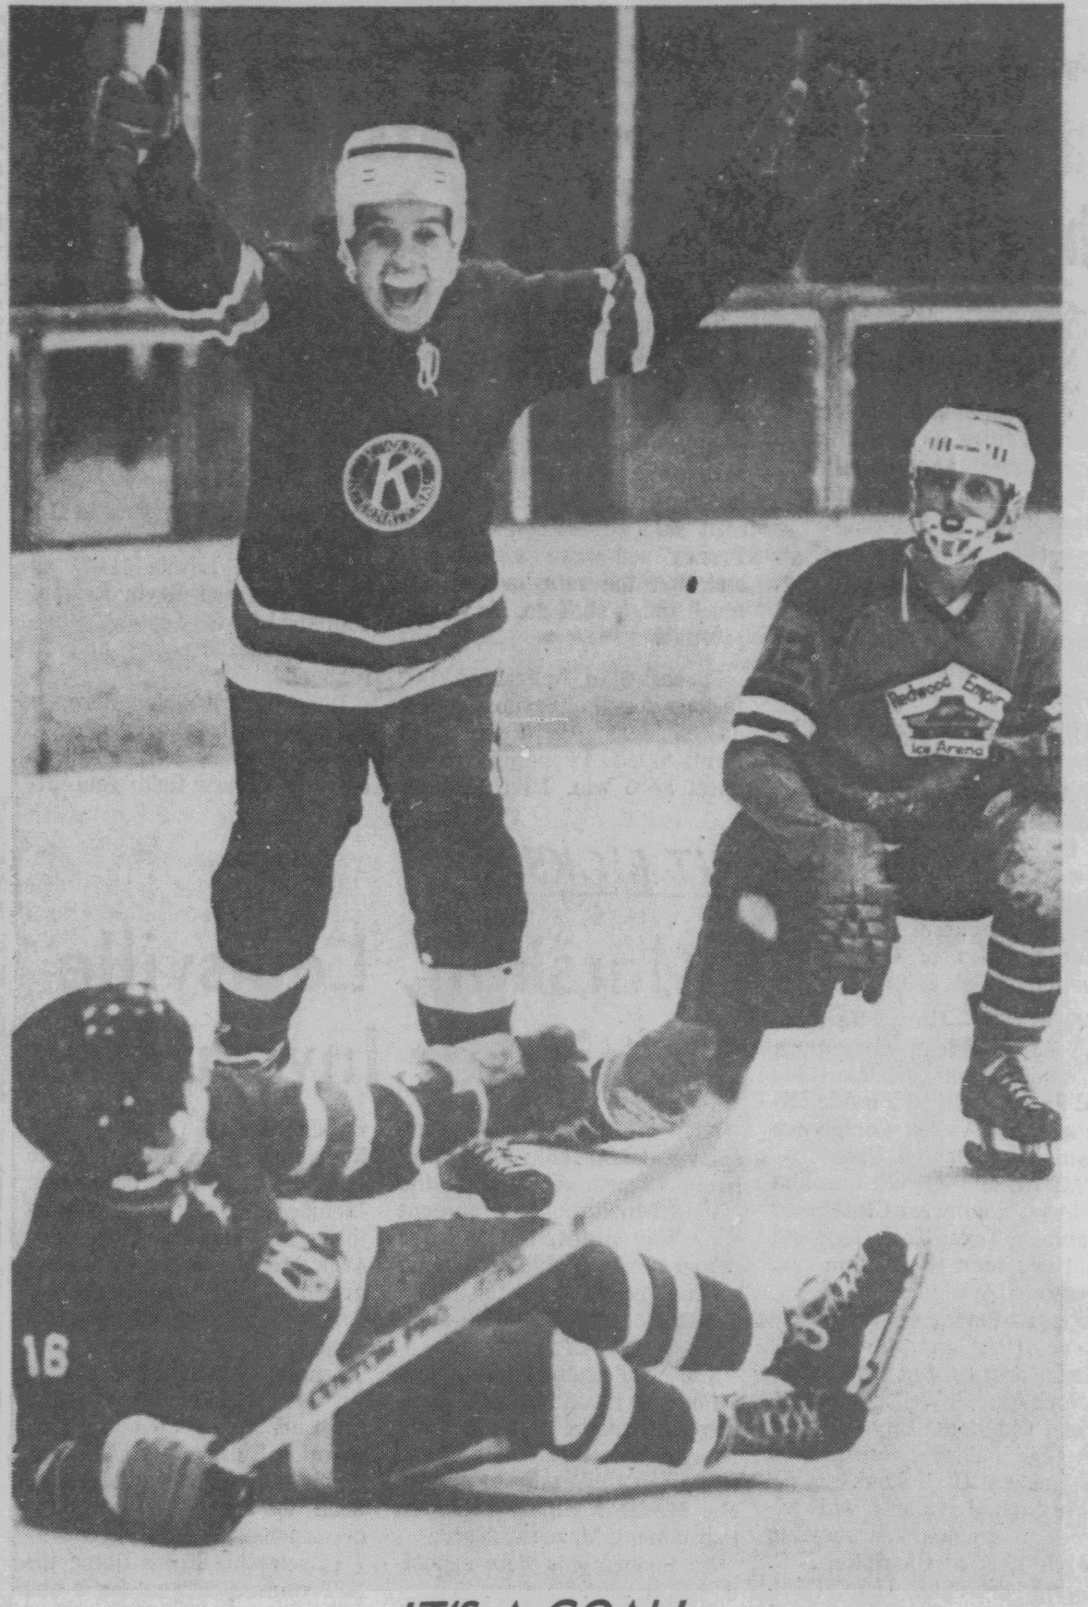
Practices have been hampered by heavy rains this winter, so times and distances probably will not be as good as could be expected, the league's coaches agreed.

Redwood High is defending champion in the Relays as well as in the league dual meet season, which this year will begin March 16.

Central Marin Ruth Signups Tomorrow

Central Marin Babe Ruth Baseball League will have its make-up signups tomorrow in the Redwood High School gymnasium between 9 a.m. and noon.

The Central Marin district covers Larkspur, Corte Madera, Kentfield, Ross and Greenbrae. Boys unable to attend should contact player agent Harry Del Grande or Augie Zunino no later than tomorrow night.



IT'S A GOAL!

George Salladin of the Marin Peewees hockey team was all joy after scoring a goal against Santa Rosa in a junior hockey match Wednesday in the Redwood Empire Ice Arena. Robert Cooperstein (down on the ice) and Jeff Southern scored the other Marin goals in the 3-2 victory. Watching the action was Santa Rosa's Tony Bassignani (right). The Marin team, champion of the Western Division, will take on Eastridge of San Jose, champ of the Eastern Division, for the Northern California championships this weekend in a two-game series. Tomorrow the teams will meet at 6:30 p.m. at Raydine's rink in Corte Madera and Sunday will clash in San Jose at 7:30 p.m.

FOR CROWNS

Two Marin Wrestlers Make Bids

Jon Loberg and Ron Losk, the two star wrestlers from Terra Linda High School, will have an opportunity to make history today and tomorrow.

Loberg a heavyweight, and Losk, a 194-pounder, will be competing in the state tournament at Hayward State University, and if they win, they will be the first Marinites ever to capture the state title.

Of course, that's because there hasn't been a state title available before this year. But who's going to worry abut technicalities like that?

Had there been a state championship held in 1969, it very well might have gone to the Donaldson twins of Novato High. As it was, Kirt won the 115-pound title and Ken the 123-pound crown in the Northern California Invitational, then the highest honor in existence.

Since then, no local wrestlers have advanced as far as the two Trojans. Each qualified for the state tournament by finishing a close second in the North Coast Section meet last Saturday at Tennyson High in Hayward.

The road to the state title is arduous, requiring five matches in two days to pare the 24 wrestlers in each class down to the champion. Weigh-ins were to be held from 9-11 a.m. today, with wrestling to begin at noon and run until 8 or 8:30 p.m. Action will resume tomorrow around 9 a.m., and finals are scheduled for 8 p.m.

Loberg and Losk have been working out against each other this week, as they have since the beginning of the year, so it might be said that each faces state tournament-caliber competition every day. The arrangement does wonders for Losk's strength and Loberg's quickness.

Loberg has been hampered by sore ribs, "but an opponent has to grab him just right to hurt him," said coach Bob Hetherington. Because of the injury, the workouts have been light this week.

Marin Sets Twin Bill

College of Marin's baseball team will play a doubleheader against Napa College tomorrow beginning at noon at the Tars' diamond in Kentfield, coach Vic Petreshene announced today.

Rodriguez Diet Beefs Up Game

The 126-Pound Golfer Is Tied For Citrus Lead

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Chi Chi Rodriguez, already the smallest golfer on the tour, has gone on a diet and it looks like the weight he's losing has beefed up his golf game.

Chi Chi only weighs 126 now. But he insists he's sticking to "steak and lobster" until he gets down to 120, "because I figure a man who is overweight dies young —and I want to live until I am 140."

You'd think that Rodriguez would be having trouble getting any distance with his golf shots. But the little Puerto Rican, long marveled at for being able to hit the ball as far as he does considering his size, says he's "feeling stronger than ever."

He certainly looked it Thursday when he shot an 8-underpar 64 in the opening round of the $150,000 Florida Citrus Open.

Chi Chi went into today's second round tied with Gibby Gilbert, a Tennessean who, at 5-foot-9, is only 1 ½ inches taller than Rodriguez —but outweighs him by 50 pounds.

Rodriguez, whose last victory was 10 months ago in the Byron Nelson Classic, and Gilbert, whose only victory was in the 1970 Houston Champions, shared a two-stroke lead over Floridian Bob Murphy, war hero Brian Allin and last year's college champ Tom Kite.

Right on their heels, after opening 67s, were Dave Hill, Ed Sneed and Bob Payne, who got a last-minute tournament berth as an alternate qualifier when Babe Hiskey withdrew.

Despite those brilliant 64s, Rodriguez and Gilbert still have plenty of competition as 27 golfers in the 147-man field shot in the 60s Thursday.

"I figured there'd be some good scores because that's the way this course plays," said Muprhy. "But, I was surprised the scores were as low as they were. The greens are excellent, but they are so much thicker than those we played on last week (in the Gleason Classic), I figured more people would be leaving their putts short."

Speaking of last week's play, Gleason winner Lee Trevino went into today's round seven strokes off the lead. And Forrest Fezler, the youngster who was worried about how blowing a three-stroke lead to Trevino this past Sunday might affect his play, is 10 strokes back after an opening 74. Napa's Ron Cerrudo carded a 72.

CHI CHI RODRIGUEZ
Tourney co-leader

As for the old standby, Arnold Palmer, who does his practicing on his own course near the site of the Citrus, had a 70 Thursday and so did remarkable Sam Snead who will be 61 in May. Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Billy Casper aren't playing here this week.

Rodriguez opened and closed with 20-foot birdie putts Thursday, the latter from off the fringe and sent him into an arms upstretched victory pose, for a 32-32 that included all 3s and 4s and only 27 putts.

Blue Holding Out; Giants Sign Bradley

Six Other A's Remain Unsigned

Combined AP & UPI

MESA, Ariz. — March 1 is considered the traditional date which establishes a holdout, so Vida Blue qualifies again.

Blue was making under $15,000 when he compiled a sensational 24-8 mark in 1971. This resulted in a lengthy holdout in 1972 that wasn't settled until the baseball commissioner entered the negotiations. Blue joined the team late and had a dismal 6-10 season.

This year's dispute reportedly rages over the question of whether Blue's base salary was $50,000 or $63,000, the latter figure including $13,000 in bonus money.

A source close to the situation Thursday called it "serious. There could be another holdout as long as last year."

Six other members of Oakland's world series champs are seeking raises, including Ken Holtzman, Rollie Fingers, Dave Duncan, Joe Rudi, Sal Bando and Don Shaw.

Holtzman, who is renting an apartment about a mile from the training camp but hasn't joined in the workouts, said Thursday he hadn't heard from owner Charles O. Finley since Jan. 16.

"We're only $5,000 apart," said Holtzman who is believed to be asking $65,000, or a raise of $10,000, on his 19-11 record with the world champions last season.

Fingers is said to be seeking about $50,000 and has been offered $42,000. The American League's top right-hand reliever last season, Fingers appeared in 75 games.

"Another season like that and I could be burned out," Fingers said.

Finley says he will do some serious negotiating with the dissatisfied athletes —including Blue —this weekend.

Reggie Jackson hoped to join today's practice session after visiting with team physician Dr. Harry Walker in Oakland for a checkup on his knees. Jackson injured his left knee in last season's American League playoff and has been bothered somewhat with his right knee this spring.

Basketball: Sonoma In Title Try

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Sonoma State College Cossacks can clinch their first Far-Western Conference basketball title tonight with a victory at Sacramento State.

A Sonoma letdown and two victories by second place Chico State over the weekend would result in a tie and force the teams into a playoff at University of California at Davis next week to see who goes to the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division tournament.

Steve Tiedeman of Sonoma will try to wrap up the FWC individual scoring title also. He carries a 21.1 point conference average into tonight's game. Walter Lewis of Hayward State and Rick Diregolo of Sacramento are tied for second with 20.3.

Sonoma, 9-2 in the FWC, finishes its regular season Saturday night at home against nonconference Stanislaus State. Chico, 7-3, hosts Hayward tonight and San Francisco State Saturday night.

In other games tonight, San Francisco is at Davis and Stanislaus at Humboldt.

Kent Cagers Capture Redwood Tournament

A. E. Kent School defeated Neil Cummins School last night, 54-46, to win the championship of the 15th annual Redwood Invitational Basketball Tournament for eight-grade schools in the attendance area of the Larkspur high school.

Del Mar defeated Ross for third place, 29-17, and Reedland Woods topped Hall for fifth. The all-tournament team consisted of Jim Connor, Gary Zunino and Dave Tuffli of Kent; Ed Ugarde and Dave De Martini of Cummins; Jeff Stewart and Pete Cooper of Del Mar; James Guerin of Ross; Dick Linvill of Reedland Woods and Lenny Tallerico of Hall.

Ditka Will Coach Cowboy Receivers

Combined AP & UPI

DALLAS — Mike Ditka, who has caught more passes for more yards than any other tight end in pro football history, retird yesterday to become the receiver coach for the Dallas Cowboys.

Ditka, 33, who played his last four seasons with the Cowboys, caught 427 passes during his career for 5,913 yards and 43 touchdowns. He played six seasons with the Chicago Bears and two with the Philadelphia Eagles before coming to Dallas in 1969.

"We're delighted to have Mike as a coach," said Dallas coach Tom Landry. "He has been a great player and has the potential to become a great coach. He had reached a point in his career where he was in a position to make a decision like this."

"We both feel coaching provides a greater opportunity for Mike than playing another year or two."

More Football

PHILADELPHIA — All-America tackle Jerry Sisemore of Texas, the Philadelphia Eagles' No. 1 draft choice, yesterday signed a multi-year contract with the National Football League team. Terms of the contract were not announced.

NEW YORK — Charles (Rip) Engle, the former head football coach at Brown and Penn State who never suffered a single losing season in his 16 years with Penn, was named yesterday to the National Football Hall of Fame.

Hockey

NEW YORK — Left winger Don Blackburn yesterday was sold by the New York Islanders to the Minnesota North Stars for an unspecified amount of cash and "future considerations" in a National Hockey League deal.

BOSTON — The Boston Bruins yesterday traded veteran forward Garnet (Ace) Bailey to the Detroit Red Wings for defenseman Gary Doak.

Managing director Harry Sinden said the Bruins were also giving up undisclosed "future considerations" in return for Doak, a 27-year-old blue-liner who earlier served with Boston.

Tennis

DETROIT — Billie Jean King defeated Pam Teeguarden, 6-2, 6-3, yesterday in the first round of play in the $25,000 Virginia Slims women's tennis tournament.

Julie Heldman of Houston won over Cici Martiniz of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-3. She will face third-seeded Rosemary Casals of Sausalito, who eliminated Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 1-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Baseball

MIAMI — Brooks Robinson, Baltimore Orioles infielder yesterday agreed to the club's salary terms for an estimated $105,000.

YMCA Tennis Club Memberships Open

Sixty down, 80 to go.

To finance a $35,000 Marin County four-court tennis facility, the Young Men's Christian Association is seeking a 140-family enrollment. Since Nov. 1, the YMCA tennis committee, trying to foster a net program with a family atmosphere, has scoured the county seeking members to meet the quota needed to match the building costs.

YMCA executive director Jim Looney expresses confidence the goal will be reached and that the facility will open "early in the summer."

He adds, "We're determined to build it, and, so far, we've had pretty good response from the community. I admit that the holidays and bad weather have slowed up the enrollment, but with better weather ahead, we'll make it. We'll hang in there until we get our 140."

Looney believes that with better weather, "the people will start thinking more about tennis. And we're confident that we haven't exhausted our sources yet."

By sources, Looney was alluding to people, not just money. "Our committee is going out and contacting people who have shown an interest in the game — people who have taken tennis lessons, for example. We also go through tennis magazines to find prospects, and we send out information in our newsletter — and that should stimulate interest."

Although the facility will be for YMCA members only, Marinites can join by paying $250 to the YMCA, plus $25 a year dues for YMCA family membership, according to tennis committee chairman George Bill. In addition, monthly tennis dues are $3. "A $25 deposit," Bill continues, "and completion of the membership application form will reserve tennis club membership."

Jeanne Evert Beats Netter Sharon Walsh

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Sharon Walsh of San Rafael discovered Thursday that the Evert charm exists regardless of which Evert is at the opposite end of the tennis court.

Jeanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale, 15-year-old sister of the top-seeded Chris, defeated Miss Walsh in the first round of the $50,000 S&H Green Stamps Women's Tennis Classic, 6-4, 7-5.

Miss Walsh did win her doubles match, however, teaming with Patti Hogan to defeat Carole Graebner and Linda Tuero, 6-4, 6-2.

In other key singles matches, Evonne Goolagong of Australia thrashed Janet Haas of Miami, 6-0, 6-1; Virginia Wade topped Isabel Fernandes, 7-5, 6-3; and Miss Hogan defeated Mrs. Graebner, who became ill, 2-6, 7-6, 2-0 retired.

The game fills a two-week scheduling void between the two squads' regular season closing and the opening of post season tournaments. Drake is scheduled to begin play in the Tournament of Champions next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Oakland Coliseum Arena against Oakland's Castlemont, while Vallejo starts play in the Top of the Bay Classic against Concord on the same night.

Hayward expects few coaching problems from the game, "If we lose, we could go flat, but the players are good competitors. The game should only help us in the TOC."

St. Vincent Cagers Win In Tourney

Bob Vyenielo scored 28 points last night to lead St. Vincent High School to a 61-50 victory over California School for the Deaf of Berkeley in the opening round of the St. Vincent Basketball Invitational Tourney in Petaluma.

In other opening round games, Tomales was defeated 68-58 by South Fork, Concordia beat Geyserville 58-54 and Anderson Valley of Boonville drubbed Willits, 64-46.

Tonight St. Vincent faces Anderson Valley at 9 o'clock, South Fork and Concordia go at 7:30, and in the losers bracket, Tomales and Geyserville meet at 4:30 and Willits plays California School for the Deaf at 6.

St. Vincent held just a two-point edge over the smaller Eagles, 33-31, with 4:56 to play in the third quarter, but the Mustangs rallied behind Rob Laughran and Vyenielo and stretched their lead to 10 points early in the fourth period.

"We can play better," Mustang coach Ed Major commented after the game. "We made some mistakes, but in the end we did what we wanted and got the ball inside to Bob (Vyenielo)."

Tomales was tied with South Fork at the end of three quarters at 45, but the Braves wilted in the fourth quarter and were outscored by the final 10-point margin.

With just four minutes left to play, the Bear Cubs had a 57-54 lead when Tomales' John Ball and Mike Camp fouled out, leaving the Braves with no board strength.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — South Carolina was moved to the Midwest and Oklahoma City to the West Thursday as the National Collegiate Athletic Association filled its nine at-large berths and announced firstround pairings for games March 10.

First-round pairings, all to be played on March 10:

Regional winners will advance to the final round March 24-26 in St. Louis.

Warriors Host Kings Tonight In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) — Hoping to shake the nightmare of Detroit and Boston, the Golden State Warriors tackle the Kansas City-Omaha Kings tonight at the Coliseum-Arena.

There's a slight consolation. It will be the last time this season the Warriors must face Nate Archibald, the Kings six-foot, 155-pound whiz, who tops the National Basketball Association in scoring with 34 points a game and in assists.

If Archibald remains as hot as Rick Barry of the Warriors is cold, it should be a Kings walkaway.

Barry hit on only 4-of-30 from the floor in Golden State losses to the Pistons and Celtics.

Molinari Scores 16; Carpenters Win Title

Jerry Molinari scored 16 points last night to lead George and Charles Carpenter to a 51-43, double-overtime victory over Suburban Auto in the "C" league championship game in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball.

In other games, Bob Gray scored 21 points as the Sharks defeated MacArthur's, 58-41, and Jim Banany tallied 14 as the Seasons beat McPhail's, 45-28.

'Bird' Gets Revenge Against Santa Clara

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There are some Birds it just doesn't pay to anger—they come back and hurt you.

When Santa Clara beat Pepperdine in a wild 86-77 slugfest earlier this year, national scoring leader William "Bird" Averitt said he thought that the Broncs' win wasn't a fair one and that the refs had let too much rough stuff go. He vowed revenge.

It came in heartbreaking fashion for the Broncs Thursday night as Averitt scored 40 points to lead Pepperdine to the upset 89-85 win. Mike Stewart hit 24 for the losers, now 10-3 in the West Coast Athletic Conference and 18-7 for the year—which may not even impress National Invitational Tournament officials.

University of San Francisco meanwhile ran its record to 11-2 with only one game to go by disposing of Loyola 114-77 as Phil Smith and Kevin Restani combined for 51. Loyola's Steve Smith had 22 points and 20 rebounds.

Dons' guard John Boro, a Redwood High School graduate, added 10 points by connecting on five of six field goal attempts. He also contributed eight assists.

Santa Clara figures to make it 11-3 Saturday against Loyola and then it will be USF trying to avoid getting the Bird from Pepperdine Sunday afternoon in the regular season finale. But right now, it appears that the Dons will join University of California at Los Angeles and Long Beach State as the Coast's National Collegiate Athletic Association representatives.

Long Beach, perhaps looking ahead to a Saturday clash with Marquette, only downed Fresno State 72-62 at the 49ers' gym, where the hosts are usually invincible. Ed Ratleff hit 20 and Leonard Gray 16 for the winners. Marquette is rated No. 4 and Long Beach State No. 5 so Saturday's battle should be a fine one.

Tonight, UCLA and University of Southern California host California and Stanford respectively with the Bruins shooting for No. 69 in a row. Bill Walton, College Player of the Year as a soph, figures to repeat a sweep of the honors as he is hitting 20.1 points a game and grabbing 17.8 rebounds per contest. USC is also trying to interest the NIT officials and a couple big wins this weekend wouldn't hurt its chances.

In more games tonight, Nevada-Las Vegas is at Seattle, University of California at Santa Barbara at San Jose State, and Los Angeles State at University of Pacific.

The NCAA Western Division tourney now shapes up like this. It will be Long Beach (23-2) against Big Sky champ Weber State (19-5) and Oklahoma City (20-5) against the Western Athletic Conference king March 10 at Utah State. The winners take on UCLA and, apparently, USF.

Marshall, Louisville Wait For Invitations

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marshall and Louisville more than likely earned a spot in the National Invitation Tournament Thursday night, but neither school is expected to receive an official bid to the 36th annual post-season classic before Monday.

The NIT committee began filling its 16-team field Thursday afternoon by selecting Notre Dame, Virginia Tech and American University to play in the Madison Square Garden tournament, March 17-25.

No further bids were expected before noon Monday.

Marshall, an independent, will be hard to overlook. The Thundering Herd finished their regular season Thursday night by whipping Samford 77-65 to climax a nifty 20-6 campaign. Included among the Herd's victories this season are triumphs over Florida State, Oral Roberts and National Collegiate Athletic Association-bound Miami (Ohio).

Louisville clinched at least a tie for second place in the Missouri Valley Conference by downing Tulsa, 69-62. The Cardinals are 21-6 overall and have been to the NIT on several occassions.

In selecting Notre Dame the NIT committee went for a box office attraction and overlooked the Irish's mediocre 14-11 record.

Ditka Will Coach Cowboy Receivers

Combined AP & UPI

DALLAS — Mike Ditka, who has caught more passes for more yards than any other tight end in pro football history, retird yesterday to become the receiver coach for the Dallas Cowboys.

Ditka, 33, who played his last four seasons with the Cowboys, caught 427 passes during his career for 5,913 yards and 43 touchdowns. He played six seasons with the Chicago Bears and two with the Philadelphia Eagles before coming to Dallas in 1969.

"We're delighted to have Mike as a coach," said Dallas coach Tom Landry. "He has been a great player and has the potential to become a great coach. He had reached a point in his career where he was in a position to make a decision like this."

"We both feel coaching provides a greater opportunity for Mike than playing another year or two."

More Football

PHILADELPHIA — All-America tackle Jerry Sisemore of Texas, the Philadelphia Eagles' No. 1 draft choice, yesterday signed a multi-year contract with the National Football League team. Terms of the contract were not announced.

NEW YORK — Charles (Rip) Engle, the former head football coach at Brown and Penn State who never suffered a single losing season in his 16 years with Penn, was named yesterday to the National Football Hall of Fame.

Hockey

NEW YORK — Left winger Don Blackburn yesterday was sold by the New York Islanders to the Minnesota North Stars for an unspecified amount of cash and "future considerations" in a National Hockey League deal.

BOSTON — The Boston Bruins yesterday traded veteran forward Garnet (Ace) Bailey to the Detroit Red Wings for defenseman Gary Doak.

Managing director Harry Sinden said the Bruins were also giving up undisclosed "future considerations" in return for Doak, a 27-year-old blue-liner who earlier served with Boston.

Tennis

DETROIT — Billie Jean King defeated Pam Teeguarden, 6-2, 6-3, yesterday in the first round of play in the $25,000 Virginia Slims women's tennis tournament.

Julie Heldman of Houston won over Cici Martiniz of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-3. She will face third-seeded Rosemary Casals of Sausalito, who eliminated Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 1-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Baseball

MIAMI — Brooks Robinson, Baltimore Orioles infielder yesterday agreed to the club's salary terms for an estimated $105,000.

YMCA Tennis Club Memberships Open

Sixty down, 80 to go.

To finance a $35,000 Marin County four-court tennis facility, the Young Men's Christian Association is seeking a 140-family enrollment. Since Nov. 1, the YMCA tennis committee, trying to foster a net program with a family atmosphere, has scoured the county seeking members to meet the quota needed to match the building costs.

YMCA executive director Jim Looney expresses confidence the goal will be reached and that the facility will open "early in the summer."

He adds, "We're determined to build it, and, so far, we've had pretty good response from the community. I admit that the holidays and bad weather have slowed up the enrollment, but with better weather ahead, we'll make it. We'll hang in there until we get our 140."

Looney believes that with better weather, "the people will start thinking more about tennis. And we're confident that we haven't exhausted our sources yet."

By sources, Looney was alluding to people, not just money. "Our committee is going out and contacting people who have shown an interest in the game — people who have taken tennis lessons, for example. We also go through tennis magazines to find prospects, and we send out information in our newsletter — and that should stimulate interest."

Although the facility will be for YMCA members only, Marinites can join by paying $250 to the YMCA, plus $25 a year dues for YMCA family membership, according to tennis committee chairman George Bill. In addition, monthly tennis dues are $3. "A $25 deposit," Bill continues, "and completion of the membership application form will reserve tennis club membership."

Jeanne Evert Beats Netter Sharon Walsh

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Sharon Walsh of San Rafael discovered Thursday that the Evert charm exists regardless of which Evert is at the opposite end of the tennis court.

Jeanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale, 15-year-old sister of the top-seeded Chris, defeated Miss Walsh in the first round of the $50,000 S&H Green Stamps Women's Tennis Classic, 6-4, 7-5.

Miss Walsh did win her doubles match, however, teaming with Patti Hogan to defeat Carole Graebner and Linda Tuero, 6-4, 6-2.

In other key singles matches, Evonne Goolagong of Australia thrashed Janet Haas of Miami, 6-0, 6-1; Virginia Wade topped Isabel Fernandes, 7-5, 6-3; and Miss Hogan defeated Mrs. Graebner, who became ill, 2-6, 7-6, 2-0 retired.

Alston's Longevity

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Walter Alston has signed 20 contracts to manage the Dodgers, all of them one year in duration. The one-year managerial contract, a Dodgers' management policy, does not prevent Alston now 61, from being the dean of all major league baseball managers.

speed and pride. The only thing we're missing is the height," he said.

The game fills a two-week scheduling void between the two squads' regular season closing and the opening of post season tournaments. Drake is scheduled to begin play in the Tournament of Champions next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Oakland Coliseum Arena against Oakland's Castlemont, while Vallejo starts play in the Top of the Bay Classic against Concord on the same night.

Hayward expects few coaching problems from the game, "If we lose, we could go flat, but the players are good competitors. The game should only help us in the TOC."

Marshall, Louisville Wait For Invitations

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marshall and Louisville more than likely earned a spot in the National Invitation Tournament Thursday night, but neither school is expected to receive an official bid to the 36th annual post-season classic before Monday.

The NIT committee began filling its 16-team field Thursday afternoon by selecting Notre Dame, Virginia Tech and American University to play in the Madison Square Garden tournament, March 17-25.

No further bids were expected before noon Monday.

Marshall, an independent, will be hard to overlook. The Thundering Herd finished their regular season Thursday night by whipping Samford 77-65 to climax a nifty 20-6 campaign. Included among the Herd's victories this season are triumphs over Florida State, Oral Roberts and National Collegiate Athletic Association-bound Miami (Ohio).

Louisville clinched at least a tie for second place in the Missouri Valley Conference by downing Tulsa, 69-62. The Cardinals are 21-6 overall and have been to the NIT on several occassions.

In selecting Notre Dame the NIT committee went for a box office attraction and overlooked the Irish's mediocre 14-11 record.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

New Money Source Being Searched For

With new problems concerning the fish and wildlife of our state, the California Fish and Game Department, which is responsible for the protection and management of California's fish and game and other wildlife animals, is looking for funds other than those obtained from the sale of licenses to hunters and fishermen.

Hunters and fishermen are now contributing funds to the care and protection of lizards, snakes, frogs, tortoises and other rare and endangered species. Other services of all types are also provided for the general public; all supported and paid for by the hunter and fisherman.

FOR NEARLY three-quarters of a century, since the first fish and game protective laws were enacted in 1901, the Department of Fish and Game has been responsible for the protection and management of California's fish and wildlife resources.

Traditionally, funds to support this mission have come from the sale of fishing and hunting licenses and taxes imposed on fishing and hunting equipment.

BUT WITH THE enactment of recent legislation dealing with ecological reserves and endangered species, the department has been handed new responsibilities. These laws call for increased protection and enhancement of nongame fish and wildlife resources, particularly those resources threatened with extinction.

Nearly two years ago the Fish and Game Commission declared 43 animals to be endangered or rare — this in accordance with authority granted by the Legislature. Then, the following January, the department issued its first report on the threatened species.

The department recently submitted to the joint legislative budget committee a description of its programs to implement recommendations made in the January, 1972, report.

FOR NON GAME fish and wildlife programs the department now spends $1,275,770, of which $681,000 is in recurring costs of nongame research, protection and management and $594,770 nonrecurring expenditures associated with implementing the Ecological Reserve Act.

Annual nongame operating expenses of the department are expected to increase to $753,000 in 1973-74, to $903,000 in 1974-75, to $978,000 in 1975-76 and to $1,025 in 1976-77.

This schedule, obviously, is dependent on approval of recommended increases in funding.

FUNDING AT THE recommended levels would not only augment regional protection and management activities, but would provide urgently needed special investigation projects for fish, amphibians and reptiles.

The deparmtnet expects to spend in the current fiscal year on land acquisition and development for habitat critical to fish and wildlife $594,770. This program would enable the department to take over areas in immediate threat of economic development that are needed for the continued survival of many of California's endangered and rare fish and wildlife.

THE DEPARTMENT is also recommending that beginning in 1974-75 a portion of the recurring cost of providing programs of research, protection and management of nongame fish and wildlife — including rare and endangered species — be derived from funds other than those obtained from licensed hunters and fishermen.

One possible source of the extra funds is an admission charge for visitors to wildlife refuges.

The department is also recommending that all nonrecurring costs for acquisition of habitat and development for the protection and enhancement of nongame fish and wildlife continue to be derived from the Environmental Protection Fund.

WITH ALL THE rains and wind, all fishing efforts have been slowed, but here's the prize story of the week. Dick Kennedy — formerly known as "Two Rod," finally made it! Dick, who fishes out of Loch Lomond, went out with Tom Miller, that 14-year-old top sturgeon fishing kid. They only had two hour's time — it was a last minute trip. They fished at the entrance to the San Rafael canal at the Bird Cage marker. It was Kennedy's 11th trip without a sturgeon. This day, he was using a newly bought flyrod baited with ghost shrimp. In just one hour both were back at the dock amid screaming sirens and boat whistles. Dick had caught an 89-pound sturgeon! As he had it figured, he was the only guy alive who hadn't caught a sturgeon this year.

It's Lacrosse Time In Marin

Marin County's lacrosse season opens tomorrow.

The San Marin Lacrosse Club seniors will host Brigham Young University tomorrow at noon at Sinaloa Junior High School in Novato.

Two BYU players are from Novato, namely Marshall Roe and John Yeafoli. Yeafoli was the 1972 Most Valuable Player in the Ira Markwett junior program while playing for the Novato Church of the Latter Day Saints.

The Northern California Lacrosse Association's Ira Markwett junior program plays on Saturdays, starting March 10 and concluding May 19. Games will be held at San Marin, Marin Catholic, and Novato high schools at 10 a.m. and noon.

Schmidt Wins Golf Tourney

CHINO, Calif. (UPI) — Mark Schmidt, a 28-year-old former assistant pro from Santa Ana, Calif., shot a four-under-par 68 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 138 to win the eighth $25,000 Western Tournament Golf Association event.

Schmidt, who won $5,000, finished one shot in front of three other pros at the Western Hills course; Gary McCord, Riverside, Calif.; Ray Leach, of Novato, and Jim Dill, El Cajon, Calif.

McCord and Dill shot 68s in the final round while Leach carded a 70.

Some Wet Golfing At Mill Valley

Despite an affliction of acute wetness, the Mill Valley Golf Course remained fairly active this week with two tournaments.

Mesdames Frank Krn and Joanne Wheeler carded the best handicap scores in Club Trophy play with 71s. In President's Cup action, Byron Eggleston prevailed with a 70-10—60.

THE MILL VALLEY Men's club travels to Rohnert Park Sunday, March 18 for an 18-hole sweepstakes tourney. Tee off is 8:30 a.m. Heavy rains forced postponement of the Healdsburg at Mill Valley tournament. The March 11 date was pushed back to July 15, thus giving golfers the likely prospects of playing on a dry course.

FIRST ROUND of the Indian Valley Golf Club's Men's Spring Handicap tournament is set Sunday starting at 7 am. Some 64 club golfers are expected to participate in the match play competition over 18 holes for four consecutive Sundays.

REDWOOD FAVORED

AAU Is Having Effects On Marin Swim Loop Race

The outcome of this year's Marin County Athletic League swimming race may already have been decided behind the scenes in conferences between certain key swimmers and their coaches.

The decisions of some prominent Amateur Athletic Union performers to swim or not to swim in their high school programs are expected to have important effects on the chances of contenders Terra Linda, Redwood and San Rafael and challenger San Marin.

The league dual-meet season was scheduled to begin today with three meets — Drake at Novato, San Marin at Terra Linda and Redwood at San Rafael, all at 3:30 p.m. Tamalpais is idle and Marin Catholic does not have a program.

The MCAL Relays will be held tomorrow at 9 a.m. at Redwood High.

Terra Linda and Redwood tied for the championship last year with 9-1 records, splitting their two head-to-head confrontations, but the Trojans must do without the Deont brothers, Rick and Ken, who decided to concentrate on AAU swimming and forego the high school season, according to Terra Linda coach Bob Pollitt.

Redwood coach Rusty McManus, meanwhile, was able to persuade Spencer Eldred and Warren Lager to swim for the school, while San Rafael coach Bill Ranney talked Olympian Robin Backhaus into competing, and San Marin's Dave Barni can count on Art Morrill.

That leaves Redwood as the pre-season favorite. In addition to Eldred, a long freestyler, and Lager, who swims individual medley and breaststroke, the Giants also have freestyler John Redig, sprinter Troy Dunham and freestyler Brian Silcox.

McManus is one of two new coaches in the league, the other being Jim Naugle of Novato. McManus never has coached swimming before, but considers himself well-grounded in general coaching fundamentals. Redwood's coach last year, Dan Abballo, also was new to swimming, but his pennant hangs in the Giants' gym.

San Rafael coach Bill Ranney expects to have contenders for both the varsity and the Class B championships, and declined to reveal which team some of his swimmers would be assigned to, or what events they would be swimming.

Besides Backhaus, his cache of top swimmers includes Mike and Jeff Kalmer, Dave Kavrell, Eric Eisenberg and Sigfried (Siggie) Baerthel. "We have a strong nucleus of young sophomores on the 'B' team," he said, and freshmen Scott Hislop and Joe Dunn are good enough to swim varsity this year.

Despite the loss of the DeMonts, Terra Linda will not be weak. Pollitt will count on two outstanding breaststrokers, Keith Strange and Jeff Miller, a fine distance freestyler in Jon Fearn and two good divers, Dave Cotton and Mike Klunk.

Tamalpais has quality with freestyler Paul Moe, backstroker Dick Atwood and butterfly specialist Pat Norton, but coach Bill Anderson's squad lacks depth.

With a turnout of 17, Novato is "better off than last year" in Naugle's view. Butterfly and freestyle swimmer Bob Pattochi, breaststroker and freestylist Rod Ruona, freestyler Wayne Behrens and backstroker Randy Loveland are the Hornets' nucleus.

Drake, which did not compete at the varsity level last year, will attempt to go with only three or four varsity swimmers and 10 to 15 on the Class B team. Ten freshmen dot coach Dave Ramos' roster.

The department recently submitted to the joint legislative budget committee a description of its programs to implement recommendations made in the January, 1972, report.

FOR NON GAME fish and wildlife programs the department now spends $1,275,770, of which $681,000 is in recurring costs of nongame research, protection and management and $594,770 nonrecurring expenditures associated with implementing the Ecological Reserve Act.

Annual nongame operating expenses of the department are expected to increase to $753,000 in 1973-74, to $903,000 in 1974-75, to $978,000 in 1975-76 and to $1,025 in 1976-77.

This schedule, obviously, is dependent on approval of recommended increases in funding.

FUNDING AT THE recommended levels would not only augment regional protection and management activities, but would provide urgently needed special investigation projects for fish, amphibians and reptiles.

The deparmtnet expects to spend in the current fiscal year on land acquisition and development for habitat critical to fish and wildlife $594,770. This program would enable the department to take over areas in immediate threat of economic development that are needed for the continued survival of many of California's endangered and rare fish and wildlife.

THE DEPARTMENT is also recommending that beginning in 1974-75 a portion of the recurring cost of providing programs of research, protection and management of nongame fish and wildlife — including rare and endangered species — be derived from funds other than those obtained from licensed hunters and fishermen.

One possible source of the extra funds is an admission charge for visitors to wildlife refuges.

The department is also recommending that all nonrecurring costs for acquisition of habitat and development for the protection and enhancement of nongame fish and wildlife continue to be derived from the Environmental Protection Fund.

WITH ALL THE rains and wind, all fishing efforts have been slowed, but here's the prize story of the week. Dick Kennedy — formerly known as "Two Rod," finally made it! Dick, who fishes out of Loch Lomond, went out with Tom Miller, that 14-year-old top sturgeon fishing kid. They only had two hour's time — it was a last minute trip. They fished at the entrance to the San Rafael canal at the Bird Cage marker. It was Kennedy's 11th trip without a sturgeon. This day, he was using a newly bought flyrod baited with ghost shrimp. In just one hour both were back at the dock amid screaming sirens and boat whistles. Dick had caught an 89-pound sturgeon! As he had it figured, he was the only guy alive who hadn't caught a sturgeon this year.

It's Lacrosse Time In Marin

Marin County's lacrosse season opens tomorrow.

The San Marin Lacrosse Club seniors will host Brigham Young University tomorrow at noon at Sinaloa Junior High School in Novato.

Two BYU players are from Novato, namely Marshall Roe and John Yeafoli. Yeafoli was the 1972 Most Valuable Player in the Ira Markwett junior program while playing for the Novato Church of the Latter Day Saints.

The Northern California Lacrosse Association's Ira Markwett junior program plays on Saturdays, starting March 10 and concluding May 19. Games will be held at San Marin, Marin Catholic, and Novato high schools at 10 a.m. and noon.

Schmidt Wins Golf Tourney

CHINO, Calif. (UPI) — Mark Schmidt, a 28-year-old former assistant pro from Santa Ana, Calif., shot a four-under-par 68 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 138 to win the eighth $25,000 Western Tournament Golf Association event.

Schmidt, who won $5,000, finished one shot in front of three other pros at the Western Hills course; Gary McCord, Riverside, Calif.; Ray Leach, of Novato, and Jim Dill, El Cajon, Calif.

McCord and Dill shot 68s in the final round while Leach carded a 70.

Some Wet Golfing At Mill Valley

Despite an affliction of acute wetness, the Mill Valley Golf Course remained fairly active this week with two tournaments.

Mesdames Frank Krn and Joanne Wheeler carded the best handicap scores in Club Trophy play with 71s. In President's Cup action, Byron Eggleston prevailed with a 70-10—60.

THE MILL VALLEY Men's club travels to Rohnert Park Sunday, March 18 for an 18-hole sweepstakes tourney. Tee off is 8:30 a.m. Heavy rains forced postponement of the Healdsburg at Mill Valley tournament. The March 11 date was pushed back to July 15, thus giving golfers the likely prospects of playing on a dry course.

FIRST ROUND of the Indian Valley Golf Club's Men's Spring Handicap tournament is set Sunday starting at 7 am. Some 64 club golfers are expected to participate in the match play competition over 18 holes for four consecutive Sundays.

REDWOOD FAVORED

AAU Is Having Effects On Marin Swim Loop Race

The outcome of this year's Marin County Athletic League swimming race may already have been decided behind the scenes in conferences between certain key swimmers and their coaches.

The decisions of some prominent Amateur Athletic Union performers to swim or not to swim in their high school programs are expected to have important effects on the chances of contenders Terra Linda, Redwood and San Rafael and challenger San Marin.

The league dual-meet season was scheduled to begin today with three meets — Drake at Novato, San Marin at Terra Linda and Redwood at San Rafael, all at 3:30 p.m. Tamalpais is idle and Marin Catholic does not have a program.

The MCAL Relays will be held tomorrow at 9 a.m. at Redwood High.

Terra Linda and Redwood tied for the championship last year with 9-1 records, splitting their two head-to-head confrontations, but the Trojans must do without the Deont brothers, Rick and Ken, who decided to concentrate on AAU swimming and forego the high school season, according to Terra Linda coach Bob Pollitt.

Redwood coach Rusty McManus, meanwhile, was able to persuade Spencer Eldred and Warren Lager to swim for the school, while San Rafael coach Bill Ranney talked Olympian Robin Backhaus into competing, and San Marin's Dave Barni can count on Art Morrill.

That leaves Redwood as the pre-season favorite. In addition to Eldred, a long freestyler, and Lager, who swims individual medley and breaststroke, the Giants also have freestyler John Redig, sprinter Troy Dunham and freestyler Brian Silcox.

McManus is one of two new coaches in the league, the other being Jim Naugle of Novato. McManus never has coached swimming before, but considers himself well-grounded in general coaching fundamentals. Redwood's coach last year, Dan Abballo, also was new to swimming, but his pennant hangs in the Giants' gym.

San Rafael coach Bill Ranney expects to have contenders for both the varsity and the Class B championships, and declined to reveal which team some of his swimmers would be assigned to, or what events they would be swimming.

Besides Backhaus, his cache of top swimmers includes Mike and Jeff Kalmer, Dave Kavrell, Eric Eisenberg and Sigfried (Siggie) Baerthel. "We have a strong nucleus of young sophomores on the 'B' team," he said, and freshmen Scott Hislop and Joe Dunn are good enough to swim varsity this year.

Despite the loss of the DeMonts, Terra Linda will not be weak. Pollitt will count on two outstanding breaststrokers, Keith Strange and Jeff Miller, a fine distance freestyler in Jon Fearn and two good divers, Dave Cotton and Mike Klunk.

Tamalpais has quality with freestyler Paul Moe, backstroker Dick Atwood and butterfly specialist Pat Norton, but coach Bill Anderson's squad lacks depth.

With a turnout of 17, Novato is "better off than last year" in Naugle's view. Butterfly and freestyle swimmer Bob Pattochi, breaststroker and freestylist Rod Ruona, freestyler Wayne Behrens and backstroker Randy Loveland are the Hornets' nucleus.

Drake, which did not compete at the varsity level last year, will attempt to go with only three or four varsity swimmers and 10 to 15 on the Class B team. Ten freshmen dot coach Dave Ramos' roster.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Believe It Or Not, But This Play Stands On Head

According to one of my friends, the way to stay healthy is to stand on your head. He plays bridge that way too.

A LOW HEART

West opened the five of hearts, and my friend won in the South hand with the nine. Even from his peculiar position he saw that he needed dummy's diamonds to make the contract.

Now, a normal human being would lead a low diamond from the South hand and try a finesse with dummy's queen. And this would land him squarely in the minus column. Back would come a heart to dummy's ace, and South would have no diamonds, no game and no rubber.

YOGA PLAY

What has this to do with yoga? Don't forget my friend was standing on his head. He found a different way to play the diamonds: He got to dummy with a spade and then led a low diamond from the dummy.

Poor East, with K-x of diamonds, stepped up with the king for fear of losing it. (There are a dozen players in the country who would play a low diamond quickly and casually from the East hand, and there are a few hundred more who say they'd make this play.)

After East had played the king of diamonds, South had no further problems.

What if East held three diamonds instead of only two? Then South would have to lose two diamond tricks no matter how he played the suit.

What if West had the king of diamonds? South would take the normal diamond finesse later, and would lose nothing by his initial topsy-turvy play.

In short, my friend's play was perfectly correct.

Maybe it's a good way to write about bridge too!

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

Who's who on this birthday list? Picking the right name is the test. Score four to be the best.

1. JENNIFER JONES or JANET LEIGH is today's 54-year-old Hollywood celebrity. One month after meeting California's Norton Simon, millionaire businessman and yachtsman, this tall, dark-haired beauty said "Yes" to his marriage proposal. It happened so fast she didn't even have time to present him with "Love Letters" or a "Portrait of Jennie."

2. CESAR ROMERO or DESI ARNAZ celebrates his 56th birthday today. This Cuban-American got his start in show business as a bongo player with Xavier Cugat's orchestra. He was a sometime singer whose public declaration, "I Love Lucy," not only won the hand of a talented actress but catipulted both of them into one of television's most successful TV comedy series.

3. BENJAMIN SPOCK or TED GEISEL is the famous author of books for children, known to them all as "Dr. Seuss." Now 69 years old, he recalls how hard it was to get a publisher for his first children's story back in 1937. He was turned down by 29 publishers. Today he's reknowned for authoring best-sellers like "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" and "The Cat in the Hat."

4. HENRY KISSINGER or CARL SCHURZ celebrates a birthday today. This German immigrant fled Europe during the troubles of '48, settling in Wisconsin. It wasn't long until his brilliance was discovered as an attorney, orator, politician, military leader, journalist, and reformer.

ANSWERS: 1 - Jennifer Jones; 2 - Desi Arnaz; 3 - Ted Geisel; 4 - Carl Schurz.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Believe It Or Not, But This Play Stands On Head

According to one of my friends, the way to stay healthy is to stand on your head. He plays bridge that way too.

A LOW HEART

West opened the five of hearts, and my friend won in the South hand with the nine. Even from his peculiar position he saw that he needed dummy's diamonds to make the contract.

Now, a normal human being would lead a low diamond from the South hand and try a finesse with dummy's queen. And this would land him squarely in the minus column. Back would come a heart to dummy's ace, and South would have no diamonds, no game and no rubber.

YOGA PLAY

What has this to do with yoga? Don't forget my friend was standing on his head. He found a different way to play the diamonds: He got to dummy with a spade and then led a low diamond from the dummy.

Poor East, with K-x of diamonds, stepped up with the king for fear of losing it. (There are a dozen players in the country who would play a low diamond quickly and casually from the East hand, and there are a few hundred more who say they'd make this play.)

After East had played the king of diamonds, South had no further problems.

What if East held three diamonds instead of only two? Then South would have to lose two diamond tricks no matter how he played the suit.

What if West had the king of diamonds? South would take the normal diamond finesse later, and would lose nothing by his initial topsy-turvy play.

In short, my friend's play was perfectly correct.

Maybe it's a good way to write about bridge too!

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

Who's who on this birthday list? Picking the right name is the test. Score four to be the best.

1. JENNIFER JONES or JANET LEIGH is today's 54-year-old Hollywood celebrity. One month after meeting California's Norton Simon, millionaire businessman and yachtsman, this tall, dark-haired beauty said "Yes" to his marriage proposal. It happened so fast she didn't even have time to present him with "Love Letters" or a "Portrait of Jennie."

2. CESAR ROMERO or DESI ARNAZ celebrates his 56th birthday today. This Cuban-American got his start in show business as a bongo player with Xavier Cugat's orchestra. He was a sometime singer whose public declaration, "I Love Lucy," not only won the hand of a talented actress but catipulted both of them into one of television's most successful TV comedy series.

3. BENJAMIN SPOCK or TED GEISEL is the famous author of books for children, known to them all as "Dr. Seuss." Now 69 years old, he recalls how hard it was to get a publisher for his first children's story back in 1937. He was turned down by 29 publishers. Today he's reknowned for authoring best-sellers like "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" and "The Cat in the Hat."

4. HENRY KISSINGER or CARL SCHURZ celebrates a birthday today. This German immigrant fled Europe during the troubles of '48, settling in Wisconsin. It wasn't long until his brilliance was discovered as an attorney, orator, politician, military leader, journalist, and reformer.

ANSWERS: 1 - Jennifer Jones; 2 - Desi Arnaz; 3 - Ted Geisel; 4 - Carl Schurz.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

The Purpose Of Discount Brokers

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I recently read an article about a broker who saved sellers money on small odd-lot transactions. I would like to know if there really are any dealers who do this and how it is possible. Should I sell my four odd lots and buy 100 shares of one stock? — F.K.

A. As to your last question I see no reason to dispose of your four holdings if you are interested in income. In each case, earnings are satisfactory and the yield on the portfolio is a generous 6.7 per cent. To answer your first question, yes, there are a number of discount brokers operating in the larger cities around the country. Not all, however, handle small accounts. By eliminating services, such as research, recommendations and certificate safekeeping facilities, costs are kept to a minimum. These discounters are not exchange member firms but rather belong to the National Association of Security Dealers, NASD. As such they are covered by SIPC, the investor insurance plan.

Purchases and sales are transacted in the third market, that is, listed securities which are traded over-the-counter rather than through the exchange on which they are listed. Less than half the ASE and NYSE-listed issues are traded in the third market. Thus, reduced commissions are not obtainable on securities.

Q. I hold 100 shares of National Distillers (NYSE) bought at 16½. I hear the dividend is not secure. Would you advise selling? — G.K.

A. In my opinion National Distillers' dividend appears secure. For 1972 the company paid out 70 per cent of earnings in dividends, right on target with the payout of the previous five years. Furthermore earnings were up a satisfactory 15 per cent for the year. Liquor sales were disappointing last year with declines in bourbons and blends offsetting gains in gin, vodka and scotch sales. However, cyclical economic recovery benefited the company's chemical and metals division so that total sales rose 6 per cent to $1.15 billion. At only 11x projected earnings, downside risk is minimal. Hold.

Investors Wary About Devaluation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices on the New York Stock Exchange rebounded somewhat from early morning losses today but investors remained wary about the latest monetary crisis. Trading was moderately active.

The stock market remained nervous about the future value of the dollar as more foreign exchange markets abroad shut down. An onslaught of dollars prompted foreign central bank intervention to hold the established parities. Speculators sold dollars in anticipation of the floating of European currencies.

President Nixon, at a news conference near noon, told newsmen the dollar would weather the latest crisis and there would not be another dollar devaluation.

Champion International was the most active issue, off ⅛ at 17 ½ in 243,000 shares, including a block trade of 239,500 shares at 17 ½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were lower in moderate trading. Imperial Oil, Ltd. was the most active issue, off ¾ at 37 ⅞ on 167,400 shares.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Interest Is A Deductible Item Only If Debt Is Legally Owed

Interest paid is deductible if you are legally liable for the debt. You cannot deduct interest you pay for another if you were not legally liable to pay.

Interest is deductible in several places on your tax return. 1. Interest on personal things like your home, automobile, etc., is deductible only if you itemize your deductions on Schedule A. 2. Interest on property you rent to others is deductible on Schedule E, part II — Rent and Royalty Income. 3. Interest paid in connection with your trade or business is deductible on Schedule C.

The interest is deductible depending on what you use the loan money for, not on the property which secures the loan. For instance, if you borrow money on your home and use it to improve a piece of rental property you own, you can deduct the interest on the Rental Schedule.

If you are self-employed and your business borrows money which you use for personal purposes, the interest is not deductible as a business expense on Schedule C, but only as a Schedule A deduction if you itemize.

Your investment interest deduction is limited to not more than $25,000 ($12,500 separate return), plus the excess of net long-term capital gain from investments over net short-term capital loss from investments. If investment interest exceeds the sum of these amounts, only one-half the excess is deductible this year. The nondeductible one-half may be carried over and deducted in future years under complex rules.

Points you paid to get a loan are not interest if they are for services and are not deductible. If they are solely for the use of the money, they are deductible as interest.

"Points" paid by the seller are not interest but an expense of sale.

Prepayment penalties are interest and are deductible.

The Revenue Service has reversed itself on interest charges made by retail stores, credit cards, etc.

Previously, finance charges on your retail store account were deductible only to the extent of 6 per cent of the average monthly unpaid balance.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

The Purpose Of Discount Brokers

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I recently read an article about a broker who saved sellers money on small odd-lot transactions. I would like to know if there really are any dealers who do this and how it is possible. Should I sell my four odd lots and buy 100 shares of one stock? — F.K.

A. As to your last question I see no reason to dispose of your four holdings if you are interested in income.In each case, earnings are satisfactory and the yield on the portfolio is a generous 6.7 per cent. To answer your first question, yes, there are a number of discount brokers operating in the larger cities around the country. Not all, however, handle small accounts. By eliminating services, such as research, recommendations and certificate safekeeping facilities, costs are kept to a minimum. These discounters are not exchange member firms but rather belong to the National Association of Security Dealers, NASD. As such they are covered by SIPC, the investor insurance plan.

Purchases and sales are transacted in the third market, that is, listed securities which are traded over-the-counter rather than through the exchange on which they are listed. Less than half the ASE and NYSE-listed issues are traded in the third market. Thus, reduced commissions are not obtainable on securities.

Q. I hold 100 shares of National Distillers (NYSE) bought at 16½. I hear the dividend is not secure. Would you advise selling? — G.K.

A. In my opinion National Distillers' dividend appears secure. For 1972 the company paid out 70 per cent of earnings in dividends, right on target with the payout of the previous five years. Furthermore earnings were up a satisfactory 15 per cent for the year. Liquor sales were disappointing last year with declines in bourbons and blends offsetting gains in gin, vodka and scotch sales. However, cyclical economic recovery benefited the company's chemical and metals division so that total sales rose 6 per cent to $1.15 billion. At only 11x projected earnings, downside risk is minimal. Hold.

Investors Wary About Devaluation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices on the New York Stock Exchange rebounded somewhat from early morning losses today but investors remained wary about the latest monetary crisis. Trading was moderately active.

The stock market remained nervous about the future value of the dollar as more foreign exchange markets abroad shut down. An onslaught of dollars prompted foreign central bank intervention to hold the established parities. Speculators sold dollars in anticipation of the floating of European currencies.

President Nixon, at a news conference near noon, told newsmen the dollar would weather the latest crisis and there would not be another dollar devaluation.

Champion International was the most active issue, off ⅛ at 17 ½ in 243,000 shares, including a block trade of 239,500 shares at 17 ½.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Interest Is A Deductible Item Only If Debt Is Legally Owed

Interest paid is deductible if you are legally liable for the debt. You cannot deduct interest you pay for another if you were not legally liable to pay.

Interest is deductible in several places on your tax return. 1. Interest on personal things like your home, automobile, etc., is deductible only if you itemize your deductions on Schedule A. 2. Interest on property you rent to others is deductible on Schedule E, part II — Rent and Royalty Income. 3. Interest paid in connection with your trade or business is deductible on Schedule C.

The interest is deductible depending on what you use the loan money for, not on the property which secures the loan. For instance, if you borrow money on your home and use it to improve a piece of rental property you own, you can deduct the interest on the Rental Schedule.

If you are self-employed and your business borrows money which you use for personal purposes, the interest is not deductible as a business expense on Schedule C, but only as a Schedule A deduction if you itemize.

Your investment interest deduction is limited to not more than $25,000 ($12,500 separate return), plus the excess of net long-term capital gain from investments over net short-term capital loss from investments. If investment interest exceeds the sum of these amounts, only one-half the excess is deductible this year. The nondeductible one-half may be carried over and deducted in future years under complex rules.

Points you paid to get a loan are not interest if they are for services and are not deductible. If they are solely for the use of the money, they are deductible as interest.

"Points" paid by the seller are not interest but an expense of sale.

Prepayment penalties are interest and are deductible.

The Revenue Service has reversed itself on interest charges made by retail stores, credit cards, etc.

Previously, finance charges on your retail store account were deductible only to the extent of 6 per cent of the average monthly unpaid balance.

BY CAPITOL LOBBYISTS

New Legislators Wooed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Despite a tarnished public image, lobbyists quickly have won their way into the good graces of the legislature's all-male 1973 freshman class — with one notable exception.

The 15 neophytes — including a "beach rat," an artist and an all-American basketball player — generally have reached the same conclusion about lobbyists as that once expressed by former Assembly Speaker Jess Unruh:

"If you can't eat their food, drink their booze, (love) their women and then vote against them, you have no business being up here."

Saddled with relatively light legislative loads, the 12 Democratic and three GOP freshmen lawmakers have spent much of their first two months getting acquainted with the hundreds of lobbyists in the Capitol at free luncheons, dinners and cocktail parties.

"I'm not afraid of them," says freshman Assemblyman Bill Bond, R-Long Beach, a former Stanford University basketball star. "Lobbyists form a very essential arm of government and everyone here seems to be of pretty high quality. But they do have an image problem."

Most of his fellow freshmen agree. But not Assemblyman Raymond Gonzales, D-Bakersfield, who enjoys painting landscapes in his leisure.

Gonzales, perhaps the most colorful new lawmaker, is troubled by the influence lobbyists exert on the legislative process and plans to author a tough bill forcing them to disclose the details of their day-to-day activities.

The 34-year-old former Latin American studies professor has criticized mutual favors exchanged between lobbyists and lawmakers, saying "the whole system is a little bit askew because of the lobbyists' influence."

But most of the freshman class, which overall is liberal and activist, don't take criticisms by the mustachioed lawmaker too seriously.

Asked if he had received any tempting offers by lobbyists, Assemblyman Mike D. Antonovich, R-Los Angeles, replied: "I think that only happens in books."

"Hell, I've got a campaign deficit," said freshman Assemblyman Daniel E. Boatwright, D-Concord. "But no lobbyist has approached me with a lucrative offer."

"Lobbyists all treat you very nicely," said Assemblyman Joseph B. Montoya, 34, D-La Puente, who has attended all of the free lobbyists' luncheons. "But sometimes you feel a little overwhelmed by the amount of time you have to spend with them."

Besides meeting lobbyists, freshmen lawmakers have spent many hours trying to tailor their legislative programs and learning new committee assignments.

Antonovich, a former high school history teacher, quickly picked up the title of "Mr. Death Penalty" when he flooded the Assembly with bills reinstating capital punishment.

The tall, thin Republican, who may be a future star for conservatives, has taken verbal swipes at Asembly Speaker Bob Moretti for appointing a key committee that has a majority of death penalty foes in the face of voters approving an initiative to restore capital punishment last year.

Freshman Assemblyman Richard Alatorre, 29, a former Assembly aide, has fathered a new political force in the Capitol called the "Chicano Caucus."

The handsome Los Angeles Democrat persuaded four other Mexican-American lawmakers including Gonzales and Montoya, to create the new group in an attempt to improve the lives of 2.2 million Californians with Spanish surnames.

"The Mexican-American community is becoming politicized," Alatorre said. "You can see it getting involved. We are learning from the blacks."

Assemblyman Lawrence Kapiloff, 43, a self-described San Diego "beach rat," has proposed a sweeping measure to abolish many taxing sources and to put "all the state's eggs into one basket — the income tax."

In his spare time, the Democrat enjoys writing, sailing, jogging and acting. A book which he authored called "How to Sell Your Home in California Without a Broker" will hit the stands next month.

One of the two new black assemblymen is Frank Holoman, D-Los Angeles. "Rather than set Sacramento on fire I'm trying to set my district on fire," the Watts legislator said.

"Rather than trying to influence people up here," he said, "I'm getting my own people involved in politics to change their own communities. We have enough laws up here to have a perfect society if everybody followed them."

The other black freshman is Assemblyman Julian C. Dixon, D-Los Angeles, chairman of the Southern California Black Caucus. Besides authoring measures to aid minorities, Dixon plans to launch a campaign for a stiff law discouraging the use of flip-top disposable cans.

Assemblyman Walter M. Ingalls, D-Riverside, is the youngest legislator at 28. One of the his prime proposals would encourage policemen to accept early retirement. "Some of the older policemen over 50 aren't up to it (their job) but they won't admit it," Ingalls said.

Assemblyman Howard L. Berman, 31, D-Los Angeles, begins each day by running through the fog with his wife to tennis courts where they play quick matches before work.

The former VISTA lawyer has been challenged by Republicans since his first day on the ground he didn't live in his district long enough before the election. His major proposal thus far would curtail insurance companies's tax breaks.

Freshman Assemblyman Barry Keene, D-Santa Rosa, who won office in his sprawling district with an effective bicycle-riding campaign, is "moving rather slowly until I learn all the players." His main interest is to enhance the North Coast environment while simultaneously keeping the timber industry healthy.

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, 43, D-Daly City, who served as an FBI agent for three years, plans to propose legislation giving tax relief to the elderly. His big worry now is to reconcile the fact that he opposes capital punishment while 65 per cent of his district favored the death penalty initiative.

Assemblyman Robert P. Niimmo, R-Atascadero, primarily is interested in agricultural measures. He has been active in the cattle industry for 32 years and recently served as the U.S. fiscal officer for California, a post which required him to administer a $43 million annual budget.

Freshman Assemblyman John E. Thurman Jr., D-Modesto, has promised a fight for the small farmer. "The family-sized farms, the backbone of our country, must be given even greater bargaining power to achieve fair prices for crops," contends the long-time dairyman.

For sale will be primitive paintings by Girldine Fallon Merrill of Novato and works by 10 other Marin artists. Twenty per cent of all sales will go to the building fund, Mrs. Novak said.

KRECKECK! KRECKECK!

Hyla Regilla Jumping In

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Marvelous Marin, land of Redwood forests and sparkling waters — and frogs.

Pacific tree frogs, or Hyla regilla, to be exact. The countryside is jumping with them at this time of year. Motorists, traveling country roads in the dark of night, have reported seeing the tiny creatures crossing by the hundreds in front of their headlights, carpeting the road with hopping green bodies.

They are largely nocturnal creatures.

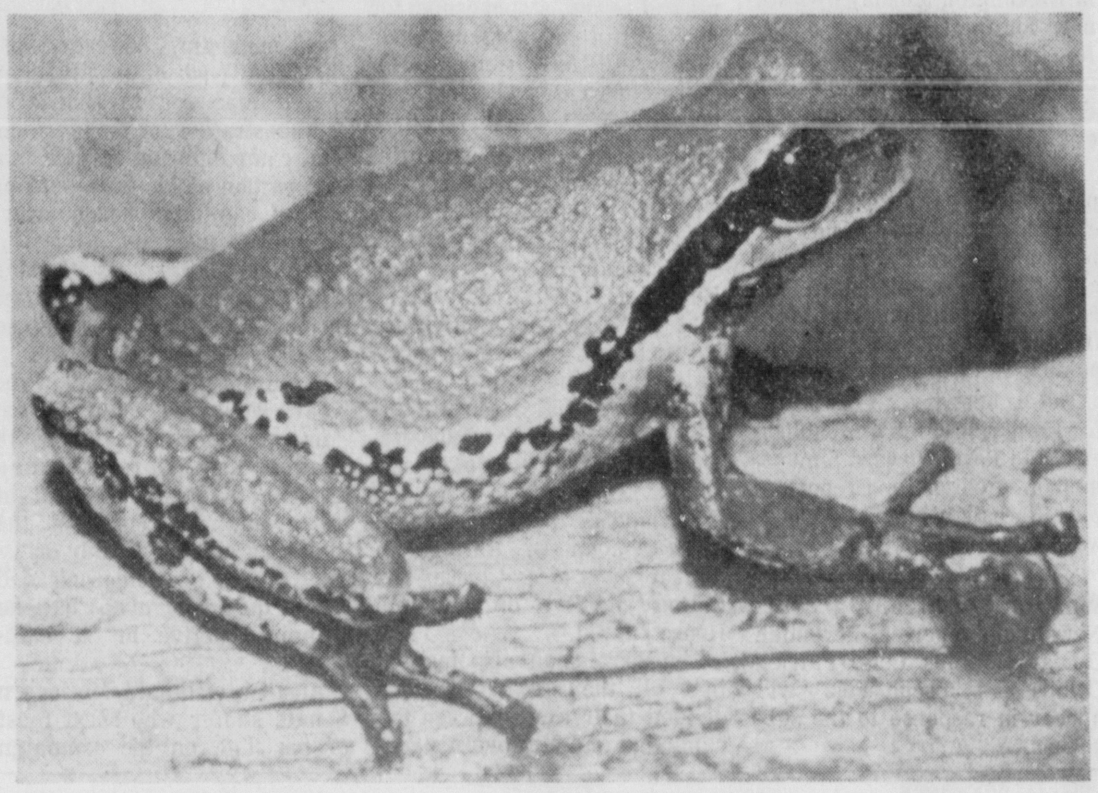
After hibernating in the hot summer months and through the winter, they traverse the countryside during the spring in search of a pond to lay eggs.

"They have to be choosy as to the pond they decide to breed in," explained Karl H. Switak, herpetologist for the Steinhart Aquarium in San Francisco. "Sometimes that takes some hopping around."

They must be choosy, Switak went on, because they have to be sure the pond they pick won't dry up before their eggs hatch, usually within a few weeks. The entire process, from egg, to tadpole, to froglet, is accomplished in about two months. Adults grow to a maximum two inches in length.

Although the smallest of frogs in the Pacific region, they are the loudest. "A chorus of them can be so loud that little else can be heard," said Russell Ridge, acting chairman of the biology department at College of Marin, quoting a handbook on tree frogs.

Males make all the noise, and can easily be distinguished from bull frogs, another common species, by their high-pitched voice, as opposed to the bull's low-register "baaroom, baaroom."



NOISY NEIGHBOR — A tree frog displays his long, sucker-tipped toes and bright eye as he perches on a piece of wood. The frogs now are swarming in Marin. This illustration, more than twice life size, was borrowed from the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science in San Rafael.

"Tree frogs say kreckeck, kreckeck," said Ridge, his voice taking on the tree frogs subtle lilt on the second eck.

"They would make good ventriloquists," added Switak. "They can throw their voices. You can stand within a foot of them and not be able to pinpoint them."

Another distinguishing characteristic is their color, more precisely their ability to vary their color at will. "They can change from black to bright green in 10 minutes," Ridge explained. They vary from green to gray, tan, yellowish brown, black — but they are all the same frog.

They are often confused with toads, but have smooth skins, while toads' skins are rough and covered with warts.

"Their name is misleading," said Ridge. "They are seldom seen in trees." They do have suction cup-type toes that permit them to cling to smooth surfaces, however, even glass.

There are an abundance of them visible in the county now because of the heavy rains during the mating season, between January and May. They are around, of course, all year, but adults are hard to find because they go into a dry weather dormancy called aestivation.

"This has been a good wet year," said Ridge. "A good year for frogs."

Gardeners can be grateful that there will be an assured population of frogs next year to gobble up pesky insects. But for those who happen to live next to one of Marin's idyllic streams or ponds when the croakers begin their midnight sonata, remember, they may not be frogs at all, but handsome princes waiting to be kissed.

Test Hit By School Hopefuls

By NELS JOHNSON

A freshmen English examination at Sir Francis Drake High School that included a scene of adolescent sexual activity "is an example of the deterioration of local school systems," San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini declared yesterday.

"The whole thing shows a lack of control in our schools," said Bettini, a former chairman of the San Rafael Board of Education.

Bettini's comments came after he and fellow members of the San Rafael Kiwanis Club heard four candidates for election to the Tamalpais High School District board air varying views on the test, which some parents have claimed is pornographic.

"The attitude of school boards and administrators has changed tremendously in the last 10 years," Bettini said. "School systems locally have deteriorated."

Bettini, who linked the examination to "weak administration," said the test is not unique. "Visit our schools," he urged club colleagues. "You might be appalled."

Appearing before the club to discuss the examination were district board chairman Robert W. Corlett, H. Maurine Ballard, Fred C. Hannahs and Lotte Schiller, who, along with five other candidates, are vying for three seats on the Tamalpais High School District board. Other candidates invited were unable to attend.

Three of the candidates found the examination, in varying degree, an example of poor taste.

"It's trash," Hannahs, a Tiburon stockbroker, said flatly, adding the matter points out a lack of coordination in curriculum. "Each teacher is left to his own devices as to how he is to teach," he said. "Many other examples could have been used," he said, in lieu of the letter exercise which mentions adolescent fornication and a striptease.

"The examination is a mistake, it is in very bad taste," declared incumbent Corlett, saying the test had brought to light a deep parental concern about district curriculum. Corlett pledged to meet with Drake officials to "find out what has happened, get the facts, and see what steps to take.

"The buck stops at the board," he said, adding trustees will discuss the examination at 8 p.m. Monday in Redwood High School "and come up with a solution." Teacher Elaine Johnson, who gave the exam to two classes of freshmen, will "probably be reprimanded" and Drake's English program reviewed, he said.

"The test is in poor taste. . .it's an incident of human error," said Mrs. Schiller. "But board members can't look into every item a teacher teaches," she said. "We have to trust teachers as professionals," she said, adding instructors should not be controlled through censorship.

Miss Ballard, who recently retired after teaching English for 18 years in the Tam district, said the exam is "not an example of good writing" but nevertheless provides "a skillful method of analyzing reading and writing."

She said that "the people should decide what goes on in our schools," but expressed concern that the uproar might further polarize factions in the district.

Kiwanis Club members, who reviewed a copy of the examination, appeared shocked that the test had been issued. All seemed to back Bettini's comments.

The exam appears "far afield from the moral mainstream," said club member Richard W. Williams.

"The teacher goofed and must be held accountable," declared Frank Tallarida.

"We've got to replace school board members who don't act, attend board meetings and go to the schools," Bettini declared.

Dollar Sinks Second Time

European Banks Dip Value By 9 Per Cent

BONN (UPI) — The American dollar was in effect devalued another 9 per cent by European banks in free market trading today. The official Paris currency exchange, the only one to open, closed after an hour during which the Bank of France was forced to buy $350 million worth of American money to support the fixed price of the dollar.

Speculators quickly moved into metals, forcing up the price of gold and copper.

The unofficial devaluation meant the dollar was worth 19 per cent less than it was on Feb. 13, the day before the United States officially devalued the dollar by 10 per cent.

The closing of Europe's currency exchanges meant, in effect, that all nine central banks of the European Common Market refused to buy the millions of American dollars offered for sale by monetary speculators.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt urged British Prime Minister Edward Heath to join the Common Market in a "common float" of European currencies against the dollar. So far Heath has resisted the move.

This would mean that European currencies would maintain a fixed price in relation to one another, but would "float" in relation to the dollar. Such an action probably would result in even further devaluation of the dollar, according to most financial observers.

In Washington, the Treasury Department official who negotiated the Feb. 14 devaluation and the simultaneous float of the Japanese yen said he saw no reason for another official devaluation.

"We'll live through it," said Paul A. Volcker, undersecretary of the treasury.

American tourists in Germany suddenly found their travelers checks worth less when exchanging dollars for marks. The Dresdner Bank, for example, offered only 2.65 German marks to the dollar for travelers checks, about nine per cent below the devalued rate of 2.9 marks. Three weeks ago, Americans in Frankfurt shook their heads over the audacity of taxi drivers who offered 2.7 marks to the dollar.

The Paris exchange was the only one to open today, but it closed after an hour as speculators lunged for French francs in exchange for dollars. In order to maintain the official price for the dollar, the Bank of France bought between $300 million and $350 million of unwanted dollars in the hour the exchange stayed open, according to banking sources.

The German and English exchanges never opened today. They were closed after the Ger-

Nixon Claims Additional Dollar Devaluation Out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said today there will be no additional devaluation of the American dollar despite continuing pressure in international currency markets.

"We will survive it," Nixon told a news conference. "There will not be another devaluation."

The President said speculators were responsible for the dollar's drop to new lows on world money markets, and he insisted that the dollar still is a sound currency.

"I would say that the dollar is a good bet in the world markets today," Nixon said.

On other economic matters, Nixon told his second news conference of the year:

—Rent controls will not be revived despite anguished complaints of increases in rents. He said such restrictions only would cause a shortage of housing and encourage landlords not to maintain their buildings.

—Wage guidelines in his Phase III program will be administered with "enough flexibility" to permit a diversity of contract settlements consistent with his overall goal of reducing the rate of increase of the overall cost of living to 2.5 per cent by the end of this year.

—He has asked former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally to "study the problem of energy from the private sector" and report to the White House. Connally, a former Texas governor, has close contact with the oil industry.

—The administration is striving to devise a welfare reform

106 POWs Due Release On Sunday

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam said today 106 American prisoners of war will be released at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport Sunday and that another 30 American POWs held by the Viet Cong will be released in Hanoi the next day. (See lists of prisoners, page 37.)

(A spokesman at Clark Air Base in the Philippines said the first returning POWs should arrive there about 5 a.m. EST.)

The release of the Americans appeared to be proceeding without any serious hitch despite a deadlock between the South Vietnamese and the Communists over exchange of Vietnamese prisoners.

"The American prisoner release will take place in Hanoi Sunday morning," North Vietnamese Lt. Col. Bui Tin said. "It will either be between 9 and 10 in the morning or 3 and 4 in the afternoon. We think there are going to be at least three or four flights and they are going to have to go in one at a time.

"As far as we know, it appears that the prisoners held by the Provisional Revolutionary Government (Viet Cong) will be released the following day, also at Gia Lam."

(At Clark Air Base, a spokesman for Operation Homecoming said a C141 troop transport will fly to Hanoi at 3 p.m. Sunday (2 a.m. EST). He said an 18-man advance team would

Release Of Two Envoys Sought

KHARTOUM (UPI) — President Nixon dispatched a troubleshooting State Department official to this Sudanese capital today to try to win freedom for two American diplomats held hostage under a death threat with three other envoys by Black September Arab guerrillas.

The band of six to eight guerrillas shot their way into the Saudi Arabian Embassy Thursday night, seized the five diplomats and threatened to execute them unless authorities released scores of Arab prisoners, including Sirhan B. Sirhan, the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Sirhan was already being held in maximum lockup at San Quentin, but that "we are being extra watchful around the perimeter" of the prison.

"This is way beyond our realm of authority," Park added, saying any negotiations would have to be at a federal or state level.

"We will be a little bit on edge until this thing is finally resolved, though," he said.

The guerrillas set a 7 a.m. EST deadline but it passed without incident and they began scaling down their demands. At one point, the Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported, they demanded a plane to fly them to the United States with the hostages and two Sudanese cabinet officials.

Sudan offered the plane but declined to let the cabinet officials leave. Negotiations continued in the heavily guarded Embassy where the guerrillas said they had planted bombs to blow it up if their demands were not met. Large numbers of security forces surrounded the building

North Vietnam Aid In Security Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said today U.S. aid for reconstruction of North Vietnam would be drawn from the national security budget rather than from funds for domestic programs.

He expressed confidence that Congress would appropriate the money, although he conceded there is strong opposition from some congressmen.

The President also told a wide-ranging White House news conference that he would meet with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu April 2-3. The meeting, as he said previously, will be at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., to discuss postwar developments.

Nixon declined to cite any figure for possible U.S. assistance to North Vietnam, saying "that's something to be negotiated."

Recognizing opposition in Congress to the plan, he observed that "the cost of peace is great, but the cost of war is even greater." Providing financial aid to Hanoi would serve "the interests of peace," he said.

Speculation on the amount of aid has ranged as high as $2.5 billion and triggered protests among some members of Congress — Democrats and Republicans —at a time when the President is locked in a fight with the House and Senate over his refusal to spend billions of dollars appropriated for domestic programs.

Nixon said he realized that there was "considerable opposition" to the aid idea and added: "We will have to have congressional support of it."

Noting that questions had been raised on whether such aid would require cutting back on domestic programs, he said: "The answer is no. As far as any assistance program is concerned, it will be covered by the existing levels for the budget which we have in for national

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern said today that militant Indians still controlled the community of Wounded Knee and an "armed truce" existed, even though they had freed 11 hostages.

He expressed concern over the possible effects on negotiations between federal officials and the Indians, members of the American Indian Movement, of the reported fire bombing of an AIM leader's home and the serious injury of the Indian's wife.

McGovern and South Dakota's junior senator, James Abourezk, met for about three hours late Thursday night with AIM leaders in a "demilitarized" zone outside of the settlement itself. On one side of the area were Indian barricades; on the other, the road blocks and the posts of federal marshals who have ringed the settlement since shortly after it was seized by the Indians Tuesday.

Both senators said they made no concession of consequence, and McGovern said that tension appeared to be easing until just toward the end of the meeting, when word came of the firebombing.

The AIM leaders at Wounded Knee got word by telephone from Pine Ridge that the home of Aaron DeSerca, an AIM leader, had been severely damaged by a fire bomb and that his wife had been taken to a hospital with severe burns.

"There was not a happy response," McGovern said. "It was a very jarring note."

The senator said Department of Justice officials led by a special assistant to the Attorney General would be getting in touch with the Indians today to work out what conditions might be made for a surrender of Wounded Knee.

Thus far, the Indians did not seem inclined to move.

Abourezk said that Sen. J. William Fulbright had committed himself to launch a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which he heads, into the question of treaties between the U.S. and the Indian nations.

Orinda Firm Slaps North Marin Water District With Big Claim

By FRANK FARRARA

U.S. Development Corp. of Orinda yesterday filed an $8 million claim against the North Marin County Water District for "inverse condemnation" of its 519-acre Pacheco Ranch property, west of Highway 101, near Ignacio.

The firm, which has plans to build 700 housing units on 138 acres at the site, claims the district has failed to live up to its commitment to grant a pipeline extension and 120 service connections for the project.

Attorney Samuel W. Gardiner, representing the firm, filed the claim at the district office five days before the water board is to determine if a "threatened water shortage" exists and if so, what controls might be applied.

The firm asserted the property as an approved subdivision with a domestic water supply would be worth $9 million, but without a water supply would be worth $1 million as "good park land or grazing land." The difference between these two figures represents a present or potential loss."

U.S. Development Corp. said it filed a formal application for a pipeline extension and 120 service connections Jan. 16, and for a couple of weeks "seemed to have smooth sailing."

Early last month "we were advised by you that neither the connections nor the pipeline extension could be given at this time and that it might be four or five years before we could obtain this kind of service," the firm reported.

The firm described "this February directive as a repudiation and refusal to serve," and claimed it has vested rights and demanded the extension and connections be granted, regard-

Two Gunmen Release Hostages In Sonoma

SEBASTOPOL (AP) — Two gunmen suspected of shooting two sheriff's deputies released three hostages unharmed today after holding them several hours at gunpoint in a house, the sheriff's office said.

Hostages Michaela Madden, who lived at the house with five children, Santa Rosa Press Democrat reporter Boniface (Bony) Saludes and Sheriff's Lt. James Caulfield were released shortly before 11 a.m. and the two gunmen taken into custody, the sheriff said.

Sheriff Don Striepeke negotiated the release from a telephone next door to the house.

Officers said the incident began when a Sonoma County sheriff's deputy stopped a "suspicious looking" car on Highway 12 at 2 a.m. When another deputy came to his aid, the three men inside began firing guns.

The deputies were wounded, ran back to their car and radioed for help, then ran to hide in nearby underbrush as the gunmen continued firing.

The suspects then sped off and holed up in a nearby house where they took Michaela Madden and five children hostage, officers said. Another suspect was at-large, officers said.

The five children were allowed to leave just before dawn.

Then Lt. Caulfield offered to trade himself for Mrs. Madden and the gunmen agreed. But when Caulfield went inside just before dawn he was held with her. Saludes, who came to cover the story, also was lured inside the house and held.

About six hours later the long-

Equal Rights Law Seems Doomed For This Year

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Despite a strong plea for passage by President Nixon, approval of the equal rights for women amendment appeared doubtful today with rejection by only three more states needed to kill its chances this year.

The President urged approval of the amendment Thursday, one day after Nevada and North Carolina raised to 10 the total number of states to reject it so far. And in a dozen states that have not yet acted, the amendment was buried in legislative committees or faced with tough floor fights.

In a State of the Union message, President Nixon told Congress, "We will continue to support ratification of the equal rights amendment to the Constitution so that American women need never again be denied an equal opportunity."

While 28 states have approved the amendment so far, 10 more are needed for ratification, and rejection by just three others would block it, at least for this year. States voting to reject constitutional amendments have up to seven years to change their votes.

A UPI survey Thursday showed the amendment was considered hoplessly buried in committees in Virginia, Georgia, Arizona and Oklahoma.

In Florida and Connecticut, it faced heated floor battles and is expected to pass by slim margins. A similar battle was expected in Indiana, with the decision expected to go against it.

In Illinois, where the measure has been killed twice, supporters introduced it again, and Rep. Thomas Hanahan, who opposes it, said "We've lined up our opposition forces and we're ready for them." Hanahan has in the past referred to supporters of the amendment as "bra-less, brainless broads."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

FBI Director

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland predicts L. Patrick Gray will win Senate approval as FBI director despite complaints of Democrats that Gray has politicized the FBI.

The Mississippi Democrat told reporters yesterday, during the second day of hearings on Gray's nomination, that "I'm for him 100 per cent and we've got the votes."

Eastland shrugged off suggestions made in the hearings that Gray had allowed partisan politics to influence the FBI's probe of the June 17 break-in and bugging of Democratic offices in the Watergate building.

Lynch Loses

DUBLIN (UPI) — A coalition of opponents toppled Prime Minister Jack Lynch and his Fianna Fail party from power today after 16 years of uninterrupted rule in the closest election in Irish history.

Fianna Fail gained only 64 of the 144 seats in the Dail (parliment) and with 13 results left outstanding, the combined opposition of the Fine Gael and Labor parties held 65 seats.

Civilian Shot

BEFLAST (UPI) — Cruising killers hot another Belfast civilian dead yesterday and brought an army warning that it could touch off another round of murder by political and religious fanatics.

A second man was found shot dead in a car in Belfast at almost the same time gunmen firing from an automobile killed the second victim.

Police also said they found two youths shot in the legs in a Roman Catholic area and rushed them to a hospital. Shooting in the legs is frequently used by the Irish Republican Army as a form of punishment.

Food Shortages

MOSCOW (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said yesterday that a disastrous harvest last ear is causing food shortages in some parts of the Soviet Union, with meat and potatoes in short supply in rural areas outside Moscow and elsewhere.

The sources said they have not been able to assess fully how serious the problem is.

Hospital Strike

LONDON (UPI) — Hospitals struck by non-medical hospital workers turned away or sent home all but emergency cases today and resorted to feeding patients frozen television dinners.

One maternity hospital asked husbands to bring food from home for their wives.

Hospitals improvised to feed patients and huge mounds of soiled and bloodstained linen piled up in hospital corridors because laundry workers also were on strike.

Cambodia Is Still Major Battle Front

SAIGON (UPI) — Fighting slackened across South Vietnam and Laos today but despite more U.S. warplane raids, military sources said Communist Khmer Rouge guerrillas battered Cambodia troops near Phnom Penh.

The South Vietnamese command reported 104 violations of the cease-fire in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, 30 fewer than the previous day. There were no reports of any heavy fighting anywhere in South Vietnam.

In Cambodia, the only country in Southeast Asia without an official cease-fire agreement, military sources said hundreds of Cambodian government troops fled along Highway 2 in the face of a drive by Communist guerrillas 13 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Field reports said nearly 300 Cambodian troops reached the Phnom Penh suburb of Takh Mau with stories of hardship and suffering on the battlefield.

Watergate Subpoenas Fight Set

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Washington Post, the New York Times and Time Magazine say they will fight subpoenas served on reporters and executives in connection with the Watergate bugging case.

The Washington Evening Star-News, the fourth news organization involved in the controversy, says its subpoenaed reporters would appear in court but would not reveal "any privileged information."

The subpoenas were obtained in Washington Monday by attorneys for the Committee for the Re-election of the President and other Republicans involved in civil suits arising from the Watergate bugging.

In announcing the Post's opposition, Benjamin C. Bradlee, executive editor of the newspaper, said Thursday the subpoenas "blatantly disregard the First Amendment rights of freedom of the press and the public's right to know."

The subpoenas were issued for Katharine Graham, publisher of the Post; Howard Simons, managing editor, and reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward.

Newbold Noyes, editor of the Washington Evening Star-News, said reporters Jeremiah O'Leary, James Polk, Patrick Collins and Joseph Volz "will appear in response to the subpoenas.

McGovern Aides Got Senate Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of Sen. George S. McGovern's top aides drew tax-paid Senate salaries last year while they spent much of their time on the South Dakota senator's presidential campaign.

Seven members of McGovern's campaign team were paid $118,627 out of government funds, according to payroll records released by the secretary of the Senate.

Some were paid their full salaries while others drew only nominal amounts.

Asked to comment on the payroll report, a spokesman for McGovern said "it's true in our case as it has been true in every other cases where a senator ran."

He cited the presidential campaigns of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., and the primary campaigns of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in 1968.

"There's not much difference between that and Nixon surrogates drawing salaries and campaigning full time and writing speeches for them (the Republicans)" the spokesman said.

He added that presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman and former aide Charles W. Colson "didn't go off the White House payroll."

The spokesman also insisted that all the McGovern aides divided their time between the campaign and McGovern's Senate office with the possible exception of Gary Hart.

He said that Hart, comanager of the campaign, was on a different footing but added "I suppose at various times he was in the Senate office." The spokesman added that Hart "didn't get paid much proportionality."

Hart, listed in the payroll records as clerk, received $3,388.51 last year in Senate salary.

The top paid man on McGovern's staff was George V. Cunningham, the administrative assistant, who earned $31,080.

Cunningham, however, also held the post of deputy campaign manager in charge of administration for the presidential campaign and spent a major portion of his time working out of campaign headquarters after the convention.

Next in line was Gordon Weill, listed as legislative and press secretary, who received $22,000 and resigned Dec. 13.

But from the beginning of the year, Weill was constantly at McGovern's side as the South Dakota senator marched through the primaries and at that point was considered the senator's closest adviser on issues. His role was downgraded after the convention but he remained active in the campaign.

Another well-paid McGovern Senate staffer who spent most of his time on the campaign was Richard G. "Rick" Stearnes, the premier delegate counter in the months before the convention and who then took charge of the Western states during the campaign.

Stearns, listed as legislative assistant, drew $14,036.

John D. Holum, also named as a legislative assistant, drew $21,560 from the Senate although he spent a good deal of his time writing campaign speeches for McGovern.

Others who led double lives were Yancey F. Martin, a constant campaigner, who earned $12,061 and left his job as clerk Nov. 30, and Jeffrey M. Smith, also listed as clerk but McGovern's top personal aide on the campaign. He earned $14,502.

The spokesman said there were no double payments and the seven, with the exception of Hart, apparently did not get any salaries from the campaign committee.

24 Are Facing Welfare Fraud

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Welfare fraud complaints involving some $20,000 have been filed in municipal court against 24 persons.

The Sonoma County District Attorney's office said Wednesday complaints involved 13 felonies and 11 misdemeanors.

Chief investigator Thomas Kassovich said one couple was charged with receiving $5,100 illegally. He said they failed to report income for 1971, 1972 and 1973.

The complaints brought to 48 the number of individuals charged with welfare fraud in the county since Jan. 1.

DONALD McPHERSON
Becomes Eagle Scout

Youth Gains Rank Of Eagle Scout

A Corte Madera Boy Scout, who built a retaining wall and patio at a hospitality center for visitors to San Quentin inmates, will be promoted to Eagle Scout during court of honor at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Donald McPherson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McPherson of 169 Birch Avenue, built the 20-foot retaining wall and eight-by-16-foot patio at the House, a hospitality center outside San Quentin operated by Catholic Social Service of Marin, which provides a variety of services to visiting family and friends of prisoners.

Donald, a member of Corte Madera Troop 24, obtained materials for the project, part of his Eagle Scout requirements, by soliciting donations from San Rafael merchants.

Active in scouting for five years, Donald attended the Boy Scout World Jamboree in Japan in 1971. He is a sophomore at Redwood High School and is interested in outdoor activities, including hiking and cross-country skiing.

He also is drum major for the Prince Charles Bagpipe Band, a local group that plans a trip to Scotland in August to perform.

CLAIM

less of any action taken by the board Tuesday on the question of a water shortage.

Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson has reported that the district faces a problem of water delivery during peak use periods, usually July and the board is to consider what steps to take to meet this problem.

U.S. Development Corp. has proposed constructing a separate "irrigation system with storage so that in critical dry periods our system would not be a drain on the rest of your district," according to the claim.

"We do not share the view of some that there is a real water shortage, and we think that we can prove that there is an adequate supply, particularly if it is engineered and developed with the dual system which we have proposed," the firm said.

Gardiner said while the claim is filed directly against the district and names the board, Nelson and chief engineer James D. Fritz, it could be applied to other persons "who may also have induced the breach of duty." Third persons can be liable, he said.

U.S. Development Corp. said it had relied upon a letter from Fritz in March 1972, which said the district "will provide the water service," to the Pacheco Ranch development.

Since, it has kept in touch with the district staff and "until early February 1973, understood that as soon as we got our project ready to go, the water connections would be available," the firm said.

Thus far, the firm has spent about $4.5 million on the project including engineering, legal costs, carrying costs and purchase price, it reported.

NIXON

security purposes. It will not come out of the domestic side of the budget."

By national security, Nixon said he was referring to spending for military defense and foreign assistance.

On domestic economic matters, he reaffirmed his commitment to the largely voluntary wage and price guidelines contained in Phase II of his stabilization program.

Asked about the outlook for wage settlements, he said "some will go a little higher, some will go a little lower" than the 5.5 per cent standard for increases laid down by the administration.

Nixon also said there would be no revival of rent controls used in the earliest stages of his anti-inflation campaign. He claimed such restrictions only would cause housing shortage and encourage landlords to let their property deteriorate.

"The answer to the problem is to increase the supply of housing," he said.

The President did not specify any of the subjects he will be discussing with Thieu during their meeting, which until now had been scheduled only for some time this spring.

But he said he was hopeful that the Vietnam cease-fire agreement would lead to lasting peace in Southeast Asia.

Rabid Bat Is Found Outside Office Of Bales

A rabid bat was discovered Wednesday outside the Civic Center office of Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, county health officials reported yesterday.

The rabid bat was the latest case reported to officials, who are concerned by a sharp increase in the number of rabid animals found in Marin recently.

During the last five months, 13 rabid animals have been found in widely scattered areas of the county — five in the month of February.

Dead animals or animals observed acting strangely should not be approached, according to health officials.

Hard-Core Sex Film Is Banned

NEW YORK (UPI) — A judge ruled Thursday that "Deep Throat," a movie that shows 17 explicit sex acts within the 62 minutes it runs, has no redeeming social value and "is one throat that deserves to be cut."

In banning the low-budget, high-profit sex film—tickets sell at $5 — Manhattan Criminal Court Judge Joel J. Tyler called it, "this feast of carrion and squalor." He also said it was "a Sodom and Gomorrah gone wild before the fire" and "a sheer negligee through which clearly shines the producer's and the defendant's true and only purpose—the presentation of unmistakably hard-core pornography."

Underground Utility Plan Is Approved

The Cotati City Council last night approved a $35,000 plan to underground a maze of utility lines in the downtown plaza area.

The council voted formation of an underground utility district in the area after no objections were heard at a public hearing.

City Clerk Donna Olson said Leslie Offutt, the only private property owner involved, had no objections. He was told his costs will be minimal since he must pay only for trench digging on his land.

Most of the funds for the project have been provided since 1960 by Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

In addition, City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen said $1,900 will come from county funds.

The Cotati City Council also:

WATER LINES — Awarded a contract for repair of leaky water lines on Arthur and George streets to Paul T. Hawkins of Santa Rosa, who submitted the lowest bid of $15,000. The project had been estimated to cost $22,000.

PARKING FUNDS — Agreed with the suggestion of City Atty. Jay Cantor to amend the zoning ordinance to permit downtown landowners who cannot provide required parking spaces to pay instead into a parking fund. He said the city could develop parking lots when enough money is collected. The amendment will be introduced at the March 15 meeting.

ZONING — Set a joint meeting with the planning commission for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to review proposed zoning changes on East Cotati Avenue.

haired gunmen allowed the hostages to run free and the two men were arrested. They were not identified by sheriff's deputies but the Press Democrat said they identified themselves by telephone as Dave Ferguson and Doug Sabory.

Saludes had reported by telephone from inside the house that one gunman was shot in the leg. He said the pair did not want to release hostages unless the sheriff called off the dozens of officers who had surrounded the house.

Saludes said the gunmen also wanted the reporter to drive them to a hospital where negotiations for Saludes' release could continue.

The sheriff refused, saying the suspects showed when they lured Caulfield and Saludes inside the house that "their word is no good."

Striepeke said he would not allow the gunmen at a hospital where they could take patient hostages.

Driver Receives Minor Injuries

Mrs. Timothy S. Korzon, 27, of Lagunitas, suffered only for scrapes and bruises for which she was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital to San Rafael yesterday, hospital spokesmen reported yesterday.

She was injured in a head-on accident at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday on White's Hill. Neither her husband, driver of one car nor the other driver, Glen Thompson, 22, of 20 Meadow Drive, San Rafael, was injured.

DOLLAR

man central bank was forced to buy a record $2.7 billion Thursday.

The price of gold spurted to $88.50 an ounce—more than double the official price of $42.22. The price of copper leaped by $108 a metric ton on the London market.

The finance ministers of the nine Common Market countries scheduled an emergency meeting for Sunday to discuss the new crisis. They are expected to discuss Brandt's proposal for a common float of European currencies.

Financial experts said the latest crisis was fueled by persistent distrust of all paper value of such major currencies as the dollar, mark, yen, pound and franc. This distrust also led last week to feverish gold buying that sent the metal's price to a record $95 an ounce at one point.

The West German state bank alone bought an unprecedented $2.7 billion Friday in unwanted dollars. Eight other state banks in Europe also intervened to keep the dollar from losing too much in value and imperiling the value of their own currencies.

After the last crisis, President Nixon devalued the dollar by 10 per cent and other governments revalued, devalued or allowed their currencies to float free of fixed prices in financial dealings.

ECONOMY

formula which would "stop the unconscionable situation where it is more profitable for some people to go on welfare than to go to work." He said his family assistance program would have achieved that objective, but was abandoned because "we were up against an impossible legislative problem."

Nixon said the American economy generally is in good condition, with the lowest rate of inflation of any industrial nation.

Beyond that, "we have a very tight budget —I should say, a very responsible budget," Nixon said.

He indicated he is convinced that budget austerity will bank the fires of inflation and take the profit out of speculating against the dollar.

In the face of a run on the dollar which pushed the rate in Frankfurt down to 2.82 marks —below the official floor of 2.835 marks —currency markets were closed today in Frankfurt, London, Brussels and Tokyo.

Nixon said his views on the dollar's current problems had caused some Treasury Department technicians to cringe. But in this case, he said, speculation seems to be the only explanation to the problems.

ALPHONSE HERICOURT JR.

Twenty-five-year-old Alphonse Jacques Hericourt Jr. was found dead last night at his Greenbrae home.

Hericourt was found by his father at about 8:15 p.m. in the rumpus room of the residence at 299 North Almenar Drive, Greenbrae, according to the coroner's office. He had a shotgun wound in his chest, which apparently was self-inflicted, and nearby was a shotgun, the coroner said.

Young Hericourt, known to his friends as Jack, was the son of Alphonse J. and Alice Hericourt.

Born in New York, young Hericourt had lived in California most of his life. He was a graduate of Redwood High School, attended College of Marin and graduated in 1969 with honors in history from the University of California at Davis.

He had been working as a self-employed gardener.

In addition to his parents, Hericourt is survived by two brothers, Randall of San Rafael, and Robert, who is attending California Polytechnic Institute at San Louise Obispo, and Randall's wife, Mary.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Legal Aid Society of Marin County.

FRED FINLEY

Fred Louis Finley, 64, a retired Coast Guard lieutenant, collapsed yesterday while working as a security guard at Northgate Shopping Center and died about 90 minutes later at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael, according to coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig.

Finley, who collapsed in the restroom of the manager's office, died apparently of a heart attack, Craig reported.

Finley and his wife, Anna Marie, lived at 20 Crescent Lane, Novato. Funeral arrangements are pending at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato.

Trumpet Stolen From Gymnasium

A trumpet valued at $205 was stolen from the girls' locker room of the San Rafael High School gymnasium while its owner was playing basketball, San Rafael police reported today.

The theft occurred between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, the trumpet owner, student Sharon Louise Payn, 15, of 30 Brentwood Drive, San Rafael, told officers.

fly to Hanoi at 11 a.m. (10 p.m. Saturday EST) to make final arrangements for the release.

(The Operation Homecoming spokesman said three C141s will fly in at one-hour intervals to pick up the 106 Americans to be released by North Vietnam.)

The release of two West Germans — including a 30-year-old female nurse — and two Filipinos also was expected to be made at the same time.

"The matter of the release of prisoners on both sides (Saigon and the Viet Cong) in South Vietnam has run into difficulties," the Viet Cong spokesman explained. "Thursday we prepared a list and number of prisoners in South Vietnam that we were going to release.

"But at the same time, the RVN (Republic of Vietnam) refused to give us their number of prisoners. First, they gave us the figure 6,500, but later that that became 10,000 and then later 13,000. But later they went back to the figure 3,000.

"That means the RVN has gone back on its word and they are not releasing the number of prisners they say they hold."

The Viet Cong spokesman said both sides earlier had agreed to release one-fourth of the captured soldiers they held in this phase of the prisoner swap.

but the Sudan said it would not storm the embassy.

The Americans seized were Ambassador Cleo A. Noel and U.S. Charge d'Affaires Curtis Moore. They and Belgian Ambassador Guy Eid were reported slightly wounded in the shooting. Others held were the Saudi Arabian ambassador and his wife and a diplomat from Jordan.

President Nixon told a news conference in Washington that the United States will do all it can to secure the release of Noel and Moore but that "we will not get into blackmail demands. We cannot and will not do so."

Omdurman Radio broke into its broadcasts to announce that a high-ranking U.S. State Department official had been dispatched to Khartoum to try to win the release of the Americans. It said the guerrillas had been informed of his arrival.

The official was identified as Deputy Undersecretary of State William Macomber, who left Washington Thursday night. Omdurman Radio said he was scheduled to arrive in Khartoum at 5 p.m. EST.

LADYBUG, LADYBUG . . .

San Anselmo parks foreman Carson Floyd clutches a mass of 4,000 ladybugs while the bustling critters — among 250,000 released Wednesday in San Anselmo parks — crawl onto a city tree. The ladybugs, which cost $12 per 75,000, are expected to feed on aphids and other park pests, Floyd said, adding the city has turned to biological warfare since pesticides used in the past have had little effect. Later this month, the city parks department expects to release 1,600 praying mantis eggs to deal with insects like beetles, grasshoppers and caterpillars.

Marin Trying Out New Act On Decriminalizing Drug Offenders

By LARRY MOWELL

While legislators in Sacramento are debating legalization of marijuana, court officials in Marin County are struggling with an existing law that borders for some defendants on decriminalizing not only pot, but also heroin and other narcotics and dangerous drugs.

Called the Campbell-Moretti-Deukmejian Drug Abuse Act, the 1972 legislation provides for the "diversion" of first time drug offernders in carefully defined circumstances from criminal prosecution to educational, treatment and rehabilitation programs.

The charge is dismissed if the offender avoids further arrests for two years.

Although the diversion is being practiced, judges, prosecutors, defense attorneys and probation officers told the Independent-Journal they are still puzzled over what to do.

No figures are yet available, but court attaches estimated that between 10 and 20 cases in the past six weeks have been referred to the probation department for reports on the suitability of defendants for diversion.

Of those, most are misdemeanor marijuana possession cases and marijuana users need neither treatment nor rehabilitation, according to Chief Deputy Probation Officer James B. Soetaert.

The only alternative is an educational program, but, although one is in the works, none yet exists, he said.

Others involved in the process also expressed uncertainty about its future. "It may be good. It may be bad. I have mixed feelings about it," Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said. He is required by the law to determine which cases qualify for diversion.

Although favoring stiffer criminal punishment, Bales said education and treatment may be more effective than the light fines now being imposed.

But Deputy Public Defender Glenn Becker says the law may not require any more than an admonition from the judge. "I don't think this act requires treatment," he said.

He wondered if any program will benefit one defendant, a client of his arrested for having a marijuana cigarette. The man no longer smokes marijuana, Becker said.

Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman has no answers, only questions. He wondered if everyone who qualifies must be considered for diversion and what kinds of programs they will be funnelled into.

The only thing almost everyone seems certain of is that the act may be unconstitutional because it allows only the district attorney to initiate diversion. "It empowers what is essentially a judicial decision to the prosecution," Becker said.

To qualify for diversion, a defendant must be charged with possession of marijuana or a drug, having narcotics paraphernalia or being in a place whre narcotics were used. Furthermore, the prospect cannot have a prior drug or violence record or any probation violation.

If the district attorney recommends diversion, and if the judge and defense attorney agree, the case is referred to the probation department for a report on whether the defendant would benefit from educational, treatment and rehabilitation programs.

But what will happen if the probation department finds the defendant doesn't need help or, at the other extreme, is beyond help remains to be worked out?

"The thing is so new we are still trying to work out some of the kinks," Soetaert said.

Plight Of The Little Taxpayer Found In Error

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters of the IRS agrees his taxmen should assure little taxpayers summoned for audits that their chances of going to jail for the errors of their tax returns are slight indeed.

Walters agreed wholeheartedly with that suggestion Thursday even though a tax expert asserts such a policy probably would reduce the government's revenue.

At the conclusion of his Senate appropriations subcommittee hearings into taxpayer grievances, Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., said many taxpayers are so terrorized they would pay any assessment —just or unjust—simply to get a bewildering experience behind them.

"He comes into the IRS office thinking he's going to be thrown in jail if he doesn't sign the dotted line," Montoya said. "That's why you have so many signing."

"The revenue agent says, 'I see you owe $100. You can either sign or go to a conference.'

"The taxpayer is still quivering. He signs. He's glad to give up the $100. He leaves grateful to have it all behind him."

COLLEGE OF MARIN LIBRARIES, OLD AND NEW

The $4 million new library at College of Marin (right) is nearly completed, and students will start using it in the fall, leaving the 30-year-old Spanish style library (left) for offices and classes for the behavioral science department. The new structure is all-concrete, with a coppery colored roof made from weathered steel. The first floor houses data processing and the duplicating center, and the student store, while the second floor includes open book stacks and study halls.

MORE BOOKS — The old library (left) has room for only 48,000 volumes and is called "grossly inadequate" by a college accreditation team. The new interior (right) will house 78,000 volumes. The skeletons of the racks to accommodate them are seen rising as carpenters work on the second floor of the new library.

Golda Meir Said Pleased With Nixon's Assurances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir winds up her Washington visit today, apparently having received promises of most of the military and economic aid she sought.

Mrs. Meir came here with a long shopping list for military hardware and economic aid. According to Israeli sources, she appeared to have obtained most of it.

"She could not be happier," said one source close to her.

Neither Mrs. Meir nor the administration would divulge details.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters after a 95-minute meeting between President Nixon and Mrs. Meir: "The President assured Mrs. Meir of continuing U.S. support. As you know, we provide Israel with economic and military assistance. This will continue."

Administration sources said privately that Mrs. Meir asked for $300 million in military credits to buy 30 F4 Phantom fighter-bombers, 30 A4 Skyhawk tactical bombers, an unspecified number of Cobra helicopter gunships, laser-guided "smart" bombs and Lance surface-to-surface ballistic missiles.

They said she also asked for $215 million in non-military grants and credits.

In a National Press Club speech Thursday Mrs. Meir spelled out some concessions Israel is prepared to make to obtain Middle East peace. These were:

—A negotiated border between Israel and Syria on the Golon Heights. But she said Israel could never entirely retreat from the heights, from which Israeli homes and agricultural settlements in the valley below have been shelled.

—She appeared to offer Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai Desert in return for Egyptian agreement to continued Israeli occupation of Sarm el Sheik, the former Egyptian fortress at the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba overlooking the narrow Strait of Tiran.

—She said Israel would be willing "to pull back a bit" from the Suez Canal to permit Egypt to reopen it, but that a final border in that area would have to be negotiated in a peace treaty.

Maxwell House Hikes Price For All Coffee

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maxwell House, the nation's largest coffee processor, announced wholesale price increases Thursday, two days after the Cost of Living Council lifted controls on coffee.

The division of General Foods Corp. will raise prices approximately four cents a pound on ground coffees and approximately one cent an ounce on most sizes of instant and freeze dried coffees. The company packages coffee under the Maxwell House, Yuban, Sanka, Maxim and Max-Pax labels.

Maxwell House said the cost increases are needed because green coffee prices have risen since October, when the company last boosted coffee prices.

On Tuesday, the Cost of Living Council decided to allow coffee prices adjustments under the volatile commodity provision.

Since coffee supplies have been tight this year, some experts had forecast higher prices. The world's coffee producers recently decided to withhold coffee from the market. In additon, the Brazilian crop was damaged by frost and rains last year.

Coffee futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange have risen about 20 cents a pound since the beginning of the year.

Park Boss To Discuss Private Land Purchases

The superintendent of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area will discuss private land acquisition policies and other effects on coastal communities during a meeting of the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p.m., next Thursday at the Stinson Beach Community Center.

Supt. William J. Whalen is expected to field questions regarding private land acquisition plans, policies and management, kinds of recreation to be offered, physical conformation of the park, and others, according to Emma Benevenga, chamber secretary.

Also expected to attend are recreation area staff members John E. Ritchie, chief of lands for the western region; Douglas Cornell, architect and planner, and Albin Reynolds, chief of land appraisal.

The meeting is open to the public. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Benevenga, P.O. Box 94, Olema, through Tuesday.

Former Political Figure Released

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — John V. Kenny, once a leading political figure in New Jersey, was freed Thursday from the U.S. medical center where he had been under treatment for a severe heart condition.

Authorities at the penal medical facility said they had been notified by letter that a court had received the $30,000 fine Kenny, 79, owed on an income tax offense. Payment of the fine was a requirement of his release on parole, granted Feb. 7.

Viet Peace Document Is Signed

PARIS (UPI) — World powers led by the United States, China and the Soviet Union today signed a nine-point plan aimed at guaranteeing a lasting peace in Vietnam.

Foreign ministers from 12 nations, put their signatures to the six-page document at 3:25 p.m. (9:25 a.m. EST), conference spokesmen said.

Canada and South Vietnam said earlier they were signing with reservations.

Each minister, using his own pen, signed five copies of the agreement. It was produced in English, French, Russian, Vietnamese and Chinese.

The agreement binds signatories scrupulously to respect the Paris peac accord of Jan.27, urges other countries to do the same, provides for reconvening of the conference if peace in Vietnam is threatened in future, and sets out details of machinery for reporting cease-fire violations.

Highway To Open

Las Gallinas Sanitary Board To Further Explore Sewage Planning

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board, again wrestling with what effect expansion of district sewage facilities will have on community growth, last night decided to hold another public hearing on the matter.

The public hearing on an environmental impact report concerning plant expansion will be reopened at 7:30 p.m. March 22 in the county Civic Center to allow more public comment on the matter, according to Lelia O'Kane, district secretary.

The report holds that the only adverse effect on increasing plant capacity from 2.25 million gallons a day to 3 million gallons will be from ultimately adding 13,000 persons to the present 27,000 residents, requiring development of 2,200 acres and the addition of cars, roads and services for the new population.

As in the past, the board took no action on the dilemma of whether a sanitary district has the right or duty to limit population growth in the area it serves, Mrs. O'Kane said.

The board did, however, declare that it will proceed with plant expansion on the basis of county predictions of a sewage producing population in the district equivalent to 34,100 residents by 1978, she said.

The board also said it expects the city of San Rafael and the County of Marin to limit building permits to allocations of connections by the board.

In addition, all connection requests will be referred to the county and city for "consideration," she said.

Mrs. O'Kane said the board last night asked the City of San Rafael to appoint board member Calvin B. Colt to the city's general plan advisory committee. The board appointed Constance M. Johnstone of 12 Clover Hill, San Rafael, to its own citizens' committee on plant expansion, she added.

In a related matter, the board expressed concern about environmental impact reports for the 292-unit Foothills Oaks project and the office, restaurant, service station and car wash project known as Northgate East, both of which are proposed for the sites near the county Civic Center.

The board said it wanted to review the Foothill Oaks soils report and wondered whether the project provided for adequate drainage as well as what effect it would have on plant capacity, she said.

The board declared it was concerned with the car wash proposed in the Northgate East project, saying that wet weather flow at the Terra Linda pump station is already over capacity, and noted that an industrial waste ordinance pending before the district might affect the types of industrial sewage permitted in the district, she said.

Jazz Trumpeter Fined For Weapon

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jazz trumpeter Miles Davis was fined $1,000 Thursday for possessing a dangerous weapon. He pleaded guilty to having a .25 caliber revolver in the luxury apartment building he owned.

However, a charge that Davis had cocaine in his apartment was dismissed for lack of evidence.

SLAYING SUSPECT — Herbert Mullin, 26, was returned to jail yesterday after Municipal Judge Donald May refused to accept his plea of guilty to ten murders in the Santa Cruz area last month. The case was continued to March 15 after the judge entered an innocent plea on behalf of the suspect. (UPI Telephoto)

Judge Refuses Guilty Plea Of Slay Suspect

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Clutching two lawbooks and a copy of the U.S. Constitution in his hand, drug dropout Herbert W. Mullin tried repeatedly Thursday to plead guilty to 10 murders.

Municipal Judge Donald R. May wouldn't let him, entering an innocent plea instead on behalf of the 25-year-old suspect in the series of slayings in the Santa Cruz area in the past six weeks.

The baby-faced Mullin, who dropped out of college and became a heavy LSD user, stood before the judge in an orange jail jumpsuit and attempted to plead both "no contest" and guilty.

Mullin said he had discharged his defense attorney because his father was paying his fee and that he wanted to be represented by the public defender. The judge appointed James Jackson to represent him and then declined to accept Mullin's pleas on grounds he hadn't had time to consult with the public defender.

Mullin was charged with slaying a young mother and her two small sons at a remote cabin, a Santa Cruz man and his wife at their home, an elderly fisherman working in a garden, and four teen-age youths camping on a mountainside near Felton. All 10 were shot to death between Jan. 24 and Feb. 13.

He also has been listed as the "prime suspect" in last November's beating and stomping death of a Roman Catholic priest in a confessional at Los Gatos, about 20 miles away across the Santa Cruz Mountains. But no charges have been filed.

After Judge May read an amended complaint — adding four more murder charges than the six he was previously arraigned on—Mullin asked if he could make his plea in writing. The judge agreed and Mullin wrote it out at a lectern.

May read the plea, "Nolo contendre (no contest) to the offenses charged," and said, "I don't feel I should accept this."

Mullin persisted in trying to enter a plea, saying he would plead guilty instead of nolo contendre. But the judge refused, entered the innocent plea and set a preliminary hearing for March 15.

District Attorney Peter Chang said he would bypass the preliminary hearing by going to the Santa Cruz County Grand Jury next Wednesday and asking it to indict Mullin.

Four In Manson Family Found Guilty By Jury

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four more members of the infamous Charles Manson family are headed for prison, bringing the total number behind bars to at least 12, with three still facing trial.

A jury ruled Wednesday that four Manson followers, two men and two women, were legally sane and responsible for their actions when they robbed a beer distributing firm in Covina and tried to steal 143 rifles, pistols and shotguns from a Hawthorne surplus store.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated one hour 45 minutes before bringing in the verdicts against Kenneth Como, 30, Catherine "Gypsy" Share, 30, Mary Brunner, 29 and Lawrence Bailey, 23.

They are scheduled to be sentenced March 20-23.

Poverty Fund Protest Set

ATLANTA (UPI) — Rev. Ralph Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, announced Wednesday a "spring offensive" in protest of cutbacks by the Nixon administration in anti poverty funds.

Abernathy called for the first demonstration to fall on April 4, the fifth anniversary of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It is scheduled for Atlanta.

Abernathy said he was hopeful that the path of protest "through a warm spring and a hot summer will take us to many stae capitols and cities across the nation."

'Mr. Dirt' Being Sued For Divorce

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ronnie Graham, the actor who plays Mr. Dirt in a televised gasoline commercial, was sued for divorce Thursday by his wife, Sigyn Lund.

She said the couple had been estranged for two years. "He just walked out and moved to the West Coast. I concluded I wanted to wash him right out of my hair."

Kidnaped Mayor Escapes

GALLUP, N.M. (UPI) — Mayor Emmett Garcia crashed through a glass window in a blaze of bullets to escape from two militant Indians who kidnaped him Thursday.

Then police opened fire on the sporting goods store where the two Indians, both 20, had holed up. One surrendered and the other was found inside, shot to death. Police said they think he committed suicide.

Garcia was hospitalized in good condition. His abductors had shot him once in the side as he escaped and he suffered cuts from broken glass when he dived through the window.

The dead Indian, Larry Casuse, was a former president of the Kiva Indian Club at the University of New Mexico. District Attorney Ed Depauli said Casuse was bitterly opposed to the recent appointment of Garcia as a University of New Mexico regent.

The club charged Garcia exploited Indians.

The other Indian, Robert Nakaidinae, Fort Defiance, Ariz., was charged with kidnaping, attempted murder, and lesser offenses.

Depauli said the two Indians walked into the mayor's office "and then some shots were fired," but no one was hit. He said they handcuffed Garcia and disarmed Police Chief Manuel Gonzalez Jr.

"They walked the mayor down, handcuffed, to Sterns Sporting Goods Store about a block and a half away," Depauli said. Once inside, "the mayor saw a chance to escape and dived through a glass window.

"They took a shot at him and then the firing started between them and police," he said.

The Indians were armed with a pistol and a shotgun and had a large amount of ammunition, police said.

Coroner Charles Kettel said Casuse was killed by a bullet in the face "fired at close range," because there were powder burns on the wound.

The coroner said he was withholding a ruling in the death until after an autopsy, but Depauli said it was the general opinion of policemen at the scene that Casuse killed himself.

Such Products As Turtle Soup Under Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Turtle soap, python skin boots and other products from endangered species protected by state law are openly sold in California stores, the Environmental Defense Fund said yesterday.

In letters to Attorney General Evelle Younger and Los Angeles District Attorney Joseph Busch the conservation group said sperm whale knives, kangaroo shoes, French cobra belts, alligator and turtle products were found on the shelves of 10 San Francisco Bay Area stores.

". . . I. Magnin is carrying a line of 'Polly Bergen' sea turtle cosmetics, Sears Roebuck will take orders of kangaroo shoes, and Brooks Brothers sells alligator belts," the letter said.

Bawdy House Charge Brings Fine Of $100

A madam was fined $100 yesterday after pleading no contest to a charge of running a house of ill repute in the Northgate area of San Rafael, but the charges against three codefendants were dismissed.

Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court imposed the fine on 37-year-old Carolyn Duvale as part of a negotiated sentence that included dismissal of charges of soliciting for prostitution.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Girard R. Courteau then asked for dismissal of the charges against Richard Leonard O'Leary, 32, of Larkspur, co-owner of the now closed Executive Sauna, and two of its former employees, Samaki Zuri, 21, and Marlene Langston, 23.

Courteau said he didn't have enough evidence to prosecute in view of the acquittal of O'Leary's partner, Max Joseph Oncina, 50, of San Rafael in a jury trial in December.

However, Courteau refused to dismiss the misdemeanor soliciting count against Mandy Cranston, 25, and Judge Baty continued that case to March 30 to decide whether it also should be dismissed.

Miss Cranston allegedly offered more than a massage to San Rafael Inspector Bart Stinson when he went to the Sauna at 4140 Redwood Highway Dec. 16, 1971.

Police raided the short-lived establishment immediately afterward and arrested the four women. The sauna had been open slightly more than a month when police closed it.

Corteau said Miss Duvale was allowed to plead no contest because a guilty plea would have made her vulnerable to perjury charges. She testified during Oncina's trial that no illicit activities were conducted.

Oncina was tried separately because he allegedly confessed to Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, but a jury of nine men and three women apparently felt Oncina's denial and backup testimony from a third man cast doubt on Bale's recollection.

Housing Element Of Plan Adopted

The City-County Planning Council of Marin adopted the housing element to the proposed countywide general plan last night and fired off a letter to President Nixon urging him to maintain funding for federally subsidized housing programs.

Adoption of the housing policies completes the council's indepth review of the countywide plan, which it helped draft. Sol Silver, chief of the county's advanced planning section, said the council will consider adopting the plan in its entirety at the next meeting, April 5.

The element proposes that the current mix of housing — 20 per cent low income, 45 per cent middle income and 35 per cent higher income — be maintained through 1990.

To do so, it recommends a number of programs for not only new housing construction but retention of existing low and moderate income housing.

Without the programs, some of which require changes to state law, planners fear market pressures will force housing cost to soar.

A sampling of recommended programs for retaining existing low and medium income housing include:

Voluntary agreement by landlords to hold price and rent down in return for tax relief; rehabilitation of dwellings without tax increase, increased numbers of federal leased-housing units8and greater tax relief to the elderly.

A sampling of recommended programs for building new low and medium-income housing includes:

Federally financed public housing projects, federally subsidized housing projects by nonprofit sponsors, new units from a development fund created by taxing new construction, mobile homes and houseboats and local incentives such as density bonuses giving developers more homes per acre in return for some low income housing.

The housing element also recommends the number of such dwellings that would be placed in each area of the county by 1990. And it suggests ways for cities to achieve the allotments.

Overall, 12,740 low-income housing units are recommended for the eastern urbanized corridor by 1990. About 15,600 medium-income units are recommended for the same period.

A 1990 breakdown by area shows: About 3,550 low and 3,730 medium-income units in the Novato area; about 1,530 low and 1,720 medium in the Las Gallinas Valley; about 2,360 low and 2,220 medium in the San Rafael Basin; about 980 low and 700 medium in the Upper Ross Valley; about 1,880 low and 2,610 medium in the Lower Ross Valley, and about 2,780 low and 5,240 medium in the Richardson Bay communities.

The council, made up of representatives from the county and its 11 cities, voted unanimously to write President Nixon urging him to end the freeze imposed on funding of some Department of Housing and Urban Development programs.

The cities of Belvedere and Ross were not represented last night.

Playground Injury Suits Are Filed

The parents of three Novato children, who suffered broken bones in tumbles from a playground toy in Novato's Pioneer Park, have filed suit in Marin Superior Court for more than $240,000 in damages.

The suits claim Novato, its park and recreation director, Edward Adams, and the Miracle Equipment Co., failed to make an eight-foot high roller drum safe for children, then refused to take it out after the parents of the first two injured children complained.

Asking the highest award is Martin Mueller of 28 Harding Drive for his 13-year-old son, Eric. The boy was flung from the device Oct. 7 and suffered broken bones in his right arm and leg which required' two operations.

The suit on his behalf asks $100,000 general damages and $100,000 punitive damages plus more than $2,000 in medical expenses. San Rafael attorney Vernon L. Bradley, who filed all three suits, said the city and Adams were especially negligent in Mueller's case because claims by the parents of the other two children were already on file with the city when he was hurt.

The suits on behalf of Michael Weems, 10, and Tami Atkins, also 10, ask about $20,000 damages for each plus medical expenses and other costs.

Michael broke an arm Aug. 12 and Tami broke an arm three days later when hurled from the playground device, according to the suits.

Adams told the Independent-Journal today that the barrel was removed several months ago.

Novatan Is Convicted In Robbery Of Invalid

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday convicted 24-year-old Danny Ray Pyles of Novato of robbing a 79-year-old invalid in San Rafael last year.

The jury in the court of Judge Henry J. Broderick decided Pyles wasn't armed with a dangerous weapon and set the degree at second.

Sentencing was set for March 28 to allow time for a probation report.

Originally arrested July 11 on suspicion of the June 28 robbery, Pyles fled on the verge of his scheduled trial in January and was arrested Jan. 23 in Maryland.

He now faces an additional charge of stealing a car from Pacific Car Rental in San Rafael Jan. 6 to make the cross-country flight with three juveniles.

Still missing is his brother, Leonard Franklin Pyles, 20, of Pittsburg, who was last seen in Georgia, according to San Rafael police inspector Bart Stinson.

The brothers were to have stood trial with 25-year-old Paul Brent Caldwell of Sonoma. Caldwell was acquitted of the robbery.

Ralph D. Hoy, an elderly television repairman, was robbed of $300 by four men who entered his home on the pretext of needing a television set fixed.

They took Hoy's wallet after aiming a toy pistol at his head, police said. They then knocked him from his wheelchair and fled in a 1964 car.

Police traced the car to a San Anselmo address where Danny Pyles, Caldwell and a 13-year-old boy were arrested July 12. Leonard Pyles was arrested by Petaluma police Sept. 10.

Nobel Winner Is Case Loser

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schoff, owners of a boatworks, have won a $4,500 civil court judgment against Prof. William Shockley, Nobel Prize winning physicist.

A Municipal Court judge ruled Wednesday that Shockley must pay a boat-repair bill which he challenged, along with court costs.

The Stanford scientist contended the boat shop took too long to repair his 33-foot sailboat and that the charges were too high. He introduced in evidence tape recordings of telephone conversations with the Schoffs.

Reservist Sues Over Wig Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An Air Force reservist who was expelled from monthly drill meetings because he wore a wig has filed suit against the U.S. Air Force and the California Air National Guard.

John Budd Wentz had long hair so he wore the short-styled wig to conceal the long locks and thus comply with military regulations.

He said it went unnoticed and unchallenged until one day when he was fulfilling his duties as a clerk-typist in the Air National Guard unit at Hayward.

"A lieutenant stared at me about five minutes from a number of different angles," he said, "until finally he asked me point blank, 'Wentz, is that a wig?' and when I said yes, he sent me home."

Marin City Street Light Flap Caused By Vandals

The question of who shall provide maintenance and repairs for street lights in Marin City has triggered a dispute between the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and the Marin City Community Services District.

The utility company, which stopped repairing broken lights last November, says it can no longer afford to keep them operative because of extensive vandalism. The company has suggested the services district purchase the lights and poles and maintain them.

But the services district board indicated last night it has no desire to take over street light maintenance and accused PG&E of discrimination in the matter.

"The board recognized that vandalism is a problem, but said it is no worse in Marin City than in other outlying areas of the county," secretary Lillian Lee reported.

PG&E's customer services supervisor, Robert E. Canziani does not agree and said today that vandalism in the Southern Marin community is indeed worse. "As fast as we repair the lights, they are shot out," he told the Independent-Journal. "We are losing our shirts there."

Although he could give no estimate of the amount of the damage to lights over the past year, Canziani said it added up to "a lot of money."

He also noted that shots have been fired in the vicinity of PG&E linemen repairing the lights on several occasions. "I don't think there was any attempt to kill or harm the men, but only to scare them," he said.

The customer services supervisor said the utility really doesn't know what can be done to solve the problem. "We'd like to keep the lights in there — it's money for us and lighting for the streets — but we can't keep on this way," he said.

Last night the services district board agreed to meet with PG&E officials to discuss the matter further on March 8.

'Tango' Director Plenty Popular

ROME (AP) — Bernardo Bertolucci, the director of "Last Tango in Paris," says ladies in both Italy and the United States are pressing for his company since his movie made him famous.

American women, he says, "have courted me with embarassing insistence, with ferociousness," and in Rome "ladies I never met" want to spend an evening with him.

The 32-year-old Roman, in an interview Thursday in Turin's newspaper, La Stampa, said there will be little sex in his next movie, which he said will be something like "Gone with the Wind."

Several Cartons Of Smokes Stolen

A sneak thief grabbed a cardboard box containing 40 to 50 cartons of cigarettes from Thrifty Drug Store at 471 Third Street and outran pursuit, San Rafael police reported today.

A clerk saw a tall youth take the cigarettes from a storeroom at 1:15 p.m. yesterday but was unable to catch him as he fled from the Montecito Shopping Center area on foot, officers said.

Tam Group Will Make Road Study

Disappointed with county engineering plans for realignment and improvement of Tennessee Valley Road, the Tamalpais Task Force has decided to prepare its own plans, then submit them to the county.

According to Jo Julin, chairman of the group, the task force on Wednesday also complained that bike paths and pedestrian trails requested in the engineering designs were not included.

The task force appointed its transportation committee to prepare the revised plans within a month. The proposal should be ready for presentation to the county about the same time an environmental impact report on the Tennessee Valley Road project is completed.

The task force also agreed that a 10-unit single-family subdivision to be built on Homestead Boulevard in Homestead Valley should be a cluster development.

Developers of the Alpine Meadows project have presented two more plans for the seven-acre subdivision. One calls for houses spread over individual lots, while the other envisions clusters of dwellings, with about two-acres of open space.

At the meeting the task force also accepted Mrs. Julin's resignation as chairman, a post she has held since the organization's founding about 15 months ago.

Curry Eckelhoff of Tamalpais Valley and Joan Panek of Almonte were appointed to serve as cochairmen for the organization.

Motorist Nick Daniel Predovic Sr., 53, of 108 Upham Street, Petaluma, sits against a tree alongside the flattened wreckage of his auto which rolled over on Highway 101 just south of the Sonoma County line. California Highway Patrol officers said Predovic suffered only minor injuries in the one-car accident at 10:30 p.m. yesterday. After treatment at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital, Predovic was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of drunken driving.

State Board Adopts Tough Waste Plan

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Tough statewide controls on water pollution from animal wastes were adopted yesterday despite objections from Marin dairy ranchers that the high cost of meeting them may drive them out of business.

The unanimous action by the State Water Resources Control board also brushed aside objections from the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control board that local conditions warrant special consideration.

Board member Jean Auer tried to reassure a delegation from Marin that regional boards can give ranchers extra time to comply if needed because of the cost.

The five-man delegation from Marin raised the only objections at the hour-long hearing, although ranchers from other parts of the state previously had protested the board's proposal.

Protesting were supervisors Gary T. Giacomini and Robert A. Roumiguiere, Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino and ranchers Robert Parks and Donald McIsaac.

They objected especially to a new requirement that costly ponds be built to hold a 24-hour storm such as might occur once in a decade, without allowing animal waste to flow into streams and bays.

Trash Separator Machine Shown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Garbage scavengers showed off their newest piece of equipment Thursday —a $700,000 machine that separates ferrous metal from the rest of San Francisco's trash.

The separator system was built by the Los Angeles By Products Co., which is paying the scavengers $2 per ton for tin cans and other metal refuse.

The company sells the metal to mining companies for use in copper mining in Nevada.

Burglar Makes Escape On BART

OAKLAND (UPI) — A burglar could thank the Bay Area Rapid Transit system for his freedom today.

Police said that the thief led police on a high-speed chase Wednesday and fired several shots at officers.

The man fled his automobile and took a BART train to make good his escape.

The chase started when the man was found burglarizing a home, Polie said.

New Chief For Drug Agency

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Veteran narcotics agent Matthew M. O'Connor has been named to the $23,612-a-year position as state director of Narcotics and Drug Abuse.

O'Connor, 47, has been a law enforcement officer for the past 24 years and currently is a supervising special agent with the state Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement.

O'Connor, whose appointment was announced Thursday by Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, replaces William B. Skelton who headed the agency since its inception in 1971. Skelton resigned in January to become inspector of the new state police force.

Tour Of Marsh Area Tomorrow

A group of environmentalists fighting to save the marshlands behind Marin Catholic High School from development of 272 condominiums will lead a field trip over the marshes tomorrow.

The Ad Hoc Committee to Save Marshes has arranged fo a biologist to explain to hikers just why marshes are important in ecology, said committee member Joi Losee of Larkspur.

The field trip starts at 10 a.m. at the Straw Hat Pizza Palace on Bon Air Road, Larkspur.

The committee also urges opponents of the development to attend Monday's 7:30 p.m. meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission at the Civic Center said Mrs. Losee, when developer Goodwin B. Steinberg of San Jose will present the master plan for the condominiums and a medical center.

Diplomats Eyed For China Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two veteran diplomats with long experience in Asian affairs are believed to be the chief candidates to become America's first diplomatic representative in China.

The men are identified by knowledgeable diplomatic sources as John H. Holderidge, the Asian expert of the National Security Council, and Alfred S. Jenkins, the director of the State Department's Communist China desk.

China and the United States announced last month they would open "liaison" offices in each other's capitals.

The director of the liaison office will supervise a staff of about 10 officials in handling consular, trade and cultural affairs.

Holderidge, 48, and Jenkins, 57, have both travelled on various occasions with Kissinger to Peking. White the State Department has forwarded to the White House a list of other well-qualified candidates, Holderidge and Jenkins are believed in diplomatic quarters to have an inside track for the assignment because of their close working ties with Kissinger.

Holderidge speaks Mandarin Chinese and has spent the major part of his career in the foreign service in Far East posts, including Hong Kong, Bangkok and Singapore.

Jenkins studied Chinese in Peking in 1946 and served as a political officer in China before the Communists came to power in 1949. He has also worked in the American diplomatic posts in Hong Kong and Taipei.

The sources said they expect that a U.S. advance party will travel to Peking to discuss a variety of technical questions, including the obtaining of suitable offices and housing, before the mission opens.

Board Takes No Stand In Sonoma State Tiff

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Neither landowners nor open space advocates won any ground in open quarreling between the Rohnert Park representatives and county supervisors at last night's meeting of the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Faced with a squabble over future development of the Sonoma State College area on Rohnert Park's outskirts, the commission took no stand until a public hearing can be held. No date was set.

At issue is the Sonoma County Planning Commission recommendation that one dwelling be allowed for every three-quarters of an acre while Rohnert Park representatives want density limited to one unit per 10 acres.

Although no annexation was involved last night, the commission was studying the plan since it is in the "sphere of influence" of Rohnert Park and the commission is responsible for planning such areas adjacent to cities.

The commission did hold last night, that a prior commitment must be honored by the county to allow development of 500 acres south of Sonoma State.

Members of the public, forewarned that no public testimony would be heard, did not attend.

The meeting ran smoothly until commissioner Ignazio A. Vella of Sonoma, also a county supervisor, urged support of the planning commission recommendation.

Rohnert Park City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan quickly rose to protest the move. 'If any plan makes sense, it's the one adopted by the city council after many hearings and endorsed by everyone but the county supervisors.'

Callinan argued that the planning commission decision served only to undo everything the city had accomplished in zoning.

Vella countered that the plan proposed by Rohnert Park is so restrictive that property owners would have to look for loopholes and variances to develop their land. He predicted the plan would never be approved by the supervisors.

'We'll cross that bridge when we come to it,' Callinan said. 'You can't anticipate how lucky we'll be.'

Callinan said that since the city council has no present plan to provide utilities for the present farmland west of the city, it would do no good to zone the land for high density living units.

"The land can't be developed so let's recognize that," commissioner Vernon P. Smith, a Rohnert Park city councilman, said. 'There's no water, no sewer or septic tank service. I don't see how we can do anything with it.'

Smith said Rohnert Park residents were astonished to see the original Sonoma State College area master plan which projected population of 118,000 persons.

County planning director George Kovatch said most residents were especially upset with traffic projections in the original plan. Based on an average of 10 trips per day per family, he said 37,000 cars would travel daily on Petaluma Hill Road. That would be near the amount on Highway 101.

Rohnert Park Vice Mayor Armando Flores told the commission it isn't fair to tax people for land that cannot be developed. He said land should be reassessed at more reasonable rates if it is unsuitable for development.

The commission agreed that the county board of equalization should study the tax matter.

In other business, the commission endorsed the Cotati general plan amendment, subject to an evaluation by the board of supervisors on transportation linkage in the central core.

The Cotati plan designated 155 acres within the city limits as agricultural and routes traffic around the outer central hub to open the main plaza area for parks and bicycle traffic.

Defector Death Ruled Accidental

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — A coroner's jury ruled Thursday that the death of young Russian defector Sergei Kourdakov was accidental, after learning that "new information" about the death from an Indiana congressman was "no information at all."

The inquest jury ruled that Kourdakov, 21, shot himself in the head accidentally with a borrowed .38-caliber pistol at a rented mountain cabin last New Year's Day.

Hearing In Hash Case March 12

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Three persons, arrested in San Rafael Wednesday in connection with an alleged plot to smuggle 80 pounds of hashish hidden in marble bric-a-brac into this country from Pakistan, were arraigned yesterday before a U.S. magistrate.

Charged with smuggling drugs and possessing them for sale were Phyllis Sue Nuremburg, 22, of San Rafael, and James E. Mellors, 34, and Joel Anderson, 22, both of San Francisco.

The three were arrested at Miss Nuremburg's home at 33 Bayview Street by San Rafael police and customs agents, who said they seized eight packing cartons weighing 800 pounds.

In the cartons, according to John Brockman, special agent in charge of customs, was some 80 pounds of suspected hashish with a wholesale value of $125,000. He said the heavy shipment had come by air from Karachi.

The three were arraigned before Magistrate Owen E. Woodruff Jr. Miss Nuremburg's bail was set at $5,000; Mellors's, $50,000, and Anderson, $10,000.

They are to return to court March 12 for a preliminary hearing.

Juvenile Crime 'Solution' Doubtful

The handling of juvenile offenders in California (as in most, if not all, other states) certainly needs improvement. But the reorganization proposed this week by Earl Brian, California secretary of health and welfare, and state Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, may not be a solution.

The Brian-Biddle proposal would do away with separate Youth Authority and Adult Authority, creating a single California Parole Authority. So far, so good.

It would merge the separate agencies now dealing with criminals and their care into a new Department of Correctional Services. Again, this makes sense.

BUT IT ALSO would turn over the handling of juvenile offenders entirely to the counties. The Youth Authority would be out of the picture. This would mean each county would have to provide its own facilities for incarcerating juvenile offenders now put in state custody — or turn them loose on the streets.

Obviously, this would put a tremendous new burden on the counties. To make it palatable to county officials, the Brian-Biddle reorganization plan includes a "revenue sharing" arrangement under which the state would subsidize county juvenile facilities.

THIS IS THE SAME approach that was taken several years ago with adult offenders. Counties agreeing to provide more supervised probation services and to handle more felons at the county level are given state subsidies.

The subsidies cost the state less than keeping felons in prison. The state saves a great deal of money. Prison populations have been decreased to where the state is busy closing its penal institutions.

Crime, however, has not decreased. Quite the contrary! We just have more criminals on probation and fewer behind bars.

As to whether these probationers are sufficiently supervised to keep them from further crime, to "rehabilitate" them — well, the number of repeaters indicates otherwise.

THE SAME THING, it seems to us, is likely to happen with juvenile offenders under the Brian-Biddle proposal.

In promoting the plan, its authors cited a study which showed that in 15 months after release, only 32 per cent of juvenile offenders handled locally were in trouble again, compared to 52 per cent of those who had been sent to the Youth Authority.

Such a comparison is ridiculous. Only those juveniles with long records of misbehavior or who commit capital crimes are sent to the Youth Authority. It gets the worst of the 32 per cent of local repeaters. Those who just made one or two missteps never reach CYA — and they are, of course, the least likely to get in trouble again.

THE HANDLING of juvenile offenders needs reform. It does not need to be swept under the rug.

The adult crime problem was swept under the rug by the state's persuading the counties to take on the problem in return for a subsidy handout. Let's not do the same with the juvenile crime problem.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

California Student Vote Was Solidly Democratic

By RUS WALTON

Just about one million college students voted for the first time in the presidential election of 1972, here in California. And, if there ever were any doubt, it is now clear that they voted liberal and Democraic.

In a recent article in California Journal, Mike Freed reported on a survey of the campus vote made by the University of California Student Lobby.

The lobby made its study on 28 four-year campuses throughout the state: all nine UC campuses, 12 of the 19 California State universities and colleges, and seven private institutions. The report was based on surveys in 94 precincts wherein students comprised 95 to 100 per cent of registered voters.

HERE ARE SOME highlights:

-72 per cent of the registered student voters in California went to the polls (nationally, the 18-24 vote turnout was 48 per cent).

-statewide, the students registered Democratic three-to-one.

-Students voted overwhelmingly for Sen. George McGovern (UC students voted McGovern - 75 per cent, Nixon - 23 per cent; CSUC students went McGovern — 62 per cent to 35 per cent.)

-with few exceptions, students also voted Democratic in congressional and legislative races (on most surveyed campuses, Nixon fred better than other Republican candidates).

-the "Declined to State" registration among students was almost twice as high as it was among all registered voters.

Party registration in the campus precincts divided about the same at the UC, CSUC and private schools;

UC: Dem. — 67 per cent; Rep. — 18 per cent; Dec.-to-State — 12 per cent.

CSUC: D — 61 per cent; R — 25; DtS — 10.

Pvt: D — 63 per cent; R — 22; DtS — 13.

THE STUDENT VOTE had little impact on California's presidential election but it did have significant impact on several legislative races.

Three freshmen Democratic assemblymen probably owe their victories to the student vote.

Barry Keene, Santa Rosa, won in the north coastal Second District. Keene got 78 per cent of the vote at Humboldt State College, just about enough to give him his 3,000-vote margin over Republican Lawrence G. Antolini.

Lawrence Kapiloff, San Diego, defeated long-time Assemblyman Dick Barnes by fewer than 3,000 votes. Kapiloff got 77 per cent of the student vote at San Diego State.

Walter Ingalls, Riverside, won the Assembly seat vacated by Republican State Sen. Craig Biddle. Ingalls received a district-wide total of 53 per cent, but 85 per cent of the students at UC Riverside voted for him.

THREE OTHER Republican legislators narrowly won re-election despite the strong student vote in their districts.

Sen. Robert Stevens, Santa Monica, defeated Katherine O'Neill by 3,000 votes even though Miss O'Neill took 82 per cent of the vote at UCLA.

Assemblyman Ray Johnson, Chico, squeezed through by 700 votes; 70 per cent of the students at Chico State and 80 per cent of the students at UC Davis voted against him.

In Santa Barbara, young Democrat Gary Hart almost defeated Assemblyman Don MacGillivray. Hart received 96 per cent of the student vote at UC Santa Barbara. In Isla Vista, the student community for UCSB, Democrats outregistered Republicans 8-1.

All nine UC campuses went for legalized marijuana (Proposition 19) by at least 70 per cent. Nine of the 12 CSUC schools surveyed voted 70 per cent or more for pot.

Proposed New Center Has Little Backing

My company, owner of the Corte Madera Shopping Center, opposes the Hahn shopping center proposal. In addition to damaging the businesses of long-time merchants, we believe that suburbia and shoreline will be desecrated and thievery and accidents will be invited.

At the recent public hearing over 95 per cent of the people also opposed the project. The town manager favored it. The voters of Corte Madera might better check with their councilmen.

Better Center Markings Needed On Roads

This letter is written on behalf of the thousands of drivers in Marin County.

The recent stormy weather has been extremely hazardous for the driver due to poor visibility and center markings on the roads/highways being almost obliterated due to the heavy rains. In some areas it is almost impossible to see the painted lines when the roads are wet and dark.

I know of areas in the East Bay and in other states where orange center markings are displayed, either paint or reflectors, and these have proven effective in cutting down the number of accidents due to inclement weather.

I suggest a flood of letters to the Marin County Board of Supervisors and the traffic department complaining about the poor markings on our roads.

Marin County is one of the most advanced in this country and we should certaintly be better equipped on our roads in order to prevent some of the accidents that do occur under poor weather conditions.

Single Ambulance Contract Unsatifactory

In regards to your article on the front page of Friday's (Feb. 23) Independent-Journal, regarding the burn victim who had to be taken into the hospital by a police car because lack of United Ambulance availability, I'd like to make the following comments:

Why was United's Alto office ambulance called in to respond?

Why wasn't the other ambulance company, Bay Cities Ambulance Co. from San Rafael's Miracle Mile, called in to back up United? . . .

I and Tom Larke Jr. of Fairfax have proposed for years that both companies should be on the county's emergency contract, so as to put more ambulances and crews on the line, to better serve the county. Are we going back to more ambulance delays like it was five years ago?

The one ambulance company contract simply doesn't work. We need both companies on the line. Marin County is too big in population now.

I suggest the county administrator review the present contract and concept.

Hilarita Opposition Called Small But Loud

Not as any surprise to me, the Tiburon City Council gave the Hilarita Housing Project the green light . . .

Ellis Kaplan (Kaplan and McLaughlin), architect for the project, has during the last several months provided the council and city staff with a most excellently prepared study of plans and revisions of the Hilarita Project. Kaplan, as well as the Tiburon Ecumenical Association, have showed perseverance and intelligent foresight in maintaining their fight for this particular low-income housing project . . .

. . .The project has been constantly plagued by small but loud opposition, mainly in the form of Rolling Hills residents. (Rolling Hills Drive is directly bordering Hilarita, above the project, looking down.) These few residents stubbornly refuse to accept what the greater part of the Tiburon population decided they need — a modern low-income housing project where ailing World War II houses now stand.

As a result of this petty bickering and flagrant ignorance, the Hilarita Project is being held up. Aside from the obvious result, the project having to lay dormant, the people of Tiburon suffer tax losses . . .

Besides this, every day the project is held up it suffers the extras of the rising costs of construction, etc. This could be as much as seven per cent per year, or $240,000 annually.

Why don't these irate Rolling Hills residents consider this, among other things? I think a good part of their opposition is based on their personal predjudices . . .

Pitfalls May Lurk Within 'Shield Laws'

I cannot help but feel apprehensive about the news media and their insistence upon immunity from court action regarding news sources. This is an attempt to use legislative means to qualify the First Amendment and may eventually be cause for regret.

For one, great possibility exists that the media's demands will result in high court determination of a contradiction: the rights of a free press as opposed to the rights of the people to have a free press. Trouble could lie in the difference. The catch-phrase "the people have a right to know" is not stated, but merely implied, and a danger is real in any legal rulings upon if and what the people have a right to know.

A qualification in the Bill of Rights for media protection is a singular exception for a special commercialized group. Undoubtedly, it will be challenged for the similar protection of other groups. For the protection of all, it could cause a broadening of the laws of libel to include violations of the rights of privacy and the use of names without specific permission. . .

There are many pitfalls in this Pandora's box. The media should reason carefully before opening.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

These days we hear a lot about the "work ethic," which is a fancy term dreamed up to make us feel better about having to participate in it.

Hard work is what made this country great. Too bad it turned out to be so habit-forming.

Folks used to work harder in the old days because most of 'em lived on a farm, where there wasn't anything else to do.

When people moved to the city, hard work meant wrapping farm products in cellophane and selling them to each other at inflated prices.

THAT ENGLISH EXAM

Complete Test Gives More Accurate Picture

Parents of several Sir Francis Drake High School students have complained to the Tamalpais High School District board about a final term examination in freshman English given at the school.

The complaints arose principally over the first of six sections of the examination. This consisted of a purported letter to someone named John from a girl named Rachel (signed "peace, love, and organic crap, Rachel"). It described what happened at a teen-age party after John left, the "high point" being "fornication in the nine-year-old's room" beneath "a picture of Bobby Sherman with lip prints on it."

Students were asked to answer three questions: "Why is the speaker (sic) writing this letter?" "What kind of person is Rachel?" "How much do you know about John?"

THE EXAMINATION consisted of six parts. To give a truer picture of the type of examination, and indication of the type of English instruction, we devote this space today to a resume of the succeeding five parts.

Part Two consisted of a list of 10 statements, with instructions: "Underline the statements given below which are NOT controversial statements. Explain why you think they are not."

The statements, as printed on the examination paper, were:

"1. Rick Demott (sic) is the real winner of the race he competed in, no matter what drug he took.

"2. The sky is blue today.

"3. The U.S. should never have gotten into the war in Vietnam.

"4. No one has the right to tell anyone else what to drink or smoke.

"5. Buddhism is the only true faith.

"6. I think school stinks!

"7. Television is a waste of time.

"8. Some girls don't get along with girls as well as others do.

"9. Three is my lucky number.

"10. 'We are on the threshold of a new era of peace.' "

PART THREE was as follows:

"Choose one scene from either of the films you saw in the theater this term (Gunga Din, The African Queen) which you think had really important non-verbal langage — aids to communication — in it. Describe that scene, describing the gestures or facial expressions or body movement which made it so memorable. Make it clear why the non-verbal language was important to the scene."

PART FOUR consisted of a dialogue entitled "Love Story." Instructions to the students read:

"Add information to the following dialogue after reading it carefully. Add information so that the nature of the two speakers is clear. Include movement, facial expression, voice expression."

The dialogue opens as follows:

"Alan: Sarah, is that really you?

"Sarah: Alan darling, how have you been? I haven't seen you in ages.

"Alan: Oh, Sarah. I have been living so long without you. Why didn't you come back?

"Sarah: I'm sorry Alan. We moved from the country into that big mucky city.

"Alan: Sarah, I have missed you (sic) tender lips, your soothing eyes. The touch of you just sends chills up my spine. Oh, Sarah, tell me that you love me."

She tells him that she loves him, and the dialogue proceeds through a few more exchanges to a proposal of marriage, which Sarah accepts. It winds up as follows:

"Alan: Sarah, you are so sexy. I can't believe it. Walk with me to the ocean where we can breathe fresh air.

"Sarah: No Alan.

"Alan: What?

"Sarah: Not in Los Angeles. You don't breathe fresh air. You breathe smog, Alan.

"Alan: That's right. Listen, we can go to Reno and get a quicky marriage and live together forever. Waiter, may I have the check, please? Thank you."

PART FIVE instructs the reader to fill in dialogue "so that the scene becomes understandable and believable" following an introductory paragraph which reads:

"The sun streams into the window, showing the dusty floor and shabby upholstery of the small, cluttered, cheerful room. —— walks slowly in, looks around, sits down. After picking up a magazine, (s)he leafs through it, and tosses it aside. —— enters quietly, closing the door behind him/her softly. A minute passes."

This is followed by blanks to be filled in with names of those participating in the dialogue, after each of which is a parenthetical explanation of how the person is supposed to be speaking:

"—— (quietly):

"(putting hands on hips, walking to piano bench and sitting down)

"—— (louder):

"(standing up and facing the other speaker)

"—— (reasonably and calmly, extending hands to sides, palms up)!"

There are 13 of these, of which the last reads:

"—— opens door and walks out, leaving the door open. —— looks after her/him, an expression of pain on his/her face. He/She stands there for a minute, then sits, resting his/her head on both hands."

PART SIX consisted of a selection called "The Apostate," by George Milburn, a monologue in which one man is telling another why he is quitting the Rotary Club. The selection, slightly over 400 words long, winds up as follows:

"Now, Harry, I always felt like a father has got certain responsibilities to his son. That's just good Rotary. That's all there is to it. You know that that's just good Rotary yourself, Harry. Well, I always wanted Hubert to think about me just like I was a pal to him, or say an older brother maybe. Hubert always knew that all he had to do was come to me, and I would act like a big buddy to him, irregardless.

"Well, like I was telling you, Harry, I started Hubert in to the university two years ago, and after he had been there about two months, I thought I would run down and see how he was getting along and go to a football game. So I and Mrs. T. drove over one Friday. We didn't know the town very well, so we stopped at a filling station, and I give Hubert a ring, and he come right on down to where we was to show us the way. Just as soon as he come up, I could see right then he had something on his mind bothering him.

"He called me aside and took me into the filling station restroom, and says: 'For the love of God, Dad, take that Rotary button out of your coat lapel,' he says to me."

A FOOTNOTE explains that an apostate is "one who has forsakes his faith, or party, a renegade," and that Rotary is "local club affiliated with the International association of Rotary Clubs, composed of business and professional men meeting regularly to promote good fellowship, and improve business and civic conditions."

The student is asked to answer the following questions about the selection:

"1. Where do you think the speaker, Hubert T., and Harry are?

"2. Why is Mr. T. saying all this to Harry? Would he say it to anyone else? Why or why not?

"3. What might Harry have said in the course of the story?

"4. What kind of person is the speaker? How can you tell?

"5. What kind of person is Harry, the listener? How can you tell?

"6. What kind of writing is this? (What is it called?)"

THE COPY of the examination we obtained was one turned in by a student and returned to him, with the teacher's markings.

The student had made numerous grammatical and spelling errors. None of these was corrected or marked in any way by the teacher.

Answer To Parent's Question About Grammar Pretty Obvious

That controversial English test at Sir Francis Drake High School has drawn fire from another quarter.

A mother who said she's no bluenose, but is concerned that her teen-agers learn proper use of English, called the other day. She declared that regardless of whether the test is pornographic, it's full of grammatical errors.

THE TEST is in several sections. The much-criticized, earthy letter is followed by a section asking the student to declare whether each of a series of statements is controversial.

One example she cited from her son's copy of the test:

"Rick DeMont is the real winner of the races he competed in."

Her comment: "I'm constantly correcting my children when they end a sentence with a preposition. Aren't they teaching grammar any more?"

Obviously not, ma'am. They're much more worried about the emotional content of the communication than whether it's passable English.

THE POLITICAL PLUMAGE of John Q. Citizen is certainly the strangest set of feathers you'll ever see. It burst into full brilliance in February and March, when it's time for school district, city and some local district elections.

It's fairly easy to understand why there's a crowded field of nine candidates for the three seats opening up in the Tamalpais High School District. Every citizen's attention of late has been focused on the great Hawkins Flap, although most of the candidates claim they sort of wish it wouldn't become a campaign issue.

And in Novato, where the district finances are still tighter than Aunt Minnie's corset, it's possible to conceive why the three outgoing incumbents decided not to run, and eight newcomers clamored to take their places.

Even in Dixie, where one incumbent and six newcomers are competing, there's some pressure from the fact that much of Dixie's territory was annexed to the city of San Rafael this year.

But what about Bolinas-Stinson School District, where one incumbent and six newcomers filed for three seats, and three others filed for a short term? Few echoes of any political strife in the school have crept around the soggy flanks of Mount Tamalpais. Apparently, the race there reflects a surge of old-fashioned civic mindedness.

THAT WAS A MIGHTY little bat in the Petaluma Library Monday night. Everybody ran for home. An omen for the baseball season?

Only One Park Site Given Nod

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission has decided that two potential park sites in the town have limited merit, but recommends the town's planning commission seriously consider a third, next to the town dock on Lucky Drive.

Commission secretary Nancy Urbani said the 1.3-acre site near the dock was considered to have "great potential for recreational use because it could have good boating access."

Commissioners recommended at Wednesday's meeting that the planning commission consider leasing the land, which is up for sale.

The two other sites on the east side of town found less favor.

A parcel at 5604 Paradise Drive, slated for high density development, had been suggested as a mini-park by the Marin Estates Homeowners Association. Mrs. Urbani said the commission agreed it was suitable for park use, but considered it should have a low priority due to limitations of size, location, and limited water access.

A much larger parcel of land, east of Mariner Cove and north of Paradise Drive, bounded on the east by the Marin Country Day School, had been suggested by the community services subcommittee of the general plan study committee.

Mrs. Urbani said the commission thinks only a certain percentage of the parcel could be adapted for park use since much of it's marshland.

In addition, said Mrs. Urbani, commissioners said water access would be restricted through tidal conditions, and the Bay Conservation and Development Council has stated that one of the last remaining marshes in the community ought to be kept as open space.

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission also:

TREES — Decided to tell the community appearance subcommittee than an experimental program to plant trees on the graded hillsides east of 101 would be a good idea, but the individual trees should each be surrounded by soil-retaining bushes too.

BASEBALL — Agreed to help the Twin Cities Little League upgrade the baseball diamond in town park by providing top soil; refused to lower insurance requirements for Little League use, although Charles Newman and Donald Fillpot said it will cost $61 more in insurance premiums to meet town standards.

DOG SHOW — Refused an application from the St. Francis Animal Protection Society for permission to use the town park once a month to display dogs that need homes.

College To Seek Redevelopment Pact With City

The Marin Community College District Board has voted unanimously to ask the City of San Rafael to negotiate a return of district revenues which could be lost under that city's redevelopment project.

District President John A. Grasham said trustees directed him Wednesday to write to San Rafael, reiterating the district's opposition to redevelopment, which would freeze the district tax rate until redevelopment bonds were paid off.

The college district hasn't withdrawn its suit against redevelopment, said Grasham, although yesterday county supervisors tentatively agreed to withdraw county suits.

AEC Chairman Has To Shift Locations

JEFFERSON, Md. (UPI) — Dr. Dixy Lee Ray, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, apparently will have to move the 28-foot motor home she lives in with her two dogs from a farm about 35 miles northwest of Washington.

J. Alfred Cutsail, Frederick County Zoning Administrator, said Thursday that county laws prohibit using a motor home as a residence. A spokesman for Dr. Ray said she had planned to move "within a matter of weeks."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

'Agreement' On Redevelopment Might Inhibit Sale Of Bonds

The supervisors' agreement to drop redevelopment court suits occupied the place of prominence on the front page of the I-J Wednesday, so let's muse a bit over the picture presented.

First there was an old law, that I haven't heard has been repealed, that one board of supervisors may not bind any future board with agreements or similar action. I imagine the same reasoning applies to city councils as well. Therefore I wonder just how much weight this shadow boxing really has?

With this in mind it would appear that any purchaser of bonds that might be offered by San Rafael for redevelopment would want all possible clouds removed before he would lay the coin on the line. It would be interesting to have some research performed at this point.

I have been wondering whether or not the people on Fourth Street who were around during 1952 and the years immediately after, and who were so determined to get the courthouse out of its historic spot on the main drag (the only reason San Rafael became the main shopping center) ever squirm in their sleep and kick the covers off? They were big "narsty talkin' guys" them days.

ONE OF THE FRONT page lead stories in last Friday's I-J was loaded chock-a-block with examples of Brasilia bureaucracy. I hope I can sort them out; for they sure show up results of throne room abdication.

"Continued development of. . .the fair site at Civic Center again looms as a major...contentionin the. . .capital projects for 1973-74." The fair officials want rapid development —$960,000; the administrator only wants to spend $250,000 a year. The annual capital improvements proram will be reviewed by the planning commission, then on March 13 by the supervisors.

There's your old Parkinson Law at work. And excuse the pun: making work. The parks and recreation folks were assigned ground maintenance a year or so ago. They are the ones, next to the fair management, most concerned.

The grand manner, you know, requires plenty of fanfare. So it takes the fair people — the administrator —the planning commission and the supes. It would never be fancy enough for the supes to set up a committee to sit in with the fair crowd and the parks staff. That might tarnish the throne.

THIS SEEMS TO BE lost sight of: If it hadn't been for the annual fair we started and carried on for those many years, there would have been no state money piling up to buy some 85 acres out there in the first place. They should be taken care of now, or all that thrust which has been built up will be lost.

You probably noticed that the planning commission is so very, very happy that it is to be the court of last resort on the major appeals from the staff rulings. And is the staff happy? The commission eats right out of its hand. I think le Baptiste will be sorry he pushed that little deal through like he did. For those who came in late, he is the chairman of the board of supervisors.

Antirabies Shots Being Given To Three Persons

Three unidentified persons are undergoing painful antirabies treatment as a result of Marin County's latest rabid animal incident — part of a countywide upsurge of the dreaded disease.

Names of the persons undergoing the treatment were withheld by the public health department on advice of the county counsel's office, which said to release them could violate doctor-patient confidentiality.

According to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, the three persons came into contact last week with the saliva and excrement of a rabid cow at the W. V. Lafranchi ranch north of Nicasio.

While rabies is usually transmitted through a bite from the infected animal, Dr. Albrecht said it can be contacted through cuts and scratches if in contact with the animal's saliva or excrement.

In the latest case, she said, the three persons were not actually bitten by the cow but are undergoing antirabies injections as a safeguard against having picked up the disease through cuts and scratches on the hands and arms.

The names were withheld, Dr. Albrecht said, because she is acting as a consultant to doctors treating the three.

So far this month, four rabid animals have been identified in widely separated sections of the county. Only one had been previously reported, however.

In that case, a skunk was seen staggering out of a barn in the Hicks Valley area of northern Marin. It was killed and later determined to have been rabid. No threat to a human was reported.

On Feb. 7, a skunk was killed in the upper Fawn Drive area of Sleepy Hollow and following laboratory tests was listed as rabid. Its only contact was with a previously vaccinated dog.

On Feb. 11, another skunk was killed in the Point Reyes Station area and was later determined to be carrying rabies. It possibly had contact with a previously vaccinated dog, Dr. Albrecht said.

During the last five months, she said, 12 rabid animals have been found in Marin. Prior to that, no rabid animal was reported for a two-year period — the last being a rabid skunk found in Novato on July 21, 1970.

Newsword Adventure

"Hard hats" are worn as a safety precaution by members of many occupations. The hard hat dates back many years. In 1586, Roman workers who were erecting the Egyptian obelisk in front of St. Peter's Cathedral were ordered to wear battle helmets to protect themselves from falling objects. Welsh miners devised their own protective head covering in the 19th Century by stiffening derbies with shellac. Today escaping death or injury by wearing a hard hat entitles a worker to become a member of the honorary "Turtle Club." In recent years, the word "hard hat" has become a nickname for a construction worker.

DO YOU KNOW — What are "white collar" workers?

Marin Dining And Wining

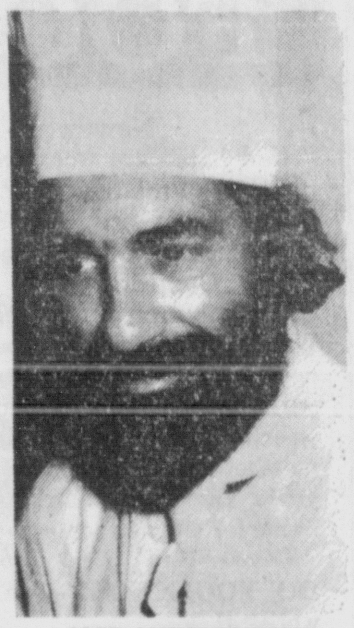
DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

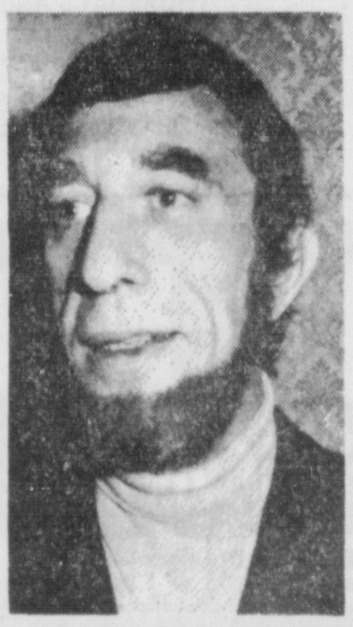
El Greco Is Attracting Diners From Throughout The Bay Area

In the fresh bloom of a successful opening, there's a strong inclination to predict continued success for a new restaurant — even though such an optimistic outlook may not always be supported by all the facts.

It does seem to me, however, that there is one new Marin dinery which should definitely make the grade. If for any reason it should not, then I have misread all the signs. And in this case it may not be the Marinites themselves who can take all the credit for making it go. They will have to share it with diners-out from various other areas, for this is a specialty house, and quite a good one — and that makes it common property.



JOSE ANTONIO PONS
At new El Greco



JAIME DIEZ-PICHARDO

I have reference to the recently opened Spanish restaurant known as El Greco at 85 Red Hill Avenue in San Anselmo.

In some respects it is almost too good to be true. It is only natural that Spanish speaking people would be among the first to become aware of its attractions, for owners Jaime Diez-Pichardo and Jose Antonio Pons definitely have many friends in the Bay Area who would certainly want to discover just what their countrymen are up to.

After almost a month of this preliminary inspection it appears they have given their stamp of approval, for they are still coming in and bringing others along with them. You'll find them from the East Bay and as far south as San Jose.

In recent years, Spain has been a target location in many a traveler's European itinerary, and not a few have come back with a strong liking for the country, its people and food. If this applies to you, there is every good reason for you to visit El Greco and refresh your memories right here at home. If it doesn't, then it's certainly a splendid spot for a trial run before you make the trip.

Don't misunderstand — you don't need a knowledge of Spanish to appreciate Jose's excellent chilled gazpacho soup of southern Spain, the tantalizing sauce of his sauteed prawns (gambas al ajillo), the paella marinera or zarzuela mariscos or the fine Marques de Rescal wine, any more than you must be a Frenchman to do justice to say Alfred Roblin's grenadin de veau gentilhomme at Ondine. Truly a talented chef is Jose, and good food is the same in any language.

Take your time eating it — this is a place to dine leisurely, listen to the flamenco guitar playing in the background — and enjoy the surroundings in a relaxed frame of mind.

AMENDING OUR RECENT Dining and Wining Guide write-up on the Boat Dock in Sausalito, this establishment is now serving both lunches and dinners seven days a week.

Lunch specials, roast beef, stuffed bell peppers and calarmari at $1.95. A la carte dinner entrees served from 5:30 to 9 p.m. include seafoods and steaks and are priced in the $2.95-$6.95 range.

Considerable remodeling has been undertaken and the lower deck patio will be open for lunches and brunches by the end of this month — weather permitting.

CHEF ERIC BENSON, whose culinary talents for several years have been a credit to many a Marin restaurant, is leaving the county for the Mendocino coast.

He owns two acres near Anchor Bay and plans to open a delicatessen in that community, to be known as Eric's Delicatessen. With him in the operation will be his wife Viola and sons Lars and Leif. The date set for his opening is March 10.

This won't be a restaurant, so there are no tables — but you can count on getting good food and taking it with you. There will be some hot dishes, I believe.

DID I MENTION BEFORE that Ethel Barrie now has stocked that Wan Fu wine at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate? It's specially blended to go with Chinese food. You should like it.

IN GERMANY, Rhine wines traditionally come in brown bottles and the Moselles in dark green bottles. But here in California our Rhine-type wines may or may not (usually not) be in brown bottles.

CORRECTIONAL WORK on the kitchen recently damaged by fire at El Rebozo, the popular Mexican restaurant at the Fireside Motel on Highway 1 in Southern Marin, has been completed and a reopening of the restaurant has been planned for tomorrow. While they were at it, Francisca Uanua and Maria Vasquez also had the cocina enlarged.

As before, El Rebozo will serve lunches and dinners daily except on Wednesdays from noon to 11 p.m.

A GREAT PLACE for lunch is Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia. You'll find people from the Civic Center eating there all the time. If the weather is right, eat outside on the terrace. On the menu are some excellent omelets, hot and cold sandwiches and also everday chef Pierre Giavina prepares two specials.

Or make it there some Sunday for brunch and order one of Raymond Coscarat's special gin fizzes.

Speaking of successful restaurant operations, this is one place that definitely has made good — no question. Raymond and wife Eugenie will celebrate their 11th year in business here tomorrow.

HANGTOWN FRY is a famous old California dish. You'll find it on the menu at San Rafael Joe's. I remember ordering it there once and it was terrific — and filling.

It is reported to have originated with a cook known as Hangtown Nick, who lived for a time in the Mother Lode during the gold rush days. (Hangtown is now known as Placerville). He cooked up a combination of fried oysters, with scrambled eggs on top and bacon on the side. Eventually he migrated to San Francisco and took his recipe along with him and it was there the dish got the name of Hangtown Fry.

Order it with a bottle of chablis (or champagne) and you've got yourself a meal.

MARCH 1 IS THE TIME for many seasonal openings in Sonoma County.

In the Valley of the Moon, Golden Bear Lodge at Kenwood has opened and will serve dinners from now through Thanksgiving. (Usually closed on Thursdays).

In the Russian River area, Angelo's Resort and Restaurant at Monte Rio is now serving dinners on Saturdays and Sundays. Starting in May, Fridays will be added and on June 1 add Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Cazanoma Lodge at Cazadero is now serving dinners Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays and will boost that to five days a week on May 1, closing on Mondays and Tuesdays. Lunches will also be served on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays through the summer.

Mark West Lodge in Santa Rosa opened its season this week and is now serving dinners daily except Wednesdays.

The 4-H Club originated in Holmes County, Miss., in 1907 as a series of "corn clubs" for boys.

Protest Planned On Poverty Cuts

Marin Alternative members have voted unanimously to protest the Nixon administration's cuts in poverty programs.

An appeal will be sent to the President urging him to reconsider cuts in programs that benefit Marin, especially Head Start, Legal Aid Society of Marin, Neighborhood Youth Corps and Community Action Marin (EOC).

The organization's publicity chairman, William E. Rowen of San Rafael, also reported a special meeting will be held in about two weeks to adopt a position on whether any future growth should be encouraged in the county. The time and place will be announced.

TV Pros Wild About Prisoner Ad Spots

By PAT ANGLE

In the next several months, Bay Area television viewers will be seeing an unusual series of public service announcements aimed at discouraging drug abuse and finding jobs for paroled prisoners.

What makes the TV spots unusual is the fact the speakers are all convicts at San Quentin Prison, reaching the public airwaves from behind the walls.

"As far as I know, this is the first time this kind of thing has ever been done in any state institution," said Lee De Bord, prison information officer. "We were skeptical at first," he admitted, "but I like the results."

About 40 different announcements were recorded last month at the prison as part of an inmate class in radio and television broadcasting. The course's teacher, Dr. Stuart Hyde, chairman of the broadcast communication arts department at California State University in San Francisco, conceived the project several months ago and obtained official approval.

Last week, representatives of area television stations gathered at the university to view the spots and were unanimously enthusiastic. All the broadcast representatives who attended the sessions indicated they would use some of the announcements on their stations.

"They're beautiful; they have to be a lot more effective than anything that's ever been on television," said Sonny L. Buxton, community affairs director for San Francisco's KGO-TV.

"The honesty of the people comes across and, let's face it, that's what's going to sell, said Ian Zellick, assistant to the general manager of KTVU-TV in Oakland. "They're very good; I think we'll want to use abut seven of them.

The announcements were prepared, written and presented by convicts in the class. Some are pleas for jobs for ex-cons and others are warnings to young people to stay away from the dope scene.

Some are serious. "Once you get the ex-con jacket, you don't shake it because neither the law or society is going to forgive or forget," one inmate said while talking about the dangers of drug use.

"Don't ask me if the high was worth my stay here — hell, no, it wasn't!" said another young convict bitterly.

' 'This is where my trip took me, behind the walls of San Quentin," warned a third.

"While you're dropping your pills and smoking your weed, trip on that!" he added feelingly.

Others are humorous, like the spot in which two convicts are smoking what is supposed to be a marijuana cigarette. They inhale noisily, cough appropriately and chat while passing the reefer back and forth.

"This is a cool trip were on now," one man says dreamily, "where are we tripping at?" "San Quentin," hs companion replies. "San Quentin?" the first man screams in agonized fashion.

"These spots are not only worthwhile in showing the inmates in a different light than usual — as concerned human beings, but I think the men come across as real people giving real messages," De Bord said after viewing the announcements. "They're not some officious individuals sitting up there trying to tell people what to do about drugs. These guys know what they are talking about and it comes across."

Dr. Hyde, who convinced prison authorities to let him bring in remote sound trucks, cameras, cables and other equipment into the prison for the taping in mid-January, is elated at the apparent success of the venture.

"This is going to do a lot of good for the men, because they have a real need to feel they're helping people, that their lives aren't completely wasted," he said.

Hyde went on to say the taping provided excellent practical experience for his students who are accustomed to working solely with a hand-held video taping machine. For many in the class, it was their first chance to operate professional equipment, the sophisticated apparatus used in television work today.

Hyde first approached Warden Louis S. Nelson about the project several months ago. The warden approved the plan, with the proviso that all tapes be approved by him before they were made public.

De Bord said only two of the public service announcements were eliminated as unsuitable. One was a convict warning that 'If there's a pusher selling dope to my sister, the police better catch him before I do.' Another convict began his speech by "berating society for the way men are treated in prison," according to the information officer. "Those are the only two we took exception with."

Although none of the convict announcers was present when their work was shown to the television pros, one man who was there was Robert Fennelly, who had been a member of Hyde's broadcasting class until he was paroled last October.

"These spots weren't made with any delusions of grandeur," said Fennelly, who participated in planning for the project. "The convicts didn't think they were going to reach many people. But they were hoping that a few — particularly the younger kids — might listen to them and decide not to get involved in drugs. If a few will listen, that's very good."

Fire District's Personnel Commission Is Sworn In

The Novato Fire Protection District's newly appointed personnel commission was sworn into office Wednesday night at a meeting of the district board.

Board members and their terms are: Frank Perachiotti, chairman, December, 1975; Ed V. Grundstrom and Paul F. Poling, December, 1972; and M. E. (Babe) Silva and Agnes Kelly, December, 1974.

After the initial rotation, all terms will be for four years.

Silva was absent from the swearing in because of other commitments, according to Fire Chief Jack W. Kidder.

The board set next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. for a budget committee meeting to work on the 1973-74 budget and instructed Chief Kidder, who serves as personnel officer, to meet with the Novato Professional Firemen's Association on expected budget demands by firemen.

The board also authorized paying for fire science books and tuition at the College of Marin for nine firemen at a cost of $133.

Spring Schooling Show Announced

The Horsemen's Association of Sleepy Hollow has announced a spring schooling show beginning at 8 a.m. March 18 at Circle V Stables, Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax.

English classes, including jumping, will be in the morning with western classes during the afternoon. The show is open to all horsemen.

Series Of Six Nature Lectures Tours Slated

A series of six free nature lectures and guided tours that will have residents variously paddling, hiking and cycling around town has been arranged by the Corte Madera recreation department.

Tour guides include naturalist Elizabeth Terwilliger Gordon L. Chan and Alfonzo Molina, College of Marin marine biologists, geologist Earl W. Hart, biologist Audrey Kidd, and Phyllis Ellman of the Tiburon Landmarks.

Town recreation director Jacqueline A. Branch said the lectures will be held at 8 p.m. on Friday evenings, starting March 9, at the Corte Madera town hall, and the hikes on the Saturday morning after at 10 a.m., starting March 10.

Plan To Tighten Political Funds

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — People's Lobby disclosed details today of a sweeping ballot initiative for tighter controls on spending, collecting and accounting of money in state politics.

The measure would limit the amount a candidate could spend in seeking elective office and force him to disclose nearly all campaign contributions.

One provision would prohibit candidates from seeking or accepting contributions except durig a specified campaign period. And it would require elected officials to file annual reports of all their financial dealings.

The measure also aims at drawing the financial activities of lobbyists more into the open. It would assure public access to all campaign and lobbyist reporting records.

To enforce tte far-ranging law, a five-member appointed commission would be established.

"Our representative form of government is founded on a belief that those entrusted with the offices of government have nothing to fear from full public disclosure of their financial and business holdings," an introduction to the initiative declares, "provided those officials deal honestly and fairly with the people."

People's Lobby, which has been active in support of environmental initiatives including sponsoring the unsuccessful Prop. 9 last June, said they will attempt to collect enough signatures to qualify the measure for the June 1974 ballot.

The 10-page proposal, now being circulated around the Capitol in hopes of picking up legislative endorsements, is patterned closely after an initiative approved last year by the voters of Washington state.

People's Lobby said its measure will be as strong or stronger than any campaign law in the country.

Some provisions:

Anonymous donations would be limited to a total of $300 per campaign. Anymore than that would be turned over to the state general fund.

All contributions over five dollars would have to be reported, giving the donor's name and address. Currently, only sums of more than $500 have to be reported.

After each election, commercial advertisers would have to detail how much was paid for political ads and by whom.

The total amount a candidate could spend per election would be limited to $5,000, one year's salary of the office or 10 cents for every vote cast in the last election—whichever is largest.

That would mean a statewide candidate in the 1974 primary could spend $870,000. Presently, it is not uncommon for a major primary campaign to cost more than $1 million.

During legislative sessions, lobbyists would be required to submit weekly reports on their expenditures. Longer reports from lobbyists and their employers would be due every four months.

Lobbyists also would have to disclose if they are working for any type of bonus or commission that hinges upon their success at influencing legislation.

All legislators would be required to submit with any bill the names of persons who suggested or help draft it.

A five-member commission would be appointed by the governor to administer, investigate violations and enforce the law. At least two of the members would have to be women.

Also, the incumbents name would lose its automatic spot at the top of the ballot. Places would be determined by lottery.

The pay of petition circulators would be limited to 10 cents per signature on initiatives. Opponents could spend no more than five cents per voter to defeat a ballot proposition.

The measure additionally outlines what type of documents, in addition to campaign records, to be made available by law to the public.

Wallace Feels Vote Confidence

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George Wallace said Thursday he is well on the way to coping fully with his partial paralysis and feels that he could win "any election I run in."

Wallace made the comments shortly before he left Washington and the National Governors' Conference to return to the state capital.

"I feel like that any election I run in, I'll be able to win," said Wallace, 53, who was left confined to a wheelchair as a result of a shooting at Laurel, Md., last May 15.

Democrats Ready Fight For Robbins

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke could cast the tie-breaking vote in favor of a Republican effort to unseat Senator-elect Alan Robbins of North Hollywood, but Democrats predict the possibility is unlikely.

Robbins, a Democrat who won a special election Tuesday in the San Fernando Valley, is being challenged by the GOP on the grounds he has not lived in the district for the constitutionally required one year.

The seating of Robbins would give the Democrats a 20-19 margin with one vacancy. Currently, the Senate is split evenly, 19-19.

Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally of Los Angeles, Democratic caucus chairman, said Thursday that Reinecke, the GOP presiding officer of the Senate, could cast the tie-breaking vote if the Senate is deadlocked 19-19 on the question of seating Robbins.

But Dymally indicated he had received assurances from at least one Republican senator that he would not be present for the expected challenge of Robbins Monday. That would prevent a tie vote and insure that the 30-year-old attorney is seated, Dymally said.

Dymally and other Democratic leaders have warned that the challenge to Robbins could create a "dangerous precedent" which, if carried to its logical extreme could lead to the majority party refusilng to si members of the minority party.

Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco, Democratic floor leader, said the Republican challenge should be referred to "the committee on sour grapes."

Robbins defeated Republican Phillip Johnson, a San Fernando city councilman, in the heavily-financed special election to fill the seat of the late Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando.

County Plan Influence Limit Asked

The San Rafael Planning Commission has recommended that the city's general plan be used as a guideline for all planning within the city's "sphere of influence."

The proposed countywide general plan, according to the commission, "should pertain only to areas outside of the City of San Rafael's sphere of influence."

The resolution, passed unanimously Tuesday, adds fuel to the squabble between city and county over what areas properly lie within the planning functions of each entity.

"The city's plan will be much more detailed than the county's," according to Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner, who identified the city's sphere of influence as Upper Lucas Valley, Marinwood, Santa Venetia, Los Ranchitos and Bayside Acres.

The city council will consider the recommendation at 8 p.m. Monday.

Hotchner said he will also propose that citizens within the city's sphere of influence be included on the citizens advisory committee, which is currently studying the city's general plan.

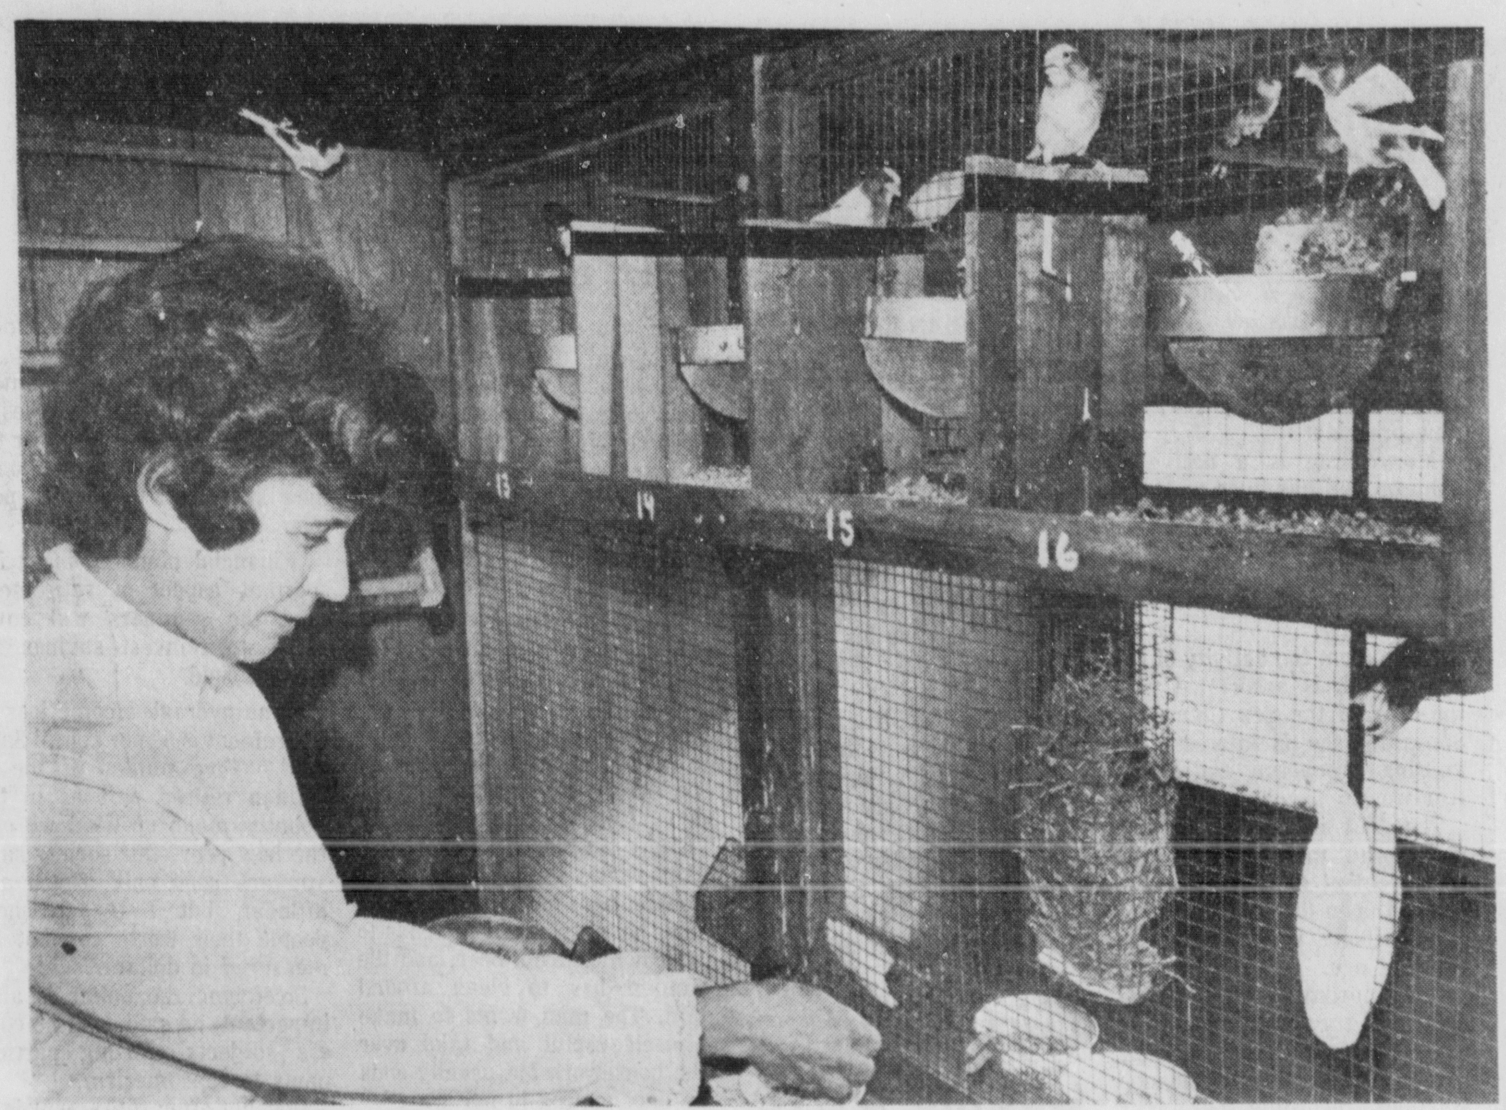
Canaries Sing A Lovely Song

By DOROTHY NEWELL



THREE AVIARIES house the canaries at the Patrick Dollard home in Novato, where Mrs. Dollard raises the rollers. The birds, which sing with their beaks closed, were brought to this country many years ago from Germany before canaries were banned from import. Here Mrs. Dollard feeds some of the birds.

A Novato woman with a love and interest in roller canaries might aptly be termed the "Bird Woman of North Marin."

According to Mrs. Patrick Dollard, a demand for the canaries raised in the United States has increased as the birds cannot be imported from other countries because of fear of disease.

Marion Dollard has been fond of canaries since she was a teen-ager in her native San Francisco. Now in Novato she has had the rollers for the past five years.

"There is as much difference between the song of the roller and the ordinary chopper canary as between opera and jazz," Mrs. Dollard said.

In giving the history of the roller canaries she said that during the 1870s after canaries were first introduced into Europe by sailors returning from the Canary Islands, some of the brownish-green birds arrived in the Hartz Mountain district of Germany.

MRS. DOLLARD said she has been told they were first bred there solely for their song.

"Their great gift of mimicry was exploited to the full by the invention and use of ingenious contraptions operated by hand, using water and air to produce rolling, bell-like and water sounds which the birds quickly mimicked," she said. "The nightingale was also used as a tutor to impart its tender, plaintive notes."

The birds sing with beaks closed, causing the rolling way they sing. The males are the singers, she said.

Many of the roller canaries are still brownish-green, some are solid green, yellow, white or variegated. But they are prized mostly for their song.

At shows rollers sing individually and in quartets. For present judging such sounds are created as the hollow bell, hollow roll, bass, glucke roll, flutes and deep bubbling roll, said Mrs. Dollard, who belongs to the Oakland International Roller Club.

Mrs. Dollard feeds her birds roller mix seed, song and moulting food, depending on the needs of the birds; some greens such as romaine, slices of apple or orange and grits, given in a cup.

MANY HOURS are spent keeping records of the birds, their mating habits and the incubation period of the eggs. The birds hatch in two weeks. She said the canaries should always be kept out of drafts, and if proper care is given, rollers can live to be 15 years old.

Mrs. Dollard also has a parrot named Sebastian, who perches in the living room, and if he is approached properly and quietly, he will hold out his claw to shake hands.

A former Novato Garden Club member, who still enjoys gardening, Marion Dollard and her husband have two children. Sue, 16, enjoys horseback riding through the Novato hills with her mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Dollard and Sue also enjoy skiing. Their son Eric will return home in April from the Philippines where he has been serving in the Navy.

SEATED IN the living room with one of the caged, young canary rollers, Mrs. Dollard checks over some of the facts that must be posted to keep records on all the canaries she is raising. This canary, one-year-old, is a brilliant yellow, but the birds may also be green, white and the brownish green, which was their original color when the first birds were brought to Germany and bred solely for their singing.

Teaching A Child The Attack Skills

By DOLORES COOPER
(Fourth of five articles)

A child has to be taught the basic word attack skills. Yesterday we talked about how to structure test sheets for home use that follow the first important steps in the process of learning that a printed symbol on the paper represents a sound, and then, that combinations of these printed symbols make words.

To teach the alphabet letters your child does not know on Sheet 1: Print the alphabet, capitals and small letters, in order on a large piece of cardboard. Make the letters with a black felt tip pen, pressing down on it, so that your letters are not skinny or shaky. Say the alphabet with your child while pointing to the letters. Don't say A a, B b, — just say A, B, C, while pointing to the combination of capital and small letter.

FOR THE LETTERS your child missed: Have him first trace over the letters you made with his finger, then write the letter in the air, and finally, trace the letter on your hand with his finger while saying the letter name.

Try to start at the top when printing, not at the bottom at any time. If the youngster really has a block against learning some letters, use my touching exercises, making the letters from sandpaper or yarn, and gluing them on smooth cards so he can feel the shape on a textured surface.

Sing the alphabet song often to help your child remember the order of the letters. If you go to your public library, you can borrow a record with the song on it. It is valuable to show the letters while you sing the song.

FOR SHEETS 2 through 6, you can use the same basic games, changing the letters or words to fit your error sheet. For instance, if we want to play Bingo to correct errors on Sheet 4, which teaches blends and digraphs, we'd take a piece of cardboard about 6 inches by 8 inches and draw five squares going across and five squares going down.

Leave the center square for the "free" space and in the other spaces print the blends your child missed, plus enough blends to fill in all the other spaces. Then you call a word for each blend.

When you say "glass" your child should cover the "gl" blend. If your youngster is old enough, let him be the "teacher" sometimes, but you will have to supply him with the list of words to call.

You can play Bingo with the letters on Sheets 2 and 3, too. Just tell your child to listen for the beginning sound of the words or the end sounds of the words you are going to call. On the card, print simple words to fit your needs. Do one skill at a time, though, and see that one gap is filled in before you move on to the next one.

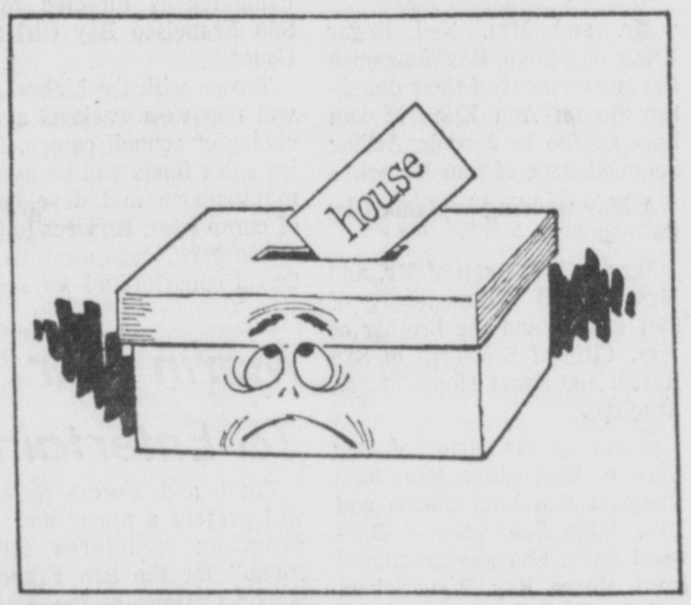
ANOTHER ONE of the basic games we use to help children learn is Lotto, a matching game. If your youngster is having lots of trouble connecting the beginning sound of words to the actual word, cut up 26 cards about 2 inches square and print one letter of the alphabet on each card. Set them out in alphabetical order on a table, face up, and have your child print another set of 26 cards which he will keep. Shuffle his cards and pick one at random.

While you make the sound of the letter and say a word beginning with that sound, let him find and match his card to the alphabet you put out before. He is learning the letters' shapes, the meaning of "same" and "different," and the sound of the letters, all at the same time.

A Picture Dictionary is one of the very best ways of teaching the alphabet, the sounds of the letters, sight words. . . all in one. Using old magazines again, find a picture for each letter of the alphabet. Paste your picture on the page and next to it, in very bold printing, make the letter the word begins with, both in capital and small print. At the bottom of the page, write the name of the object in the picture. If you say the sound of the beginning letter, it will help your child to recall the sound of that alphabet letter when he sees it elsewhere.

LET'S GO BACK to Bingo for vowels. Using words like mat, met, mit, mop, mut, pat, pet, pit, pot, pup, bat, bet, bit, bop, but, sat, set, sit, hot, hut, construct your Bingo cards. Tell the child he is to listen for the middle sound and that he will be learning the short sound of vowels with this game.

TOMORROW: The visual approach.



ONE METHOD of helping your child read is by using flash cards and the Big Bad Box game.

ā
a-mate
ai-rain
ay-day
ey-they

ANOTHER EASY game using vowel sound cards is to make a list of words which can be changed to sound the long vowel just by adding letters to the word.

Playing Bingo Turns Reading Into A Game

Here are some suggested words to use when playing Bingo to teach blends and digraphs:

blank
branch
chicken
dress
glass
grand play press
stop
think
ship
whale

You can also play Bingo with short vowel sounds. Here are some words to use when testing your child. Use words like these to construct the vowel Bingo card, and tell the child he is listening for the middle sound:

mat
mit
mop
pat
pet pit
pot
pup
bat
bet bit bop
but sat
set sit

Depressed Need Help Of Doctor

Suicide prevention is a job for the doctor, says Dr. Thomas G. Webster of the George Washington University School of Medicine, noting that a large proportion of suicide victims see their doctors within a week before their deaths.

Warning signs of the potential suicide are depression, a previous attempt, suicide threats, isolation and alcoholism, Dr. Webster said. Look for the patient who expresses hopelessness and anxiety, and who wants something done immediately about his situation.

Medical care of potential suicides begins with eliciting suicidal thoughts and "sharing the burden with the patient," he said. Concrete plans for solving problems should be discussed by patient and doctor, and family and friends should become involved.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Peace-Loving Man Driving Her Mad; She'd Like Him To Argue

DEAR HELEN:

I have been married for 25 years to a peace-loving man — and it isn't the great thing people assume!

In all that time, he never lost his temper except twice, but on those two occasions he was almost violent. He's the ulcer prone type who "holds it in."

What bothers me most is that he cannot talk things over, hence misunderstandings are never aired, feelings just buried under. He simply listens as I do all the talking, says nothing, gets up and walks away, but in the future tries to do all I have asked. He never says what he thinks or feels. He is made almost ill at the slightest hint of argument and, if I should get upset, he walks out, then comes back later as though nothing has happened.

Also, he never gives a verbal word of help or encouragement, though he helps in many non-verbal ways. However, I have assumed most of the decisions and family management, as he won't take a stand. He works long hours, but it's like being married to a shadow.

I'm reaching the point where I want someone to lean on, but how, when I'm just a — SHADOW BOXER

DEAR S.B.:

Perhaps the following letter will help more than anything I could say:

DEAR HELEN:

I have a strong, extrovert personality and enjoy a fight, am disappointed when I don't get one. When I married a "nice guy" who just wouldn't fight back I began to feel sorry for myself. I privately downgraded him as a "coward" and yearned for a man who wouldn't knuckle under.

My family doctor happened on to my true feeling about married life, and through his wise insight, I learned why I'd chosen this special "nice" guy: I had gravitated to my "opposite," a man who didn't talk a lot, so that I wouldn't need to "compete" with him. He was drawn to me because he needed my outgoingness to counteract his quietness. Imagine two "lives of the party" in one family! Or two very quiet people! It would be horrible. Then I remembered why I loved my husband so much — it was because he loved me (and loves me) as I am, feisty temper and all. He knows how to calm it down.

Amd I'm learning to appreciate his lack of words. When he holds my hand as we watch television, or does a kind little favor for me, he doesn't have to tell me he loves me — I know. I understand now. We complement each other. — ONE WHO MADE IT

P.S. I once thought my man's silence was a sign of not caring but later found out it takes more character to remain silent than to throw things.

DEAR HELEN:

I read about the woman who had a craving for starch and that it might cause a deficiency in folic acid which could cause miscarriages or bring on anemia. No one every mentioned why the craving came.

Maybe it was like me during my pregnancy years ago. I couldn't get enough charcoal! My crusty appetite demanded it. Don't know whether it was the charcoal or luck, but my son has always had a beautiful complexion, nary a pimple — even in his teens. I won't recommend charcoal for expectant mothers, however. — ESSIE

DEAR ESSIE:

Dill pickles are safer, I think. Besides, they wouldn't turn your tongue black. But thanks anyway, for your interesting letter. — H.

Note to readers: Essie, who has written to me before, always adds a postscript that brightens my day: "May the Lord take a likin' to you!" — You guessed it: Essie is from Texas!

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel care of the Independent-Journal.

A Retirement Consultant Will Present Lectures At Dominican

By JOAN LISETOR

"Retirement is a bad word because it means withdrawal when actually it is an opportunity," explained retirement consultant Norman Satir, who will lead a seminar on life style after retirement the next three Saturdays at Dominican College.

Satir, who at 65 leads a productive life, calls his seminars "Life After Work: Planning for a Full Life in the Postwork Years." He has presented them 35 times in the past three years for the U.S. Civil Service Commission and at California State University, San Francisco, and College of San Mateo and for San Francisco nd San Mateo city employees.

Although the seminars are for men and women 45 and over, Satir said, the majority of participants are women who fall into one of three categories: nonworking married women whose husbands will soon retire, working women looking forward to both their own and their husbands' retirement, and unmarried working women.

"It is the non-working married women who have special problems," Satir explained. "They have been apart from their husbands nine or 10 hours a day and have to learn to adjust to being together. She has already been through the 'empty nest crisis.' The situation varies enormously if the couple has made plans. If a man hasn't planned he tends to stay home, drink beer, and the woman has to clean around him. The man wants to make himself useful and take over the housework but usually ends up only getting in her way."

A common misconception, according to Satir, is that if you have enough money everything will be all right in your retirement years.

What is important is starting activities in the middle years, he said, warning against stereotyped retirement hobbies.

"Some people don't care for hobbies. Recreational activities are fine, but the problem faced by most people in retirement is not having a sense of being useful or of having a purpose. A purpose in life doesn't usually come from a hobby," he said. "I caution people not to take on an activity because someone tells them to and to choose one they will like well enough to stay with."

In the years when most workers are looking forward to leisure Satir quit a well paying, secure job as a lithographer to study at the Institute of Gerontology at the University of Michigan and then start a new career as an instructor and counselor. For him retirement meant a new career.

He counsels many retirement age persons to take courses in whatever interests them for the pleasure of learning, to learn new skills and to be with people.

Financial planning is an important aspect of retirement, and the seminars will cover ways to reinvest savings for higher yield.

"The average income loss at retirement is 50 per cent," Satir said. "Five million of the 20 million retired persons in the country make up what we call the new poor. Our society says you are good only if you are affluent, but I try to show people their worth can not be measured in dollars."

Stretching the dollar is also important, he said, and he covers subjects alerting participants to consumerism.

Housing after retirement is a great consideration, Satir said. "Size and cost of housing have to be considered. Do you want to leave friends for a nicer climate? When people consider retirement villages, moving to another area or retiring to Mexico I suggest spending a few weeks there exploring the area," he said.

A factor often overlooked in retirement is the importance of privacy, Satir said. A couple should find a set of activities satisfying to each individually and then a combination of interests and activities they can share.

"It is the vacuum of not doing anything that people bring to one another that can be deadly," he said.

As general ideas for involvement he suggests travel, school, social contacts, community work and religious activities.

"What I see as most important is creating goals that cause tension. Tension is what gives a sense of future," he said.

Girl Scout Cookie Drive Under Way

The girl scouts have begun the annual cookie sale today throughout Marin, and Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Seniors will be selling boxes of cookies door-to-door.

Mrs. Edwin J. Ezekiel of Fairfax is cookie sales manager for the area, and the overall campaign is directed by the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council.

Troops with the highest sales will receive a weekend at their choice of council camps. Cookies sales funds will be used for maintenance and development of camp sites, services to troop volunteers, camperships and travel opportunities for scouts.

Marin Pair To Entertain

Trudi and Forest Sorensen will present a music and slide program, "Pictures and a Piano" for the San Francisco Senior Citizens at the Aquatic Park Center in San Francisco Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The Greenbrae couple's program will include selections from Schumann's "Forest Scenes" and "Scenes from Childhood" and works by Mendelssohn, Debussy, Couperin, Bartok, Chopin and Paul Creston played by Mrs. Sorenson on the piano, while her husband shows slides related to the titles.

ON BEING BLACK

Reader Response Gives Clue To Their Column Interpretation

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

Reader response is always fascinating There is what the columnist says and what the readers (based on personal experiences) think he has said. There is the Vote of Confidence arriving simultaneously with the Heavy Put-Down in response to the exact same column.

Mostly, there is the opportunity for an intimate sharing of attitudes, ideas and feelings with people you somehow feel you know.

From Charlotte, N.C., A purse-size New Testament inscribed "A gift of friendship through Christ our Lord and Saviour."

From Seattle, Wash., "You have misnamed your column! Shouldn't it be called "On Being Ex-Black"? Or maybe: 'On Being a House Nigger Type Tattletale to Whitey About All You Can Overhear in the Slave Quarters'? That's what you are — a modern-day reporter to the white-majority newspaper-reading public on the pulse of the black community."

From Pennsylvania, "If today is upon us are — a modern-day reporter believe I should tell you. It was a love story ' Black women have borne enough pain to make white women proud to be called women and, yet, you can really love. Your love for me is so Christian, it blows my mind.

"IN TALKING of vasectomies, you protect men's ego, while perhaps black women would profit the most by family planning. Another quality which makes me see black with admiration: Undeniably, black men have been reared in all too many cases by mothers. Yet in a time when whites have made motherhood look so dirty and unnatural, when boys come to manhood, your menfolk, often on television, speak of gratitude or love of their mothers with such a marvelous lack of self-consciousness. To me, that seems very 'male' indeed, and very human."

From Indianapolis, "Just seeing your picture and myself being a barber and hairstylist, I think I could do a little lifting to you. I think anything in the world that you can put on a black person to make him look better should be done and get him out of some of these pitiful colors like red, white, purple and orange."

From Texas, "Missed your column today. You are the best-looking and smartest lady columnist on the press. Where did you go to school? How about an autobiographical column? Signed: Whitey."

From Ohio, Re: vasectomy: "The real reason the niggers keep having 'littlers' is our welfare program. The more they have, the more money they can collect. It's a racket with niggers. . . a way of life."

From Ventura, "A newspaperman for 34 years and a columnist for more than 25 of those, I have come to appreciate what has to be inside a writer before it is possible to put it on paper. I've admired your work for some time."

From Washington, ". . . the reason I don't trust black people (generalization) at my door or walking past me on an uncrowded street is that I can't read clues in their physiognomy. I know it is stupid to say they all look the same because they don't, but I don't know what to look for in their faces.

"IF THEY look too slicked up in attire, I think they must be pimps; and if they look ratty, I think they must be thieves — neither judgment is fair. When I look at a white person, I can usually find visual clues that lead me to trust or fear him. This is really an injustice, and I bet a lot of other white people do this very same thing. I do appreciate your column. It is especially good for the middle-of-the-road pacifists who really want to help race relations on a quiet and individual level."

From Indianapolis, "There were millions of fat people long before we ever had food stamps. Shame on you. For the past five years, doctors over the world are getting off the obesity kick. In a few cases it is glands, but all in all, metabolism is the culprit. And besides, you don't have to be on welfare to get food stamps. I get $36 in stamps for $26 cash, so that gives me a $10 bonus. I spend the $10 on staples and the $26 anyway I darn well please. It is my money, so there, you nosey person!"

From Sherwood Ross Associates Inc., informative press releases and current copies of such magazines as Psychology Today and Intellectual Digest.

From Milwaukee, (In response to prison mail and organizations) "Why should a person expect the red carpet-treatment when he, in his act that sent him to prison, had no consideration of the person or the property he harmed? After he killed my mother, molested my little girl, smashed my windows and took my treasures, I am supposed to serve him sirloin steak on a silver platter? No, a million times No."

From Texas,' An I Love You post card.

From Milwaukee, "Sometime ago there was an article in Glamour magazine by a young black girl called 'On Being Black.' I thought I would do one called 'On Being White.'

"WHITE IS discovering that mothers of your white girlfriends won't let you see their daughters any more if you even talk to blacks.

"White is having your history teacher tell you that your ancestors were slave dealers, torturers, selfish and ignorant.

"White is having a black man approach you to tell you how much he likes white girls.

"White is being told you're better by other whites while your black girlfriend finds an excellent job and you are still unemployed.

"White is having your white girlfriends making their debut and you don't, but you're just as proud.

"White is driving down the street with your black boyfriend and getting stopped by a policeman who tells you you're out after curfew and it's only 10:30 and you're both 17.

"White is walking down the hall at school and your old white friends call you a nigger lover and you tell them that the only niggers you know are them.

"White is being proud, even though you wonder what you should be proud of — maybe because you're not like the rest?

"I think the articles you write are terrific and hope you continue the work you do."

From the White Socialist Party, another simulated Back-to-Africa ticket. (Wish they would send the real thing. A trip to Africa is number one on my travel list.)

From Sandra Haggerty, write on, readers.

New Child Center Opens On Campus

Adult officials stood around tot-sized tables and chairs at the new College of Marin Child Center and spoke about the efforts that made the center a reality at the offical ribbon-cutting ceremony yesterday morning in the former chemistry auditorium on the Kentfield campus.

Outside children circled the fenced play yard on tricycles under staff supervision.

Jubilation at the opening of the child center, a center used by parents attending the college, was marred by the doubt that present funding could continue past June. The college child center faces the same questionable future as the children's centers and preschool children's care programs that rely heavily on federal funds as guidelines for these funds are currently under consideration.

Dr. John A. Grasham, college president and superintendent of the Marin Community Colleges District, welcomed those who were instrumental in creating the center, then added that he hoped the center wouldn't soon have to close.

Although the center has been operating since October, at Greenbrae School until the college faciity was ready Feb. 12, the snipping of the red ribbon marked its official opening on campus.

Ceremonies included introduction by Dr. Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, of representatives of the Marin Community Colleges District board and Marilyn Crowell, chairman of the Marin County Board of Education, the two governing boards for the center. College of Marin students Greg Fearon and Olga Nichols, who led the two and a half year student drive for the center, signed the official center plaque listing the founders.

The rooms are windowed onto Kentfield corners intersection and painted a cheerful variation of green shades. Off the two larger rooms housing paint easels, small tables, chairs, toys and cooking facilities, are a smaller quiet room in which a single child sat exploring books on his own, and two enclosed play yards.

The center is set up for a capacity of 25 children per hour, and has averaged almost capacity, according to college officials.

Funded through June, total center expenses for the fiscal year are calculated at $43,302. Revenue is derived from $21,928 in federal funds; $6,709 from the College of Marin Community Services; $5,000 from the Associated Students of the College of Marin, $4,496 from the Marin County Schools, $3,055 from the college adult education program, and $2,214 from parent fees.

The children may be enrolled from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. school days, although the center closes at 4:30 p.m. on Fridays. They are aged two to five years and nine months.

First priority goes to children of low income students. Anne Degenhardt is the full time instructor, assisted by part time paraprofessionals which include students enrolled in child-related courses.

New Chemical Removes Decay

Under the heading of "Less Pain in Dentistry," a national magazine reports on a chemical substance that removes large amounts of tooth decay. The substance, known as GK-101, developed by Dr. Melvin Goldman and Dr. Joseph Kronman of Tufts University School of Dental Medicine, may eventually eliminate much (but not all) of the need for drilling.

The article also reports on a special toothpaste that with daily brushing can cut down on pain from tender teeth and help brush away the hypersensitivity that many people experience sometimes during a routine tooth cleaning or while sipping a frigid drink. The dentifrice, called Sensodyne, desensitizes teeth that are overly-sensitive to cold, heat, sweets and dental treatments — while it cleans and polishes.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Big Jake" — Violent western tale of kidnaping of a child and the pursuit by the grandfather to rescue him and the revenge he takes on the gang of raiders.

"Emigrants" — Historical melodrama of the misfortunes, rigorous life and endless poverty of Swedish peasants of 1844 and their journey to the New World. Film overly long but with distinguished acting, scenery and photography that is hauntingly beautiful.

"Fat City" — A poignant, depressing drama about hapless victims of circumstances in the prizefighting profession. An ex-boxer trying for a comeback befriends a newcomer to the game who will inevitably parallel his own defeat. Acting excellent.

"Life and Times of Judge Roy Bean — This western is loosely based on the life of legendary "hanging judge." Roy Bean, an outlaw, gathers a gang of cutthroats to act as marshals, takes over a Texas town in the 1880's and creates his own brand of law and order. Film has loose episodic structure, a series of vignettes with clever twists throughout.

"Poseidon Adventure" — Escape melodrama in the best Hollywood tradition. A ship filled with passengers is overturned by a tidal wave. Their frantic efforts to seek safety keeps suspense very high.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Butterflies Are Free" — A blind young man tries the experiment of living on his own for two months in a swinging neighborhood in San Francisco. His encounter with a zany "hippie" type girl and their sexual involvement really has his domineering mother making as many adjustments as he does.

"Cabaret" — A sophisticated and bawdy tale of a kinky English girl who works in a cabaret in Germany in the 1930's. Her love affairs and subsequent abortion of her baby are interwoven with music and scenes at the cabaret. Sex — cursing.

"The Getaway" — Fast-paced action film about an ex-con who masterminds a bank robbery but is surrounded by folks whose greed is matched only by their cold-bloodedness. Director depicts all violence in explicit detail. Women are presented as so much sexual currency. In this instance crime pays very well.

"Lady Sings The Blues" — A fictionalized biography of the late Billy Holliday. Her early life and later as a prostitute, success as a singer and her addiction to heroin is laced with music throughout the action. Strong language.

"Play It Again, Sam" — Woody Allen playing a vulnerable, painfully self-critical kook bumbling his way through a series of misadventures in trying to handle his sexual problems. Explicit sexual references.

"Save The Tiger" —Film is a bitter look at a disillusioned businessman and his unscrupulous tactics in keeping his world from collapsing. Jack Lemmon in a non-comedy role. Strong language and some nudity.

"Steelyard Blues" — Lightweight adolescent fantasy about being free in today's restrictive society. Three stars who are supposed to be losers romp aimlessly as a demolition derby driver, a hard-luck call girl and a demented circus "human fly." Just ignore the "message" and try to enjoy the laughs. (Catholic Film Newsletter).

"Up The Sandbox" — A seriocomic story of a somewhat mad upper West Side housewife who experiences an acute identity crisis. She has a hyper-active imagination that leads her into all sorts of weird fantasies which makes those of Walter Mitty pale. Nudity.

"Valdez Is Coming" — A reformed Mexican gunfighter works as a town constable. He is tricked into killing an innocent black man and uses overpowering methods to get at the man responsible. Excessive violence, sex scenes and language makes it unsuitable for youth.

ADULTS ONLY

"Deliverance" — Four men go for a canoe cruise along a mountain river in Georgia. They encounter two sadistic hillbillies who rape one of them and murders ensue. Gripping suspense very extreme. Cursing.

"Heat" — From the Andy Warhol "factory" of underground type fare this tale is about the entanglements of a semi-retired movie star and her young lover. Stars make characters funny and interesting but perversions make them grotesque rather than amusing. Excessive sex, nudity and cursing.

'74 Date Seen For Drive Work

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Widening of the San Francisco approach to the Golden Gate Bridge cannot start at least until a year from April, 1974, according to the state Public Works Department.

Even if funds become available to finance this project immediately it said, "under the Environmental Quality Act it is illegal for the California Highway Commission to budget this project until an Environmental Impact Statement is approved."

James A. Moe, director of the department, estimated in his letter to the state Business and Transportation Agency that because of time needed by other agencies to review the statement "the earliest probable date that a contract can be awarded is April 1974."

The $14 million job, scheduled now to start in 1976, will take up to three years, according to the state.

Events Set In Spring At College

Concerts, lectures and art exhibits are scheduled during the spring at Dominican College in San Rafael, college officials said.

Clay sculpture by Ruth Hofmann and prints by Ella Tampkin will be on display in San Marco Gallery through March 31.

Musical events scheduled include recital by tenor Martin Frick and pianist R. Lee Carlson, 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Caleruega Hall; songs by Schubert, Brahms and Moussorgsky performed by Edith Zitelli, soprano and Adolph Baller, Pianist, 7:30 p.m. March 18, Angelico Hall.

A lecture on "the Counter-Revolution" by Thomas Molnar, professor of European history at Long Island University, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. March 29.

In April "An Evening of Lieder" is planned for 7:30 p.m. April 1 in Caleruega Hall, and "Rita" and Medea in Corinth" will be performed by the Dominican College Opera Workshop at 8 p.m. April 5 and 7 in Angelico Hall.

Gallery Plans 'Sensory Show'

An art exhibit aimed toward the senses will be featured during March by the Marin Society of Artists at the Frances Young Gallery at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

A "Sensory Show" will highlight the opening Sunday with painter Tony Williams presenting a slide show of various subjects relating to the sensory theme. It will be shown at 1:30 and 3 p.m.

The juried exhibit will be shown from 1 to 4 p.m. daily through March 25.

Auto Stolen From A Used Car Lot

An auto was reported stolen from a San Rafael used car lot after employees discovered it missing Wednesday morning, police said yesterday.

C and D Motors, 750 Grand Avenue, said salesman did not sell the 1967 Ford sedan, apparently stolen between Tuesday night and yesterday morning, according to police.

Martha On Telephone Again—Women's Lib

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Feminist Jill Ruckelshaus has made a mild response to Martha Mitchell's statement she was "disgusted" Mrs. Ruckelshaus was added to the White House staff as a consultant.

Mrs. Mitchell, the wife of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, said in a telephone interview from her New York City home Thursday that "I resent it like hell" that Mrs. Ruckelshaus had been given the $50-a-day job.

"I just resent this women's lib business," Mrs. Mitchell said. "Equal rights—we don't need that. It's silly."

Mrs. Ruckelshaus, the wife of William D. Ruckelshaus, the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, replied through a spokesman.

"She always had the greatest affection for Mrs. Mitchell and still does," the spokesman said, adding that Mrs. Ruckelshaus did not understand why Mrs. Mitchell was upset.

Mrs. Ruckelshaus sometimes is called the "Gloria Steinem of the Republican Party." She was a leading Republican convention advocate of the equal rights amendment to the Constitution, and last week started a part-time job as assistant to White House counselor Ann Armstrong, performing liaison with women's groups.

Mrs. Mitchell described Mrs. Ruckelshaus' appointment as "totally disagreeable."

"BUT GOLDE. . ." — Dakin Matthews plays Tevye and Bette Besuner his wife Golde in the College of Marin's production of "Fiddler on the Roof" which starts a 12-show run at the college's fine arts theater on March 30. The cast of 46 local actors, singers and dancers is the largest ever assembled for a college show.

(Photo by Harvey J. Susser)

'Fiddler' Scheduled For 12 Performances

"Fiddler on the Roof" will be staged by the College of Marin's music and drama departments in the fine arts theater for 12 performances starting March 30.

The 8 o'clock shows will run through April 15.

The cast of 46 actors, singers and dancers is one of the largest ever assembled for a College of Marin production, and includes students and community members.

The lead role of Tevye, the impoverished Ukrainian Jewish dairyman forever chatting with God, will be played by Dakin Matthews, a professional actor.

Harvey J. Susser will stage the musical, and musical direction is by Scott Merrick and Phyllis Murphy and choreography by Lou Nardi.

Tevye's wife Golde will be played by Bette Besuner of San Rafael. His three older daughters are Nancy Paris of Novato, Tzeitel; Kathleen Quinlan of Mill Valley, Hodel, and Karyn Nikas of San Rafael, Chava.

Their husbands will be portrayed by Robin Williams of Tiburon, Perchik; Mark Schwarz of Ross, Motel; and Marc Hildebrand of Mill Valley, Fyedka.

"Fiddler on the Roof" has become a show business phenomenon since its opening in 1964. It has been performed in 23 countries and it is estimated that more than 37.5 million people have seen the stage production. It ran on Broadway for eight years.

Based on Sholom Aleichem's folk hero, Tevye, the musical's story concerns his efforts to marry off his five daughters in the Jewish Shtetle community of Anatevka in Czarist Russia in 1905.

In a larger sense, however, the story deals with tradition, infringing change and the progressive dissolution of valued tradition, together with social conditions at the beginning of the Russian revolutionary period.

Members of the College of Marin Community Band and Orchestra will form the orchestra for the show.

Discussion Set On Purchase Of Water Company

Directors of the Stinson Beach Fire Protection and County Water districts will meet with officials of the Marin Municipal Water District to discuss possible purchase of the Stinson Beach Water Company at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Stinson Community Center.

Wednesday night the fire district board tentatively accepted a feasibility study by the water district which proposed that the water district not purchase the water company.

The Marin Municipal staff, which prepared the study, believes the community agencies should buy the privately owned company, but that the Marin Water District may wish to operate and maintain the system.

Sausalito Picks Aide In Planning

Jerry Cormack, former employee of a regional planning agency in Minnesota, has been hired to fill the City of Sausalito's newly created post of assistant planner.

Cormack, 24, was chosen from about 70 applicants for the job, according to City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr.

Since Sausalito currently has no planning director, the assistant will have charge of the city's planning activities until a new planner is chosen to succeed H. Eric Borgwardt, who resigned in November.

St. Cyr said more than 100 persons have applied for the top planning spot and interviewing has already begun. He did not know when the position will be filled.

Cormack's regular duties will include zoning administration, special projects and studies and assisting the director in reviewing projects.

The new assistant planner, to receive $895 a month, is a graduate of Iowa State University. For the past two-and-one-half years he worked in the open space department of the Minnesota Metropolitan Council.

Disaster Loan Office To Close

The federal Small Business Administration disaster loan office that has been operating in the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia will close next Friday, officials said yesterday.

Marin County flood and mudslide victims must get applications for loans in by April 10, Gus Anselmo, acting public information officer for the SBA, said.

He advised Marin residents who seek such loans to obtain application forms before Friday at the armory so they can meet the April deadline.

Money Lack Hamstrings New Coast Commissions

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The new coastal commissions by Proposition 20 have too little money to do their job despite a $5 million allocation supposed to last through 1976.

The only alternative will be to ask the Legislature for more money, which will take two-thirds approval by both houses.

The fiscal squeeze was evident last night when the North Central Coast Regional Conservation Commission, one of six regional commissions, asked the statewide commission for $798,000 through 1976. If the other regional commissions made similar requests, the parent state commission would be virtually penniless.

The local regional commission, in business only one month, covers Marin, Sonoma and San Francisco. It is regarded as having the least complicated jurisdiction because so much of its area either is developed or earmarked for government preservation.

The statewide commission has the final budget voice, so the regional commissions are the ones likely to face fiscal pressure first.

The staff of the state commission, for example, has proposed the regional commission here get $567,000, or $231,000 below what it wants. The main difference was both the regional and state commissions assume they will do the bulk of the planning — but there is not enough money.

San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn said he already had suggested to the state commission's staff that it seek legislation appropriating more money. Proposition 20 allocated $5 million from the Bagley Conservation Fund, and the state commission's staff estimated it also will raise about $250,000 from fees.

No one suggested how much more money will be needed.

Commissioner Melville Owen of Kentfield joined the push for the $798,000, saying "let's play the bureaucratic game and go for the big budget — and hope we spend only half."

The commission, meeting for five hours in the Marin Civic Center, also learned it faces a mounting pile of applications for construction permits and a mountain of more than 150 applications for executive director. The job pays up to $24,000 a year.

Four of the other six regional commissions already have hired staff, but the local commission is stuck with its previous decision to accept applications until March 10.

As put by Commissioner Wanda Zankich of Bodega Bay, "We have opened a store and we have no goods or personnel. I get a lot of comment from the public that we don't know what we are doing, and sometimes I think they are right."

Commissioners agreed to interview finalists for the job at 7:30 p.m. on March 22. Applications will be screened by the Marin County personnel office and a committee of commissioners.

The most pressing problem, a claim that the pending 1,600-unit Bodega Harbour development in Bodega Bay is exempt from commission jurisdiction, was set for a hearing on May 3 in Santa Rosa.

Asst. Marin County Administrator Thomas Campanella, acting executive director for the commission, was authorized to hire a consultant to investigate the development's claim.

Commissioners agreed to consider at their March 15 meeting a request that the developer cease work until the hearing. Their only power to halt work, however, would be through the courts. This would shift the entire exemption claim to the courts, as well, something most commissioners objected to doing.

Commissioners also granted an "emergency" permit to allow completion of a $75,000 project to haul road dump base granite on roads and 98 trailer pads within Bodega Bay State Park. The Sierra Club argued the park development should be reviewed first, but commissioners agreed such public access to the coast was the aim of Proposition 20.

They also voted unanimously to require environmental impact reports on all major projects.

Marinite Is Indicted On Theft

I-J Special Report

REDWOOD CITY — Three San Mateo County coroner's investigators, including one living in Marin County, were indicted yesterday on charges arising from the theft of a $500 cashier's check from the body of a dead man.

The three — Ronald Kindred, 39, of Tiburon; William Scott, 44, of San Mateo, and Robert Cawley, 44, of Redwood City — were accused by the county grand jury of grand theft, forgery, conspiracy to forge and fraudulently passing a cashier's check.

The men, fired last month by Coroner Paul B. Jensen, say they are being framed for past criticism of the operation of the coroner's office.

Free on their own recognizance, the three are scheduled to appear March 12 in Marin Superior Court.

The Orders Barked By A Woman Airman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — The voice calling the Lackland Air Force Base Honor Guard to order Wednesday belonged to 19-year-old Airman Nancy Morrison. Nonetheless, the guard snapped to attention as stiffly as if ordered by a seasoned drill sergeant.

Miss Morrison, of Honolulu, became the first woman to call orders to the Lackland guard. Her boss, S. Sgt. Jesse Paschal, said she earned the job by being a crack member of the elite seven-man squad. "She also served as a standard bearer and a rifleperson," Paschal said.

Novato Park Board To Consider Adoption Of $293,715 Budget

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission will consider a proposed $293,715 operating budget for 1973-74, up $36,990 from the current budget, at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the parks and recreation office, 917 Sherman Avenue.

Recreation director Edward W. Adams said commissioners reviewed the proposed budget Wednesday and postponed action pending further review.

The proposed spending breakdown is: parks, $92,465, up $8,870; recreation, $171,250, up $25,265; swimming pool, $14,130; up $1,260; and community house, $15,870, up $2,100.

Adams said the increases are due to an expanded recreation program, additional park land and the hiring of an additional full-time recreation supervisor.

The proposed capital improvements budget is $127,000, down $27,255 from the current budget, with $72,085 to go toward purchase of the O'Hair property in West Novato and the Heifetz land in South Novato. Other proposed expenditures are $30,000 for Olive School Park and $14,000 for Miwok Park.

The commission's budget ultimately must be approved by the city council.

Names Dropped In School Story

The Independent-Journal in an article in Wednesday's issue, omitted the names of the three candidates for the Lagunitas School District board to attend a gathering at 8 p.m. today at the James Boyd residence, 46 Conifer Way, Woodacre.

Three candidates, Richard C. Sloan, Harry R. Smith and Marilyn Mauroni, will speak.

Also running for the school board, but not invited to attend, are Lee Dininzenzo, Allan J. Kirchem and Patricia White.

U.S. Government Says. . . ALFA ROMEO IS BEST!

The national highway traffic safety administration has just released a report confirming the Alfa Romeo as the car with the best brakes sold in America.

The comparisons were based on test figures reported on the number of feet it took to stop a fully loaded car traveling at 60 m.p.h.

"The best performance - 146 feet - was registered by the Alfa Romeo 2000 Berlina (sedan) followed by the Alfa Romeo GT Veloce and Spider Veloce which stopped in 148 feet."

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed proposals will be received and opened by the Secretary of the Board of Directors of Bel Marin Keys Community Services District of Marin County, State of California, at the office of Messrs. ISSUE AND DENOMINATION: $700,000 principal amount of coupon bonds, numbered from 1 to 140, both inclusive, all of the denomination of $5,000.

DATE: All of the bonds are dated May 1, 1973.

MATURITIES: The bonds mature serially in consecutive numerical order, from lower to higher, as follows:

Principal Amount	Maturity Date (both years inclusive) (May 1)
$ 10,000	1974 - 1976
15,000	1977 - 1978
25,000	1979 - 1981
35,000	1982 - 1984
40,000	1985 - 1986
50,000	1987 - 1990
55,000	1991
60,000	1992

REDEMPTION: Bonds maturing by their terms on or prior to May 1, 1988 are not subject to call and redemption prior to their fixed maturity dates. Bonds maturing by their terms on or after May 1, 1989 are subject to call and redemption prior to their fixed maturity dates, at the option of the District, on May 1, 1988, but not prior thereto, and on any interest payment date thereafter prior to maturity, as a whole or in part in inverse order of maturity (and by lot within any one maturity), at the principal amount thereof and accrued interest to date of redemption plus a redemption premium of one-quarter of one per cent (¼ of 1%) of the principal amount of each bond so redeemed for each whole year and for any remaining fraction of a year from the date of redemption to the date of maturity of such bond.

INTEREST RATE: Maximum seven per cent (7%) per annum, payable annually the first year on May 1, 1974 and semi-annually thereafter on May 1 and November 1 in each year. Bidders must specify the rates of interest which the bonds hereby offered for sale shall bear. Bidders may specify any number of separate interest rates irrespective of the maturities of the bonds, and the same rate or rates may be repeated as often as desired; provided, however, that (i) the difference between the highest and lowest coupon rates specified in any bid shall not exceed two per cent; (ii) each interest rate specified must be in a multiple of 1/20 of one per cent and a zero rate of interest cannot be specified; (iii) no bond shall bear more than one rate of interest, no interest payment shall be evidenced by more than one coupon and supplemental coupons will not be permitted; (iv) each bond shall bear interest from its date to its stated maturity date at the interest rate specified in the bid; (v) all bonds of the same maturity shall bear the same rate of interest; and (vi) any premium must be paid in bank funds as part of the purchase price, and no bid will be accepted which provides for the cancellation and surrender of any interest coupons or for the waiver of interest or other concession by the bidder as a substitute for payment in full of the purchase price in immediately available bank funds. Bids which do not conform to the terms of this paragraph wil be rejected.

PAYMENT: Both principal and interest on the bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America, at the office of the County Treasurer of Marin County, in San Rafael, California, or at the option of the holder at the principal office of Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association in San Francisco, California.

EXECUTION AND REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by the District. The bonds will be executed by the manual signature of at least one officer authorized to execute the bonds. The bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest, and are subject to deregistration and reregistration.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The bonds are authorized by a vote of two-thirds of the qualified voters of the District voting at a special bond election for the purpose of raising money for the construction of a lock at the entrance to the Bel Marin Keys Lagoons so as to maintain a constant navigable water level in said lagoons.

SECURITY: The bonds are general obligations of the District and the District has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of the bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within the District subject to taxation by the District, without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds (i) the income received by any private holder from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable (either at the time of such declaration or at any future date) under any federal income tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a federal income tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service, or by decision of any federal court, or (ii) any federal income tax law is adopted which will have a substantial adverse tax effect on holders of the bonds as such, the successful bidder may, at his option, prior to the tender of the bonds by the District, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinion of Messrs. Orrick, Herrington, Rowley & Sutcliffe, of San Francisco, California, approving the validity of the bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge. A copy of the legal opinion, certified by the official in whose office the original is filed, will be printed on each bond without charge to the successful bidder.

TERMS OF SALE

Highest Bid: The bonds will be awarded to the highest bidder, considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of the bonds to the respective maturity dates of the bonds at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid, and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the District. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. All interest will be computed on a 360-day year basis. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the District.

Right of Rejection: The Board of Directors of the District reserves the right, in its discretion, to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

Prompt Award: The Board of Directors of the District will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than twenty-four (24) hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of proposals unless such time of award is waived by the successful bidder.

Prompt Delivery: Delivery of the bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of Marin County in San Rafael, California as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within forty-five (45) days from the date of sale, but not prior to the date of the bonds. Payment for the bonds must be made in immediately available bank funds

Right of Cancellation: The successful bidder shall have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the District shall fail to execute the bonds and tender the same for delivery within sixty (60) days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

Form of Bid: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Each bid, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Secretary of the Board of Directors of Bel Marin Keys Community Services District and delivered to said officer at the office of Messrs. Orrick, Herrington, Rowley & Sutcliffe, Eleventh Floor, 600 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California in time to be recieved by 10:00 o'clock A.M. on March 15, 1973, and endorsed "Proposal for Bel Marin Keys Community Services District 1973 Bonds."

Bid Check: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $10,000 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer of Marin County to secure the District from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the District by mail upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon the deposit made by the successful bidder.

Estimate of Net Interest Cost: Bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the District on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the District.

Official Statement: The District has prepared an official statement relating to the bonds, a copy of which, along with related legal documents, will be furnished upon request mailed to the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association, Financial Consulting Service (No. 3298), P.O. Box 37004, San Francisco, California 94137 or telephoned to said bank at (415) 622-2465, or upon request made to the Financial Consulting Service office, 9th Floor, Bank of America World Headquarters Building, Bank of America Center, San Francisco, California, which bank is the financing consultant to the District for the bonds.

There is no controversy or litigation pending concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of the District or the title of the officers thereof to their respective offices, and the District will furnish to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Varicose Leg Ulcers Reopen Unless The Cause Corrected

Varicose leg ulcers tend to heal, but they reopen unless the causative varicose vein is corrected. All too often, the lesion is the end result of a neglected, greatly enlarged vein, surrounded by spongy, pigmented unhealthy skin. Ulceration follows in the wake of phlebitis or mechanical injury. Temporary healing may take place after remaining in bed with the leg elevated during which time the infection and congestion are brought under control.

Permanent results occur when the varicosities are removed by ligation or stripping. A skin graft often is used to cover the open ulcer followed by the use of a firm compression bandage.

ANOTHER WAY to obliterate the vein involves injections of a sclerosis solution. The substance irritates the inner lining of the veins. A compression bandage then is applied to keep the vessel collapsed until it is blocked by a firm clot. Many persons with varicose ulcers also have a deficiency of zinc in the blood.

Two Swedish surgeons ran a double-blind trial on 27 individuals with venous leg ulcers. They found that healing was enhanced when zinc sulfate was taken orally. Healing occurred most rapidly among those who had low levels of zinc in the blood.

The rationale of this form of treatment is open to question except that after surgery or injury there is loss of zinc via the kidneys which may lead to a deficiency of this metal. Certain tissues, such as muscle, require zinc for wound healing.

MANY VICTIMS of varicose leg ulcers are obese and the lesions almost invariably are located in the lower third of the leg. A favorite site is just above the ankle bone on the inside. Ulcers vary in size from one-half inch to the entire circumference of the lower leg. The surrounding tissue usually is pigmented and the skin is scaly.

The involved area may be swollen. As a rule, the venous ulcer is only painful when a person is up and about, but rarely troublesome when the person is off his feet.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

YELLOWISH SPOTS

T. K. writes: What is the treatment for a lump on the eyeball, known as a pinguecula?

REPLY

These slightly yellowish elevations at the edge of the clear cornea of the eye need no treatment. They look like tumors but stem from an increase in the number of elastic fibers in this area.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

K. W. writes: Does pernicious anemia get worse in each generation?

REPLY

Not to my knowlege. This generation's victims are able to keep the disease under control with injections of liver or vitamin B. In the past, this was not possible.

ALWAYS ASLEEP

L. Y. writes: If a baby sleeps all the time and never cries, is he likely to be mentally retarded?

REPLY

Possibly, but there is more than this to the diagnosis of mental retardation. Most babies sleep most of the time. If you are in doubt, consult your physician about the child's mental status.

TOO MUCH SALIVA

A. Y. writes: Can anything be done about too much saliva?

REPLY

Spit or swallow. In many instances relief is possible especially if there is something in the mouth that is irritating the gums or tongue. Our leaflet on the saliva problem gives a list of causes. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

Today is Friday, March 2, the 61st day of 1973 with 304 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Texas frontier hero Sam Houston was born March 2, 1783.

On this day in history: In 1899, Congress established Mt. Rainier National Park in Washington state.

In 1927, Babe Ruth signed a contract with the New York Yankees for $70,000, making him the highest paid baseball player at that time.

In 1943, American airmen destroyed a Japanese convoy of 21 ships in the World War II Battle of the Bismarck Sea.

In 1945, units of the U.S. 9th Army reached the Rhine River opposite Dusseldorf, Germany.

A thought for the day: British statesman John Viscount Morley said, "In my creed, waste of public money is like the sin against the Holy Ghost."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Linemen Killed; Pole Collapses

SAN JOSE (AP) — Two Pacific Gas & Electric Co. linemen were crushed to death when a utility pole they were working on collapsed, smashing them to the pavement, authorities say.

Paul Gomez, 40, and Larry Kilmer, 27, both of San Jose, were pronounced dead on arrival at San Jose Hospital yesterday.

A central fire district spokesman said the men were on an old pole stringing wire to a new one when the older pole snapped and fell to the pavemen. Both men, strapped to the pole, were pinned beneath it.

Trobbe Might Start Against Mean Bruins

John Boro got his chance to play against mighty UCLA's basketball team Jan. 19, and this weekend Scott Trobbe will get his turn. It's not a job one should particularly relish.

Both cagers are Redwood High School alums, Boro now playing guard at University of San Francisco and Trobbe a reserve forward at Stanford. Boro, who scored 10 points and was credited with eight assists last night in USF's 104-77 mauling of Loyola in L.A., is a junior considered one of the best "sixth" men in college basketball.

Trobbe, 6-foot-6 sophomore, might get his chance to start this weekend, tonight at USC and then tomorrow night against the Bruins in Pauley Pavilion, no place for visitors if those visitors persist in trying to throw a ball through a hoop.

Said Stanford coach Howie Dallmar: "Dave Frost twisted his ankle on Monday while shooting all by himself, and he definitely won't be able to start this weekend. This means that Trobbe or Bob Buell will start in that forward position, and we will have to rely more on Steve Shupe and Tim Patterson. If Trobbe starts, it will mean four sophomores in the lineup, and we haven't seen that at Stanford for a long time."

Another former Redwood cager who is making himself known is Tim Hennessey, forward-guard for Oregon State University's junior varsity team. At the 20-game mark, Hennessey is averaging 17.2 points and nearly six rebounds per game.

MUSH! No, not to eat, shout it at the dogs. Marin County will have its share of competitors in this weekend's Sierra Nevada Dog Drivers races, sanctioned by the International Sled Dog Racing Association, at Hobart Mills, outside of Truckee.

President of the association is Bob Levorsen of Novato who will be there along with wife Bella and daughter Daphne. Also in the competition will be Tom Ainsworth of Novato, Laurie Leach of San Rafael and Joel Fruchtman of Sausalito. The Yukon comes to the Sierra.

KSFO'S GENE NELSON, a Sausalito commuter, will do just about anything for a laugh. Nelson, who does an evening show for that station, is flying to Arizona tomorrow to get in shape for his major league debut. That will be Friday, March 9, when he is allowed to swing a bat in the Giants-Cubs exhibition game in Scottsdale. That will be the Giants' first exhibition game of the year and KSFO will broadcast it back to the Bay Area. For Gene's sake, I hope Ferguson Jenkins doesn't bounce one of his hummers off Nelson's head.

IF SONOMA STATE beats Sacramento State tonight in Rohnert Park's biggest basketball game it will mean undisputed championship for the Cossacks. If you can't get to the Far Western Conference biggie, you can catch it on television tomorrow night, 24-hour delay, 8 p.m. on Santa Rosa's KFTY, Channel 50. That station will also carry a delayed telecast of the Sonoma-Stanislaus game, played tomorrow but shown Sunday, 7:30 p.m. KFTY can be seen on Cable Channel 11 in San Rafael and Cable Channel 12 in Novato.

IN SKATING

Karen Magnussen Is Unsure About Plans

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (UPI) — Karen Magnussen said today she was not certain whether she will defend the women's world figure skating title she brought back to Canada for the first time since Petra Burka won it in 1965.

"I have not thought about it yet," she said. "I will be pretty busy with exhibitions in Canada and Japan until May and only after that will I have time to think it over."

The 20-year-old student of psychology from Vancouver won the world title Thursday night with all nine judges awarding her the first place.

Her main rival, Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., beaten already after two falls in the compulsory free skating, came in second and Christine Errath, the European champion from East Germany, third.

Meanwhile, July McKinstry of Colorado Springs, Colo., formerly of San Rafael, continued her steady rise in the standings. She finished ninth after starting yesterday's competition in 10th. She was 12th after the first day of competition.

"I did not think about cutting my program to avoid risks," Miss Magnussen said. "I just wanted to skate the best I could."

Linda Brauckmann, her coach, said Karen left out only one tricky jump, a double loop, "but only because she got too near to the edge of the rink."

Miss Lynn was more direct about her future skating plans. "I am going to skate as long as I love it," she said.

There was some indication, however, that the 19-year-old five times U.S. champion was rather depressed by her unexpected poor showing in the compulsory free skating. She made up for it by a splendid final free skating routine that earned her two top marks of six—the only ones in the women's competition—but could not escape defeat.

MARIN PREP RELAYS SET TOMORROW

The 1973 high school track and field season will come slogging and skidding into the spotlight tomorrow with the Marin County Athletic League Relays at College of Marin.

Field events will begin at 11 a.m. and track events at noon, according to meet director Clyde Krusinski, head coach of host Tamalpais High School.

Practices have been hampered by heavy rains this winter, so times and distances probably will not be as good as could be expected, the league's coaches agreed.

Redwood High is defending champion in the Relays as well as in the league dual meet season, which this year will begin March 16.

Central Marin Ruth Signups Tomorrow

Central Marin Babe Ruth Baseball League will have its make-up signups tomorrow in the Redwood High School gymnasium between 9 a.m. and noon.

The Central Marin district covers Larkspur, Corte Madera, Kentfield, Ross and Greenbrae. Boys unable to attend should contact player agent Harry Del Grande or Augie Zunino no later than tomorrow night.

IT'S A GOAL!

George Salladin of the Marin Peewees hockey team was all joy after scoring a goal against Santa Rosa in a junior hockey match Wednesday in the Redwood Empire Ice Arena. Robert Cooperstein (down on the ice) and Jeff Southern scored the other Marin goals in the 3-2 victory. Watching the action was Santa Rosa's Tony Bassignani (right). The Marin team, champion of the Western Division, will take on Eastridge of San Jose, champ of the Eastern Division, for the Northern California championships this weekend in a two-game series. Tomorrow the teams will meet at 6:30 p.m. at Raydine's rink in Corte Madera and Sunday will clash in San Jose at 7:30 p.m.

FOR CROWNS

Two Marin Wrestlers Make Bids

Jon Loberg and Ron Losk, the two star wrestlers from Terra Linda High School, will have an opportunity to make history today and tomorrow.

Loberg a heavyweight, and Losk, a 194-pounder, will be competing in the state tournament at Hayward State University, and if they win, they will be the first Marinites ever to capture the state title.

Of course, that's because there hasn't been a state title available before this year. But who's going to worry abut technicalities like that?

Had there been a state championship held in 1969, it very well might have gone to the Donaldson twins of Novato High. As it was, Kirt won the 115-pound title and Ken the 123-pound crown in the Northern California Invitational, then the highest honor in existence.

Since then, no local wrestlers have advanced as far as the two Trojans. Each qualified for the state tournament by finishing a close second in the North Coast Section meet last Saturday at Tennyson High in Hayward.

The road to the state title is arduous, requiring five matches in two days to pare the 24 wrestlers in each class down to the champion. Weigh-ins were to be held from 9-11 a.m. today, with wrestling to begin at noon and run until 8 or 8:30 p.m. Action will resume tomorrow around 9 a.m., and finals are scheduled for 8 p.m.

Loberg and Losk have been working out against each other this week, as they have since the beginning of the year, so it might be said that each faces state tournament-caliber competition every day. The arrangement does wonders for Losk's strength and Loberg's quickness.

Loberg has been hampered by sore ribs, "but an opponent has to grab him just right to hurt him," said coach Bob Hetherington. Because of the injury, the workouts have been light this week.

Marin Sets Twin Bill

College of Marin's baseball team will play a doubleheader against Napa College tomorrow beginning at noon at the Tars' diamond in Kentfield, coach Vic Petreshene announced today.

Rodriguez Diet Beefs Up Game

The 126-Pound Golfer Is Tied For Citrus Lead

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Chi Chi Rodriguez, already the smallest golfer on the tour, has gone on a diet and it looks like the weight he's losing has beefed up his golf game.

Chi Chi only weighs 126 now. But he insists he's sticking to "steak and lobster" until he gets down to 120, "because I figure a man who is overweight dies young —and I want to live until I am 140."

You'd think that Rodriguez would be having trouble getting any distance with his golf shots. But the little Puerto Rican, long marveled at for being able to hit the ball as far as he does considering his size, says he's "feeling stronger than ever."

He certainly looked it Thursday when he shot an 8-underpar 64 in the opening round of the $150,000 Florida Citrus Open.

Chi Chi went into today's second round tied with Gibby Gilbert, a Tennessean who, at 5-foot-9, is only 1 ½ inches taller than Rodriguez —but outweighs him by 50 pounds.

Rodriguez, whose last victory was 10 months ago in the Byron Nelson Classic, and Gilbert, whose only victory was in the 1970 Houston Champions, shared a two-stroke lead over Floridian Bob Murphy, war hero Brian Allin and last year's college champ Tom Kite.

Right on their heels, after opening 67s, were Dave Hill, Ed Sneed and Bob Payne, who got a last-minute tournament berth as an alternate qualifier when Babe Hiskey withdrew.

Despite those brilliant 64s, Rodriguez and Gilbert still have plenty of competition as 27 golfers in the 147-man field shot in the 60s Thursday.

"I figured there'd be some good scores because that's the way this course plays," said Muprhy. "But, I was surprised the scores were as low as they were. The greens are excellent, but they are so much thicker than those we played on last week (in the Gleason Classic), I figured more people would be leaving their putts short."

Speaking of last week's play, Gleason winner Lee Trevino went into today's round seven strokes off the lead. And Forrest Fezler, the youngster who was worried about how blowing a three-stroke lead to Trevino this past Sunday might affect his play, is 10 strokes back after an opening 74. Napa's Ron Cerrudo carded a 72.

As for the old standby, Arnold Palmer, who does his practicing on his own course near the site of the Citrus, had a 70 Thursday and so did remarkable Sam Snead who will be 61 in May. Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Billy Casper aren't playing here this week.

Rodriguez opened and closed with 20-foot birdie putts Thursday, the latter from off the fringe and sent him into an arms upstretched victory pose, for a 32-32 that included all 3s and 4s and only 27 putts.

Blue Holding Out; Giants Sign Bradley

Six Other A's Remain Unsigned

Combined AP & UPI

MESA, Ariz. — March 1 is considered the traditional date which establishes a holdout, so Vida Blue qualifies again.

Blue was making under $15,000 when he compiled a sensational 24-8 mark in 1971. This resulted in a lengthy holdout in 1972 that wasn't settled until the baseball commissioner entered the negotiations. Blue joined the team late and had a dismal 6-10 season.

This year's dispute reportedly rages over the question of whether Blue's base salary was $50,000 or $63,000, the latter figure including $13,000 in bonus money.

A source close to the situation Thursday called it "serious. There could be another holdout as long as last year."

Six other members of Oakland's world series champs are seeking raises, including Ken Holtzman, Rollie Fingers, Dave Duncan, Joe Rudi, Sal Bando and Don Shaw.

Holtzman, who is renting an apartment about a mile from the training camp but hasn't joined in the workouts, said Thursday he hadn't heard from owner Charles O. Finley since Jan. 16.

"We're only $5,000 apart," said Holtzman who is believed to be asking $65,000, or a raise of $10,000, on his 19-11 record with the world champions last season.

Fingers is said to be seeking about $50,000 and has been offered $42,000. The American League's top right-hand reliever last season, Fingers appeared in 75 games.

"Another season like that and I could be burned out," Fingers said.

Finley says he will do some serious negotiating with the dissatisfied athletes —including Blue —this weekend.

Reggie Jackson hoped to join today's practice session after visiting with team physician Dr. Harry Walker in Oakland for a checkup on his knees. Jackson injured his left knee in last season's American League playoff and has been bothered somewhat with his right knee this spring.

Basketball: Sonoma In Title Try

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Sonoma State College Cossacks can clinch their first Far-Western Conference basketball title tonight with a victory at Sacramento State.

A Sonoma letdown and two victories by second place Chico State over the weekend would result in a tie and force the teams into a playoff at University of California at Davis next week to see who goes to the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division tournament.

Steve Tiedeman of Sonoma will try to wrap up the FWC individual scoring title also. He carries a 21.1 point conference average into tonight's game. Walter Lewis of Hayward State and Rick Diregolo of Sacramento are tied for second with 20.3.

Sonoma, 9-2 in the FWC, finishes its regular season Saturday night at home against nonconference Stanislaus State. Chico, 7-3, hosts Hayward tonight and San Francisco State Saturday night.

In other games tonight, San Francisco is at Davis and Stanislaus at Humboldt.

Kent Cagers Capture Redwood Tournament

A. E. Kent School defeated Neil Cummins School last night, 54-46, to win the championship of the 15th annual Redwood Invitational Basketball Tournament for eight-grade schools in the attendance area of the Larkspur high school.

Del Mar defeated Ross for third place, 29-17, and Reedland Woods topped Hall for fifth. The all-tournament team consisted of Jim Connor, Gary Zunino and Dave Tuffli of Kent; Ed Ugarde and Dave De Martini of Cummins; Jeff Stewart and Pete Cooper of Del Mar; James Guerin of Ross; Dick Linvill of Reedland Woods and Lenny Tallerico of Hall.

Tars To Host Loop Stars Tonight At 8

Representatives of seven Camino Norte Conference teams will try to do collectively what they couldn't do individually — beat College of Marin — in a benefit basketball game tonight at 8 o'clock at the Tars' gym in Kentfield.

Even if the All-Stars extract their belated form of revenge, Marin still will come out ahead, as proceeds from the game will be used to defray the expenses the Tars will incur when they travel to Ventura March 8-10 to play for the state championship tourney.

Admission charge tonight will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and for children under 12. No passes will be honored.

Two standout sophomores from each of the other seven teams in the league will be coached by El Brown, coach of West Valley College, which tied for second in the conference and handed Marin its only defeat.

Brown will call on two of his standouts, Rick Hile and Paul Boskovich, but doubtlessly will divide up the playing time so all the Stars will get into the lineup, Marin coach John Panagakis said.

Also on hand will be the league's leading scorer according to the most recently available statistics, Floyd Harris of Contra Costa, and his teammate Tom Tatro. Others will be Bill Lewis and Steve Kircher of Canada, Dave Rathbun and Gary Hoffman of De Anza, Dave Thomas and Dave Long of Santa Rosa, Herlest Eastman and Jeff Wellemeyer of Skyline and Bob Grapes and Jim Hicks of Solano.

Final basketball standings in the Camino Norte Conference:

	W	L	Pct.	GB
Marin	13	1	.929	—
West Valley	9	5	.643	4
DeAnza	9	5	.643	4
Canada	7	7	.500	6
Skyline	6	8	.429	7
Contra Costa	6	8	.429	7
Santa Rosa	4	10	.286	9

Fox Uses 4 Diamonds In Camp

Combined AP & UPI

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — To make up for time lost to player-management negotiations, manager Charlie Fox has his San Francisco Giants using four diamonds for their spring workouts here.

All but seven members of the club were on hand for the official opening of training camp Thursday, and the first intrasquad game already is set for Sunday.

Pitcher Tom Bradley is en route from Chicago by automobile and expected to sign a contract for around $35,000 on his arrival. Bradley was acquired in a trade with the Chicago White Sox.

Mike Sadek, a catcher up from the Phoenix farm club, has sent word his arrival is delayed by illness of an infant son.

The other five absent players, all unsigned, are second baseman Tito Fuentes, pitchers Jerry Johnson and Don Carrithers, catcher Fran Healey and outfielder Garry Matthews.

Checking in for the first time Thursday were shortstop Chris Speier, outfielder Garry Maddox and young catcher Jerry Brown.

Maddox showed up with a full beard, neatly trimmed, but was given the word to remove it.

"Some of the heads still are pretty wild with overgrowth too," said Fox. "We'll tend to that in the very near future."

Drake Visits Vallejo '5' Tonight

Drake High School's Marin County Athletic League championshi basketball team will be looking for its third victory in two years over the North Bay League champs Vallejo, tonight at 7:30 in the Apaches' gym.

The game will benefit the memorial fund for the late official Hal Nelson, who died earlier this year while officiating a non-league game in Santa Rosa.

Drake-Vallejo games have been exciting matchups in the last few years, creating a strong rivalry between the two schools. Last year, the Pirates scored a 66-61 upset of the eventual NBL champs, and this year edged the Apaches, 78-77, in one of the pre-season's thrillers.

That victory, however, came in the season's fourth game, and things have doubtlessly changed since then. Vallejo, which topped its league with a 13-1 slate (one game ahead of Ukiah) finished 23-4 overall, while Drake was 23-5 (12-2 in the MCAL).

Pirate coach Pete Hayward expects another classic battle tonight. "They have height,

Ditka Will Coach Cowboy Receivers

Combined AP & UPI

DALLAS — Mike Ditka, who has caught more passes for more yards than any other tight end in pro football history, retird yesterday to become the receiver coach for the Dallas Cowboys.

Ditka, 33, who played his last four seasons with the Cowboys, caught 427 passes during his career for 5,913 yards and 43 touchdowns. He played six seasons with the Chicago Bears and two with the Philadelphia Eagles before coming to Dallas in 1969.

"We're delighted to have Mike as a coach," said Dallas coach Tom Landry. "He has been a great player and has the potential to become a great coach. He had reached a point in his career where he was in a position to make a decision like this."

"We both feel coaching provides a greater opportunity for Mike than playing another year or two."

More Football

PHILADELPHIA — All-America tackle Jerry Sisemore of Texas, the Philadelphia Eagles' No. 1 draft choice, yesterday signed a multi-year contract with the National Football League team. Terms of the contract were not announced.

NEW YORK — Charles (Rip) Engle, the former head football coach at Brown and Penn State who never suffered a single losing season in his 16 years with Penn, was named yesterday to the National Football Hall of Fame.

Hockey

NEW YORK — Left winger Don Blackburn yesterday was sold by the New York Islanders to the Minnesota North Stars for an unspecified amount of cash and "future considerations" in a National Hockey League deal.

BOSTON — The Boston Bruins yesterday traded veteran forward Garnet (Ace) Bailey to the Detroit Red Wings for defenseman Gary Doak.

Managing director Harry Sinden said the Bruins were also giving up undisclosed "future considerations" in return for Doak, a 27-year-old blue-liner who earlier served with Boston.

Tennis

DETROIT — Billie Jean King defeated Pam Teeguarden, 6-2, 6-3, yesterday in the first round of play in the $25,000 Virginia Slims women's tennis tournament.

Julie Heldman of Houston won over Cici Martiniz of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-3. She will face third-seeded Rosemary Casals of Sausalito, who eliminated Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 1-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Baseball

MIAMI — Brooks Robinson, Baltimore Orioles infielder yesterday agreed to the club's salary terms for an estimated $105,000.

YMCA Tennis Club Memberships Open

Sixty down, 80 to go.

To finance a $35,000 Marin County four-court tennis facility, the Young Men's Christian Association is seeking a 140-family enrollment. Since Nov. 1, the YMCA tennis committee, trying to foster a net program with a family atmosphere, has scoured the county seeking members to meet the quota needed to match the building costs.

YMCA executive director Jim Looney expresses confidence the goal will be reached and that the facility will open "early in the summer."

He adds, "We're determined to build it, and, so far, we've had pretty good response from the community. I admit that the holidays and bad weather have slowed up the enrollment, but with better weather ahead, we'll make it. We'll hang in there until we get our 140."

Looney believes that with better weather, "the people will start thinking more about tennis. And we're confident that we haven't exhausted our sources yet."

By sources, Looney was alluding to people, not just money. "Our committee is going out and contacting people who have shown an interest in the game — people who have taken tennis lessons, for example. We also go through tennis magazines to find prospects, and we send out information in our newsletter — and that should stimulate interest."

Although the facility will be for YMCA members only, Marinites can join by paying $250 to the YMCA, plus $25 a year dues for YMCA family membership, according to tennis committee chairman George Bill. In addition, monthly tennis dues are $3. "A $25 deposit," Bill continues, "and completion of the membership application form will reserve tennis club membership."

Jeanne Evert Beats Netter Sharon Walsh

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Sharon Walsh of San Rafael discovered Thursday that the Evert charm exists regardless of which Evert is at the opposite end of the tennis court.

Jeanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale, 15-year-old sister of the top-seeded Chris, defeated Miss Walsh in the first round of the $50,000 S&H Green Stamps Women's Tennis Classic, 6-4, 7-5.

Miss Walsh did win her doubles match, however, teaming with Patti Hogan to defeat Carole Graebner and Linda Tuero, 6-4, 6-2.

In other key singles matches, Evonne Goolagong of Australia thrashed Janet Haas of Miami, 6-0, 6-1; Virginia Wade topped Isabel Fernandes, 7-5, 6-3; and Miss Hogan defeated Mrs. Graebner, who became ill, 2-6, 7-6, 2-0 retired.

Alston's Longevity

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Walter Alston has signed 20 contracts to manage the Dodgers, all of them one year in duration. The one-year managerial contract, a Dodgers' management policy, does not prevent Alston now 61, from being the dean of all major league baseball managers.

speed and pride. The only thing we're missing is the height," he said.

The game fills a two-week scheduling void between the two squads' regular season closing and the opening of post season tournaments. Drake is scheduled to begin play in the Tournament of Champions next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Oakland Coliseum Arena against Oakland's Castlemont, while Vallejo starts play in the Top of the Bay Classic against Concord on the same night.

Hayward expects few coaching problems from the game, "If we lose, we could go flat, but the players are good competitors. The game should only help us in the TOC."

St. Vincent Cagers Win In Tourney

Bob Vyenielo scored 28 points last night to lead St. Vincent High School to a 61-50 victory over California School for the Deaf of Berkeley in the opening round of the St. Vincent Basketball Invitational Tourney in Petaluma.

In other opening round games, Tomales was defeated 68-58 by South Fork, Concordia beat Geyserville 58-54 and Anderson Valley of Boonville drubbed Willits, 64-46.

Tonight St. Vincent faces Anderson Valley at 9 o'clock, South Fork and Concordia go at 7:30, and in the losers bracket, Tomales and Geyserville meet at 4:30 and Willits plays California School for the Deaf at 6.

St. Vincent held just a two-point edge over the smaller Eagles, 33-31, with 4:56 to play in the third quarter, but the Mustangs rallied behind Rob Laughran and Vyenielo and stretched their lead to 10 points early in the fourth period.

"We can play better," Mustang coach Ed Major commented after the game. "We made some mistakes, but in the end we did what we wanted and got the ball inside to Bob (Vyenielo)."

Tomales was tied with South Fork at the end of three quarters at 45, but the Braves wilted in the fourth quarter and were outscored by the final 10-point margin.

With just four minutes left to play, the Bear Cubs had a 57-54 lead when Tomales' John Ball and Mike Camp fouled out, leaving the Braves with no board strength.

NCAA Slates Pairings For The Playoffs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — South Carolina was moved to the Midwest and Oklahoma City to the West Thursday as the National Collegiate Athletic Association filled its nine at-large berths and announced firstround pairings for games March 10.

The biggest first-round attraction likely will be at Wichita, Kan., where ninthranked Houston (21-3) will meet 12th-ranked Southwestern Louisiana (22-2).

First-round pairings, all to be played on March 10:

EAST—Syracuse (21-4) vs. Southern Conference champion at Philadelphia; St. John's of New York (19-5) vs. Ivy Group champion at William and Mary; Providence (21-2) vs. Middle Atlantic Conference champion at St. John's.

MIDEAST —Marquette (22-2) vs. Mid-American Conference champion Miami of Ohio (16-8) and Jacksonville of Florida (21-5) vs. Ohio Valley Conference champion at Dayton, Ohio.

MIDWEST — South Carolina (19-5) vs. Southwest Conference champion Texas Tech (18-7) and Southwestern Louisiana vs. Houston at Wichita, Kan.

WEST—Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion Long Beach (22-2) vs. Big Sky Conference champion Weber State (19-5) and Oklahoma City (20-5) vs. Western Athletic Conference champion at Utah State.

First-round victors will advance to regional tournaments March 15-17 at Charlotte, N.C. (East), Nashville, Tenn. (Mideast), Houston (Midwest) and Los Angeles (West).

Regional winners will advance to the final round March 24-26 in St. Louis.

Warriors Host Kings Tonight In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) — Hoping to shake the nightmare of Detroit and Boston, the Golden State Warriors tackle the Kansas City-Omaha Kings tonight at the Coliseum-Arena.

There's a slight consolation. It will be the last time this season the Warriors must face Nate Archibald, the Kings six-foot, 155-pound whiz, who tops the National Basketball Association in scoring with 34 points a game and in assists.

If Archibald remains as hot as Rick Barry of the Warriors is cold, it should be a Kings walkaway.

Barry hit on only 4-of-30 from the floor in Golden State losses to the Pistons and Celtics.

Molinari Scores 16; Carpenters Win Title

Jerry Molinari scored 16 points last night to lead George and Charles Carpenter to a 51-43, double-overtime victory over Suburban Auto in the "C" league championship game in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball.

In other games, Bob Gray scored 21 points as the Sharks defeated MacArthur's, 58-41, and Jim Banany tallied 14 as the Seasons beat McPhail's, 45-28.

'Bird' Gets Revenge Against Santa Clara

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There are some Birds it just doesn't pay to anger—they come back and hurt you.

When Santa Clara beat Pepperdine in a wild 86-77 slugfest earlier this year, national scoring leader William "Bird" Averitt said he thought that the Broncs' win wasn't a fair one and that the refs had let too much rough stuff go. He vowed revenge.

It came in heartbreaking fashion for the Broncs Thursday night as Averitt scored 40 points to lead Pepperdine to the upset 89-85 win. Mike Stewart hit 24 for the losers, now 10-3 in the West Coast Athletic Conference and 18-7 for the year—which may not even impress National Invitational Tournament officials.

University of San Francisco meanwhile ran its record to 11-2 with only one game to go by disposing of Loyola 114-77 as Phil Smith and Kevin Restani combined for 51. Loyola's Steve Smith had 22 points and 20 rebounds.

Dons' guard John Boro, a Redwood High School graduate, added 10 points by connecting on five of six field goal attempts. He also contributed eight assists.

Santa Clara figures to make it 11-3 Saturday against Loyola and then it will be USF trying to avoid getting the Bird from Pepperdine Sunday afternoon in the regular season finale. But right now, it appears that the Dons will join University of California at Los Angeles and Long Beach State as the Coast's National Collegiate Athletic Association representatives.

Long Beach, perhaps looking ahead to a Saturday clash with Marquette, only downed Fresno State 72-62 at the 49ers' gym, where the hosts are usually invincible. Ed Ratleff hit 20 and Leonard Gray 16 for the winners. Marquette is rated No. 4 and Long Beach State No. 5 so Saturday's battle should be a fine one.

Tonight, UCLA and University of Southern California host California and Stanford respectively with the Bruins shooting for No. 69 in a row. Bill Walton, College Player of the Year as a soph, figures to repeat a sweep of the honors as he is hitting 20.1 points a game and grabbing 17.8 rebounds per contest. USC is also trying to interest the NIT officials and a couple big wins this weekend wouldn't hurt its chances.

In more games tonight, Nevada-Las Vegas is at Seattle, University of California at Santa Barbara at San Jose State, and Los Angeles State at University of Pacific.

The NCAA Western Division tourney now shapes up like this. It will be Long Beach (23-2) against Big Sky champ Weber State (19-5) and Oklahoma City (20-5) against the Western Athletic Conference king March 10 at Utah State. The winners take on UCLA and, apparently, USF.

NIT PICKS 3

Marshall, Louisville Wait For Invitations

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marshall and Louisville more than likely earned a spot in the National Invitation Tournament Thursday night, but neither school is expected to receive an official bid to the 36th annual post-season classic before Monday.

The NIT committee began filling its 16-team field Thursday afternoon by selecting Notre Dame, Virginia Tech and American University to play in the Madison Square Garden tournament, March 17-25.

No further bids were expected before noon Monday.

Marshall, an independent, will be hard to overlook. The Thundering Herd finished their regular season Thursday night by whipping Samford 77-65 to climax a nifty 20-6 campaign. Included among the Herd's victories this season are triumphs over Florida State, Oral Roberts and National Collegiate Athletic Association-bound Miami (Ohio).

Louisville clinched at least a tie for second place in the Missouri Valley Conference by downing Tulsa, 69-62. The Cardinals are 21-6 overall and have been to the NIT on several occassions.

In selecting Notre Dame the NIT committee went for a box office attraction and overlooked the Irish's mediocre 14-11 record.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

New Money Source Being Searched For

With new problems concerning the fish and wildlife of our state, the California Fish and Game Department, which is responsible for the protection and management of California's fish and game and other wildlife animals, is looking for funds other than those obtained from the sale of licenses to hunters and fishermen.

Hunters and fishermen are now contributing funds to the care and protection of lizards, snakes, frogs, tortoises and other rare and endangered species. Other services of all types are also provided for the general public; all supported and paid for by the hunter and fisherman.

FOR NEARLY three-quarters of a century, since the first fish and game protective laws were enacted in 1901, the Department of Fish and Game has been responsible for the protection and management of California's fish and wildlife resources.

Traditionally, funds to support this mission have come from the sale of fishing and hunting licenses and taxes imposed on fishing and hunting equipment.

BUT WITH THE enactment of recent legislation dealing with ecological reserves and endangered species, the department has been handed new responsibilities. These laws call for increased protection and enhancement of nongame fish and wildlife resources, particularly those resources threatened with extinction.

Nearly two years ago the Fish and Game Commission declared 43 animals to be endangered or rare — this in accordance with authority granted by the Legislature. Then, the following January, the department issued its first report on the threatened species.

The department recently submitted to the joint legislative budget committee a description of its programs to implement recommendations made in the January, 1972, report.

FOR NON GAME fish and wildlife programs the department now spends $1,275,770, of which $681,000 is in recurring costs of nongame research, protection and management and $594,770 nonrecurring expenditures associated with implementing the Ecological Reserve Act.

Annual nongame operating expenses of the department are expected to increase to $753,000 in 1973-74, to $903,000 in 1974-75, to $978,000 in 1975-76 and to $1,025 in 1976-77.

This schedule, obviously, is dependent on approval of recommended increases in funding.

FUNDING AT THE recommended levels would not only augment regional protection and management activities, but would provide urgently needed special investigation projects for fish, amphibians and reptiles.

The deparmtnet expects to spend in the current fiscal year on land acquisition and development for habitat critical to fish and wildlife $594,770. This program would enable the department to take over areas in immediate threat of economic development that are needed for the continued survival of many of California's endangered and rare fish and wildlife.

THE DEPARTMENT is also recommending that beginning in 1974-75 a portion of the recurring cost of providing programs of research, protection and management of nongame fish and wildlife — including rare and endangered species — be derived from funds other than those obtained from licensed hunters and fishermen.

One possible source of the extra funds is an admission charge for visitors to wildlife refuges.

The department is also recommending that all nonrecurring costs for acquisition of habitat and development for the protection and enhancement of nongame fish and wildlife continue to be derived from the Environmental Protection Fund.

WITH ALL THE rains and wind, all fishing efforts have been slowed, but here's the prize story of the week. Dick Kennedy — formerly known as "Two Rod," finally made it! Dick, who fishes out of Loch Lomond, went out with Tom Miller, that 14-year-old top sturgeon fishing kid. They only had two hour's time — it was a last minute trip. They fished at the entrance to the San Rafael canal at the Bird Cage marker. It was Kennedy's 11th trip without a sturgeon. This day, he was using a newly bought flyrod baited with ghost shrimp. In just one hour both were back at the dock amid screaming sirens and boat whistles. Dick had caught an 89-pound sturgeon! As he had it figured, he was the only guy alive who hadn't caught a sturgeon this year.

It's Lacrosse Time In Marin

Marin County's lacrosse season opens tomorrow.

The Northern California Lacrosse Association's Ira Markwett junior program plays on Saturdays, starting March 10 and concluding May 19. Games will be held at San Marin, Marin Catholic, and Novato high schools at 10 a.m. and noon.

Schmidt Wins Golf Tourney

CHINO, Calif. (UPI) — Mark Schmidt, a 28-year-old former assistant pro from Santa Ana, Calif., shot a four-under-par 68 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 138 to win the eighth $25,000 Western Tournament Golf Association event.

Schmidt, who won $5,000, finished one shot in front of three other pros at the Western Hills course; Gary McCord, Riverside, Calif.; Ray Leach, of Novato, and Jim Dill, El Cajon, Calif.

McCord and Dill shot 68s in the final round while Leach carded a 70.

Some Wet Golfing At Mill Valley

Despite an affliction of acute wetness, the Mill Valley Golf Course remained fairly active this week with two tournaments.

Mesdames Frank Krn and Joanne Wheeler carded the best handicap scores in Club Trophy play with 71s. In President's Cup action, Byron Eggleston prevailed with a 70-10—60.

THE MILL VALLEY Men's club travels to Rohnert Park Sunday, March 18 for an 18-hole sweepstakes tourney. Tee off is 8:30 a.m. Heavy rains forced postponement of the Healdsburg at Mill Valley tournament. The March 11 date was pushed back to July 15, thus giving golfers the likely prospects of playing on a dry course.

FIRST ROUND of the Indian Valley Golf Club's Men's Spring Handicap tournament is set Sunday starting at 7 am. Some 64 club golfers are expected to participate in the match play competition over 18 holes for four consecutive Sundays.

REDWOOD FAVORED

AAU Is Having Effects On Marin Swim Loop Race

The outcome of this year's Marin County Athletic League swimming race may already have been decided behind the scenes in conferences between certain key swimmers and their coaches.

The decisions of some prominent Amateur Athletic Union performers to swim or not to swim in their high school programs are expected to have important effects on the chances of contenders Terra Linda, Redwood and San Rafael and challenger San Marin.

The league dual-meet season was scheduled to begin today with three meets — Drake at Novato, San Marin at Terra Linda and Redwood at San Rafael, all at 3:30 p.m. Tamalpais is idle and Marin Catholic does not have a program.

The MCAL Relays will be held tomorrow at 9 a.m. at Redwood High.

Terra Linda and Redwood tied for the championship last year with 9-1 records, splitting their two head-to-head confrontations, but the Trojans must do without the Deont brothers, Rick and Ken, who decided to concentrate on AAU swimming and forego the high school season, according to Terra Linda coach Bob Pollitt.

Redwood coach Rusty McManus, meanwhile, was able to persuade Spencer Eldred and Warren Lager to swim for the school, while San Rafael coach Bill Ranney talked Olympian Robin Backhaus into competing, and San Marin's Dave Barni can count on Art Morrill.

That leaves Redwood as the pre-season favorite. In addition to Eldred, a long freestyler, and Lager, who swims individual medley and breaststroke, the Giants also have freestyler John Redig, sprinter Troy Dunham and freestyler Brian Silcox.

McManus is one of two new coaches in the league, the other being Jim Naugle of Novato. McManus never has coached swimming before, but considers himself well-grounded in general coaching fundamentals. Redwood's coach last year, Dan Abballo, also was new to swimming, but his pennant hangs in the Giants' gym.

San Rafael coach Bill Ranney expects to have contenders for both the varsity and the Class B championships, and declined to reveal which team some of his swimmers would be assigned to, or what events they would be swimming.

Besides Backhaus, his cache of top swimmers includes Mike and Jeff Kalmer, Dave Kavrell, Eric Eisenberg and Sigfried (Siggie) Baerthel. "We have a strong nucleus of young sophomores on the 'B' team," he said, and freshmen Scott Hislop and Joe Dunn are good enough to swim varsity this year.

Despite the loss of the DeMonts, Terra Linda will not be weak. Pollitt will count on two outstanding breaststrokers, Keith Strange and Jeff Miller, a fine distance freestyler in Jon Fearn and two good divers, Dave Cotton and Mike Klunk.

Tamalpais has quality with freestyler Paul Moe, backstroker Dick Atwood and butterfly specialist Pat Norton, but coach Bill Anderson's squad lacks depth.

With a turnout of 17, Novato is "better off than last year" in Naugle's view. Butterfly and freestyle swimmer Bob Pattochi, breaststroker and freestylist Rod Ruona, freestyler Wayne Behrens and backstroker Randy Loveland are the Hornets' nucleus.

Drake, which did not compete at the varsity level last year, will attempt to go with only three or four varsity swimmers and 10 to 15 on the Class B team. Ten freshmen dot coach Dave Ramos' roster.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Believe It Or Not, But This Play Stands On Head

According to one of my friends, the way to stay healthy is to stand on your head. He plays bridge that way too.

A LOW HEART

West opened the five of hearts, and my friend won in the South hand with the nine. Even from his peculiar position he saw that he needed dummy's diamonds to make the contract.

Now, a normal human being would lead a low diamond from the South hand and try a finesse with dummy's queen. And this would land him squarely in the minus column. Back would come a heart to dummy's ace, and South would have no diamonds, no game and no rubber.

YOGA PLAY

What has this to do with yoga? Don't forget my friend was standing on his head. He found a different way to play the diamonds: He got to dummy with a spade and then led a low diamond from the dummy.

Poor East, with K-x of diamonds, stepped up with the king for fear of losing it. (There are a dozen players in the country who would play a low diamond quickly and casually from the East hand, and there are a few hundred more who say they'd make this play.)

After East had played the king of diamonds, South had no further problems.

What if East held three diamonds instead of only two? Then South would have to lose two diamond tricks no matter how he played the suit.

What if West had the king of diamonds? South would take the normal diamond finesse later, and would lose nothing by his initial topsy-turvy play.

In short, my friend's play was perfectly correct.

Maybe it's a good way to write about bridge too!

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

Who's who on this birthday list? Picking the right name is the test. Score four to be the best.

1. JENNIFER JONES or JANET LEIGH is today's 54-year-old Hollywood celebrity. One month after meeting California's Norton Simon, millionaire businessman and yachtsman, this tall, dark-haired beauty said "Yes" to his marriage proposal. It happened so fast she didn't even have time to present him with "Love Letters" or a "Portrait of Jennie."

2. CESAR ROMERO or DESI ARNAZ celebrates his 56th birthday today. This Cuban-American got his start in show business as a bongo player with Xavier Cugat's orchestra. He was a sometime singer whose public declaration, "I Love Lucy," not only won the hand of a talented actress but catipulted both of them into one of television's most successful TV comedy series.

3. BENJAMIN SPOCK or TED GEISEL is the famous author of books for children, known to them all as "Dr. Seuss." Now 69 years old, he recalls how hard it was to get a publisher for his first children's story back in 1937. He was turned down by 29 publishers. Today he's reknowned for authoring best-sellers like "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" and "The Cat in the Hat."

4. HENRY KISSINGER or CARL SCHURZ celebrates a birthday today. This German immigrant fled Europe during the troubles of '48, settling in Wisconsin. It wasn't long until his brilliance was discovered as an attorney, orator, politiician, military leader, journalist, and reformer.

ANSWERS: 1 - Jennifer Jones; 2 - Desi Arnaz; 3 - Ted Geisel; 4 - Carl Schurz.

(Send local birthdays to Birthday Editor, Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Calif. 94902, at least four days before the date of the birthday. Include name to be published and telephone number of sender; print legibly.)

A Lot Of Hairs

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are about 135,000 hairs in a wig, says Richard Hartwich, wig designer. He said the finest wigs are made by hand and it takes an experienced worker about a week to crochet and hand knot those 135,000 hairs.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

The Purpose Of Discount Brokers

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I recently read an article about a broker who saved sellers money on small odd-lot transactions. I would like to know if there really are any dealers who do this and how it is possible. Should I sell my four odd lots and buy 100 shares of one stock? — F.K.

A. As to your last question I see no reason to dispose of your four holdings if you are interested in income.In each case, earnings are satisfactory and the yield on the portfolio is a generous 6.7 per cent. To answer your first question, yes, there are a number of discount brokers operating in the larger cities around the country. Not all, however, handle small accounts. By eliminating services, such as research, recommendations and certificate safekeeping facilities, costs are kept to a minimum. These discounters are not exchange member firms but rather belong to the National Association of Security Dealers, NASD. As such they are covered by SIPC, the investor insurance plan.

Purchases and sales are transacted in the third market, that is, listed securities which are traded over-the-counter rather than through the exchange on which they are listed. Less than half the ASE and NYSE-listed issues are traded in the third market. Thus, reduced commissions are not obtainable on securities.

Q. I hold 100 shares of National Distillers (NYSE) bought at 16½. I hear the dividend is not secure. Would you advise selling? — G.K.

A. In my opinion National Distillers' dividend appears secure. For 1972 the company paid out 70 per cent of earnings in dividends, right on target with the payout of the previous five years. Furthermore earnings were up a satisfactory 15 per cent for the year. Liquor sales were disappointing last year with declines in bourbons and blends offsetting gains in gin, vodka and scotch sales. However, cyclical economic recovery benefited the company's chemical and metals division so that total sales rose 6 per cent to $1.15 billion. At only 11x projected earnings, downside risk is minimal. Hold.

Investors Wary About Devaluation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices on the New York Stock Exchange rebounded somewhat from early morning losses today but investors remained wary about the latest monetary crisis. Trading was moderately active.

The stock market remained nervous about the future value of the dollar as more foreign exchange markets abroad shut down. An onslaught of dollars prompted foreign central bank intervention to hold the established parities. Speculators sold dollars in anticipation of the floating of European currencies.

President Nixon, at a news conference near noon, told newsmen the dollar would weather the latest crisis and there would not be another dollar devaluation.

Champion International was the most active issue, off ⅛ at 17 ½ in 243,000 shares, including a block trade of 239,500 shares at 17 ½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were lower in moderate trading. Imperial Oil, Ltd. was the most active issue, off ¾ at 37 ⅞ on 167,400 shares.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Interest Is A Deductible Item Only If Debt Is Legally Owed

Interest paid is deductible if you are legally liable for the debt. You cannot deduct interest you pay for another if you were not legally liable to pay.

Interest is deductible in several places on your tax return. 1. Interest on personal things like your home, automobile, etc., is deductible only if you itemize your deductions on Schedule A. 2. Interest on property you rent to others is deductible on Schedule E, part II — Rent and Royalty Income. 3. Interest paid in connection with your trade or business is deductible on Schedule C.

The interest is deductible depending on what you use the loan money for, not on the property which secures the loan. For instance, if you borrow money on your home and use it to improve a piece of rental property you own, you can deduct the interest on the Rental Schedule.

If you are self-employed and your business borrows money which you use for personal purposes, the interest is not deductible as a business expense on Schedule C, but only as a Schedule A deduction if you itemize.

Your investment interest deduction is limited to not more than $25,000 ($12,500 separate return), plus the excess of net long-term capital gain from investments over net short-term capital loss from investments. If investment interest exceeds the sum of these amounts, only one-half the excess is deductible this year. The nondeductible one-half may be carried over and deducted in future years under complex rules.

Points you paid to get a loan are not interest if they are for services and are not deductible. If they are solely for the use of the money, they are deductible as interest.

"Points" paid by the seller are not interest but an expense of sale.

Prepayment penalties are interest and are deductible.

The Revenue Service has reversed itself on interest charges made by retail stores, credit cards, etc.

Previously, finance charges on your retail store account were deductible only to the extent of 6 per cent of the average monthly unpaid balance.

BY CAPITOL LOBBYISTS

New Legislators Wooed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Despite a tarnished public image, lobbyists quickly have won their way into the good graces of the legislature's all-male 1973 freshman class — with one notable exception.

The 15 neophytes — including a "beach rat," an artist and an all-American basketball player — generally have reached the same conclusion about lobbyists as that once expressed by former Assembly Speaker Jess Unruh:

"If you can't eat their food, drink their booze, (love) their women and then vote against them, you have no business being up here."

Saddled with relatively light legislative loads, the 12 Democratic and three GOP freshmen lawmakers have spent much of their first two months getting acquainted with the hundreds of lobbyists in the Capitol at free luncheons, dinners and cocktail parties.

"I'm not afraid of them," says freshman Assemblyman Bill Bond, R-Long Beach, a former Stanford University basketball star. "Lobbyists form a very essential arm of government and everyone here seems to be of pretty high quality. But they do have an image problem."

Most of his fellow freshmen agree. But not Assemblyman Raymond Gonzales, D-Bakersfield, who enjoys painting landscapes in his leisure.

Gonzales, perhaps the most colorful new lawmaker, is troubled by the influence lobbyists exert on the legislative process and plans to author a tough bill forcing them to disclose the details of their day-to-day activities.

The 34-year-old former Latin American studies professor has criticized mutual favors exchanged between lobbyists and lawmakers, saying "the whole system is a little bit askew because of the lobbyists' influence."

But most of the freshman class, which overall is liberal and activist, don't take criticisms by the mustachioed lawmaker too seriously.

Asked if he had received any tempting offers by lobbyists, Assemblyman Mike D. Antonovich, R-Los Angeles, replied: "I think that only happens in books."

"Hell, I've got a campaign deficit," said freshman Assemblyman Daniel E. Boatwright, D-Concord. "But no lobbyist has approached me with a lucrative offer."

"Lobbyists all treat you very nicely," said Assemblyman Joseph B. Montoya, 34, D-La Puente, who has attended all of the free lobbyists' luncheons. "But sometimes you feel a little overwhelmed by the amount of time you have to spend with them."

Besides meeting lobbyists, freshmen lawmakers have spent many hours trying to tailor their legislative programs and learning new committee assignments.

Antonovich, a former high school history teacher, quickly picked up the title of "Mr. Death Penalty" when he flooded the Assembly with bills reinstating capital punishment.

The tall, thin Republican, who may be a future star for conservatives, has taken verbal swipes at Asembly Speaker Bob Moretti for appointing a key committee that has a majority of death penalty foes in the face of voters approving an initiative to restore capital punishment last year.

Freshman Assemblyman Richard Alatorre, 29, a former Assembly aide, has fathered a new political force in the Capitol called the "Chicano Caucus."

The handsome Los Angeles Democrat persuaded four other Mexican-American lawmakers including Gonzales and Montoya, to create the new group in an attempt to improve the lives of 2.2 million Californians with Spanish surnames.

"The Mexican-American community is becoming politicized," Alatorre said. "You can see it getting involved. We are learning from the blacks."

Assemblyman Lawrence Kapiloff, 43, a self-described San Diego "beach rat," has proposed a sweeping measure to abolish many taxing sources and to put "all the state's eggs into one basket — the income tax."

In his spare time, the Democrat enjoys writing, sailing, jogging and acting. A book which he authored called "How to Sell Your Home in California Without a Broker" will hit the stands next month.

One of the two new black assemblymen is Frank Holoman, D-Los Angeles. "Rather than set Sacramento on fire I'm trying to set my district on fire," the Watts legislator said.

"Rather than trying to influence people up here," he said, "I'm getting my own people involved in politics to change their own communities. We have enough laws up here to have a perfect society if everybody followed them."

The other black freshman is Assemblyman Julian C. Dixon, D-Los Angeles, chairman of the Southern California Black Caucus. Besides authoring measures to aid minorities, Dixon plans to launch a campaign for a stiff law discouraging the use of flip-top disposable cans.

Assemblyman Walter M. Ingalls, D-Riverside, is the youngest legislator at 28. One of the his prime proposals would encourage policemen to accept early retirement. "Some of the older policemen over 50 aren't up to it (their job) but they won't admit it," Ingalls said.

Assemblyman Howard L. Berman, 31, D-Los Angeles, begins each day by running through the fog with his wife to tennis courts where they play quick matches before work.

The former VISTA lawyer has been challenged by Republicans since his first day on the ground he didn't live in his district long enough before the election. His major proposal thus far would curtail insurance companies's tax breaks.

Freshman Assemblyman Barry Keene, D-Santa Rosa, who won office in his sprawling district with an effective bicycle-riding campaign, is "moving rather slowly until I learn all the players." His main interest is to enhance the North Coast environment while simultaneously keeping the timber industry healthy.

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, 43, D-Daly City, who served as an FBI agent for three years, plans to propose legislation giving tax relief to the elderly. His big worry now is to reconcile the fact that he opposes capital punishment while 65 per cent of his district favored the death penalty initiative.

Assemblyman Robert P. Niimmo, R-Atascadero, primarily is interested in agricultural measures. He has been active in the cattle industry for 32 years and recently served as the U.S. fiscal officer for California, a post which required him to administer a $43 million annual budget.

Freshman Assemblyman John E. Thurman Jr., D-Modesto, has promised a fight for the small farmer. "The family-sized farms, the backbone of our country, must be given even greater bargaining power to achieve fair prices for crops," contends the long-time dairyman.

Art Sale, Tour To Benefit Club

An art sale and tour of the historic John L. Novak Mansion to benefit the Novato Boys Club building fund will be held from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Novak mansion, 50 Rica Vista, in Novato, according to Mrs. John L. Novak, sale hostess.

For sale will be primitive paintings by Girldine Fallon Merrill of Novato and works by 10 other Marin artists. Twenty per cent of all sales will go to the building fund, Mrs. Novak said.
